BUSINESS

OVERVIEW

We are the leading source of intelligent information for the world's businesses and professionals, providing customers with competitive advantage. Intelligent information is a unique synthesis of human intelligence, industry expertise and innovative technology that provides decision-makers with the knowledge to act, enabling them to make better decisions faster. Through more than 50,000 people across 93 countries, we deliver this must-have insight to the financial, legal, tax and accounting, healthcare, science and media markets, powered by the world's most trusted news organization.

We are organized in two divisions:

- Markets, which consists of our financial and media businesses; and
- Professional, which consists of our legal, tax and accounting, healthcare and science businesses.

2008 and 2009 Priorities

In 2008, we closed our acquisition of Reuters and we made significant progress on our three key business priorities, as described below. For 2009, we remain focused on these same priorities.

2008 and 2009 Priorities	2008 Progress
Integrate Thomson and Reuters businesses to drive long-term growth and capture synergies	As we progressed with integrating Reuters, we identified significant additional opportunities for cost savings. We currently expect $1.0 billion in annualized cost savings from integration programs by the end of 2011. Our overall savings target (including legacy efficiency programs) is currently $1.4 billion The Markets division sales organization was integrated in the first 90 days after closing and product roadmaps were delivered to customers Real estate moves were completed in 39 locations (over 10,000 employees worldwide) We made significant progress developing a common platform and product roadmap We introduced cross-divisional products that position us to grow our businesses, such as the inclusion of Reuters News in Thomson ONE and Professional division products, and StreetEvents in Reuters 3000Xtra
Capitalize on a global brand and presence to drive international growth	Westlaw expanded in China and Japan and we launched a smaller-scale, lower-cost Westlaw platform that can be used globally, eliminating the need to create a new online platform for each country or region We began working on an important cross-divisional initiative, Islamic Finance The new Thomson Reuters brand was ranked #44 in Business Week's 100 Best Global Brands for 2008 – higher than either Thomson or Reuters had ever achieved on its own We reorganized our Legal and Tax & Accounting businesses on a global basis to facilitate the creation of more international solutions for our customers and to follow the expansion of our customers around the world
Achieve scale economics and make the whole of Thomson Reuters greater than the sum of its parts	Our business units have been collaborating to offer new services, grow revenues and achieve cost efficiencies We refinanced $3 billion of debt financing at favorable interest rates and we fully repaid our bridge credit facility used to finance the Reuters acquisition

We also seek to drive shareholder value by adhering to three financial priorities in managing our business.

No. 1 Invest to drive long-term growth and returns	No. 2 Focus on free cash flow	No. 3 Support business objectives with a robust capital strategy
Capital expenditure management process	Disciplined capital spending	Target net debt/EBITDA ratio of 2.0x
Acquisition process and metrics	Working capital management	Access to capital markets
Portfolio optimization process	Performance improvement included in management incentives	Focus on balancing investments and returns

CORPORATE HEADQUARTERS

Our corporate headquarters seeks to foster a group-wide approach to management while allowing the Markets and Professional divisions sufficient operational flexibility to serve their customers effectively. The corporate headquarters' three primary areas of focus are strategy and capital allocation, technology and innovation and talent management. The corporate headquarters is also responsible for overall direction on communications, investor relations, tax, accounting, finance, treasury and legal, and administers certain human resources services, such as employee compensation, benefits administration and training and development.

Our corporate headquarters are located in New York, New York with major operations in London and Eagan, Minnesota.

TECHNOLOGY

We maintain sophisticated infrastructures and highly developed online systems and support capabilities to provide our customers with electronic products and services, primarily through the Internet.

We are continuing to develop our online delivery platforms, which utilize highly scalable technologies resulting in significantly enhanced capabilities. Our platforms allow us to more easily combine content from our various online services, reduce product delivery costs and reduce development time for new products and services. We continue to upgrade and standardize our applications and infrastructure, enabling us to enhance our ability to market and sell products through the Internet.

SALES AND MARKETING

We primarily sell our products and services directly to our customers. Some of our businesses have regional sales representatives in addition to a team of account managers and sales representatives who work out of our offices to ensure that existing customers' needs are met. In addition, some of our businesses have regional sales forces that focus on marketing and selling products to customers located in a particular country or area. We sometimes supplement our regional sales and account management presence with a telemarketing group to assist in meeting our customers' informational requirements.

In addition, we have been successful in selling some of our products and services through the Internet. Focusing some of our marketing and sales efforts on Internet sales has allowed us to broaden our range of customers and reduce sales and marketing costs. A number of our businesses also use the Internet to provide product support to existing customers.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

Many of our products and services are comprised of information delivered through a variety of media, including the Internet, software-based applications, books, journals, compact discs, dedicated transmission lines and handheld wireless devices. Our principal IP assets include patents, trademarks, databases and copyrights in our content and in our trade names. We believe that our IP is sufficient to permit us to carry on our business as presently conducted. We also rely on confidentiality agreements to protect our rights. In addition, we obtain significant content and data through third party licensing arrangements with content providers. We have also registered a number of website domain names in connection with our publishing and Internet operations.

RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

Innovation is essential to our success and is one of our primary bases of competition. Our businesses are continuously engaged in research to develop new products and services, to improve and enhance the effectiveness and ease of existing products and services and to develop new applications for existing products and services.

ENVIRONMENTAL MATTERS

We believe that our business has a relatively low environmental impact, as we deliver most of our information and services electronically as opposed to print. In 2008, we derived 90% of our pro forma revenues from electronic, software and services. Electronic delivery improves our ability to rapidly provide additional products and services to our existing customers and to access new customers around the world. Moving more paper information to digital saves trees in printing and fossil fuel in shipping.

We also seek to operate our central data centers as efficiently as possible. We have installed videoconference units in our largest locations to reduce travel. We are also creating a new data-gathering system to provide a more comprehensive understanding of our global resource consumption baseline, concentrating on relevant indicators such as energy, water, waste and paper consumption. One additional way we address global environmental challenges is through the information we provide to customers and the public. Through Reuters Media, we provide news on these topics, and encourage debate and increased awareness via dedicated environment-focused blogs and video channels.

We believe that our operations are in material compliance with applicable environmental laws, as well as laws and regulations relating to worker health and safety. Compliance with these laws and regulations has not had, and is not expected to have, a material effect on our capital expenditures, earnings or competitive position.

CORPORATE RESPONSIBILITY

Corporate Responsibility (CR) is an integral part of the way we do business. As we integrate the Reuters businesses, we are drawing upon the heritage of both Thomson and Reuters to define our CR efforts. Our executive committee approved our CR policy in 2008, establishing how we will manage our relationships with stakeholders in four areas: our workplace (employees), the community (the places and societies in which we operate), the marketplace (customers, suppliers and investors) and the environment. By articulating focus areas, we are able to define our response to global standards and charters in ways that are meaningful and relevant to our business. Our immediate CR priorities are diversity, community impact, responsible sourcing and the environment. Additionally, in 2008, we launched our new Code of Business Conduct and Ethics to all staff. During 2009, we will launch our implementation plans for these priorities, including measurement, reporting and governance. Against each commitment, we will assign a business owner and a performance target in order to meet legislative requirements, specific quantitative goals or our own CR ambitions. Our targets will be reviewed at least annually.

REGULATION

Certain businesses in our Markets division that provide services such as matching products, order routing and trading platforms and networks are regulated in various countries where we operate. These regulators include the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) and Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in the United States, the Financial Services Authority (FSA) in the United Kingdom as well as securities/financial regulatory authorities and commissions in Australia, Canada, China, Hong Kong, Japan, Singapore and member countries of the European Economic Area. Our compliance obligations vary from regulator to regulator, and include, among other things:

- licensing and registration;
- disclosure/reporting, conduct and recordkeeping requirements;
- maintaining any applicable minimum financial/capital requirements;
- operating appropriate systems and controls related to antimoney laundering and prevention of other financial crimes; and
- cooperating with any periodic reviews or audits.

Government regulation does not have a material effect on our Professional division.

ACQUISITIONS AND DISPOSITIONS

2008 was a milestone year in which we completed our acquisition of Reuters for approximately $17 billion.

During the last three years, we also made a number of tactical acquisitions which complemented our existing businesses. For many of these acquisitions, we purchased information or a service that we integrated into our operations to broaden the range of our offerings. These acquisitions have expanded our product offerings, enabled us to enter adjacent markets, tap new revenue streams and achieve cost efficiencies.

In addition, as part of our continuing strategy to optimize our portfolio of businesses, ensure that we are investing in parts of our business that offer the greatest opportunities to achieve growth and returns, we also actively pursued the sale of a number of businesses during the last three years. The most significant of these was our sale of Thomson Learning in 2007. For more information on acquisitions and dispositions that we made in the last three years, please see the “Management’s Discussion and Analysis” section of this annual report.

The increase of over 20,000 employees between 2007 and 2008 was primarily due to the acquisition of Reuters.

THOMSON REUTERS

ANNUAL REPORT 2008

RISK FACTORS

The risks and uncertainties below represent the risks that our management believes are material. If any of the events or developments discussed below actually occurs, our business, financial condition or results of operations of could be adversely affected. Other factors not presently known to us or that we presently believe are not material could also affect our future business and operations.

We may be adversely affected by a further deterioration in the markets that we serve.

Our performance depends on the financial health and strength of our customers, which in turn is dependent on the general economies in our major markets in North America, Europe and Asia. The current global economic crisis has caused disruptions and volatility in financial markets in particular. A continued downturn in the financial markets, a prolonged recession in one or more of the countries in which we operate or significant trading market disruptions or suspensions could adversely affect our business. In 2008, we derived approximately 59% of our pro forma revenues from our financial businesses. The deepening economic crisis has also impacted the legal industry, causing a number of law firms to increase their focus on reducing costs. Continued cost-cutting by any of our customer segments in response to the current economic climate may also adversely affect our financial results.

We operate in highly competitive markets and may be adversely affected by this competition.

The information and news industries are highly competitive. Many of our principal competitors have substantial financial resources, recognized brands, technological expertise and market experience. Our competitors are also enhancing their products and services, developing new products and services and investing in technology to better serve the needs of their existing customers and to attract new customers. Our competitors may acquire additional businesses in key sectors that will allow them to offer a broader array of products and services. We may also face increased competition from Internet service companies and search providers that could pose a threat to some of our businesses by providing more in-depth offerings, adapting their products and services to meet the demands of their customers or combining with one of their traditional competitors to enhance their products and services. Competition may require us to reduce the price of our products and services or make additional capital investments that would adversely affect profit margins. If we are unable or unwilling to do so, we may lose market share and our financial results may be adversely affected. In addition, some of our customers have in the past and may decide again to develop independently certain products and services that they obtain from us, including through the formation of consortia. To the extent that customers become more self-sufficient, demand for our products and services of may be reduced which may adversely affect our financial results.

Increased accessibility to free or relatively inexpensive information sources may reduce demand for our products and services.

In recent years, more public sources of free or relatively inexpensive information have become available, particularly through the Internet, and this trend is expected to continue. For example, some governmental and regulatory agencies have increased the amount of information they make publicly available at no cost. In addition, “open source” software that is available for free may provide some functionality similar to that in some of our products. Public sources of free or relatively inexpensive information may reduce demand for our products and services. Although we believe our information is more valuable and enhanced through analysis, tools and applications that are embedded into customers’ workflows, our financial results may be adversely affected if our customers choose to use these public sources as a substitute for our products or services.

If we are unable to develop new products, services, applications and functionalities to meet our customers’ needs, attract new customers or expand into new geographic markets, our ability to generate revenues may be adversely affected.

Our growth strategy involves developing new products, services, applications and functionalities to meet our customers’ needs for intelligent information solutions and maintaining a strong position in the sectors that we serve. As the information and news services industries undergo rapid evolution, we must be able to anticipate and respond to our customers’ needs in order to improve our competitiveness. In addition, we plan to grow by attracting new customers and expanding into new geographic markets. It may take us a significant amount of time and expense to develop new products, services, applications and functionalities to meet needs of customers, attract new customers or expand into new geographic markets. If we are unable to do so, our ability to generate revenues may be adversely affected.

We generate a significant percentage of our revenues from subscription-based arrangements, and our ability to generate higher revenues is dependent in part on maintaining a high renewal rate.

In 2008, 86% of our pro forma revenues were derived from subscriptions or similar contractual arrangements, which result in recurring revenues. Our subscription arrangements are most often for a term of one year or renew automatically under evergreen arrangements. With appropriate notice, however, certain arrangements are cancelable quarterly, particularly within our Markets division. In addition, the renewals of longer term arrangements are often at the customer’s option. In order to generate higher revenues, we are dependent on a significant number of our customers to renew their arrangements with us. Our revenues could also be lower if a significant number of our customers renewed their arrangements with us, but reduced the amount of their spending.

We rely heavily on network systems and the Internet and any failures or disruptions may adversely affect our ability to serve our customers.

We are dependent on our ability to handle rapidly substantial quantities of data and transactions on computer-based networks and the capacity, reliability and security of our electronic delivery systems and the Internet. Any significant failure or interruption of these systems, including operational services, loss of service from third parties, sabotage, break-ins, terrorist activities, human error, natural disaster, power or coding loss and computer viruses could cause our systems to operate slowly or interrupt service for periods of time and could have a material adverse effect on our business and results of our operations. Our ability to effectively use the Internet may be impaired due to infrastructure failures, service outages at third party Internet providers or increased government regulation. In addition, we are facing significant increases in our use of power and data storage. We may experience shortage of capacity and increased costs associated with such usage. These events may affect our ability to store, handle and deliver data and services to our customers.

From time to time, update rates of market data have increased. This can sometimes impact product and network performance. Factors that have significantly increased the market data update rates include:

- the emergence of proprietary data feeds from other markets;
- high market volatility;
- decimalization;
- reductions in trade sizes resulting in more transactions;
- new derivative instruments;
- increased automatically-generated algorithmic and program trading;
- market fragmentation resulting in an increased number of trading venues; and
- multiple listings of options and other securities.

Changes in legislation and regulation pertaining to market structure and dissemination of market information may also increase update rates. While we continue to implement a number of capacity management initiatives, there can be no assurance that our company and our network providers will be able to accommodate accelerated growth of peak traffic volumes or avoid other failures or interruptions.

We are dependent on third parties for information and other services.

We obtain significant information through licensing arrangements with content providers. In addition, we rely on third party service providers for telecommunications, IT support and certain human resources administrative functions. Some providers may seek to increase fees for providing their proprietary content or services. If we are unable to renegotiate commercially acceptable arrangements with these content or service providers or find alternative sources of equivalent content or service, our business could be adversely affected.

We may be adversely affected by changes in legislation and regulation.

Laws relating to communications, data protection, e-commerce, direct marketing and digital advertising and the use of public records have become more prevalent in recent years. Existing and proposed legislation and regulations, including changes in the manner in which such legislation and regulations are interpreted by courts, in the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada and other jurisdictions may impose limits on our collection and use of certain kinds of information and our ability to communicate such information effectively to our customers. We may also be impacted by legislative and regulatory changes in the financial services sector that apply to customers of our Markets division, as well as how we provide products and services to these customers. It is difficult to predict in what form laws and regulations will be adopted or how they will be construed by the relevant courts, or the extent to which any changes might adversely affect us. In addition, changes in tax laws and/or uncertainty over their application and interpretation may adversely affect our results. We operate in many countries worldwide and our earnings are subject to taxation in many different jurisdictions and at different rates. We seek to organize our affairs in a tax efficient manner, taking account of the jurisdictions in which we operate. Tax laws that apply to our company may be amended by the relevant authorities, for example, as a result of changes in fiscal circumstances or priorities. Such amendments, or their application to our company, may adversely affect our results.

Operating globally involves challenges that we may not be able to meet and that may adversely affect our ability to grow.

There are certain risks inherent in doing business globally which may adversely affect our business and ability to grow. These risks include difficulties in penetrating new markets due to established and entrenched competitors, difficulties in developing products and services that are tailored to the needs of local customers, lack of local acceptance or knowledge of our products and services, lack of recognition of our brands, unavailability of joint venture partners or local companies for acquisition, instability of international economies and governments, exposure to adverse government action in countries where we may conduct reporting activities, changes in laws and policies affecting trade and investment in other jurisdictions, and exposure to varying legal standards, including intellectual property protection laws. Adverse developments in any of these areas could cause our actual results to differ materially from expected results. However, there are also advantages to operating globally, including a proportionately reduced exposure to the market developments of a single country or region.

Our goodwill is key to our ability to remain a trusted source of information and news.

The integrity of our reputation is key to our ability to remain a trusted source of information and news. Failure to protect our brands or failure to uphold the Reuters Trust Principles may adversely impact our credibility as a trusted supplier of content and may have a negative impact on our information and news business.

We may be subject to impairment losses that would reduce our reported assets and earnings.

Goodwill and identifiable intangible assets comprise a substantial portion of our total assets. Economic, legal, regulatory, competitive, contractual and other factors may affect the value of goodwill and identifiable intangible assets. If any of these factors impair the value of these assets, accounting rules would require that we reduce their carrying value and recognize an impairment charge, which would reduce our reported assets and earnings in the year the impairment charge is recognized.

Our intellectual property rights may not be adequately protected, which may adversely affect our financial results.

Many of our products and services are based on information delivered through a variety of media, including the Internet, software-based applications, books, journals, compact discs, dedicated transmission lines and handheld wireless devices. We rely on agreements with our customers and patent, trademark, copyright and other intellectual property laws to establish and protect our proprietary rights in our products and services. Third parties may be able to copy, infringe or otherwise profit from our proprietary rights without authorization and the Internet may facilitate these activities. The lack of specific legislation relating to the protection of intellectual property rights for content delivered through the Internet or other electronic formats creates an additional challenge for us in protecting our proprietary rights in content delivered through these media. We also conduct business in some countries where the extent of effective legal protection for intellectual property rights is uncertain. We cannot assure you that we have adequate protection of our intellectual property rights. If we are not able to protect our intellectual property rights, our financial results may be adversely affected.

We may operate in an increasingly litigious environment, which may adversely affect our financial results.

We may become involved in legal actions and claims arising in the ordinary course of business. Due to the inherent uncertainty in the litigation process, the resolution of any particular legal proceeding could have a material adverse effect on our financial position and results of operations.

We are significantly dependent on technology and the rights related to it, including rights in respect of business methods. This, combined with the recent proliferation of “business method patents” issued by the US Patent Office, and the increasingly litigious environment that surrounds patents in general, increases the possibility that we may be sued for patent infringement.

If an infringement suit were successful, it is possible that the infringing product would be enjoined by court order and removed from the market and we may be required to compensate the party bringing the suit either by a damages claim or through ongoing license fees or other fees, and such compensation could be significant, in addition to the legal fees that would be incurred defending such a claim. Responding to intellectual property claims, regardless of the validity, could also be time consuming and could require us to release source code to third parties, possibly under open source license terms.

Our credit ratings may be downgraded, or adverse conditions in the credit markets may continue, which may impede our access to the debt markets or raise our borrowing rates.

Our access to financing depends on, among other things, suitable market conditions and the maintenance of suitable long-term credit ratings. Our credit ratings may be adversely affected by various factors, including increased debt levels, decreased earnings, declines in customer demands, increased competition, a continued deterioration in general economic and business conditions and adverse publicity. Any downgrades in our credit ratings or continued adverse conditions in the credit markets may impede our access to the debt markets or raise our borrowing rates.

Currency fluctuations and interest rate fluctuations may have a significant impact on our reported revenues and earnings.

Our financial statements are expressed in US dollars and are, therefore, subject to movements in exchange rates on the translation of the financial information of businesses whose operational currencies are other than our reporting currency. We receive revenue and incur expenses in many currencies and are thereby exposed to the impact of fluctuations in various currency rates. To the extent that these currency exposures are not hedged, exchange rate movements may cause fluctuations in our consolidated financial statements.

Substantially all of our non-US dollar-denominated debt has been hedged into US dollars. Our hedging strategies against currency risk could also impact our financial results when the US dollar strengthens against other currencies. In addition, an increase in interest rates from current levels could adversely affect our results in future periods.

If we do not continue to recruit and retain high quality management and key employees, we may not be able to execute our strategies.

The completion and execution of our strategies depends on our ability to continue to recruit and retain high quality management and employees across all of our businesses. We compete with many businesses that are seeking skilled individuals, including those with advanced technological abilities. We may not be able to continue to identify or be successful in recruiting or retaining the appropriate qualified personnel for our businesses and this may adversely affect our ability to execute our strategies.

We have significant funding obligations for pension and post-retirement benefit arrangements that are affected by factors outside of our control.

We have significant funding obligations for various pension and other post-retirement benefit arrangements that are affected by factors outside our control. The valuations of material plans are determined by independent actuaries. Long-term rates of return for pension plans and post-retirement benefit arrangements are based on evaluations of historical investment returns and input from investment advisors. These valuations and rates of return require assumptions to be made in respect of future compensation levels, expected mortality, inflation, the expected long-term rate of return on the assets available to fund the plans, the expected social security costs and medical cost trends, along with the discount rate to measure obligations. These assumptions are reviewed annually. While we believe that these assumptions are appropriate given current economic conditions, significant differences in results or significant changes in assumptions may materially affect pension plan and post-retirement benefit obligations and related future expenses.

Woodbridge controls our company and is in a position to affect our governance and operations.

Woodbridge had an economic and voting interest in Thomson Reuters of approximately 55% as of March 26, 2009. For so long as Woodbridge maintains its controlling interest in Thomson Reuters, it will generally be able to approve matters submitted to a majority vote of our shareholders without the consent of other shareholders, including, among other things, the election of the our board. In addition, Woodbridge may be able to exercise a controlling influence over our business and affairs, the selection of our senior management, the acquisition or disposition of our assets, our access to capital markets, the payment of dividends and any change of control of our company, such as a merger or take-over. The effect of this control may be to limit the price that investors are willing to pay for our shares. In addition, a sale of shares by Woodbridge or the perception of the market that a sale may occur may adversely affect the market price of our shares.

We may be unable to derive fully the anticipated benefits from our existing or future acquisitions, joint ventures, investments or dispositions.

We have acquired, invested in and/or disposed of, and in the future may seek to acquire, invest in and/or dispose of, various companies and businesses. In the future, we may not be able to successfully identify attractive acquisition opportunities or make acquisitions on terms that are satisfactory to our company from a commercial perspective. In addition, competition for acquisitions in the industries in which we operate during recent years has escalated, and may increase costs of acquisitions or cause us to refrain from making certain acquisitions. We may also be subject to increasing regulatory scrutiny from competition and antitrust authorities. Achieving the expected returns and synergies from past and future acquisitions will depend in part upon our ability to integrate the products and services, technology, administrative functions and personnel of these businesses into our segments in an efficient and effective manner. We cannot assure you that we will be able to do so, or that our acquired businesses will perform at anticipated levels. If we are unable to successfully integrate acquired businesses, our anticipated revenues and profits may be lower. Our strategies have historically resulted in decisions to dispose of assets or businesses that were no longer aligned with strategic objectives. We expend costs and management resources to complete divestitures. Any failures or delays in completing divestitures could have an adverse effect on our financial results and on our ability to execute our strategy.

Benefits from our integration and savings program may not be achieved to the extent, or within the time period, currently expected.

In addition to the potential revenue growth generated by our company, our acquisition of Reuters is expected to deliver annual run-rate savings of $1 billion by the end of 2011. In February 2009, we raised our overall savings target (which also includes $400 million of savings expected from legacy efficiency programs) to $1.4 billion. Our integration and savings program involves investing in new revenue initiatives and transformation initiatives, including content and development transformation, common platform development, customer administration and data center rationalization. We may encounter difficulties during this process that could eliminate, reduce or delay the realization of the savings that are currently expected. Among other things, these difficulties could include:

- unexpected issues, higher than expected costs and an overall process that takes longer than originally anticipated;
- our inability to successfully integrate operations, technologies, products and services;
- loss of key employees;
- modification or termination of existing agreements with customers and suppliers and delayed entry into new agreements with prospective customers and suppliers; and
- the diversion of management's attention from day-to-day business or developing longer-term strategy as a result of the need to deal with integration and savings program issues.

As a result of these difficulties, the actual savings generated may be less, and may take longer to realize, than is currently expected.

Our acquisition of Reuters may not maximize the growth potential of, or deliver greater value for, our company beyond the level that either Thomson or Reuters could have achieved on its own.

One of the principal reasons for the acquisition of Reuters was to maximize our growth potential beyond the level that either Thomson or Reuters could have achieved on its own. Achieving this growth potential is dependent upon a number of factors, many of which are beyond our control. We may not be able to pursue successfully innovative product development opportunities or enhance the quality and competitiveness of our product offerings to the extent anticipated. The inability to realize the full extent of the anticipated growth opportunities, as well as any delays encountered in the integration process, could have an adverse effect on our revenues, operating results and financial strength.

Each of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC is exposed to the credit risk of the other.

In light of the cross guarantees, each of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC is exposed to the credit risk of the other. For example, if Thomson Reuters PLC is unable or fails to pay its contractual indebtedness or other obligations, a creditor under a contract may require Thomson Reuters Corporation to pay all amounts due.

The DLC structure involves risks to the Thomson Reuters Corporation shareholders with respect to the support arrangements.

The DLC structure provides that in the event of the insolvency of Thomson Reuters PLC, Thomson Reuters Corporation must take certain actions to support Thomson Reuters PLC and its shareholders to restore economic equivalence as between the shares of the two companies. The DLC structure does not provide a reciprocal obligation by Thomson Reuters PLC to support Thomson Reuters Corporation in the event of the insolvency of Thomson Reuters Corporation.

The DLC structure also provides that Thomson Reuters Corporation must take certain actions to support Thomson Reuters PLC where it is required to declare or pay a dividend or other cash distribution but is unable to do so. Thomson Reuters PLC is not required to support Thomson Reuters Corporation in the event that Thomson Reuters Corporation is unable to declare or pay a dividend or other cash distribution.

Accordingly, there is a risk that Thomson Reuters Corporation will be required to support Thomson Reuters PLC and its shareholders although Thomson Reuters Corporation and its shareholders would not receive support in corresponding circumstances.

The trading prices and liquidity of our shares may not be the same and the differences between them may be material.

Although the economic interests of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares are the same, the trading prices of our shares have not been the same (when adjusted for the applicable exchange rate) since the closing of the Reuters acquisition in April 2008. In addition, the liquidity of the markets for our shares has also varied at times. The difference in our share prices has averaged approximately 18% from the closing date of the acquisition through March 26, 2009.

Our DLC structure may be adversely affected by changes to legislation and regulations, and involves risks and costs not associated with other corporate structures.

Our DLC structure was developed on the basis of existing law and policies of regulatory authorities in Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States. Changes to these laws or policies (including changes to tax laws) may impact or alter the rights, benefits or protections afforded to our company and our shareholders under the DLC structure.

Our DLC structure involves different issues and risks than those associated with other more common corporate structures. Our structure was implemented by means of contracts between Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC and provisions in their organizational documents. The legal effect of these contractual rights may be different than the legal effect of a take-over bid, merger or amalgamation and there may be difficulties in enforcing them. In addition, certain contracts between Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC provide that they are enforceable only by the two companies and not directly by our shareholders. Nevertheless, shareholders of either Thomson Reuters Corporation or Thomson Reuters PLC might challenge the validity of the contracts or their lack of standing to enforce rights under these contracts, and courts may interpret or enforce these contracts in a manner inconsistent with the provisions and intentions of the companies expressed in documents governing our DLC.

There is also uncertainty as to the enforceability of certain provisions of the documents governing our DLC, including those relating to an insolvency of one parent company or both parent companies. For example, in the event of an insolvency of Thomson Reuters PLC, Thomson Reuters Corporation must take actions to restore economic equivalence as between the shares of the two companies. We cannot assure you that a court would interpret or enforce that obligation in a manner consistent with the terms of the DLC documents and the intentions of the companies expressed therein.

As our two parent companies are both publicly listed, we comply with both Canadian and UK corporate law and different regulatory and stock exchange requirements in Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States. This requires more administrative time and cost than was the case prior to the acquisition of Reuters.

We cannot assure you that we will maintain our DLC structure in the future.

Changes in the tax residence of Thomson Reuters Corporation or Thomson Reuters PLC could cause us adverse tax consequences.

We expect Thomson Reuters Corporation will remain resident only in Canada for tax purposes and Thomson Reuters PLC will remain resident only in the United Kingdom for tax purposes. However, if Thomson Reuters Corporation were to cease to be resident solely in Canada and/or Thomson Reuters PLC were to cease to be resident solely in the United Kingdom for tax purposes (including as a result of changes in applicable laws or in Canadian regulatory practice or the practice of UK taxation authorities), this could cause us adverse tax consequences.

If Thomson Reuters PLC were classified as a passive foreign investment company under US federal income tax laws, it could have adverse tax consequences for US holders of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares (including those represented by Thomson Reuters PLC ADSs).

Special rules apply to certain US shareholders that own shares in a non-US corporation that is classified as a passive foreign investment company, or PFIC. We do not believe that Thomson Reuters PLC is currently a PFIC and, based on the strategy for our business, we do not expect Thomson Reuters PLC to become a PFIC in the foreseeable future. However, the application of the PFIC rules to the DLC structure is uncertain and involves some risk that the IRS will consider Thomson Reuters PLC to be a PFIC. The PFIC rules are extremely complex and could, if they apply, have significant adverse effects on the taxation of dividends received and gains realized by a US shareholder of Thomson Reuters PLC. Accordingly, US shareholders of Thomson Reuters PLC should consult with their tax advisers concerning the potential application of PFIC rules to their particular circumstances. See the Additional Information – Taxation section of this annual report for more information on PFIC classification.

US holders of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares who do not hold their shares through Thomson Reuters PLC ADSs might not qualify for special reduced US tax rates on payments of future dividends from Thomson Reuters PLC.

It is not entirely clear whether US shareholders of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares would be able to qualify for special reduced US tax rates with respect to the payment of dividends from Thomson Reuters PLC.

Reuters Founders Share Company holds a Reuters Founders Share in each of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC and may be in a position to affect our governance and management.

Reuters Founders Share Company was established to safeguard the Reuters Trust Principles, including the independence, integrity and freedom from bias in the gathering and dissemination of information and news. Reuters Founders Share Company holds a Reuters Founders Share in each of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC. The interest of Reuters Founders Share Company in safeguarding the Reuters Trust Principles may conflict with our other business objectives, impose additional costs or burdens on us or otherwise affect the management and governance. In addition, the Reuters Founders Shares enable Reuters Founders Share Company to exercise extraordinary voting power to safeguard the Reuters Trust Principles and to thwart those whose holdings of voting shares of Thomson Reuters Corporation or Thomson Reuters PLC threaten the Reuters Trust Principles. As a result, Reuters Founders Share Company may prevent a change of control (including by way of a take-over bid or similar transaction) of our company in the future. The effect of these rights of Reuters Founders Share Company may be to limit the price that investors are willing to pay for our shares.

Provisions in our DLC documents that are designed to ensure that shareholders of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC are treated on an equivalent basis with respect to take-over bids and similar transactions may prevent or discourage take-over bids and similar transactions.

We believe that it is essential to the implementation and operation of our DLC structure that holders of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares be treated on an equivalent basis with respect to any take-over bid or similar transaction for such shares. Accordingly, our DLC documents contain provisions that are intended to impede a person from making a take-over bid or similar transaction for shares of one company without also making an equivalent takeover bid or similar transaction for shares of the other company. The effect of these provisions may be to limit the price that investors are willing to pay for Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares or Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares if these provisions are viewed as preventing or discouraging take-over bids or similar transactions for shares of either company.

The rights and privileges of Thomson Reuters Corporation shareholders and Thomson Reuters PLC shareholders are governed by different laws and regulations.

Ontario law and the Thomson Reuters Corporation Articles and the Thomson Reuters Corporation By-Laws govern Thomson Reuters Corporation and its relations with its shareholders. UK law and the Thomson Reuters PLC Articles govern Thomson Reuters PLC and its relations with its shareholders. Although the rights and privileges of shareholders of Thomson Reuters Corporation are comparable to those of shareholders of Thomson Reuters PLC, particularly taking into account the effects of the DLC structure, their respective rights and privileges differ in certain respects due to differences between Ontario law and regulations and UK law and regulations and between the Thomson Reuters Corporation Articles and the Thomson Reuters Corporation By-Laws and the Thomson Reuters PLC Articles. In addition, Canadian and UK courts could interpret comparable provisions differently.

OVERVIEW

Our Business and Strategy

Who we are and what we do. We are the leading source of intelligent information for the world's businesses and professionals, providing customers with a competitive advantage. Intelligent information is a unique synthesis of human intelligence, industry expertise and innovative technology that provides decision-makers with the knowledge to act, enabling them to make better decisions faster. Through more than 50,000 people across 93 countries, we deliver this must-have insight to the financial, legal, tax and accounting, healthcare, science and media markets, powered by the world's most trusted news organization.

2008 was a milestone year in which we completed our acquisition of Reuters for approximately $17 billion. As a result, we became a much larger and more global company.

How we make money. We serve a wide variety of customers with a single, tested business model. We derive the majority of our revenues from selling electronic content and services to professionals, primarily on a subscription basis. Over the years, this has proven to be capital efficient and cash flow generative, and it has enabled us to maintain leading and scalable positions in our chosen markets. Within each of the markets we serve, we bring in-depth understanding of our customers' needs, flexible technology platforms, proprietary content and scale. We believe our ability to embed our solutions into customers' workflows is a significant competitive advantage as it leads to strong customer retention.

Our operational structure. We are organized in two divisions:

- Markets, which consists of our financial and media businesses; and
- Professional, which in 2008 consisted of our legal, tax and accounting, scientific and healthcare businesses.

In the first quarter of 2009, we reorganized certain parts of our Professional division to reflect the global nature of our business, focus on key growth opportunities and increase efficiency.

- We created an intellectual property (IP) business, which became part of the Legal segment, by combining all of our Professional division-wide assets and capabilities related to patents, trademarks and standards.
- We created a new strategic business unit, Healthcare and Science, which manages all of the businesses of the previous individual Healthcare and Scientific segments.
- We reorganized our Legal and Tax & Accounting businesses on a global basis to facilitate the creation of more international solutions for our customers and to follow the expansion of our customers around the world.

The description of our Professional division contained in this management's discussion and analysis reflects how the division was structured and managed through December 31, 2008.

We also report a Corporate and Other category that principally includes corporate expenses, certain costs associated with shareholder related compensation, fair value adjustments associated with foreign currency embedded derivatives of customer contracts, costs associated with corporate integration and synergy programs and costs associated with the Reuters acquisition.

Our business environment. We are a global business and many of our customers have operations around the world. This is an important element of our growth strategy. As a result of the Reuters acquisition, we expanded our presence from 44 countries in 2007 to 93 countries in 2008. Accordingly, we need to ensure our offerings reflect the global economy, our brand has international appeal, and our global footprint allows us to capitalize on new opportunities such as the growth of professional workers in emerging economies and the expansion of our existing customers into new geographic areas.

As a global organization, we are affected by economic and market dynamics, governmental regulations and business conditions of each market and country in which we operate. In 2008, many of our customers were negatively impacted by a variety of factors, and the financial services industry in particular was adversely affected by severe disruptions in the credit markets. While not immune to economic cycles, the businesses in our Professional division have historically been more resilient than the businesses in our Markets division. Further, over the last few years, our business has increasingly become more electronic than printbased with a greater number of customers entering into multi-year commitments for our critical workflow tools and applications. We have also become geographically diverse. We believe these factors strengthen our business and its relative position in the current economic environment.

In the second half of 2008, the US dollar strengthened against other major currencies in which we derive revenues, such as the British pound and Euro. This strengthening had a negative impact on the amount of revenues that we report in US dollars.

In the “Outlook” section of this management’s discussion and analysis, we provided our business outlook for 2009. We also provided our outlook on trends impacting each of our divisions and reportable segments within the “Results of Operations” section.

Our 2008 and 2009 priorities. In 2008, we made significant progress on our key priorities. For 2009, we remain focused on the same priorities:

- Integrate the acquired Reuters businesses to drive long-term growth and capture synergies;
- Capitalize on a global brand and presence to drive international growth; and
- Achieve scale economics and make the whole of Thomson Reuters greater than the sum of its parts.

We also seek to drive shareholder value by adhering to three financial priorities in managing our business:

- Invest to drive long-term growth and returns;
- Focus on free cash flow; and
- Support business objectives with a robust capital strategy.

Please see the “Business” section of this annual report for a more detailed discussion of our priorities.

Our corporate structure. We operate under a DLC structure and have two parent companies, each of which is publicly listed:

- Thomson Reuters Corporation, an Ontario, Canada corporation; and
- Thomson Reuters PLC, a UK company.

We operate as a unified group pursuant to contractual arrangements as well as provisions in our organizational documents. Under our DLC structure, one Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary share currently has equivalent rights to distributions of income and capital and voting rights as one Thomson Reuters Corporation common share.

Our controlling shareholder is The Woodbridge Company Limited. As of the date of this management’s discussion and analysis, The Woodbridge Company Limited and other companies affiliated with it (Woodbridge) had a voting interest in Thomson Reuters of approximately 55% based on the aggregate issued share capital of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC. See the section entitled “Related Party Transactions” for additional information about our recent transactions with Woodbridge.

Our financial statements. Our primary financial statements are the consolidated financial statements of Thomson Reuters Corporation. Those statements account for Thomson Reuters PLC as a subsidiary and have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in Canada (Canadian GAAP). We have received exemptive relief to present Thomson Reuters Corporation’s financial statements in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) in 2009. We have provided a voluntary reconciliation to IFRS in this management’s discussion and analysis. See the section entitled “Recently Issued Accounting Standards” for more information.

Results for Reuters are included in our consolidated financial statements beginning April 17, 2008, as we are accounting for the acquisition under the purchase method. For informational purposes, we have also included Thomson Reuters pro forma results in this management’s discussion and analysis, which present the hypothetical performance of our business as if Thomson had acquired Reuters on January 1, 2007. See the sections of this management’s discussion and analysis entitled “Acquisitions and Dispositions” and “Results of Operations” for more information.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Revenues

Our revenues are derived from a diverse customer base. No single customer accounted for more than 2% of our 2008 pro forma revenues. In 2007, none of our customers accounted for more than 3% of our reported revenues.

Below, we provide information regarding our 2008 pro forma revenues by media, type and geographic area. Given the impact of the Reuters acquisition on our overall revenue mix, we believe that a pro forma presentation is most relevant to the understanding of our ongoing business model.

REVENUE BY MEDIA¹

Electronic.....90%
Print.....10%

REVENUE BY TYPE¹

Recurring.....86%
Non-recurring.....14%

REVENUE BY GEOGRAPHY¹

Americas.....58%
EMEA.....32%

By media. We deliver information electronically over the Internet, through dedicated transmission lines and wireless handheld devices. Electronic delivery improves our ability to rapidly provide additional products and services to our existing customers and to access new customers around the world. We also offer product distribution in CD and print format. Increasingly our customers have been seeking products and services delivered electronically and have migrated away from print-based products. As a result of the Reuters acquisition, our 2008 pro forma revenues from electronic, software and services were 90%, compared to 82% in 2007 prior to the acquisition. In the long term, we expect that electronic, software and services as a percentage of our total revenues will continue to gradually increase as we continue to emphasize electronic delivery, add more solution-based and software-based businesses to our portfolio, and as emerging economies continue to professionalize and incorporate technology into their workflows.

By type. We believe that one of the competitive advantages of our business is that we derive a significant percentage of our revenues from subscription or similar contractual arrangements, which we refer to as recurring revenues. Our subscription arrangements are most often for a term of one year or renew automatically under evergreen arrangements. With appropriate notice, certain arrangements are cancelable quarterly, particularly within our Markets division. A significant portion of our arrangements are for three year terms or longer, after which they automatically renew or are renewable at the customer's option. Renewal dates are spread over the course of the year. In 2008, 86% of our 2008 pro forma revenues were recurring, compared to 81% in 2007 prior to the Reuters acquisition. Because a high proportion of our revenues come from subscriptions and similar arrangements, we believe that our revenue patterns are generally more stable compared to other business models that involve the sale of products in discrete or one-off arrangements. In the case of some of our subscription arrangements, we realize additional fees based upon usage.

By geography. We segment our revenues geographically by origin of sale. Our geographic segments are Americas, EMEA (Europe, Middle East and Africa) and Asia. As a result of the Reuters acquisition, we combined Reuters strong positions in Europe and Asia with Thomson's strong positions in North America. In 2008, our pro forma revenues from the Americas were 58% (83% in 2007 prior to the acquisition), from EMEA were 32% (14% in 2007 prior to the acquisition) and from Asia were 10% (3% in 2007 prior to the acquisition).

We can modify and offer globally many of the products and services we have developed originally for customers of a given market. This represents an opportunity for us to earn incremental revenues. For some of the products and services we sell globally, we incur additional costs to customize our products and services for the local market and this can result in lower margins if we cannot achieve adequate scale.

Because of the dynamic nature of our products and services, management does not find it useful to analyze our revenue base using traditional price versus volume measurements.

Expenses

As an information and services provider, our most significant expense is labor. Our labor costs include all costs related to our employees, including salaries, bonuses, commissions, benefits, payroll taxes and stock-related compensation. Labor represented approximately 58% of our 2008 pro forma cost of sales, selling, marketing, general and administrative expenses from ongoing businesses (operating costs) compared to approximately 67% in 2007. No other category of expenses accounted for more than 15% of our operating costs in 2008 or 2007. The reduction in the overall percentage of labor costs reflects more use of outsourced services by the acquired Reuters business to support operations.

Seasonality

Historically, our revenues and operating profits from continuing operations were proportionately the smallest in the first quarter and the largest in the fourth quarter, as certain product releases were concentrated at the end of the year, particularly in the regulatory and healthcare markets. Costs were incurred more evenly throughout the year. Our operating margins historically increased as the year progressed. For these reasons, the performance of our businesses were not comparable quarter to consecutive quarter and were best considered on the basis of results for the whole year or by comparing results in a quarter with the results in the same quarter for the previous year. As Reuters revenues and profits have not historically fluctuated as significantly throughout the year, we anticipate that the seasonality of our revenues and operating profits will now be slightly less pronounced.

Acquisitions and Dispositions

Acquisitions have always played a key role in fulfilling our strategy. While the Reuters acquisition was transformational, our acquisitions are generally tactical in nature and primarily relate to the purchase of information, products or services that we integrate into our operations to broaden the range of our offerings to better serve our customers. When integrating acquired businesses, we focus on eliminating cost redundancies and combining the acquired products and services with our existing offerings. The following table sets forth information about acquisitions that we closed during the last three years.

2008	23	8,502 ¹
2006	25	744

1 Includes cash payment for Reuters noted below.

On April 17, 2008, we acquired Reuters for approximately $17 billion. Under the terms of the acquisition:

- All of the issued and outstanding Reuters ordinary shares were cancelled;
- Reuters shareholders received, for each Reuters ordinary share held:
 - 352.5 pence in cash; and
 - 0.16 Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares;
- One Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary share is equivalent to one Thomson Reuters Corporation common share under the DLC structure; and
- Thomson shareholders continued to hold their shares of Thomson, renamed as Thomson Reuters Corporation.

The components of the consideration were as follows:

(millions of U.S. dollars)
Cash (paid on May 1, 2008)	8,450
Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares (194,107,278 issued on April 17, 2008)	8,226
Reuters Group PLC options	195
Transaction costs	138
Total purchase consideration	17,009

We funded the cash consideration component of the transaction using proceeds from the sale of our Thomson Learning businesses as well as borrowings under an acquisition credit facility, which we have since repaid in full. See the section entitled “Financial Position” for further discussion on acquisition-related borrowings and repayments.

Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares were valued at $42.38 per share using the average Thomson share price two days before and after May 15, 2007, the date of the announcement of the acquisition. The nominal value of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares was changed from £10 to 25 pence shortly after the acquisition closed.

Subject to certain exceptions, 33,670,064 options and awards outstanding under Reuters share-based employee compensation plans vested and became fully exercisable prior to the closing of the acquisition. Upon exercise, holders were entitled to the same consideration for each share of Reuters that would have been received by a holder of ordinary shares. The fair value of outstanding options was $195 million and was included in the purchase consideration. Unexercised options expired during the fourth quarter of 2008.

As part of our continuing strategy to optimize our portfolio of businesses, to sharpen our strategic focus and to ensure that we are investing in the parts of our business that offer the greatest opportunities to achieve higher growth and returns, we have sold various businesses. Results for these businesses were classified as discontinued operations within our consolidated financial statements for all periods presented. None of these businesses was considered fundamental to our current integrated information offerings. We did not sell any of our businesses that qualified as discontinued operations in 2008. In 2007, we completed the sale of Thomson Learning. Our proceeds from the sales of discontinued operations, net of taxes paid, were $7 billion in 2007 and $81 million in 2006. Additionally, over the past few years we have sold certain minority equity investments and businesses that did not qualify as discontinued operations. Proceeds from these sales amounted to $293 million in 2008, $18 million in 2007 and $88 million in 2006. See the section entitled “Tradeweb Partnership” for discussion of our sale of a minority interest in that business.

Integration and Synergy Programs

In 2008, we made significant progress on our integration and synergy program, including the realization of cost synergies, the streamlining of product offerings in our Markets division, the pursuit of revenue synergies across both divisions and the achievement of our goal of becoming one company in one year. As we progressed with the execution of our Reuters integration plan in 2008, we identified significant additional opportunities for cost savings. We now expect $1 billion in annualized cost savings from integration programs by the end of 2011, up from $750 million of savings projected in May 2008 and $500 million estimated when we announced our agreement to acquire Reuters in May 2007. This raised our overall savings target (including legacy efficiency programs) to $1.4 billion.

Across all integration and legacy efficiency programs, we achieved combined run-rate savings of $750 million as of December 31, 2008. The 2008 cost required to achieve these savings through December 31 was approximately $362 million. Of this amount, $329 million related to integration programs and primarily consisted of severance and consulting expenses as well as costs associated with certain technology initiatives and branding. The remaining $33 million related to legacy efficiency initiatives and primarily consisted of severance costs as well as consulting fees related to a company-wide enterprise resource planning (ERP) system.

We are now beginning the second phase of the acquisition integration, which includes retiring legacy products and systems to simplify our business and help make us more agile, responsive and profitable. In 2009, we will roll out new strategic products, consolidate data centers and capture revenue synergies.

Because these are corporate initiatives, incremental expenses which are directed at capturing these cost savings are reported within the Corporate and Other segment. The various initiatives are expected to be completed in 2011 at a total cost of $1.4 billion. Expenses associated with legacy efficiency programs incurred prior to 2008 are excluded from this amount. We incur restructuring costs associated with these efforts, including severance and losses on lease terminations and other cancellations of contracts. Certain costs qualify to be recorded as part of goodwill and the remainder are expensed.

USE OF PRO FORMA AND NON-GAAP FINANCIAL MEASURES

Due to the significant impact of the Reuters acquisition on our results, we include pro forma results as if we had acquired Reuters on January 1, 2007 to provide a more meaningful analysis of our performance compared to the prior year. Pro forma results do not reflect the actual results of our business.

In addition to our pro forma results and results reported in accordance with Canadian GAAP, we use certain non-GAAP financial measures as supplemental indicators of our operating performance and financial position and for internal planning purposes. We have historically reported non-GAAP financial results as we believe their use provides more insight into our performance.

The following is a description of our non-GAAP financial measures, including an explanation of why we believe they are useful measures of our performance, including our ability to generate cash flow.

- Revenue and operating profit from ongoing businesses. We believe our revenue and profits are best measured based on our ability to grow our ongoing businesses over the long term. Accordingly, we evaluate our revenue and operating profit excluding results from disposals, which are defined as businesses sold or held for sale that do not qualify for discontinued operations classification.
- Net debt. We define our net debt as our total indebtedness, including associated fair value hedging instruments (swaps) on our debt, less cash and cash equivalents. Given that we hedge some of our debt to reduce risk, we include hedging instruments as we believe it provides a better measure of the total obligation associated with our outstanding debt. However, because we intend to hold our debt and related hedges to maturity, we do not consider the associated fair market value of cash flow hedges in our measurements. We reduce gross indebtedness by cash and cash equivalents on the basis that they could be used to pay down debt. See the reconciliation of this measure to the most directly comparable Canadian GAAP measure in the "Liquidity and Capital Resources" section of this management's discussion and analysis.
- Free cash flow. We evaluate our operating performance based on free cash flow, which we define as net cash provided by operating activities less capital expenditures, other investing activities and dividends paid on our preference shares. We use free cash flow as a performance measure because it represents cash available to repay debt, pay common and ordinary dividends and fund share repurchases and new acquisitions. See the reconciliation of this measure to the most directly comparable Canadian GAAP measure in the "Liquidity and Capital Resources" section of this management's discussion and analysis.
- Underlying free cash flow. We define underlying free cash flow as free cash flow excluding one-time cash costs related to the Reuters acquisition and costs associated with integration and synergy programs. We use underlying free cash flow as a performance measure because it represents free cash flow generated by our operations excluding certain unusual items. See the analysis of this measure compared to free cash flow in the "Liquidity and Capital Resources" section of this management's discussion and analysis.

Non-GAAP measures do not have any standardized meaning prescribed by Canadian GAAP and, therefore, are unlikely to be comparable with the calculation of similar measures used by other companies. You should not view these measures as alternatives to measures of financial performance calculated in accordance with Canadian GAAP.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Consolidated Results – Pro Forma Basis

For information regarding the calculation of pro forma results, please see Appendix A of this management's discussion and analysis.

The following table summarizes selected pro forma financial information:

We discuss our results of operations using pro forma financial information because the year-to-year comparison of our Canadian GAAP results did not allow for a sufficient understanding of the underlying trends of our business due to the Reuters acquisition and certain special items. We believe that pro forma results provide the basis for a more meaningful analysis of our performance because these results normalize the effect of the Reuters acquisition and provide comparable results with which to measure our performance. Our pro forma results have been prepared as if the acquisition had closed on January 1, 2007. Our pro forma information:

- has not been audited;
- has been prepared for informational purposes only, and because of its nature, addresses a hypothetical situation and, therefore, does not represent our actual financial position or results;
- does not purport to represent what our consolidated results of operations actually would have been if the acquisition had occurred on January 1, 2007 or what those results will be for any future periods. The pro forma adjustments are based on current information; and
- has not been adjusted to reflect any matters not directly attributable to the acquisition. No adjustment, therefore, has been made to periods prior to the closing date (April 17, 2008) for actions which have or may be taken upon completion of the acquisition, such as any of our integration plans.

Results for our Professional division were not impacted by the Reuters acquisition. Pro forma financial information is therefore only provided for our consolidated results and our Markets division. In addition, we only provide pro forma financial information to compare 2008 and 2007. All financial information in this management's discussion and analysis that compares 2007 and 2006 is provided on a Canadian GAAP basis only.

Our results from continuing operations include the performance of acquired businesses from the date of their purchase and exclude results from operations classified as discontinued. Our results from ongoing businesses exclude discontinued operations and other business sold or held for sale. In analyzing the results of our operating segments, we measure the performance of existing businesses, the impact of acquired businesses and foreign currency translation. In order to compare the performance of our ongoing businesses, the effects of businesses that could not be classified as discontinued operations and the impact of a pro forma purchase accounting adjustment have been removed.

	2008	2007	Existing businesses	Acquired businesses	Foreign currency translation	Total
Revenues from ongoing businesses	13,399	12,442	6%	2%	0%	8%

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

For our existing businesses, revenue growth in 2008 was exhibited in all of our segments, reflecting continued customer demand for our integrated solutions. Contributions from acquired businesses also included results from our October 2007 acquisition of Property Tax Services and our January 2008 acquisition of TaxStream in the Tax & Accounting segment, as well as from our September 2007 acquisition of Prous Science in the Scientific segment.

Pro forma operating profit. The following table provides our pro forma operating profit and a reconciliation to our pro forma underlying operating profit, which excludes amortization of intangibles, fair value adjustments, costs associated with integration and savings programs and other items affecting comparability. We use this measure to assist in comparisons from one period to another as it removes the impact of items which distort the performance of our operations.

	2008	2007
Pro forma operating profit	1,936	1,571
Adjustments:
Amortization	511	524
Purchase accounting difference	–	86
Disposals	(5)	(11)
Impairment of assets held for sale	72	–
Fair value adjustments	(103)	48
Integration and synergy program costs	362	153
Pension settlement	–	(34)
Pro forma underlying operating profit	2,773	2,337
Pro forma underlying operating profit margin	20.7%	18.8%

In 2008, operating profit increased 23% on a pro forma basis. Pro forma underlying operating profit increased 19% in 2008 as a result of higher revenues in the Professional and Markets divisions, as well as savings from integration and synergy programs.

Adjustments:
Integration and synergy program costs		(362)
Net interest expense		(434)
Income taxes		(367)
Tradeweb ownership interests		(17)
Dividends declared on preference shares		(5)
Pro forma adjusted earnings from continuing operations		1,588
Pro forma adjusted earnings per share from continuing operations	$	1.92
Pro forma adjusted diluted earnings per share from continuing operations	$	1.91

Pro forma basic weighted average common and ordinary shares outstanding reflected the actual reported weighted average common and ordinary shares outstanding adjusted as if the approximately 194 million Thomson Reuters PLC shares issued to Reuters shareholders on April 17, 2008 were outstanding from the beginning of the period presented, as well as the effect of the approximately 34 million Reuters Group PLC share options assumed as part of the acquisition.

Within our calculation of pro forma adjusted earnings, pro forma net interest expense was $434 million for 2008, which represented the sum of the actual third and fourth quarter 2008 interest expense plus the proportion of the pro forma full year run rate used for the six-month period ended June 30, 2008. Pro forma income taxes are based on an estimated 25% effective tax rate.

Consolidated Results – Canadian GAAP Basis

	2008	2007	2006
Revenues	11,707	7,296	6,591
Operating profit	1,693	1,297	1,248
Earnings from continuing operations	1,405	1,096	912
Net earnings	1,405	4,004	1,120
Diluted earnings per share from continuing operations	$ 1.81	$ 1.69	$ 1.41
Diluted earnings per share	$ 1.81	$ 6.20	$ 1.73

Revenues. In 2008, revenues increased 60% over that of the prior year. This increase in revenues largely reflected the addition of Reuters.

Revenue growth in 2007 was exhibited in almost all of our existing business units and particularly in the Legal and Tax & Accounting segments. Contributions from acquired businesses in 2007 were primarily related to Solucient in our Healthcare segment, as well as CrossBorder Solutions and Property Tax Services business in our Tax & Accounting segment.

Operating profit. In 2008, operating profit increased 31% due to the increase in revenues. The effects of higher revenues on operating profit were partly offset by costs associated with the Reuters acquisition and our integration and synergy programs. Our results also reflected a $72 million impairment charge related to the sale of the Dialog business. Our operating profit margin decreased compared to the prior year due to the impact of the Reuters acquisition, including integration and synergy costs, and the Dialog impairment charge.

In 2007, operating profit increased 4% primarily due to the increase in revenues. Our results also reflected a non-recurring gain of $34 million associated with the settlement of a pension plan. Our operating profit margin decreased compared to the prior year as higher expenses resulting from costs associated with the Reuters acquisition and the timing of spending related to our legacy THOMSON*plus* program more than offset the effects of scale and efficiency initiatives.

Depreciation and amortization. Depreciation expense increased 78% in 2008 compared to 2007 primarily due to the acquisition of Reuters, but also from capital expenditures by our existing businesses. Amortization expense increased 61% in 2008 compared to the prior year due to the amortization of the acquired Reuters assets. Relative to our existing businesses, amortization decreased slightly in 2008 as increases from newly-acquired assets were offset by decreases from the completion of amortization for certain identifiable intangible assets acquired in previous years.

Depreciation expense increased 7% in 2007 compared to 2006. This increase reflected recent acquisitions and capital expenditures. Amortization expense increased 7% in 2007 compared to 2006. This increase reflected the amortization of newly acquired assets, which more than offset the impact from the completion of amortization for certain intangible assets acquired in previous years.

Impairment on assets held for sale. In conjunction with our decision to sell our Dialog business, we recognized a non-cash charge of $72 million for the impairment of its intangible assets in 2008. This business was not classified as a discontinued operation as we continue to receive royalty payments associated with its operations.

Net other income/expense. Net other income for 2008 was $304 million, which primarily reflected foreign currency gains associated with intercompany funding arrangements. Accounting rules require that foreign currency gains and losses on intercompany arrangements are recognized in the statement of earnings when such arrangements are settled, or when they are not considered permanent in nature. Net other income also included a gain from the sale of a copy of the Worldscope database, a gain on the sale of a building and losses from changes in foreign currency exchange rates associated with the cash consideration for the Reuters acquisition. Net other expense in 2007 of $34 million primarily reflected the change in fair value of sterling call options, which were acquired in the third quarter of 2007 as part of a hedging program to mitigate exposure to changes in the $/£ exchange rate resulting from the Reuters acquisition. See the section entitled “Hedging Program for Reuters Consideration” for further discussion. The change in fair value of these options was partially offset by earnings from, and gains on the sales of, equity investments. Net other income in 2006 of $1 million primarily consisted of gains on the sales of certain equity investments offset by a $36 million charge for a legal reserve representing our portion of a cash settlement related to the Rodriguez v. West Publishing Corp. and Kaplan Inc. case.

Net interest expense and other financing costs. In 2008, net interest expense and other financing costs was $224 million compared to $12 million in 2007. The increase in interest expense was primarily due to higher borrowings associated with financing the Reuters acquisition. In 2007 and the first four months of 2008, we received interest income from our investment of the Thomson Learning sale proceeds prior to using these funds towards the cash portion of the Reuters acquisition consideration. In 2007, net interest expense and other financing costs reflected $203 million of interest income from the investment of these sale proceeds. Excluding this interest income, net interest expense for 2007 approximated that of 2006.

Income taxes. Our income tax expense in 2008 represented 19.8% of our earnings from continuing operations before income taxes. This compares with effective rates of 12.4% in 2007 and 11.3% in 2006. Our effective income tax rate is lower than the Canadian corporate income tax rate of 32.8% in 2008 (35.4% in 2007 and 35.4% in 2006), principally due to the lower tax rates and differing tax rules applicable to certain of our operating and financing subsidiaries outside Canada. Specifically, while we generate revenues in numerous jurisdictions, our tax provision on earnings is computed after taking account of intercompany interest and other charges among our subsidiaries resulting from their capital structure and from the various jurisdictions in which operations, technology and content assets are owned. Our income tax expense was further affected by certain non-recurring or special items and the accounting for discontinued operations in 2008, 2007 and 2006 as described below.

- In 2008, income taxes included an $80 million benefit associated with currency and exchange gains taxable at rates lower than those in Canada. This item reduced our 2008 effective tax rate by approximately 5%.
- In 2007, our provision included benefits of $60 million resulting primarily from the recognition of Canadian tax losses, but also reflecting a change in Australian tax law. These benefits reduced our 2007 effective tax rate by approximately 5%. The Canadian tax losses were recognized in anticipation of using them against taxable income from the sale of Thomson Learning’s Canadian education operations, which was completed in July 2007.

- In 2006, we increased valuation allowances against deferred tax assets which increased our tax rate by 4%. The net change in the valuation allowance included benefits associated with our Thomson Learning segment which, under the requirements of discontinued operations accounting, were not allowed to be reclassified to discontinued operations along with the other results for the business. The impact of including the benefits related to the Thomson Learning segment in our continuing operations tax charge reduced our effective tax rate by 3% in 2006.

The balance of our deferred tax assets at December 31, 2008 was $2.3 billion (2007 – $1.4 billion and 2006 – $1.3 billion). The increase primarily reflected deferred tax associated with the Reuters acquisition. Our deferred tax assets consist primarily of tax losses and other credits carried forwards, the majority of which can only be utilized against taxable income in Canada, the United Kingdom, or against profits arising in capital transactions. In assessing the likelihood of using our deferred tax assets, we first offset them against deferred tax liabilities which do not relate to intangible assets with indefinite lives. We establish valuation allowances for any remaining deferred tax assets that we do not expect to be able to use against such deferred tax liabilities or future taxable income. Our valuation allowance against our deferred tax assets at December 31, 2008 was $1.4 billion (2007 – $395 million and 2006 – $441 million). The net movement in the valuation allowance from 2007 to 2008 primarily related to capital and other tax losses and attributes acquired as part of the Reuters acquisition, the use of which against future taxable income is uncertain. The net movement in the valuation allowance from 2006 to 2007 primarily related to increases in deferred tax liabilities from the revaluation of debt and currency swaps, which would be offset by a corresponding decrease in the valuation allowance, and increases due to additional Canadian losses recorded that we do not anticipate using because we expect to continue to incur losses in Canada.

We expect our businesses to continue with initiatives to consolidate the ownership of their technology platforms and content, and we expect that a proportion of our profits will continue to be taxed at rates lower than the Canadian statutory tax rate. Additionally, our effective tax rate and our cash tax cost in the future will depend on the laws of numerous countries and the provisions of multiple income tax conventions between various countries in which we operate. Our ability to maintain a low effective tax rate will be dependent upon such laws and conventions remaining unchanged or favorable, as well as the geographic mix of our profits. See the section entitled “Contingencies” for further discussion of income tax liabilities.

Earnings attributable to shares and earnings per share. Earnings attributable to common and ordinary shares were $1.4 billion compared to earnings of approximately $4.0 billion in 2007. Diluted earnings per share were $1.81 in 2008 compared $6.20 in 2007. Our earnings and earnings per share were significantly higher in 2007 due to a gain on our sale of Thomson Learning. Diluted earnings per share in 2008 also reflected an increase in our number of shares outstanding, as we issued approximately 194 million shares as part of the Reuters acquisition consideration. Earnings attributable to common shares were approximately $1.1 billion in 2006 and diluted earnings per common share were $1.73 in 2006. The significant increases in earnings and earnings per common share in 2007 compared to 2006 also related to the sale of Thomson Learning.

Segment Results

A discussion of the operating results of each segment follows. Our definition of segment operating profit as reflected below may not be comparable to that of other companies. We define segment operating profit as operating profit before the amortization of identifiable intangible assets and asset impairments. We use this measure for our segments because we do not consider amortization and asset impairments to be a controllable operating cost for purposes of assessing the current performance of our segments. We also use segment operating profit margin, which we define as segment operating profit as a percentage of revenues.

In 2008, pro forma revenues increased 6% before the effects of foreign currency compared to 2007. This increase was primarily the result of higher revenues from existing businesses and was exhibited in each major geographic area, particularly Asia, and particularly in our three largest sub-segments. Transaction revenues increased due to higher volumes caused by market volatility and higher trading levels in certain asset classes. An analysis of performance by sub-segment follows:

- Sales & Trading pro forma revenues increased before the effects of foreign currency primarily due to contributions from our Treasury, Tradeweb and Commodities & Energy businesses. The increase in Treasury revenues were a result of foreign exchange volatility and higher transaction volumes, particularly in the first nine months of the year. Volatility in the mortgage backed securities market resulted in increased transaction revenue in our Tradeweb business. Commodities & Energy revenues increased due to higher demand for our information products resulting from sector activity.
- Investment & Advisory pro forma revenues from existing businesses increased across multiple customer groups including Investment Management, Retail Wealth Management and Corporate. Higher revenues from Investment Management were due to demand for datafeeds and analytics products, such as QAI and Starmine. Retail Wealth Management benefited from Thomson ONE and higher revenues from our BETA software and services as a result of increased volumes. Higher Corporate revenues reflected greater international activity relative to web cast services. Revenues from our Investment Banking customers were comparable to the prior year as increases from the first nine months of the year were offset by a decrease in the fourth quarter of 2008.
- Enterprise pro forma revenues increased before the effects of foreign currency reflecting higher data feed revenues and higher demand for information and risk management systems as customers continue to seek ways to reduce risk, drive efficiencies and increase returns.
- Media pro forma revenues were comparable to the prior year before the effects of foreign currency. Revenues from agency services increased due to higher demand, particularly in the first nine months of the year. However, these increases were offset by decreases in our professional publishing and consumer businesses in the fourth quarter of 2008.

Pro forma segment operating profit and its related margin increased as a result of higher revenues, the effect of scale and savings from synergy programs.

Canadian GAAP Results

The following table provides information about revenues and segment operating profit on a Canadian GAAP basis:

(millions of U.S. dollars)	Year ended December 31
	2008	2007	2006
Revenues	6,210	2,186	2,025
Segment operating profit	1,104	454	380
Segment operating profit margin	17.8%	20.8%	18.8%

2008 Compared to 2007

Revenues increased in 2008 primarily due to the acquisition of Reuters. Revenues from existing businesses increased in 2008 as a result of higher transaction revenues and higher revenues from Thomson ONE products.

Segment operating profit increased in 2008 primarily due to higher revenues attributable to the Reuters acquisition and the realization of benefits from our synergy and integration program. The segment operating profit margin decreased due to a less profitable product mix.

2007 Compared to 2006

Results in 2007 reflected the continued success of Thomson ONE offerings. Revenues from existing businesses increased in 2007 as a result of new sales as well as higher transaction revenues. Revenues increased primarily in the Investment Management, Corporate Services and Investment Banking businesses due to new sales and migrations from legacy offerings, as well as higher revenues from Omgeo. Revenue growth from existing businesses was slightly tempered by lower pricing on our indications of interest offering and, in the Retail Wealth Management sector, the exiting of a low-margin contract and declines in low-margin legacy desktops. Increases in revenues from existing businesses were experienced in legacy Thomson Financial's three primary geographic regions, the U.S., Europe and Asia.

Segment operating profit increased in 2007 primarily due to higher revenues, as well as the effect of efficiency initiatives and savings attributable to deferred spending due to the pending Reuters acquisition. The segment operating profit margin increased due to the effects of higher revenues, the impact of completed and ongoing efficiency efforts to relocate certain activities to lower cost locations, certain deferred spending as discussed above and a decline in depreciation expense as a result of more efficient capital spending.

Outlook

The credit crisis of 2008 has transitioned to a global economic downturn in 2009. A significant level of job losses has occurred across the financial services industry, with some areas (fixed income, credit derivatives and mortgage-related businesses) impacted more severely than others. Additionally, the value of assets under management has declined. Financial conditions are challenging, but we are well positioned geographically, as well as by product and business segment. We do not believe that our information is a discretionary purchase for our Markets division customers, but rather a necessity for them to run their businesses on a daily basis.

We expect large global banks and institutions in the United States, United Kingdom and Western Europe to be most affected. However, we anticipate that emerging markets will continue to grow, albeit at a slower pace. We also anticipate that financial institutions and corporations will continue to focus on controlling costs, and that by helping our customers reach their objectives, we will have an opportunity to gain share. Revenues from desktops, which represent less than 50% of the Markets division revenues, may decline in 2009. However, despite a decline in desktops in 2008, the Markets division revenue continued to grow from the sale of advanced analytics services, enterprise solutions, risk management products and transaction-related products.

We have the financial ability to further leverage our scale and realize efficiencies from the integration of legacy businesses, and will therefore continue to invest for growth in strategic products and platforms.

PROFESSIONAL DIVISION

In 2008, the Professional division consisted of our Legal, Tax & Accounting, Scientific and Healthcare segments.

2008 Compared to 2007

Revenues from existing businesses increased in 2008 primarily due to increased revenues from our online solutions, software and services, which were 8% higher compared to 2007. Results from acquired businesses primarily reflected contributions from our Property Tax Services business, acquired in October 2007, and TaxStream, acquired in January 2008. On December 31, 2008, we completed the acquisition of Paisley, a provider of governance, risk and compliance software and services for corporations and global accounting firms, which will contribute to our revenues in 2009.

The increase in segment operating profit was primarily the result of higher revenues described above. These results also reflected continued investments in localizing content and technology for Asian markets, as well as the impact of lower initial margins for certain acquired businesses due to acquisition accounting adjustments. The segment operating profit margin increased slightly as the effects of scale in our existing businesses were largely offset by the impacts of our Asian investments and acquisition accounting adjustments.

Revenues from existing businesses increased in 2007 primarily due to increased revenues from our online solutions, as well as from software and services. Results from acquired businesses primarily reflected contributions from Solucient in our Healthcare segment, as well as CrossBorder Solutions and Property Tax Services business in our Tax & Accounting segment.

The increase in segment operating profit was primarily the result of higher revenues described above. These results also reflected continued investments in localizing content and technology for Asian markets, the impact of lower initial margins for certain acquired businesses due to acquisition accounting adjustments and a $13 million lawsuit settlement charge related to our Legal segment. The segment operating profit margin decreased as the effects of scale and efficiency initiatives in our existing businesses were largely offset by the impacts of our Asian investments, acquisition accounting adjustments and the legal settlement charge.

Outlook

We expect the economic environment for our Professional division customers to soften in 2009. However, the professional markets that we serve have historically been resilient. As with our Markets division, we do not believe that our information is a discretionary purchase for our customers, but rather a necessity for them to run their businesses on a daily basis.

We believe the professional markets we serve continue to offer opportunities for growth, albeit at lower rates than in 2008. We anticipate a continued evolution of our Professional division's business mix towards workflow solutions and an increased focus on global growth, which we believe can help offset risks in certain businesses that are more sensitive to the economic environment. Overall, we expect the margins for Professional to be impacted in 2009 by investments in global expansion initiatives as well as a shift to higher growth software and services products, which have lower margins but strong returns on invested capital. An outlook for each segment of the Professional division is provided below.

Results for Legal reflected continued demand for Westlaw and other online services in the United States, United Kingdom and other global markets, which increased 7%. Revenue from sales of software and services increased 11% as a result of higher sales of website development, design and hosting services and practice management software solutions. Print and CD revenues increased 1% compared to 2007.

Within the North American legal businesses, revenues increased in 2008 primarily due to higher online, software and services. However, growth rates slowed in the second half of the year due to lower new sales and a decrease in ancillary database usage. New sales at small law firm, government, and corporate segments decreased as a result of budgetary constraints. Revenues from the Westlaw Litigator suite of online products continued to increase due to expansion of content and functionality of the offerings. Revenues from services increased primarily as a result of higher sales at FindLaw, reflecting growth in custom websites for law firms and new product introductions, and of consulting services. Outside North America, online revenues increased due to higher customer demand for our products, particularly in the United Kingdom and other markets and, to a lesser extent, the continued migration of our international customers from CD and print formats to online products.

The increases in segment operating profit and the segment operating profit margin were primarily the result of higher revenues described above and the favorable effects of efficiency initiatives. These results also reflected continued investments in localizing content and technology for Asian markets, particularly Japan and China.

2007 Compared to 2006

Results for Legal reflected continued demand for Westlaw and other online services in the United States, United Kingdom and other global markets, which increased 10%. Revenue from sales of software and services increased 12% as a result of higher new sales of website design and hosting services. Customers continued to migrate to online offerings from legacy CD formats. Contributions from acquired businesses reflected the results from Baker Robbins, a provider of technology and information management consulting to law firms and law departments, acquired in January 2007, and LiveNote Technologies, a provider of transcript and evidence management software that brings new functionality to Westlaw Litigator, which is our integrated litigation platform, acquired in September 2006.

Within our North American legal businesses, revenues increased primarily due to higher online and services revenues. Westlaw revenue experienced growth in all of its major market segments. Revenues from the Westlaw Litigator suite of online products increased in part due to the expansion of content and functionality of the offerings, such as the integration of legal briefs, trial documents and dockets and the introduction of Medical Litigator. Revenues from services increased primarily due to higher sales at FindLaw, new sales, new product introduction and improved retention rates. Outside of North America, online revenues increased due to higher customer demand for our products and, to a lesser extent, the continued migration of international customers from CD to online products. Revenues from trademark services increased due to higher volume. International print revenues increased slightly compared to 2006.

The growth in segment operating profit was primarily a result of the revenue growth described above. Results reflected continued investments in localized content and technology for Asian markets, particularly in Japan related to a joint venture with Shin Nippon Hoki, as well as in China. Segment operating profit also reflected a $13 million charge for an anticipated legal settlement. The segment operating profit margin for 2007 approximated that of the prior year as the effects of scale in the existing businesses and the continued impact of efficiency initiatives were offset by the impact of our Asian investments and the legal settlement charge.

Outlook

We expect slower growth in the legal information market in 2009 as law firms in the United States and United Kingdom have generally experienced slowdowns as a result of a weaker economic environment. Emerging markets such as Asia, Eastern Europe and the Middle East are expected to provide growth opportunities for global law firms. While certain practice areas have contracted, law firms may experience increased work in countercyclical areas such as restructuring, regulatory and litigation. Law firms have also been lowering their costs by reducing headcount. However, we do not sell our legal services products on a headcount basis, but rather on an enterprise-wide basis.

With law firms lowering staffing levels and the prospect of increased scrutiny of legal fees by their clients, we believe that workflow solutions that increase productivity will have continued demand. We anticipate the most significant elements of our growth will be in spending for online products and integrated information offerings, such as the Westlaw product suite, in the expansion of existing platforms and in the entry of new markets. We anticipate law firms to closely monitor their usage of ancillary data and we expect continued pressure on our print and CD offerings. We expect our investments will focus on development of the Westlaw product suite which are targeted to specific disciplines within the law firms that we serve.

	2008	2007	2006
Segment operating profit	219	184	168
Segment operating profit margin	25.4%	26.1%	28.1%

2008 Compared to 2007

Revenues from existing businesses increased as a result of higher online, software and services sales, as well as improved customer retention. In the research and guidance sector, Checkpoint online revenue increased 18% as a result of new sales and product line extensions. Revenues in the professional software and services sector increased due to higher tax software sales and sales of related software suites. Within the corporate software and services sector, revenues increased as a result of higher software sales of corporate tax solutions as well as increased services revenue. Results from newly-acquired businesses primarily reflected contributions from our Property Tax Services business, a provider of property tax compliance outsourcing and consulting services, acquired in October 2007 and TaxStream, a provider of income tax provision software, acquired in January 2008.

Segment operating profit increased 19% as a result of higher revenues. The segment operating profit margin decreased as the impact of lower initial margins for certain acquired businesses due to acquisition accounting adjustments, as well as an adverse impact from increases in revenues from lower margin businesses more than offset the benefits from the effects of scale.

2007 Compared to 2006

Revenues from Tax & Accounting's existing businesses increased as a result of higher online, software and services sales as well as improved retention. Revenues from our core products Checkpoint, UltraTax and InSource all increased. Our product mix continued to shift as customers migrated from print to online products in the research and guidance sector, and tax transaction products and services also increased in the professional and corporate software and services sectors.

Results also reflected contributions from the Sales & Use Tax outsourcing business, a provider of sales and use tax compliance services that was acquired in January 2007 from Deloitte LLP; CrossBorder Solutions, a tax software provider specializing in international tax compliance areas such as transfer pricing that was purchased in March 2007; the Employee Benefits Institute of America, a provider of employee benefits research and guidance purchased in June 2007; and the Property Tax Services business, a provider of property tax compliance outsourcing and consulting services, acquired from Deloitte LLP in October 2007. Growth in segment operating profit compared to the prior year reflected the increase in revenues. The segment operating profit margin decreased as the impact of lower initial margins for certain acquired businesses as a result of acquisition accounting adjustments which more than offset the effects of scale and the impact of integration and efficiency initiatives.

Outlook

The trend toward increased regulatory complexity and stringency is expected to continue in 2009 as new laws and regulations are anticipated from the new administration in the United States. We also expect continued demand from corporations for lower cost outsourced solutions and solutions that produce tax savings as corporations strive for profitability. These trends will continue to create demand for compliance information and software and or workflow efficiency tools and integrated solutions. In this environment, we anticipate continued demand for our tax and accounting compliance products and our outsourcing solutions.

In 2009, we expect to implement a globalization strategy by investing in core assets, such as our ONESOURCE platform, to enable us to serve global markets as well as expand our offerings to capitalize on global trends, such as the migration towards IFRS. We believe this will help us better serve multinational corporations and global accounting firms.

2008 Compared to 2007

Results in 2008 for Scientific are not comparable with that of the prior year as a result of the sale of our Dialog business in July 2008. Because we will continue to receive royalties from Dialog, the business could not be classified as a discontinued operation. In order to provide a more meaningful basis of comparison, the revenues from Dialog, net of the royalties we will continue to receive, are presented in revenues from disposals. Including Dialog, revenues for the Scientific segment decreased 1% in 2008. Revenues from ongoing businesses, which exclude revenues from disposals, increased 7%, reflecting continuing customer demand for our subscription-based solutions.

The increase in revenues from existing businesses was due to higher subscription revenues for Web of Science and ISI Web of Knowledge as well as for our Thomson Pharma solution. Thomson Pharma revenues increased primarily due to new sales and migrations from legacy products. Revenues from corporate information solutions benefited from continued demand for engineering standards information and intellectual property management services. Revenues for legacy products declined from migrations and cancellations. Discrete content sales decreased due to lower customer demand reflecting the economic environment. Revenues from newly-acquired businesses included contributions from Prous Science, a provider of life sciences solutions and services that was acquired in September 2007.

Segment operating profit in 2008 approximated that of the prior year due to the sale of Dialog. Segment operating profit from ongoing businesses increased due to the effects of scale on higher revenues. However, the segment operating profit margin from ongoing businesses decreased due to the impact of lower initial margins for certain acquired businesses as a result of acquisition accounting adjustments and as a result of investments to expand operations and content in Asia.

2007 Compared to 2006

Growth in revenues from existing businesses was primarily a result of higher revenues for the Web of Science and ISI Web of Knowledge, as well as increased revenues from corporate information solutions. These increases were partially offset by lower revenues from legacy products. Results also reflected contributions from ScholarOne, a provider of subscription-based software for authoring, evaluating and publishing research that was acquired in August 2006, and Prous Science.

Growth in segment operating profit compared to 2006 reflected higher revenues and the impact of efficiency initiatives. These initiatives, which include the relocation of certain activities to lower cost locations, enabled Scientific to control costs and improve its segment operating profit margin.

Outlook

We expect that our Scientific customers will be affected by the economic downturn and our business may be affected accordingly. We intend to mitigate these effects by continuing to invest in our software and solutions offerings and by focusing on higher growth markets such as Asia.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The following table summarizes operating profit and the related margin for the periods indicated.

(millions of U.S. dollars)	Year ended December 31
	2008	2007	2006
Segment operating profit	85	85	81
Segment operating profit margin	18.2%	18.8%	21.7%

2008 Compared to 2007

Results for Healthcare in 2008 reflected continued strong customer demand for decision support offerings. Revenues increased 4% as a result of contributions from existing businesses, primarily due to strong customer demand in the payer market. Revenues also increased for our clinical and management decision support offerings in the provider market. These increases in revenue were partly offset by lower revenues from PDR (Physicians' Desk Reference) drug information products due to lower demand for discrete project sales.

Segment operating profit and its related margin decreased as the impact of higher revenues and the effects of scale in the payer and provider businesses were more than offset by the impact of lower PDR revenues and higher product development costs.

2007 Compared to 2006

Results for Healthcare in 2007 reflected a recent investment in our management decision support offerings and continued customer demand in that sector. Revenues increased 21% as a result of contributions from newly acquired businesses.

Revenues from existing business were consistent with those in 2006 as continuing demand for management decision support offerings offset a decline in PDR monograph and project sales. While revenues increased compared to 2006, the impact of new sales for point-of-care (clinical) decision support and payer decision support offerings were tempered by the losses of certain customer contracts. Results from newly acquired businesses primarily reflected the addition of Solucient, a provider of data and advanced analytics to hospitals and health systems acquired in October 2006.

Segment operating profit increased as the effect of the increase in revenues more than offset an increase in expenses due to product development and integration expenses associated with acquired offerings. The segment operating profit margin decreased as the effects of a less profitable revenue mix, higher product development expenses and integration costs more than offset the savings from integration initiatives.

Outlook

The aging U.S. population, growth in chronic conditions and the increasing complexity of healthcare therapeutic options continue to drive higher healthcare costs, as well as highlight the need for improved quality and patient safety. These long-term trends create demand by corporations, federal, state and local governments and hospitals for decision support solutions to manage costs more effectively while achieving quality and efficiency. The current challenging economic environment only heightens the need to contain the financial costs of healthcare delivery. Despite uncertainty concerning the changes that the new U.S. administration will bring to healthcare policy, we believe that demand for solutions that assist delivering quality care in a cost effective way will continue to increase, particularly for our decision support solutions serving the payer segment.

CORPORATE AND OTHER

Pro Forma Results

The following table details our Corporate and Other expenses on a pro forma basis:

(millions of U.S. dollars)	Year ended December 31
	2008	2007
Corporate expenses	243	257
Integration and synergy costs	362	153
Fair value adjustments	(103)	48
Pension settlement	–	(34)
Total	502	424

In 2008, pro forma Corporate and Other expenses increased $78 million compared to 2007. The increase was primarily due to higher integration and synergy-related costs. This was partially offset by non-cash, favorable fair value currency related adjustments and lower Corporate expenses due to synergy savings.

Canadian GAAP Results

The following table details our Corporate and Other expenses on a Canadian GAAP basis:

(millions of U.S. dollars)	Year ended December 31
	2008	2007	2006
Corporate expenses	218	194	175
Integration and synergy costs	362	153	60
Reuters transaction costs	68	76	–
Fair value adjustments	(105)	–	–
Pension settlement	–	(34)	–
Total	543	389	235

2008 Compared to 2007

In 2008, Corporate and Other expenses increased $154 million compared to 2007 primarily due to higher costs associated with our integration and synergy program and the addition of legacy Reuters corporate overhead costs. In 2007, corporate expenses included a $34 million gain associated with the settlement of a pension plan. These increases in expenses were partially offset by the benefit of non-cash fair value adjustments associated with foreign currency embedded derivatives of customer contracts. We include these items within Corporate and Other as they are not controllable by our business segments.

We report the costs of our integration and synergy program separately from the costs of legacy efficiency programs. In 2008, costs associated with our integration and synergy programs largely reflected severance and consulting services related to the integration of Reuters. Severance primarily related to implementing Markets division and corporate organizational structures. Consulting costs were associated with technology initiatives. See the section entitled “Integration and Synergy Programs” for further discussion.

The Reuters transaction costs were incurred prior to the acquisition closing date of April 17, 2008 and primarily consisted of consulting costs for integration planning and expenses associated with retention programs, as well as communications related to the launch of Thomson Reuters.

2007 Compared to 2006

In 2007, Corporate and Other expenses increased $154 million compared to 2006. The increase was primarily due to expenses associated with the legacy THOMSON*plus* program and with the Reuters transaction, as well as higher healthcare costs. Results also reflected a $34 million gain associated with the settlement of a pension plan.

In 2007, we incurred $153 million of expenses associated with our legacy efficiency program. These expenses primarily related to consulting services, severance costs and charges associated with the restructuring of Legal’s North American sales force. The consulting costs primarily related to our efforts to deploy a company-wide ERP system as well as efforts to improve the customer service infrastructure. The severance costs principally related to the elimination of certain finance positions in conjunction with the establishment of centralized service centers, efforts to streamline the operations of our financial business and the restructuring of Legal’s North American sales force.

Outlook

We anticipate Corporate and Other expenses in 2009 will reflect a significant level of expenses associated with the continuation of our integration and synergy programs.

In the fourth quarter of 2008, we experienced revenue increases across most of our existing businesses. These increases were offset by unfavorable effects of foreign currency.

Markets division revenues from existing businesses increased despite continued volatility in the financial sector due to competitive wins and breadth of customers and offerings. Revenue increases from Enterprise, Investment & Advisory, and Sales & Trading businesses reflected continued demand for information management systems, datafeeds, advanced analytics and our transaction related businesses. The increases from these businesses more than offset decreases in revenues from investment banking and desktop related products for bank trading desks, due to headcount reductions in those sectors resulting from the recent global financial crisis. Revenues from advertising driven products and services also declined due to the global economic slowdown.

Professional division revenues from existing businesses increased 6% reflecting continued customer demand for our online products and services across all of its segments, as well as continued migration away from print products. In the Healthcare segment, increased revenues from management decision support solutions in the payer market were largely offset by a decrease in PDR revenues.

(millions of U.S. dollars)	Three months ended December 31
	2008	2007
Pro forma operating profit	610	574
Adjustments:
Amortization	126	134

Fair value adjustments	(26)	(4)
Integration and synergy program costs	123	68
Pension settlement	—	(34)
Pro forma underlying operating profit	833	736
Pro forma underlying operating profit margin	24.4%	21.6%

In the fourth quarter of 2008, operating profit increased 6% on a pro forma basis. Pro forma underlying operating profit increased 13% as a result of higher revenues and savings realized from our efficiency initiatives.

Pro forma adjusted earnings and earnings per share. We calculate our pro forma adjusted earnings by deducting from pro forma underlying operating profit certain normally recurring items appearing below operating profit on the statement of earnings. The table below presents a reconciliation of pro forma underlying operating profit to pro forma adjusted earnings from continuing operations for the three months ended December 31, 2008.

	Three months ended December 31 2008
(millions on U.S. dollars, except per share amounts)
Pro forma underlying operating profit	833
Adjustments:
Integration and synergy program costs	(123)
Net interest expense	(102)

Pro forma adjusted earnings from continuing operations	478
Pro forma adjusted earnings per share from continuing operations	$ 0.58
Pro forma adjusted diluted earnings per share from continuing operations	$ 0.57

Pro forma net interest expense for 2008 is equal to Canadian GAAP as such amount reflects the full debt service costs associated with the Reuters acquisition.

Pro forma income taxes are based on an estimated 25% effective tax rate.

Pro forma basic weighted average common and ordinary shares outstanding reflected the actual reported weighted average common and ordinary shares outstanding adjusted as if the approximately 194 million Thomson Reuters PLC shares issued to Reuters shareholders on April 17, 2008 were outstanding from the beginning of the period presented, as well as the effect of the approximately 34 million Reuters Group PLC share options assumed.

CONSOLIDATED RESULTS – CANADIAN GAAP BASIS

The following table summarizes selected financial information:

	Three months ended December 31
(millions on U.S. dollars, except per share amounts)	2008	2007
Revenues	3,412	2,033
Operating profit	689	410
Operating profit margin	20.2%	20.2%
Net earnings	657	434
Diluted earnings per common and ordinary share	$ 0.79	$ 0.67

Revenues. The increase in revenues in the fourth quarter of 2008 largely reflected the addition of Reuters.

Operating profit. The 68% increase in operating profit in the fourth quarter of 2008 largely reflected the addition of Reuters. The operating profit margin was comparable to 2007 as the benefits of increased revenue and scale and efficiency initiatives were offset by change in revenue mix resulting from the Reuters acquisition.

Depreciation and amortization. Depreciation expense increased $186 million in the fourth quarter of 2008 compared to 2007 primarily due to the Reuters acquisition, but also from capital expenditures by our existing businesses. Amortization expense decreased $17 million in fourth quarter of 2008 compared to 2007. The decrease reflected a change in estimate associated with the final valuation of Reuters identifiable intangible assets. Relative to our existing businesses, amortization decreased as increases from newly-acquired assets were offset by decreases from the completion of amortization for certain identifiable intangible assets acquired in previous years.

Net other income/expense. In the fourth quarter of 2008, net other income of $249 million primarily reflected foreign currency gains associated with intercompany funding arrangements and a gain on the sale of a building. In the fourth quarter of 2007, net other expense of $40 million primarily reflected the change in the fair value of our sterling call options. See the section entitled “Hedging Program for Reuters Consideration” for further discussion.

Net interest expense/income and other financing costs. Net interest expense and other financing costs was $102 million compared to income of $52 million in 2007. The increase in interest expense was primarily due to higher borrowings associated with financing the Reuters acquisition. See the section entitled “Financial Position” for further information on borrowing activity. In the fourth quarter of 2007, net interest income and other financing costs of $52 million reflected $111 million of interest income from the investment of the proceeds from the sale of Thomson Learning’s higher education, careers and library reference businesses in money market funds.

Income taxes. Income tax expense for the fourth quarter of 2008 increased compared to 2007 due to higher taxable income.

Income taxes for the periods presented reflected the mix of taxing jurisdictions in which pre-tax profits and losses were recognized. Because the seasonality in our businesses impacts our geographic mix of pre-tax profits and losses in interim periods and, therefore, distorts our reported tax rate, our effective tax rate for interim periods is not indicative of our effective tax rate for the full year.

Earnings attributable to shares and earnings per share. Earnings attributable to common and ordinary shares were $656 million for the three months ended December 31, 2008 compared to earnings of $432 million in 2007. Diluted earnings per share were $0.79 in the three months ended December 31, 2008 compared $0.67 in 2007. Our earnings and earnings per share increased due to an increase in operating profit and net other income, partly offset by higher interest expense. Diluted earnings per share in 2008 also reflected an increase in our number of shares outstanding, as we issued approximately 194 million shares as part of the Reuters acquisition consideration in the second quarter of 2008.

Return on Invested Capital

We measure our return on invested capital (ROIC) to assess, over the long term, our ability to create value for our shareholders. Our goal is to increase this return over the long term by efficiently and effectively utilizing our capital to invest in areas with high returns and realizing operating efficiencies to further enhance our profitability. In 2008, our invested capital increased significantly due to the Reuters acquisition. Because of the impact from this transaction, we have calculated 2008 ROIC as though we had acquired Reuters on January 1, 2008. On this basis, our ROIC was 6.4% for 2008, a decrease from 8.7% in 2007. We have historically calculated our ROIC as the ratio of our operating profit (including businesses classified within discontinued operations) before amortization, less taxes paid, to our average invested capital (see Appendix B for the calculation of this measure). However, as the 2007 sale of Thomson Learning, a highly seasonal business, as well as other businesses sold during 2007 distorted the calculation, we computed 2007 ROIC by excluding the impacts of businesses classified as discontinued operations. ROIC calculated in this manner for 2007 was 8.7%, an increase from 8.2% for 2006.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

Despite current economic conditions, we anticipate that we will continue to generate significant free cash flow in 2009 because of our strong business model and diversified customer base. We also have access to a committed $2.5 billion syndicated credit facility until August 2012. In 2008, we issued approximately $3 billion of long term debt securities in the midst of difficult credit markets. We believe that cash from our operations and available credit facilities will be sufficient to fund our cash dividends, debt service, capital expenditures, acquisitions in the normal course of business and share repurchases. We include more detail about our liquidity and capital resources below.

Financial Position

At December 31, 2008, our total assets were $36.0 billion, an increase of $13 billion, or 58%, compared to $22.8 billion at December 31, 2007. This increase primarily reflected the acquired Reuters assets, partly offset by a decline in cash and cash equivalents resulting from the cash consideration paid for the acquisition.

Our total assets by segment as of December 31, 2008 and 2007 were as follows:

(millions of U.S. dollars)	As of December 31
	2008	2007
Markets division	23,844	3,618
Legal	6,481	6,562
Tax & Accounting	1,684	1,440
Scientific	1,258	1,419
Healthcare	755	772
Professional division	10,178	10,193
Segment totals	34,022	13,811
Corporate and Other	1,992	9,010
Discontinued operations	6	10
Total assets	36,020	22,831

The increase in Markets division assets as of December 31, 2008 compared to 2007 was due to the acquisition of Reuters for $17 billion. In 2007, Corporate and Other assets reflected $6.9 billion in proceeds, net of taxes paid, from the sale of Thomson Learning. In 2008, Corporate and Other assets decreased as these proceeds were used for the Reuters acquisition.

The following table presents information related to net debt, shareholders' equity and the ratio of net debt to shareholders' equity as of the dates indicated.

(millions of U.S. dollars)	As of December 31
	2008	2007
Short-term indebtedness	13	183
Current portion of long-term debt	672	412
Long-term debt	6,834	4,264
Total debt	7,519	4,859
Swaps	68	(424)
Total debt after swaps	7,587	4,435
Remove fair value adjustment of cash flow hedges	14	14
Less: Cash and cash equivalents	(841)	(7,497)
Net debt	6,760	(3,048)
Total shareholders' equity	20,126	13,571
Net debt/equity ratio	0.34:1	(0.22:1)

The increase in net debt in 2008 reflected additional borrowings and the use of cash and cash equivalents, from the proceeds of the sale of Thomson Learning in 2007, to fund the Reuters acquisition.

We guarantee certain obligations of our subsidiaries, including borrowings by our subsidiaries under our revolving credit facility. Under our syndicated credit facility discussed below, we must maintain a ratio of net debt as of the last day of each fiscal quarter to adjusted EBITDA (earnings before interest, income taxes, depreciation and amortization and other modifications described in the guarantee) for the last four quarters ended of not more than 4.5:1. We were in compliance with this covenant in all periods.

Effective April 17, 2008, Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC each guarantee all contractual obligations of the other company, and those of other parties to the extent they are guaranteed by the other company, and other obligations as agreed. Thomson Reuters PLC also guarantees all contractual obligations of Reuters existing as of April 17, 2008 and, as a result, those obligations are covered by Thomson Reuters Corporation's guarantee of Thomson Reuters PLC's obligations.

In June 2008, we issued approximately $3 billion of debt securities through separate U.S. and Canadian public offerings, as summarized in the following table:

Notes offered	Principal amount
U.S. offering
5.95% notes due 2013	US$750,000,000

Canadian offering
5.25% notes due 2011	C$600,000,000
5.70% notes due 2015	C$600,000,000
Total Canadian dollar-denominated notes issued	C$1,200,000,000

Upon completion of our Canadian offering, we entered into two cross-currency interest rate swap agreements. Our notes due 2011 will pay a floating interest rate on US$593 million and our notes due 2015 will pay an interest rate of 6.25% on US$593 million.

We used the net proceeds from these offerings and other resources available to us to fully repay borrowings under an acquisition credit facility drawn to finance a portion of the cash consideration for the Reuters acquisition.

The Reuters assets that we acquired included $465 million of cash. Additionally, we assumed certain financial obligations of Reuters, which included the following:

- A revolving credit facility with £312 million outstanding, which was repaid in April 2008;
- £63 million of commercial paper outstanding, which was repaid in the second quarter of 2008;
- 500 million Euro principal amount of debentures due 2010, for which we subsequently entered into cross-currency interest rate swap agreements whereby these debentures will ultimately pay a floating rate based on LIBOR on US$762 million;
- 250 million Euro principal amount of floating rate notes which matured and were repaid in November 2008. We entered into a cross-currency interest rate swap agreement whereby these notes were redeemed for US$398 million on maturity;
- 1 billion Japanese yen principal amount of bonds, which were repaid in June 2008; and
- Certain derivative instruments used by Reuters to hedge the above-mentioned debentures and notes, which were settled in April 2008.

In February 2008, we repaid $400 million principal amount of notes upon their maturity.

In October 2007, we completed an offering of $800 million of 5.70% notes due 2014. The net proceeds from this offering were $794 million. We used these proceeds to repay holders of our $400 million principal amount of 5.75% notes which matured in February 2008, to replace funds used to repay our C$250 million principal amount of 6.50% notes which matured in July 2007, and for general corporate purposes.

In July 2007, we repaid C$250 million of debentures upon their maturity.

² Includes $173 million for the assumption on April 17, 2008 of certain equity-based compensation awards granted by Reuters prior to the closing of the acquisition.

³ Effective January 1, 2006, the unrealized gains and losses on certain derivatives that qualify as cash flow hedges are recorded as a component of accumulated other comprehensive income within shareholders' equity in our consolidated balance sheet. See the section entitled "Accounting Changes" for further discussion.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The maturity dates for our long-term debt are well balanced with no significant concentration in any one year. The aggregate $3 billion of notes issued in June 2008 include maturities of three, five, seven and ten years. The long-term debt assumed as part of our acquisition of Reuters included $398 million of debt securities which we repaid in 2008 and $762 million of debt securities maturing in 2010. See the section below entitled "Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements, Commitments and Contractual Obligations" for a schedule of debt maturities by year from 2009 to 2013 and in the aggregate for periods thereafter.

At December 31, 2008, the carrying amounts of our total current liabilities exceeded the carrying amounts of our total current assets because current liabilities include deferred revenue. Deferred revenue does not represent a cash obligation, but rather an obligation to perform services or deliver products in the future. The costs to fulfill these obligations are included in our operating costs.

We monitor the financial strength of financial institutions with which we have banking and other commercial relationships, including those that hold our cash and cash equivalents as well as those which are counterparties to derivative financial instruments and other arrangements. See additional information in the section entitled "Credit facility."

Ratings

Creditors of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC that are entitled to the benefit of cross guarantees between the two parent companies have been, to the extent possible, placed in the same position as if the obligation were owed by Thomson Reuters. In light of these guarantees, each of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC is exposed to the credit risk of the other. Accordingly, both companies share the same credit rating.

The following table sets forth the ratings that we have received from rating agencies in respect of our outstanding securities as of December 31, 2008.

	Moody's	Standard & Poor's	DBRS Limited	Fitch
Long-term debt	Baa1	A-	A (low)	A-
Trend/outlook	Stable	Negative	Stable	Stable

There were no changes in our credit ratings from Moody's, Standard & Poor's and DBRS Limited during 2008. Fitch initiated its credit rating coverage of us in 2008. We are not aware of any changes being contemplated by the above rating agencies.

You should be aware that a rating is not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold securities and may be subject to revision, suspension or withdrawal at any time by the assigning rating organization. We cannot assure you that our credit ratings will not be lowered in the future or that rating agencies will not issue adverse commentaries regarding our securities.

Hedging Program for Reuters Consideration

As the funding of the cash consideration paid to former Reuters shareholders fluctuated based on the $/£ exchange rate, we commenced a hedging program to mitigate exposure to changes in the $/£ exchange rate. In the third quarter of 2007, we paid $76 million for the purchase of several sterling call options with a cumulative notional value of £2.3 billion and various strike prices approximating $2.05/£1.00. These options had an aggregate fair value of $27 million as of December 31, 2007 and expired at various dates in 2008.

Throughout April 2008, we entered into multiple short-term forward foreign exchange contracts to mitigate exposures to changes in the $/£ exchange rate. We recognized a gain of $9 million in other (expense) income in our consolidated statement of earnings associated with these agreements.

Additionally, after we completed the sale of Thomson Learning in 2007, we invested a portion of the proceeds in sterling-denominated money market funds and in sterling term bank deposits. These funds were utilized to fund a portion of the cash consideration paid to former Reuters shareholders.

Share Repurchases

We have purchased shares from time to time during the last three years. In April 2008, we commenced a new $500 million share repurchase program, under which approximately 16.5 million Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares were ultimately repurchased through the program completion in July 2008. We subsequently repurchased an additional 0.9 million Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares at a cost of $21 million during the third quarter of 2008. We did not repurchase any Thomson Reuters Corporation shares in 2008.

The following table summarizes our repurchases during the last three years.

THOMSON REUTERS

ANNUAL REPORT 2008

Shares that are repurchased are cancelled. We may continue to repurchase shares from time to time as part of our capital management strategy. Decisions regarding any future repurchases will be based on market conditions, share price and other factors including opportunities to invest capital for growth. We may repurchase shares in open market transactions on the Toronto Stock Exchange, London Stock Exchange or the New York Stock Exchange. We may elect to suspend or discontinue our share repurchases at any time, in accordance with applicable laws. From time to time when we do not possess material nonpublic information about ourselves or our securities, we may enter into a pre-defined plan with our broker to allow for the repurchase of shares at times when we ordinarily would not be active in the market due to our own internal trading blackout periods, insider trading rules or otherwise. Any such plans entered into with our broker will be adopted in accordance with the applicable Canadian and English securities laws and the requirements of Rule 10b5-1 under the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

Dividend Reinvestment Plan (DRIP)

All eligible Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC shareholders may elect to reinvest their dividends in additional common or ordinary shares, respectively, at the prevailing market price. During 2008, Woodbridge reinvested the equivalent of 50% of the dividends it received during the first three quarters of 2008. Woodbridge's reinvestment in additional common and ordinary shares of our company was in accordance with the terms of our DRIP.

Tradeweb Partnership

In January 2008, we formed a partnership with a consortium of nine global securities dealers to seek to further expand Tradeweb, our electronic unit that is within the Markets division. The partnership utilizes Tradeweb's established market position in creating a global multi-asset class execution venue for clients. Additional information about this partnership is provided in note 21 to our financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2008.

Upon entering into the agreement with the consortium, we deferred an initial pre-tax gain of $96 million associated with both the sale of our 15% interest and our commitment to deliver services as well as our contribution of assets to Tradeweb New Markets. The gain will be deferred until fair values of our deliverables under the agreement are fixed or determinable. Additionally, we recorded a minority interest of $64 million. As of December 31, 2008, we reflected in our consolidated balance sheet a minority interest balance of $72 million associated with the consortium's ownership of Tradeweb Markets and an equity investments of $55 million associated with our ownership of Tradeweb New Markets.

Cash Flow

Our principal sources of liquidity are cash provided by our operations, borrowings under our revolving bank credit facility and our commercial paper program, as well as the issuance of public debt. At December 31, 2008, there were no borrowings outstanding on our $2.5 billion revolving credit facility, which is available to provide adequate liquidity for us to repay our future debt maturity obligations over the next two years should we decide to repay these amounts through borrowings. We also had no commercial paper outstanding at December 31, 2008. In 2007, the proceeds from our divestitures, notably the sale of Thomson Learning, were a large source of liquidity. Our principal uses of cash have been the acquisition of Reuters in 2008, debt servicing costs, debt repayments, dividend payments, capital expenditures and other acquisitions. Additionally, as discussed in the section entitled "Share Repurchases," we have also used some of our cash to repurchase outstanding shares in open market transactions.

Operating activities. Cash provided by operating activities in 2008 was approximately $2.8 billion compared to approximately $1.8 billion in 2007. The increase in cash provided primarily reflected a significant change in the composition of our businesses, as 2008 included Reuters, which provided net cash inflows from operations, whereas 2007 included Thomson Learning, which produced net cash outflows.

Cash provided by operating activities in 2007 was approximately $1.8 billion compared to approximately $2.1 billion in 2006. The change primarily reflected higher interest income from the investment of the proceeds from divestitures, which was more than offset by lower cash from discontinued operations and costs associated with, at that time, the proposed Reuters acquisition and our legacy efficiency program, as well as a payment of $36 million to settle the Rodriguez v. West Publishing Corp. and Kaplan Inc. lawsuit. Excluding discontinued operations, cash from operating activities increased compared to 2006 primarily due to higher interest income. Working capital levels increased in 2007 due to the impact of deferred acquisition costs associated with the Reuters transaction.

Investing activities. Cash used by investing activities was approximately $9.3 billion compared to cash provided of approximately $5.9 billion for 2007. In 2008, cash used in investing activities reflected the consideration for Reuters and increased capital expenditures, partly offset by proceeds from the sale of a minority interest in Tradeweb Markets. See the section entitled "Tradeweb Partnership" for further discussion. In 2007, cash provided by investing activities reflected the receipt of proceeds from the sale of Thomson Learning.

Capital expenditures in 2008 increased 49% to $906 million from $608 million in 2007. This represented 7.7% and 8.3% of revenues in 2008 and 2007, respectively. Higher capital expenditures in 2008 were incurred primarily at the Markets division for the development of common technology platforms for content and information delivery, as well as for customer service infrastructure.

The majority of our capital expenditures are technology-related investments. We make significant investments in technology because it is essential to providing integrated information solutions to our customers and because we intend to maintain the competitive advantage we believe we have in this area. Our technology expenditures include spending on computer hardware, software, electronic systems, telecommunications infrastructure and digitization of content. In 2008, approximately 86% (2007 – 80%) of our total capital expenditures were for technology-related investments.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Cash provided by investing activities in 2007 was approximately $5.9 billion compared to cash used of approximately $1.3 billion for 2006. The activity in 2007 reflected higher proceeds from the sales of discontinued operations and decreased acquisition spending compared to 2006. Acquisitions in 2007 included CrossBorder Solutions in the Tax & Accounting segment, Prous Science in the Scientific segment and Deloitte LLP Property Tax Services also in the Tax & Accounting segment. In 2007, capital expenditures increased compared to 2006 due to higher spending on, and the timing of, technology initiatives, as well as $48 million in expenditures resulting from a data center expansion in Eagan, Minnesota.

Capital expenditures in 2007 increased 35% to $608 million from $452 million in 2006. This represented 8.3% and 6.9% of revenues in 2007 and 2006, respectively. Higher capital expenditures in 2007 were incurred primarily in the Legal segment and within Corporate and Other, and primarily related to initiatives to standardize technology platforms across businesses and other efficiency initiatives.

Financing activities. Cash used by financing activities was $114 million in 2008 compared to $464 million in cash used in 2007. The decreased outflow reflected proceeds from issuances of long-term debt, which more than offset the effect of repayments of our credit facility, repayments of assumed Reuters obligations and higher dividend payments. The increase in dividend payments reflected higher outstanding shares as a result of the Reuters acquisition as well as an assumed dividend payment to former Reuters shareholders representing the accrued/pro-rated dividends from January 1, 2008 through April 16, 2008. We also realized proceeds from the settlement of acquired Reuters derivative instruments.

Cash used in financing activities was $464 million in 2007 compared to $912 million in 2006. The decreased outflow of cash reflected proceeds from a debt offering in 2007 and a reduction in our repurchases of common shares. These effects were partially offset by outflows associated with the purchase of sterling call options (see "Hedging Program for Reuters Consideration" above) and higher dividend payments.

The following table sets forth dividend activity related to our shares for the last three years.

(millions of U.S. dollars)	Year ended December 31
	2008	2007	2006
Dividends declared	786	628	567
Dividends reinvested	(190)	(16)	(14)
Dividends paid	596	612	553

Discussions of other significant financing activities from each year are noted under the section entitled "Financial Position."

Free cash flow. The following table sets forth a calculation of our free cash flow for the last three years.

(millions of U.S. dollars)	Year ended December 31
	2008	2007	2006
Net cash provided by operating activities	2,761	1,816	2,125
Capital expenditures	(906)	(608)	(452)
Additions to property and equipment of discontinued operations	—	(97)	(185)
Other investing activities	(26)	(37)	(26)
Dividends paid on preference shares	(5)	(6)	(5)
Other investing activities of discontinued operations	(7)	(2)	(17)
Free cash flow	1,817	1,066	1,440

Our free cash flow for 2008 increased as compared to 2007 due to a significant change in the composition of our businesses, as described above. These effects were partially offset by one-time cash costs related to the Reuters acquisition and costs associated with integration and synergy programs.

In 2008, free cash flow was affected by certain unusual items. The following analysis removes these items to derive our underlying free cash flow:

Free cash flow	1,817
One-time Reuters acquisition, integration and synergy costs	518
Underlying free cash flow	2,335
Adjustments for certain items ¹	(450)

¹ To provide a more normalized 2008 underlying free cash flow number, we adjust for two timing related items:

- Interest costs which were substantially lower in 2008 since we benefited from having interest income and only a partial year of interest expense related to the Reuters acquisition debt.
- The 2008 amount does not include what is traditionally negative free cash flow from the Reuters business in the first quarter of the year, which will be reflected in 2009.

Our free cash flow for 2007 decreased as compared to 2006 due to the composition of businesses in discontinued operations and costs associated with their disposition, as well as costs associated with the legacy THOMSONplus program and the Reuters acquisition. The increases in such costs for 2007 were offset by higher interest income on cash balances that rose substantially as a result of the sale of Thomson Learning. Results for 2007 also reflected a $36 million payment to settle the Rodriguez v. West Publishing Corp. and Kaplan Inc. lawsuit.

Credit facility. In August 2007, we entered into a $2.5 billion unsecured revolving credit facility that currently expires in August 2012. We may request an extension of the maturity date under certain circumstances for up to two additional one-year periods, which the applicable lenders may accept or decline in their sole discretion. We may also request an increase (subject to approval by applicable lenders) in the amount of the lenders' commitments up to a maximum amount of $3.0 billion.

We can utilize the facility to provide liquidity in connection with our commercial paper program and for general corporate purposes. Based on our current credit rating, the cost of borrowing under the agreement is priced at LIBOR plus 19 basis points (or plus 24 basis points on all borrowings when line utilization exceeds 50%). If our long-term debt rating was downgraded by Moody's or Standard & Poor's, our facility fee and borrowing costs may increase, although availability would be unaffected. Conversely, an upgrade in our ratings may reduce our credit facility fees and borrowing costs.

The agreement contains certain customary affirmative and negative covenants, each with customary exceptions. The financial covenant related to this agreement is described in the "Financial Position" subsection above. In connection with entering into this agreement, we terminated our existing unsecured revolving bilateral loan agreements that had previously provided an aggregate commitment of $1.6 billion. We monitor the lenders that are party to our syndicated credit agreement. We believe that they continue to be willing and able to lend under the agreement.

Debt shelf registration. In December 2008, we filed a new shelf prospectus that allows us to issue up to $3 billion principal amount of debt securities from time to time through January 2011. To date, we have not issued any debt securities under this prospectus.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements, Commitments and Contractual Obligations

The following table presents a summary of our long-term debt and off-balance sheet contractual obligations as of December 31, 2008 for the years indicated. The table includes obligations assumed as a result of the Reuters acquisition.

(millions of U.S. dollars)	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	Thereafter	Total
Long-term debt ¹	1,051	1,405	1,131	946	1,220	4,070	9,823
Debt-related hedges outflows ²	575	894	933	58	58	1,163	3,681
Debt-related hedges inflows ²	(599)	(839)	(900)	(54)	(53)	(1,049)	(3,494)
Capital lease payments	18	13	4	—	—	—	35
Operating lease payments	351	279	226	186	164	612	1,818
Unconditional purchase obligations	765	512	431	382	340	502	2,932
Pension contributions ³	49	—	—	—	—	—	49
Total	2,210	2,264	1,825	1,518	1,729	5,298	14,844

1 Represents our contractual principal and interest payments to holders of our debt securities.

2 Substantially all of our non-U.S. dollar-denominated debt has been hedged into U.S. dollars. Debt-related hedges outflows represent our projected payments to counterparties. Debt-related hedges inflows represent our projected cash receipts from counterparties. We present our projected inflows along with outflows in order to reflect the net cash flow we anticipate from our debt-related hedging instruments in order to satisfy principal and interest payments to our long-term debt securities holders.

3 Represents expected contributions to our pension plans, primarily in the United Kingdom, in accordance with normal funding policy. These amounts do not include voluntary contributions we may elect to make from time to time.

We have entered into operating leases in the ordinary course of business, primarily for real property and equipment. Payments for these leases are contractual obligations as scheduled per each agreement. With certain leases, we guarantee a portion of the residual value loss, if any, incurred by the lessors in disposing of the assets, or to restore a property to a specified condition after completion of the lease period. The liability associated with these restorations is recorded on our consolidated balance sheet. With certain real property leases, banking arrangements and commercial contracts, we guarantee the obligations of some of our subsidiaries. We believe, based upon current facts and circumstances, that the likelihood of material payment pursuant to any such guarantees is remote.

We have various unconditional purchase obligations. These obligations are for materials, supplies and services incidental to the ordinary conduct of business.

We have obligations to pay additional consideration for prior acquisitions, typically based upon performance measures contractually agreed to at the time of purchase. We do not believe that additional payments in connection with these transactions would have a material impact on our financial statements. In certain disposition agreements, we guarantee to the purchaser the recoverability of certain assets or limits on certain liabilities. We believe, based upon current facts and circumstances, that the likelihood of a material payment pursuant to such guarantees is remote.

We guarantee certain obligations of our subsidiaries, including borrowings by our subsidiaries under our credit agreement. Other than as described above, we do not engage in any off-balance sheet financing arrangements. In particular, we do not have any interests in unconsolidated special-purpose or structured finance entities.

MANAGEMENT’S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Contingencies

LAWSUITS AND LEGAL CLAIMS

In July 2008, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit ruled in our favor by reversing a decision in a patent infringement case related to a business formerly owned by Thomson Financial. Following the initial court’s decision, we had posted a $95 million letter of credit in connection with our appeal, which was cancelled following the subsequent ruling in our favor.

In February 2007, we entered into a settlement agreement related to a lawsuit involving our BAR/BRI business that alleged violations of antitrust laws (Rodriguez v. West Publishing Corp. and Kaplan Inc.). Our part of the settlement was $36 million, which was accrued for in the fourth quarter of 2006 and paid in June 2007. In November 2007, we entered into a settlement agreement in a separate lawsuit involving our BAR/BRI business, Park v. The Thomson Corporation and Thomson Legal & Regulatory Inc., which was filed in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York. The Park lawsuit alleged primarily violations of the U.S. federal antitrust laws. In the third quarter of 2007, we accrued $13 million in connection with this settlement. In October 2008, the court issued its final approval of this settlement.

In February 2008, another purported class action complaint alleging violations of U.S. federal antitrust laws was filed in the United States District Court for the Central district of California against West Publishing Corporation, d/b/a BAR/BRI and Kaplan Inc. In April 2008, this case was dismissed with prejudice. The plaintiffs have appealed this dismissal.

In addition to the matters described above, we are engaged in various legal proceedings and claims that have arisen in the ordinary course of business. The outcome of all of the proceedings and claims against us, including those described above, is subject to future resolution, including the uncertainties of litigation. Based on information currently known by us and after consultation with outside legal counsel, management believes that the probable ultimate resolution of any such proceedings and claims, individually or in the aggregate, will not have a material adverse effect on our financial condition, taken as a whole.

TAXES

We are subject to taxation in numerous jurisdictions, and significant judgment is required in determining our tax liabilities. There are many transactions and calculations for which the ultimate tax determination is uncertain. We maintain contingent liabilities that we believe appropriately reflect our risk with respect to tax positions under discussion, audit, dispute, or appeal with tax authorities, or otherwise considered to involve uncertainty (commonly referred to as uncertain tax positions). We regularly assess the adequacy of these liabilities. However, it is possible that at some future date an additional liability could result from audits by the relevant taxing authorities. In April 2008, upon the completion of a routine tax audit for the years 2003 to 2005, the Internal Revenue Service notified us that it would challenge certain positions taken on our tax returns. We do not believe that any material impact will result from this challenge. Contingent tax liabilities are reversed to income in the period in which we assess that they are no longer required, when they are no longer required by statute, or when they are resolved through the normal tax dispute process. Our contingency reserves principally represent liabilities in respect of the years 2002 to 2008. It is anticipated that these reserves will either result in a cash payment or be reversed to income between 2009 and 2012.

Financial Risk

See the section entitled “Risks arising from Financial Instruments” in the accompanying consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2008, for a discussion of the risks that we face with respect to financial instruments.

OUTLOOK

The information in this section is forward-looking and should be read in conjunction with the section below entitled “Cautionary Note Concerning Factors That May Affect Future Results”.

Based on the current environment in the markets we serve, we expect our revenues to grow in 2009. We also expect underlying operating margin to be comparable to 2008, supported by revenue growth and the expected savings from integration and synergy programs. Underlying free cash flow is expected to be comparable to 2008, adjusted for certain timing related items. Our outlook excludes the impact of changes in foreign currency exchange rates.

RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

As of March 20, 2009, Woodbridge had a voting interest in Thomson Reuters of approximately 55%, based on the issued share capital of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC. Under the DLC structure, holders of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares ordinarily vote together as a single decision-making body, including in the election of directors, and in that sense have voting interests in Thomson Reuters.

Transactions with Woodbridge

From time to time, in the normal course of business, Woodbridge and certain of its affiliates purchase some of our products and service offerings. These transactions are negotiated at arm’s length on standard terms, including price, and are not significant to our results of operations or financial condition either individually or in the aggregate.

In the normal course of business, certain of our subsidiaries charge a Woodbridge-owned company fees for various administrative services. Additionally, up until June 2007, a Woodbridge-owned company rented office space from one of our subsidiaries. In 2008, the total amount charged to Woodbridge for these services was approximately $330,000 (2007 – $1 million, 2006 – $2 million).

We purchase property and casualty insurance from third party insurers and retain the first $500,000 of each and every claim under the programs via our captive insurance subsidiary. Woodbridge is included in these programs and pays us a premium commensurate with its exposures. These premiums were approximately $80,000 in 2008 ($50,000 in both 2007 and 2006), which would approximate the premium charged by a third party insurer for such coverage.

We maintained an agreement with Woodbridge until April 17, 2008 (the closing date of the Reuters acquisition) under which Woodbridge agreed to indemnify up to $100 million of liabilities incurred either by our current and former directors and officers or by our company in providing indemnification to these individuals on substantially the same terms and conditions as would apply under an arm's length, commercial arrangement. We were required to pay Woodbridge an annual fee of $750,000, which was less than the premium that would have paid for commercial insurance. We replaced this agreement with a conventional insurance agreement. We are entitled to seek indemnification from Woodbridge for any claims arising from events prior to April 17, 2008 and made within a six-year run-off period following that date.

Transactions with Investments in Affiliates and Joint Ventures

We enter into transactions with our investments in affiliates and joint ventures. These transactions involve providing or receiving services and are entered into in the normal course of business and on an arm's length basis.

We and The Depository Trust & Clearing Corporation each have a 50% interest in Omgeo, a provider of trade management services. Omgeo pays us for use of a facility and technology and other services. For 2008, these services were valued at approximately $11 million (2007 – $10 million, 2006 – $10 million).

We and Shin Nippon Hoki Shuppan K.K. each own 50% of Westlaw Japan K.K., a provider of legal information and solutions to the Japanese legal market. We provide the joint venture with technology and other services, which were valued at approximately $6 million for 2008 (2007 – $5 million, 2006 – $4 million).

Our Tradeweb Markets business provides services, including use of its trading platform and various back office functions, to the Tradeweb New Markets business established in 2008, and in which it has a 20% ownership stake. In 2008, we recognized revenues of $24 million related to these services.

In connection with the acquisition of Reuters, we assumed a lease agreement with 3XSQ Associates, an entity now owned by Thomson Reuters and Rudin Times Square Associates LLC that was formed to build and operate the 3 Times Square property and building in New York, New York that now serves as our corporate headquarters. We follow the equity method of accounting for our investment in 3XSQ Associates. The lease provides us with over 690,000 square feet of office space until 2021 and includes provisions to terminate portions early and various renewal options. Our costs related to 3XSQ Associates from April 17, 2008 through December 31, 2008 were approximately $28 million for rent, taxes and other expenses.

Also as a result of the acquisition of Reuters, we had an investment in a joint venture with the Chicago Mercantile Exchange that created FXMarketSpace, which was a centrally-cleared, global foreign exchange trading system. Among various other services, we provided trading access to and trade notification services for, and distributed market data from, FXMarketSpace. The total cost of these services provided by us from April 17, 2008 through December 31, 2008 was approximately $4 million. In October 2008, FXMarketSpace ceased operations.

Other Transactions

In February 2005, we entered into a contract with Hewitt Associates Inc. to outsource certain human resources administrative functions in order to improve operating and cost efficiencies. Under the current contract terms, we expect to pay Hewitt an aggregate of approximately $165 million over a 10-year period that began in 2006. In 2008, we paid Hewitt $11 million for its services (2007 – $11 million, 2006 – $16 million). Steven A. Denning, one of our directors and chairman of the board's Human Resources Committee, was a director of Hewitt until February 2009. Mr. Denning has not participated in negotiations related to the contract and has refrained from deliberating and voting on the matter by the Human Resources Committee and the board of directors.

Amounts Due to / Due from Related Parties

Receivable and payable amounts relative to the transactions with Woodbridge and Westlaw Japan were negligible at December 31, 2008 and 2007. Also negligible was the payable amount relative to 3XSQ Associates at December 31, 2008. The accounts receivable balance due to us from TradeWeb New Markets was $22 million at December 31, 2008. The amount receivable from Omgeo at December 31, 2008 was $3 million (2007 – $2 million) and the amount payable to Hewitt Associates was $2 million (2007 – $0).

ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Changes in Accounting Policies

INCOME TAXES

Effective January 1, 2007, we voluntarily adopted a new accounting policy for uncertain income tax positions. As a result of this change in accounting policy, we recorded a non-cash charge of $33 million to our opening retained earnings as of January 1, 2007 with an offsetting increase to non-current liabilities.

Under our previous policy, we would reserve for tax positions if it was probable that an uncertain position would not be upheld. Under our new policy, we evaluate a tax position using a two-step process:

- First, we determine whether it is more likely than not that a tax position will be sustained upon examination, including resolution of any related appeals or litigation processes, based on the technical merits of the position. In evaluating whether a tax position has met the more likely than not recognition threshold, we presume that the position will be examined by the appropriate taxing authority that has full knowledge of all relevant information.
- Second, a tax position that meets the more likely than not recognition threshold is measured to determine the amount of benefit to recognize in the financial statements. The tax position is measured at the largest amount of benefit that is greater than 50% likely of being realized upon ultimate settlement. If the tax position does not meet the more-likely-than-not recognition threshold, no benefit from the tax position is recorded. We were not able to retroactively apply this new policy as the data to determine the amounts and probabilities of the possible outcomes of the various tax positions that could be realized upon ultimate settlement was not collected in prior periods. Further, significant judgments are involved in assessing these tax positions and we concluded that it is not possible to estimate the effects of adopting the policy at an earlier date.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS AND COMPREHENSIVE INCOME

As of December 31, 2007, we adopted Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants (CICA) Handbook Section 1535, Capital Disclosures, and CICA Handbook Section 3862, Financial Instruments – Disclosures.

Effective January 1, 2006, we adopted CICA Handbook Section 1530, Comprehensive Income, CICA Handbook Section 3855, Financial Instruments – Recognition and Measurement and CICA Handbook Section 3865, Hedges. These new Handbook Sections provide comprehensive requirements for the recognition and measurement of financial instruments, as well as standards on when and how hedge accounting may be applied. Handbook Section 1530 also introduces a new component of equity referred to as accumulated other comprehensive income.

Under these new standards, all financial instruments, including derivatives, are included on our consolidated balance sheet and are measured either at fair market value or, in limited circumstances, at cost or amortized cost. Derivatives that qualify as hedging instruments must be designated as either a “cash flow hedge”, when the hedged item is a future cash flow, or a “fair value hedge”, when the hedged item is the fair value of a recognized asset or liability. The effective portion of unrealized gains and losses related to a cash flow hedge are included in other comprehensive income. For a fair value hedge, both the derivative and the hedged item are recorded at fair value in our consolidated balance sheet and the unrealized gains and losses from both items are included in earnings. For derivatives that do not qualify as hedging instruments, unrealized gains and losses are reported in earnings.

In accordance with the provisions of these new standards, we reflected the following adjustments as of January 1, 2006:

- an increase of $53 million to “Other non-current assets” and “Accumulated other comprehensive income” in the consolidated balance sheet relative to derivative instruments that consisted primarily of interest rate contracts, which convert floating rate debt to fixed rate debt and qualify as cash flow hedges;
- a reclassification of $5 million from “Other current assets” and $3 million from “Other current liabilities” to “Accumulated other comprehensive income” in the consolidated balance sheet related primarily to previously deferred gains and losses on settled cash flow hedges;
- an increase of $16 million to “Other non-current assets” and “Long-term debt” in the consolidated balance sheet related to derivative instruments and their related hedged items. These derivative instruments consist primarily of interest rate contracts to convert fixed rate debt to floating and qualify as fair value hedges; and
- a presentational reclassification of amounts previously recorded in “Cumulative translation adjustment” to “Accumulated other comprehensive income.”

The adoption of these new standards had no material impact on our consolidated statement of earnings. The unrealized gains and losses included in “Accumulated other comprehensive income” were recorded net of taxes, which were nil.

STOCK-BASED COMPENSATION

In July 2006, we adopted EIC Abstract 162, Stock-Based Compensation for Employees Eligible to Retire Before the Vesting Date (EIC-162), retroactively to January 1, 2006. The abstract clarifies the proper accounting for stock-based awards granted to employees who either are eligible for retirement at the grant date or will be eligible before the end of the vesting period and continue vesting after, or vest upon, retirement. In such cases, the compensation expense associated with the stock-based award will be recognized over the period from the grant date to the date the employee becomes eligible to retire. EIC-162 did not have a significant impact on our financial statements.

Critical Accounting Policies

The preparation of our financial statements requires management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Our estimates are based on historical experience and on various other assumptions that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances. The result of our ongoing evaluation of these estimates forms the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions.

Our critical accounting policies are those that we believe are the most important in portraying our financial condition and results, and require the most subjective judgment and estimates on the part of management. A summary of our significant accounting policies, including the critical accounting policies discussed below, is set forth in note 1 to our consolidated financial statements.

REVENUE RECOGNITION

Revenues from subscription-based products, excluding software, generally are recognized ratably over the term of the subscription. Where applicable, we recognize usage fees as earned. Subscription payments received or receivable in advance of delivery of our products or services are included in our deferred revenue account on our consolidated balance sheet. As we deliver subscription-based products and services to subscribers, we recognize the proportionate share of deferred revenue in our consolidated statement of earnings and our deferred revenue account balance is reduced. Certain incremental costs that are directly related to the subscription revenue are deferred and amortized over the subscription period.

Increasingly, we derive revenue from the sale of software products, license fees, software subscriptions, product support, professional services, transaction fees and multiple element arrangements that may include any combination of these items. We generally recognize revenue when persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, we have delivered the product or performed the service, the fee is fixed or determinable and collectibility is probable. However, determining whether and when some of these criteria have been satisfied often involves assumptions and judgments that can have a significant impact on the timing and amount of revenue we report. For multiple element arrangements we must make assumptions and judgments in order to allocate the total price among the various elements we must deliver to determine whether undelivered services are essential to the functionality of the delivered products and services, to determine whether objective evidence of fair value exists for each undelivered element and to determine whether and when each element has been delivered. If we were to change any of these assumptions or judgments, it could cause a material increase or decrease in the amount of revenue that we report in a particular period. Amounts for fees collected or invoiced and due relating to arrangements where revenue cannot be recognized are reflected on our balance sheet as deferred revenue and recognized when the applicable revenue recognition criteria are satisfied.

For all accounts receivable, we must make a judgment regarding the ability of our customers to pay and, accordingly, we establish an allowance for estimated losses arising from non-payment. We consider customer creditworthiness, current economic trends and our past experience when evaluating the adequacy of this allowance. If future collections differ from our estimates, our future earnings would be affected.

At December 31, 2008, our combined allowances on our accounts receivable balance were $124 million (2007 – $81 million), or 7% (2007 – 5%) of the gross accounts receivable balance. A 1% increase in this percentage would have resulted in additional expense of approximately $19 million (2007 – $16 million).

CAPITALIZED SOFTWARE

A significant portion of our expenditures relates to software that is developed as part of our electronic databases, delivery systems and internal infrastructures, and, to a lesser extent, software sold directly to our customers. During the software development process, our judgment is required to determine the expected period of benefit over which capitalized costs should be amortized. Due to rapidly changing technology and the uncertainty of the software development process itself, our future results could be affected if our current assessment of our various projects differs from actual performance. At December 31, 2008, we had approximately $1.3 billion (2007 – $721 million) of capitalized costs related to software on our consolidated balance sheet. The increase of $577 million as compared to 2007 is primarily due to acquired developed technology from the Reuters acquisition.

IDENTIFIABLE INTANGIBLE ASSETS AND GOODWILL

We account for our business acquisitions using the purchase method of accounting. We allocate the total cost of an acquisition to the underlying net assets based on their respective estimated fair values. As part of this allocation process, we must identify and attribute values and estimated lives to the intangible assets acquired. These determinations involve significant estimates and assumptions, including those with respect to future cash inflows and outflows, discount rates and asset lives, and therefore require considerable judgment. These determinations will affect the amount of amortization expense recognized in future periods.

As the valuation of identifiable intangible assets and goodwill requires significant estimates and judgment about future performance and fair values, our future results could be affected if our current estimates of future performance and fair values change. At December 31, 2008, identifiable intangible assets and goodwill amounted to $27.9 billion or 78% of our total assets on our consolidated balance sheet.

We review the carrying values of identifiable intangible assets with indefinite lives and goodwill at least annually to assess impairment because these assets are not amortized. Additionally, we review the carrying value of any intangible asset or goodwill whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that its carrying amount may not be recoverable. Examples of such events or changes in circumstances include significant negative industry or economic trends, significant changes in the manner of our use of the acquired assets or our strategy, a significant decrease in the market value of the asset, or a significant change in legal factors or in the business climate that could affect the value of the asset.

MANAGEMENT’S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

We assess impairment by comparing the fair value of an identifiable intangible asset or goodwill with its carrying value. The determination of fair value involves significant management judgment. Impairments are expensed when incurred. Specifically, we test for impairment as follows:

Identifiable Intangible Assets with Finite Lives

We compare the expected undiscounted future operating cash flows associated with the asset to its carrying value to determine if the asset is recoverable. If the expected future operating cash flows are not sufficient to recover the carrying value, we estimate the fair value of the asset. Impairment is recognized when the carrying amount of the asset is not recoverable and when the carrying value exceeds fair value.

Identifiable Intangible Assets with Indefinite Lives

Selected trade names comprise the entire balance of our identifiable intangible assets with indefinite lives. We determine the fair values of our intangible assets with indefinite lives using an income approach, specifically the relief from royalties method. Impairment is recognized when the carrying amount exceeds fair value.

Goodwill

We test goodwill for impairment on a “reporting unit” level. A reporting unit is a business for which: (a) discrete financial information is available; and (b) segment management regularly reviews the operating results of that business. Two or more businesses shall be aggregated and deemed a single reporting unit if the businesses have similar economic characteristics. We test goodwill for impairment using the following two-step approach:

- In the first step, we determine the fair value of each reporting unit. If the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying value, this is an indicator that the goodwill assigned to that reporting unit might be impaired, which requires performance of the second step.
- In the second step, we allocate the fair value of the reporting unit to the assets and liabilities of the reporting unit as if it had just been acquired in a business combination, and as if the purchase price was equivalent to the fair value of the reporting unit. The excess of the fair value of the reporting unit over the amounts assigned to its assets and liabilities is referred to as the implied fair value of goodwill. We then compare that implied fair value of the reporting unit’s goodwill to the carrying value of that goodwill. If the implied fair value is less than the carrying value, we recognize an impairment loss for that excess.

We performed our annual test for goodwill impairment in the fourth quarter of 2008 in accordance with this policy. In the first step of the test, the fair values of our reporting units were determined using the weighted average of two methods: an income approach and a market approach. Under the income approach, we estimated fair values for each reporting unit based on the present value of expected future cash flows and a terminal value. The expected cash flows were derived from our internal plans and adjusted for the probability of various scenarios that considered the market environment in which the reporting unit operates and general economic conditions. The terminal values incorporated a perpetual growth rate that varied by reporting unit based upon markets, trends and growth prospects. The discount rates used for each reporting unit were based upon the debt-to-equity ratios of competitors and incorporated equity premiums, size premiums and risk premiums. In general, these rates were higher than those utilized in the prior year’s annual test. Under the market approach, we estimated fair value based on EBITDA multiples of competitors. These estimates also included a control premium. We weighted these two methods based on our view of the reasonableness of the measures as follows: 60% income approach / 40% market approach. Given the current volatility of capital markets, we believe it is appropriate to apply a heavier weighting to the income approach. As the fair value of each of the reporting units was greater than its carrying value, we did not proceed to the second step of the test.

Our largest reporting unit is the Markets division. The Reuters net assets included in this reporting unit were recently acquired and recorded at their fair value as of April 17, 2008. Based on the results of our annual test, the fair value of this reporting unit exceeded its carrying value. Projections of future revenues were a critical estimate in determining fair value. Given the current market environment, we will continue to monitor the performance of this reporting unit against what we believe to be conservative revenue projections.

INCOME TAXES

We are required to estimate our income taxes in each of the jurisdictions in which we operate. For interim periods, we provide income taxes based on our estimate of how much we will earn in each jurisdiction for the full year. To the extent that our forecasts differ from actual results, we must true-up our estimates of income tax expense. Actual amounts of income tax expense only become final upon filing and acceptance of the tax return by the relevant authorities, which occur subsequent to the issuance of the financial statements. To the extent our estimates differ from the final tax return, our earnings would be affected in a subsequent period. For 2008, our effective tax rate was 19.8% of our earnings from continuing operations before income taxes. A 1% increase in our effective tax rate would have resulted in additional income tax expense of approximately $18 million.

Estimation of income taxes includes estimating a value for our existing net operating losses based on our assessment of our ability to utilize them against future taxable income before they expire. Our assessment is based upon existing tax laws and estimates of future taxable income. If our assessment of our ability to use our net operating losses proves inaccurate in the future, we might be required to recognize more or less of the net operating losses as assets, which would decrease or increase our income tax expense in the relevant year. This would affect our earnings in that year.

Effective January 1, 2007, we voluntarily adopted a new accounting policy for uncertain income tax positions. As a result of this change in accounting policy, we recorded a non-cash charge of $33 million to our opening retained earnings as of January 1, 2007 with an offsetting increase to non-current liabilities. See the section entitled “Changes in Accounting Policy” for a description of our new policy.

Our accounting for income taxes requires us to exercise judgment for issues relating to known matters under discussion with tax authorities and transactions yet to be settled. It is reasonably possible that actual amounts payable resulting from audits by tax authorities could be materially different from the liabilities we have recorded due to the complex nature of the tax legislation that affects us.

EMPLOYEE FUTURE BENEFITS

The determination of the cost and obligations associated with our employee future benefits requires the use of various assumptions. We must select assumptions such as the expected return on assets available to fund pension obligations, the discount rate to measure obligations, the projected age of employees upon retirement, the expected rate of future compensation and the expected healthcare cost trend rate. These assumptions are re-evaluated each year, and variations between the actual results and the results based on our assumptions for any period will affect reported amounts in future periods. We retain an independent actuarial expert to prepare the calculations and to advise us on the selection of assumptions. Additional information is provided in Appendix C of this management's discussion and analysis.

Recently Issued Accounting Standards

CICA 3064, GOODWILL AND INTANGIBLE ASSETS

In February 2008, the CICA issued CICA 3064, Goodwill and Intangible Assets, which replaces CICA 3062 and establishes standards for the recognition, measurement, presentation and disclosure of goodwill and intangible assets. The new standard expands on the criteria of when intangible assets can be recognized to include internally developed intangible assets and is effective for us as of January 1, 2009. We believe there will not be a significant impact on our financial statements upon adoption.

EIC-173, CREDIT RISK AND THE FAIR VALUE OF FINANCIAL ASSETS AND FINANCIAL LIABILITIES

On January 20, 2009, the Emerging Issues Committee of the CICA issued Abstract No. 173, Credit Risk and the Fair Value of Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities (EIC-173), which provides further guidance on the determination of the fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities under Section 3855, Financial Instruments – Recognition and Measurement. EIC-173 concluded that when determining the fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities, the entity should consider its own credit risk as well as the credit risk of the counterparty. This abstract should be applied retrospectively, without restatement of prior periods, to all financial assets and liabilities measured at fair value in interim and annual financial statements for periods ending on or after January 20, 2009. We believe there will not be a significant impact on our financial statements upon adoption.

Transition to IFRS from Canadian GAAP

In 2008, the Canadian Accounting Standards Board confirmed that Canadian publicly accountable enterprises will be required to adopt International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) by 2011 to replace Canadian GAAP. The Canadian securities regulatory authorities have approved our application to early adopt IFRS in 2009. We wish to adopt IFRS earlier than required, because we can fulfill all of our public company reporting requirements using this single set of accounting standards.

We will initially file our first quarter 2009 report under Canadian GAAP and will continue to provide a voluntary reconciliation of earnings and equity from Canadian GAAP to IFRS for the respective periods presented

Prior to the issuance of our second quarter 2009 report, we expect to amend our first quarter 2009 report to present our interim financial statements and footnotes in accordance with International Accounting Standard 34, Interim Financial Reporting (IAS 34). In addition, the amended report will include restated 2008 annual and quarterly financial statement information to be consistent with our new IFRS basis, as well as reconciliations of equity and net earnings for the previously reported Canadian GAAP amounts.

IFRS 1, First-time Adoption of International Financial Reporting Standards, sets forth that the adoption of IFRS occurs in the first annual financial statements in which the entity adopts IFRS by making an explicit and unreserved statement in those financial statements of compliance with IFRS. IFRS 1 requires that comparative financial information be provided and that the same accounting policies be applied throughout all periods presented. As the IFRS and IFRIC interpretations that will be applicable at December 31, 2009 are not known with certainty at this time, our 2008 and interim 2009 IFRS financial statements may be adjusted for the impacts of new standards that become effective for us prior to December 31, 2009. At present, we do not expect that there will be any additional IFRS or IFRIC pronouncements issued that will have an effective date before December 31, 2009.

Our date of transition to IFRS will be January 1, 2008 (Transition Date). IFRS 1 provides for certain optional exemptions and certain mandatory exceptions for first time IFRS adopters.

Please see Appendix D of this management's discussion and analysis for additional information on our IFRS adoption.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Disclosure Controls and Procedures

Our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, after evaluating the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in applicable U.S. and Canadian securities law) as of December 31, 2008, have concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures are effective to ensure that all information that we are required to disclose in reports that we file or furnish under the U.S. Securities Exchange Act and applicable Canadian securities law is (i) recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the rules and forms of the SEC and Canadian securities regulatory authorities and (ii) accumulated and communicated to our management, including our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.

Internal Control over Financial Reporting

As a result of our acquisition of Reuters, we expanded our internal controls over financial reporting to include consolidation of the Reuters results of operations, as well as acquisition accounting and disclosures. Additionally, as part of our integration and synergy program, during the first and third quarters of 2008, we migrated certain legacy financial processing systems to company-wide software as well as transferred various workflows to shared service centers. In connection with the software implementation and transfer of workflows from the legacy systems, we modified the design and documentation of our internal control processes and procedures.

As we execute our integration and synergy program across our organization over the next three years, we anticipate that additional business information systems will be consolidated and related workflow processes will be migrated as legacy shared service center environments mature into a single global business services organization. Except as described above, there was no change in our internal control over financial reporting that occurred during 2008 that has materially affected, or is reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting.

Our management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with Canadian GAAP with accompanying reconciliation to U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Our management assessed the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2008, and based on that assessment determined that our internal control over financial reporting was effective. See our financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2008 for our management's report on internal control over financial reporting.

Basis of Presentation

The unaudited pro forma information for the years ended December 31, 2008 and 2007 was calculated in a manner consistent with the preparation of the unaudited pro forma consolidated statement of earnings for the year ended December 31, 2007, unless otherwise noted, and included in the Thomson Reuters PLC annual report on Form 20-F for the year ended December 31, 2007 filed with the SEC and the Canadian securities regulatory authorities. The underlying financial information of Thomson and Thomson Reuters is included in the Thomson Reuters Corporation audited consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2008 accompanying this management's discussion and analysis. The underlying financial information of Reuters was compiled from its internal financial records. The acquisition was reflected with Thomson as the acquirer and Reuters as the acquiree, assuming that the acquisition had been completed on January 1, 2007. No account has been taken of the trading activity or other transactions of Thomson Reuters for the period since December 31, 2008.

The pro forma information has been compiled in a manner consistent with the accounting policies previously adopted by Thomson, and which continue to apply to Thomson Reuters, since the acquisition of Reuters. These accounting policies differ in certain respects from those of Reuters. The adjustments made to reconcile Reuters financial information were consistent with those described in the reconciliations summarizing the material differences between IFRS and Canadian GAAP as applied by Thomson set out in note 7 ("Reconciliation to Canadian GAAP as applied by The Thomson Corporation") in the unaudited pro forma financial statements in the Thomson Reuters PLC annual report on Form 20-F for the year ended December 31, 2007.

Pro Forma Adjustments

The pro forma adjustments for the years ended December 31, 2008 and 2007 reflected adjustments made in the unaudited pro forma financial statements in the Thomson Reuters PLC annual report on Form 20-F for the year ended December 31, 2007, as follows, except as noted below in a), d), and e) to reflect the effects of purchase accounting, based upon our final valuation of deferred revenue, identifiable intangible assets and other net assets acquired.

a) To adjust the carrying value of Reuters deferred revenue obligation as of January 1, 2007 to its estimated fair value, revenues were reduced by $86 million for the three months ended March 31, 2007, which carried through to the year ended December 31, 2007. Because of Reuters contractual quarterly billing cycle, this adjustment was reflected in its entirety in the quarter ended March 31, 2007.

In the Thomson Reuters consolidated financial statements for the six-month period ended June 30, 2008, reported revenues were reduced by $35 million, which carried through to the year ended December 31, 2008. For purposes of the pro forma results, this reduction of revenues was reversed as it was assumed to have occurred in 2007 and, therefore, would not be recognized in 2008 pro forma results.

b) Thomson and Reuters expensed integration planning and other transaction related costs incurred prior to the acquisition closing. For purposes of the pro forma results, $238 million and $166 million of these expenses incurred in the years ended December 31, 2008 and 2007, respectively, were reversed because the pro forma results have been prepared as if the acquisition had occurred on January 1, 2007, and these expenses would have been incurred prior to the closing date. Additionally, these expenses are non-recurring in nature and are not expected to have a continuing impact on the consolidated results.

There was no adjustment to remove integration and synergy program expenses incurred after the acquisition date.

c) For the year ended December 31, 2008, cost of sales, selling, marketing, general and administrative expenses were increased by $140 million (December 31, 2007 – decrease of $322 million) to eliminate amortization related to past service costs and net actuarial gains and losses in connection with Reuters pension and other post-retirement benefit plans. These expenses were eliminated as retirement plan assets and obligations would have been reflected at their fair values on January 1, 2007.

The adjustments to amortization, depreciation, rent expense and other operating expenses described in d) and e) below relate to the effects of purchase accounting on operating profit, based upon our final valuation of identifiable intangible assets and other net assets acquired as if the Reuters acquisition had occurred on January 1, 2007.

d) Amortization and depreciation:

- Adjustments of $92 million and $180 million were recorded in the years ended December 31, 2008 and 2007, respectively, to reflect additional amortization attributable to the fair value increment allocated to identifiable intangible assets.
- Adjustments of $47 million and $174 million were recorded in the years ended December 31, 2008 and 2007, respectively, to reflect additional depreciation attributable to the fair value increment allocated to computer hardware and other property, and internal use software.
- Adjustments of $17 million and $12 million were recorded in the years ended December 31, 2008 and 2007, respectively, to decrease cost of sales, selling, marketing, general and administrative expenses to reflect amortization attributable to the fair value increment allocated to capitalized software to be sold externally.

e) Adjustments of $9 million to increase expense and $28 million to decrease expense recorded in the years ended December 31, 2008 and 2007, respectively, attributable to amortization of the fair value increment allocated to favorable and unfavorable leases and other operating assets.

1 In the fourth quarter of 2008, we completed our valuation of acquired Reuters net assets. In arriving at our three-month and year ended December 31, 2008 and 2007 pro forma results, we have recast our previously reported pro forma results to reflect the finalized assumptions. Compared to our previously reported pro forma results, the finalization of the valuation resulted in the following changes:

- Markets pro forma depreciation for the three month period ended March 31, six month period ended June 30, and nine month period ended September 30, 2008 are ($155) million, ($305) million and ($460) million, respectively.
- Markets pro forma depreciation for the three month period ended March 31, six month period ended June 30, and nine month period ended September 30, 2007 are ($157) million, ($312) million and ($477) million, respectively.

- For 2008, we calculated ROIC based on pro forma operating profit. See the section entitled "Results of Operations" for additional information. Average invested capital was calculated assuming the Reuters acquisition purchase price and obligations assumed were included in the invested capital base as of the beginning of the period.
- For 2007, we calculated ROIC based on reported results from continuing operations. No adjustment was made to add back the results of discontinued operations given that numerous disposals occurred during the year and partial year adjustments in these circumstances distort annualized results. In particular, our largest disposal, Thomson Learning, had a significant impact due to the fact that it was a highly seasonal business which was disposed of mid-year. Accordingly, the 2007 ROIC calculation excludes all impacts from businesses classified as discontinued operations.
- Remove impact of change in fair value associated with foreign currency embedded derivatives of customer contracts.
- This adjustment reflects the actual results of Thomson Learning's higher education, careers and library reference, NETg and Prometric businesses in Thomson Learning as if they had been part of continuing operations for the periods presented. Specifically, this amount reflects depreciation expense which is excluded from GAAP results under the accounting requirements for discontinued operations. Costs incurred in connection with the disposal of the businesses have been excluded.
- For 2006 (as reported) amounts include discontinued operations.
- Items excluded as not deemed components of invested capital; "Other" primarily consists of non-current liabilities.
- Excludes debt swaps as balances are financing rather than operating-related.
- Excludes accumulated amortization as only gross identifiable intangible assets and goodwill cost are considered components of invested capital. Excludes goodwill arising from adoption of CICA 3465. This goodwill was created via deferred tax liability instead of cash purchase price.
- Present value of operating leases deemed component of invested capital.
- Adds back write-downs that were not cash transactions.

EMPLOYEE FUTURE BENEFITS

We sponsor defined benefit plans providing pension and other post-retirement benefits to covered employees. The largest plans consist of Thomson Reuters Group Pension (TRGP), a qualified defined benefit pension plan in the United States and Reuters Pension Fund (RPF) which was acquired as part of Reuters. The RPF is a hybrid pension fund, with both defined company and employee contributions, and defined employee benefits. Both plans are closed to new participants. Other smaller plans exist primarily in the United Kingdom, Switzerland, Hong Kong and Canada. We use measurement dates of September 30 and December 31 for the majority of these plans.

Because the determination of the cost and obligations associated with employee future benefits requires the use of various assumptions, there is measurement uncertainty inherent in the actuarial valuation process. Management currently estimates that the 2009 cost of employee future benefits will be approximately 21% lower than that of 2008, principally due to increases in the assumed discount rates, which decreases the value of our liability. While the value of our plan assets has also decreased, the impact of the reduced asset values will not be recognized all at once because we use a market-related value for assets for our major plans, which is based on a five year average asset value.

Expected Rate of Return Assumption

Management must make assumptions about the expected long-term rate of return on plan assets, but there is no assurance that the plan will be able to earn the assumed rate of return. In determining our long-term rate of return assumption, we considered historical returns, input from investment advisors and our actuary's simulation model of expected long-term rates of return assuming our targeted investment portfolio mix. We will reduce our 2009 assumption for the TRGP by 0.50% to 6.75% in anticipation of changes to the plan's investment portfolio mix. The expected rate of return for the RPF will be 7% for 2009. Adjusting the expected rate of return on assets for our significant plans upward or downward by another 25 basis points would decrease or increase pension expense by approximately $7 million in 2009.

Discount Rate Assumption

Our discount rate is selected based on a review of current market interest rates of high-quality, fixed-rate debt securities adjusted to reflect the duration of expected future cash outflows for pension benefit payments. In developing the 2009 discount rate assumption for our TRGP plan, we reviewed the high-grade bond indices published by Moody's and Merrill Lynch as of September 30, 2008, which are based on debt securities with average durations of 10 to 15 years. For the RPF, we reviewed the IBBoxx indices at December 31, 2008 of similar duration as the plan obligations.

Because we have a relatively young workforce, our expected future cash outflows for our plans tend to be of longer duration than the bond indices we reviewed. Therefore, our discount rate tends to be higher than these benchmark rates. To estimate our discount rate, our actuary constructed a hypothetical yield curve that represented yields on high quality zero-coupon bonds with durations that mirrored the expected payment stream of the benefit obligation. On this basis, the 2009 discount rate will be 7.25% for the TRGP plan, approximately 90 basis points higher than the prior year, and 5.90% for the RPF. Adjusting the discount rate upward or downward by another 25 basis points would result in a decrease or increase in pension expense by $2 million in 2009.

Accumulated Actuarial Losses

As of December 31, 2008, we had cumulative unrecognized actuarial losses on our pension plans of $457 million compared to $220 million at December 31, 2007. These losses primarily relate to asset losses, partially offset by lower obligations from increases in interest rates. These amounts also include actuarial gains and losses from the difference between our expected and actual returns on plan assets. Actuarial gains and losses are included in the calculation of our annual pension expense subject to the following amortization methodology.

- Unrecognized actuarial gains or losses are netted with the difference between market-related value and fair value of plan assets.
- To the extent this net amount exceeds 10% of the greater of the projected benefit obligation or market-related value of plan assets, it is amortized into pension expense on a straight-line basis over the expected average service life of active participants (approximately eight years at December 31, 2008 for the TRGP plan and thirteen years for the RPF).
- Unrecognized actuarial gains and losses below the 10% corridor are deferred.

In applying the amortization method, the estimated pension expense for 2009 includes $7 million of the unrecognized actuarial losses at December 31, 2008.

Funded Status and Company Contributions

As of December 31, 2008, the fair value of plan assets for the TRGP and the RPF represented approximately 98% and 112%, respectively, of the plan's projected benefit obligation. In 2008, we made contributions to all plans of $110 million, including special contributions of $3 million and $67 million to the Reuters Supplementary Pension Plan (SPS) and RPF, respectively, following discussions with plan Trustees. During 2007, we contributed $37 million to our defined benefit plan in the United Kingdom. Of the total, $25 million was required in connection with the disposal of Thomson Learning and $12 million was required in connection with Jane's Information Group, which was sold to Woodbridge in April 2001.

In 2009, we expect to contribute approximately $49 million to our pension plans, primarily in the United Kingdom, in accordance with normal funding policy. Additionally, we do not anticipate having to make any material special contributions to our pension plans in 2009. From time to time, we may elect to make voluntary contributions in order to improve the funded status of our plans. Relative to certain plans we acquired with Reuters, the Trustees have the right to call for special valuations, which could result in an unexpected contribution. No such valuation has been called as of this date. Because of the ability of Trustees to call for interim valuations for certain plans, as well as market driven changes that we cannot predict, we could be required to make contributions in the future that differ significantly from our estimates.

Other Post-Retirement Benefits

We provide post-retirement healthcare benefits for certain retired employees. However, these liabilities are significantly less than those associated with our pension plans. Retired employees share a portion of the cost of these benefits. We fund the accrued costs of these plans as benefits are paid. Annual post-retirement expense for 2008 was calculated based upon a number of actuarial assumptions, including a healthcare cost trend rate of 9% that declines 50 basis points per year for eight years, and thereafter remains constant at 5%. The healthcare cost trend rate is based on our actuarial medical claims experience and future projections of medical costs. A 1% change in the trend rate would result in an increase or decrease in the benefit obligation for post-retirement benefits of approximately $15 million at December 31, 2008.

IFRS ADOPTION

The following is provided in connection with our expected adoption of IFRS in 2009.

Initial Elections upon Adoption. Set forth below are the IFRS 1 elections we expect to make to convert our Canadian GAAP results to IFRS.

IFRS Exemption Options

- 1. Business combinations – IFRS 3, Business Combinations, may be applied retrospectively or prospectively. The retrospective basis would require restatement of all business combinations that occurred prior to the transition date. We will not elect to retrospectively apply IFRS 3 to business combinations that occurred prior to the Transition Date and such business combinations will not be restated. Any goodwill arising on such business combinations before the Transition Date will not be adjusted from the carrying value previously determined under Canadian GAAP as a result of applying these exemptions except as required under IFRS 1. Further, we will not early adopt IFRS 3 Revised, and instead will adopt that standard upon its effective date which, for us, will be January 1, 2010.
- 2. Fair value as deemed cost – IFRS 1 provides a choice between measuring property, plant and equipment at its fair value at the date of transition and using those amounts as deemed cost or using the historical valuation under the prior GAAP. We will continue to apply the cost model for property, plant & equipment and will not restate property, plant & equipment to fair value under IFRS. We will use the historical bases under Canadian GAAP as deemed cost under IFRS at Transition Date.
- 3. Employee benefits – IAS 19, Employee Benefits, allows certain actuarial gains and losses to be either deferred and amortized, subject to certain provisions (corridor approach), or immediately recognized through equity. Retrospective application of the corridor approach for recognition of actuarial gains and losses in accordance with IAS 19 would require us to determine actuarial gains and losses from the date benefit plans were established. We will elect to recognize all cumulative actuarial gains and losses that existed at the Transition Date in opening retained earnings for all of its employee benefit plans.
- 4. Cumulative translation differences – Retrospective application of IFRS would require us to determine cumulative currency translation differences in accordance with IAS 21, The Effects of Changes in Foreign Exchange Rates, from the date a subsidiary or associate was formed or acquired. IFRS 1 permits cumulative translation gains and losses to be reset to zero at the Transition Date. We will elect to reset all cumulative translation gains and losses to zero in opening retained earnings at the Transition Date.
- 5. Share-based payments – IFRS 2, Share Based Payments, encourages application of its provisions to equity instruments granted on or before November 7, 2002, but permits the application only to equity instruments granted after November 7, 2002 that had not vested by the Transition Date. We will elect to avail itself of the exemption provided under IFRS 1 and will apply IFRS 2 for all equity instruments granted after November 7, 2002 that had not vested by January 1, 2008. Further, we will apply IFRS 2 for all liabilities arising from share-based payment transactions that existed at January 1, 2008.
- 6. Changes in existing decommissioning, restoration and similar liabilities included in the cost of property, plant and equipment – IFRS 1 allows for either the retroactive adoption or prospective adoption from the transition date of IFRIC 1, Changes in Existing Decommissioning, Restoration and Similar Liabilities. We will elect not to retrospectively recognize changes to liabilities under IFRIC 1 which may have occurred before the Transition Date.

IFRS Mandatory Exceptions

- 1. Hedge accounting – Hedge accounting can only be applied prospectively from the Transition Date to transactions that satisfy the hedge accounting criteria in IAS 39 at that date. Hedging relationships cannot be designated retrospectively and the supporting documentation cannot be created retrospectively. As a result, only hedging relationships that satisfied the hedge accounting criteria as of the Transition Date will be reflected in our IFRS results.
- 2. Estimates – Hindsight is not used to create or revise estimates. The estimates we previously made under Canadian GAAP cannot be revised for application of IFRS except where necessary to reflect any difference in accounting policies.

Significant Changes in Accounting Policies upon Conversion to IFRS

In addition to the IFRS 1 elections, we expect to make changes in our accounting policies to be compliant with IFRS. Our IFRS policies are expected to be consistent with the policies we applied in preparing the Voluntary Reconciliation. As such, the descriptions contained within the reconciliation are anticipated to be reflective of the changes we plan to make in our adoption of IFRS with the exception of certain immaterial changes to revenue recognition, as described below.

In reviewing IAS 18, Revenue, we have determined that certain changes will be made in the manner in which we recognize revenue in arrangements that have multiple deliverables. We will also make changes for certain arrangements in which we had previously deferred revenue recognition until the completion of the contract. The aggregate impact of such changes is not significant to our operations or financial position and will have no impact on our cash flow.

Impact of Adoption on Our Organization

The conversion to IFRS will impact the way we present our financial results. We have obtained an understanding of IFRS from intensive training and preparation of reconciliations of historical Canadian GAAP financial statements to IFRS. Further, our accounting staff includes former Reuters employees who prepared financial statements under IFRS for the past three years. At present, we are engaging in the process of communicating the changes required by IFRS to the relevant personnel in the organization, including those in subsidiary accounting functions, our shared service functions, other functional areas (such as real estate, human resources and business development) as well as management of our key subsidiaries.

We have evaluated the impact of the conversion on our accounting systems and have developed detailed plans on how the requisite systems will be updated for the periods affected. We expect that the systems changes will be made prior to our conversion to IFRS in the second quarter of 2009. We believe our internal and disclosure control processes, as currently designed, will not need significant modifications as a result of our conversion to IFRS. We have assessed the impacts of adopting IFRS on our debt covenants and other contractual arrangements, and have not identified any material compliance issues. We are considering the impacts that the transition will have on our internal planning process and compensation arrangements.

Estimated Impact of Adoption on 2008 Results

We are finalizing the impact of our adoption on the 2008 financial results based on the IFRS 1 elections and policy changes discussed above. The Voluntary Reconciliation of Canadian GAAP to IFRS shown below provides an estimate of the impact IFRS will have on equity and earnings for 2008.

The IFRS amounts as presented in the Voluntary Reconciliation will be substantially the same as those that will be presented once we have formally adopted IFRS. There will be certain differences primarily due to the use of different transition dates, as well as minor adjustments related to revenue recognition policies described above. The Voluntary Reconciliation was prepared using a transition date of January 1, 2004 while the transition date for purposes of adopting IFRS will be January 1, 2008 as its date of transition. This change will generally impact the amounts related to share based payments, employee benefits, business combinations, financial instruments and currency translation adjustments.

In addition to changes in earnings and equity, there are other changes that we will make with respect to the classification of certain income statement and balance sheet accounts.

Voluntary Reconciliation from Canadian GAAP to IFRS

In accordance with our commitment to the United Kingdom Listing Authority, we have provided a reconciliation of shareholders' equity and net earnings from Canadian GAAP to IFRS as of and for the three years ended December 31, 2008, 2007 and 2006, respectively. While this reconciliation does not represent our official adoption of IFRS, it provides an indication of the major differences identified to date, relative to our historical financial statements.

In preparing the Voluntary Reconciliation, we applied the principles and elections of IFRS 1, with a transition date of January 1, 2004, consistent with those assumed in its Business Acquisition Report dated May 15, 2008 and also, consistent with the elections made regarding the optional exemptions under IFRS 1.

The following describes the differences presented in the reconciliation of net earnings and shareholders' equity.

1. Business Combinations

ACQUISITION COST

Canadian GAAP – Shares issued as consideration are measured at their market price a few days before and after the date the parties reach an agreement on the purchase price and proposed transaction is announced.

IFRS – Shares issued as consideration are measured at their market price on the acquisition closing date.

CONTINGENT CONSIDERATION

Canadian GAAP – Contingent consideration is recognized as part of the cost of an acquisition, but only at the point when the amount can be reasonably estimated and the outcome is determined beyond reasonable doubt.

IFRS – Contingent consideration is recognized as part of the cost of an acquisition at the date of acquisition, if it is probable that the contingency will be met and the amount can be reliably measured at fair value. Changes to the initial amount recorded are recognized through earnings and discounts on future cash payments are accreted through interest expense.

ACQUISITION RELATED COSTS

Canadian GAAP – Costs of the acquirer such as (1) exiting an activity, (2) involuntarily terminating an employee, or (3) relocating employees of an acquired company are recognized as part of the cost of an acquisition.

IFRS – These costs are expensed, unless they are part of an existing restructuring by the acquiree, in which case they may be recognized as part of the cost of an acquisition.

ADJUSTMENTS TO PROVISIONAL PURCHASE PRICE ALLOCATION

Canadian GAAP – Adjustments related to the finalization of initial purchase price allocations are changes in accounting estimates and accounted for prospectively from the period in which the purchase price allocation was finalized.

IFRS – Adjustments related to the finalization of initial purchase price allocations are applied retrospectively, as if they occurred on the acquisition date. Accordingly, prior period amounts are restated to reflect the final purchase price allocation, including any changes in amortization that become necessary for prior periods based on the final allocations.

2. Employee Benefits

MEASUREMENT DATE

Canadian GAAP – The measurement date of defined benefit obligations and plan assets may be up to three months prior to the date of the financial statements.

IFRS – The measurement date generally coincides with the date of the financial statements, because the measurement date must not result in a materially different outcome than if the balance sheet date had been used.

PAST SERVICE COST

Canadian GAAP – Past service costs arising from plan amendments are amortized on a straight-line basis over the average remaining service period of active employees expected to benefit from the amendment.

IFRS – These costs are amortized on a straight-line basis over the average period until the benefits become vested. To the extent that the amended benefits are already vested, past service costs are recognized immediately.

ACTUARIAL GAINS AND LOSSES

Canadian GAAP – Actuarial gains and losses are recognized on a systematic and consistent basis, subject to a minimum required amortization based on a “corridor” approach. Unrecognized actuarial gains and losses below the corridor are deferred.

IFRS – We have elected an accounting policy of recognizing actuarial gains and losses immediately through equity.

FAIR VALUE OF PLAN ASSETS

Canadian GAAP – A market-related fair value is used for purposes of calculating expected returns on plan assets with changes in the fair value of plan assets recognized over a five-year period.

IFRS – Plan assets are measured at fair value and fair value is used to determine the expected return on plan assets.

3. Stock-based Compensation

RECOGNITION OF EXPENSE

Canadian GAAP – The fair value of a stock-based award with graded vesting is recognized on a straight-line basis over the vesting period.

IFRS – Each tranche of an award is considered a separate grant with a different vesting date and fair value, and each is accounted for separately.

FORFEITURES

Canadian GAAP – Forfeitures of awards may be recognized as they occur.

IFRS – Forfeiture estimates are recognized in the current period and revised for actual experience in subsequent periods.

CASH-SETTLED SHARE-BASED PAYMENTS

Canadian GAAP – The liability for cash-settled share-based payments is accrued based upon the intrinsic value of the award.

IFRS – The liability for cash-settled share-based awards is measured at the fair value of vested awards, using an option pricing model. Changes in fair value are recognized in the period of change.

MEASUREMENT OF DEFERRED TAX ASSETS

Canadian GAAP – Deferred tax assets for share-based awards are based upon the cumulative amount of compensation cost recognized.

IFRS – Deferred tax assets for share-based awards are based upon the estimated tax deduction, which is generally the intrinsic value of the vested award at the balance sheet date. If the estimated deduction exceeds the cumulative compensation expense, the excess is recognized in equity. If no tax deduction is anticipated because the fair value of the shares has declined, then the deferred tax asset is reversed to earnings or equity as appropriate, depending on how the asset was originally recorded.

EMPLOYER TAXES

Canadian GAAP – Employer taxes on share-based compensation are recognized upon exercise of the instrument.

IFRS – Employer taxes on share-based compensation are recognized over the vesting period based upon the fair value of the awards at each balance sheet date.

4. Impairments

ASSETS HELD FOR SALE

Canadian GAAP – Assets held for sale are measured at the lower of their carrying amount or fair value less costs to sell, where the carrying amount for purposes of determining impairment includes cumulative translation adjustments.

IFRS – Assets held for sale are measured at the lower of their carrying amount or fair value less costs to sell, where the carrying amount excludes cumulative translation adjustments. Upon sale of the assets, the amount of the cumulative translation adjustment is included in the determination of the gain or loss on sale.

REVERSAL OF IMPAIRMENTS

Canadian GAAP – Reversal of impairment loss is not permitted.

IFRS – Reversal of impairment loss is required for assets other than goodwill if certain criteria are met.

RECOVERABLE AMOUNT

Canadian GAAP – A two-step approach is used to measure impairment. In step 1, a recoverability test is performed by comparing the expected undiscounted future cash flows to be derived from the asset with its carrying amount. If the asset fails the recoverability test, step 2 is triggered, and the entity must record an impairment loss calculated as the excess of the asset's carrying amount over its fair value.

IFRS – An asset is impaired if the recoverable amount is lower than the asset's carrying amount. The recoverable amount is defined as the higher of the asset's fair value less cost to sell and its value-in-use. The value-in-use calculation involves discounting the expected future cash flows to be generated by the asset to their net present value.

5. Financial Instruments

HEDGE ACCOUNTING

Canadian GAAP – Effectiveness for compound derivative instruments that hedge currency and interest rate risk is assumed provided the critical terms of the derivative instrument are consistent with the hedged instrument.

IFRS – Effectiveness for compound derivative instruments must be assessed retrospectively and prospectively each reporting period. As a result, certain hedge relationships had to be prospectively discontinued as of the transition date of adoption of IAS 32 and IAS 39.

VALUATION OF FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS REFLECTING CREDIT RISK

Canadian GAAP – Current Canadian GAAP does not set out specific requirements for the determination and measurement of credit risk in determining the fair values of financial instruments. A new pronouncement related to the consideration of credit risk has been issued and we will be adopting the applicable pronouncement effective the first quarter of 2009.

IFRS – IFRS contains specific guidance regarding the determination and measurement of credit risk and such guidance is applicable to us for 2008.

6. Cumulative Translation Adjustment

Under both Canadian GAAP and IFRS, foreign currency gains or losses on intercompany loans that are deemed to be part of a net investment in a subsidiary are reflected within CTA in shareholders' equity. Upon repayment of such loans, any related deferred foreign currency gain or loss is reclassified from CTA into earnings. However, these amounts will differ due to the IFRS 1 election to reset the CTA balance to zero at transition date.

7. Minority Interest

Canadian GAAP – Minority interest in the equity of a consolidated subsidiary is classified as a separate balance sheet component between liabilities and equity. Minority interest in the profit or loss of a consolidated subsidiary is presented as a component of earnings.

IFRS – Minority interest in equity of a consolidated subsidiary is classified as a component of equity but separate from the equity of the parent. Minority interest in the profit or loss of a consolidated affiliate is presented as an allocation of earnings.

8. Sale of Minority Interest in a Consolidated Subsidiary

Canadian GAAP – Gains associated with the sale of certain equity interests were deferred until the fair value of all related future performance obligations can be reliably measured.

IFRS – IFRS provides greater flexibility in the determination of fair value and allocation of consideration to multiple elements resulting in the ability to measure and recognize the gain on sale related to the sale of a minority interest. We elected a policy in which transactions with minority shareholders are considered transactions with an equity participant. Accordingly, the gain has been recognized in equity.

9. Share Repurchase Obligation

Canadian GAAP – An obligation for an entity to purchase its own equity instruments is accounted for as an equity transaction upon completion of each purchase.

IFRS – A liability must be recognized currently through equity for an obligation when the entity has no discretion to cancel its instructions to repurchase shares. Subsequent adjustments to the present value of the liability are reflected within earnings. If the contract expires without delivery, the liability is reversed against equity.

10. Income Taxes

INTERCOMPANY TRANSACTIONS

Canadian GAAP – The recognition of deferred tax for a temporary difference arising from intercompany transactions is prohibited. Further, taxes paid or recovered as a result of an intercompany asset transfer are recorded as an asset or liability and recognized as tax expense when the asset leaves the group or is otherwise utilized.

IFRS – Deferred taxes are recognized for temporary differences arising from intercompany transactions. Taxes paid or recovered as a result of an intercompany asset transfer are recognized in the period incurred.

BUSINESS COMBINATIONS: DEFERRED TAX ASSETS NOT PREVIOUSLY RECOGNIZED

Canadian GAAP – Previously unrecognized income tax assets of an acquired company are recognized as part of the cost of the acquisition when such assets are more likely than not to be realized as a result of a business combination. If an unrecognized deferred tax asset becomes realizable subsequent to the acquisition date, such benefit will also be recognized through goodwill. The acquirer recognizes its own tax benefits which become realizable as a result of the acquisition as part of the cost of the acquisition.

IFRS – Previously unrecognized income tax assets of an acquired company are recognized as part of the cost of the acquisition if realization is more likely than not as a result of the business combination. If an unrecognized deferred tax asset becomes realizable subsequent to the acquisition date, the tax benefit is recognized through earnings, and a corresponding amount of goodwill is recognized as an operating expense. The acquirer's tax benefits, which become realizable as a result of the acquisition, are recognized through earnings.

ACCOUNTING FOR UNCERTAINTY IN INCOME TAX POSITIONS

Canadian GAAP – The amount of reserves established for uncertain tax positions is determined by reference to a two step process involving the determination of whether it is more-likely-than-not that an uncertain tax position will be sustained upon examination. Where it is determined that the position meets the more-likely-than-not criteria, the amount of benefit is measured using the largest amount of benefit that is greater than 50% likely of being realized upon ultimate settlement.

IFRS – The measurement of the benefit is based on a qualitative assessment of all factors to determine a best estimate of the ultimate amount of benefit that will be realized.

ACCOUNTING FOR UNCERTAINTY IN INCOME TAXES IN BUSINESS COMBINATIONS

Canadian GAAP – Changes to income tax contingencies relating to pre-acquisition periods are adjusted through the purchase price allocation, first reducing goodwill, intangible assets associated with the business combination, and only after exhausting those amounts, reducing income tax expense.

IFRS – Changes to pre-acquisition tax uncertainties beyond twelve months of the acquisition date are recorded to the income statement.

INCOME TAX EFFECT OF OTHER RECONCILING DIFFERENCES BETWEEN CANADIAN GAAP AND IFRS

Differences from income taxes include the deferred tax effect on earnings of pre-tax differences between Canadian GAAP and IFRS described above.

Historically, our revenues and operating profits from continuing operations were proportionately the smallest in the first quarter and the largest in the fourth quarter, as certain product releases were concentrated at the end of the year, particularly in the regulatory and healthcare markets. Costs were incurred more evenly throughout the year. Our operating margins historically increased as the year progressed. For these reasons, the performance of our businesses were not comparable quarter to consecutive quarter and were best considered on the basis of results for the whole year or by comparing results in a quarter with the results in the same quarter for the previous year. As Reuters revenues and profits have not historically fluctuated as significantly throughout the year, and because we disposed of our former Learning business in 2007, which was a highly seasonal business, we anticipate that the seasonality of our revenues and operating profits will now be slightly less pronounced.

Results for Reuters are included in our consolidated financial statements as of April 17, 2008, the closing date of the acquisition, and reflect the continuing costs of our integration and synergy programs thereafter. All quarters ended prior to and including the quarter ended March 31, 2008 reflect the results of Thomson only.

In the quarter ended June 30, 2008, operating profit and earnings from continuing operations reflected an impairment on assets held for sale. In the quarter ended March 31, 2008, operating profit and earnings reflected expenses associated with the Reuters transaction. In the quarter ended September 30, 2007, earnings from discontinued operations reflected a gain on the sale of Thomson Learning's higher education, careers and library reference businesses. In the quarter ended March 31, 2006, earnings from continuing operations and net earnings reflected the recognition of certain tax credits.

MANAGEMENT'S REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTING

Management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting.

Internal control over financial reporting is a process that was designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles with accompanying reconciliation to U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (i) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the Company; (ii) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the Company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the Company; and (iii) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the Company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies and procedures may deteriorate.

Management conducted an evaluation of the effectiveness of its system of internal control over financial reporting based on the framework and criteria established in Internal Control – Integrated Framework issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission. Based on this evaluation, management concluded that the Company's internal control over financial reporting was effective as of December 31, 2008.

The effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2008 has been audited by PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, an independent registered public accounting firm, as stated in their report which appears herein.

THOMSON REUTERS

ANNUAL REPORT 2008

To the Shareholders of Thomson Reuters Corporation:

We have completed integrated audits of Thomson Reuters Corporation's 2008, 2007 and 2006 consolidated financial statements and of its internal control over financial reporting as at December 31, 2008. Our opinions, based on our audits, are presented below.

Consolidated Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Thomson Reuters Corporation (the "Company") as at December 31, 2008 and December 31, 2007, and the related consolidated statements of earnings, cash flows and changes in shareholders' equity for each of the years in the three year period ended December 31, 2008. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits of the Company's consolidated financial statements in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards and the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit of financial statements includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. A financial statement audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as at December 31, 2008 and December 31, 2007 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the years in the three year period ended December 31, 2008 in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

As discussed in note 2 to the consolidated financial statements, the Company changed its method of accounting for uncertain income tax positions effective January 1, 2007.

Internal Control over Financial Reporting

We have also audited the Company's internal control over financial reporting as at December 31, 2008, based on criteria established in Internal Control – Integrated Framework issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO). The Company's management is responsible for maintaining effective internal control over financial reporting and for its assessment of the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting, included in the accompanying Management's Report on Internal Control over Financial Reporting. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal control over financial reporting based on our audit.

We conducted our audit of internal control over financial reporting in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects. An audit of internal control over financial reporting includes obtaining an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk, and performing such other procedures as we consider necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

A company's internal control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (i) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (ii) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (iii) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

In our opinion, the Company maintained, in all material respects, effective internal control over financial reporting as at December 31, 2008 based on criteria established in Internal Control – Integrated Framework issued by the COSO.

NOTE 1: SUMMARY OF BUSINESS AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

General Business Description

Thomson Reuters operates under a dual listed company (“DLC”) structure and has two parent companies, Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC (collectively, “Thomson Reuters”). Thomson Reuters Corporation (also referred to as the “Company”) is an Ontario, Canada corporation, and Thomson Reuters PLC is a public limited company registered in England and Wales. These companies operate as a unified group pursuant to contractual arrangements as well as provisions in their organizational documents. Under the DLC structure, shareholders of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC both have a stake in Thomson Reuters, with cash dividend, capital distribution and voting rights that are comparable to the rights they would have if they were holding shares in one company carrying on the Thomson Reuters business. Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC are separate publicly listed companies. Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares are listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange (“TSX”) and the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”) and its Series II preference shares are listed on the TSX. Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares are admitted to the official list of the UK Listing Authority and to trading on the London Stock Exchange’s main market for listed securities. Thomson Reuters PLC American Depositary Shares (“ADSs”), each of which represents six ordinary shares, are listed on the Nasdaq Global Select Market. The boards of the two companies are comprised of the same individuals, as are the companies’ executive management.

Principles of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements of Thomson Reuters Corporation include the accounts of both Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC, and their respective subsidiaries, and are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Canada (“Canadian GAAP”). The results of Reuters are included in the accounts of Thomson Reuters from April 17, 2008.

Accounting Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results may differ from those estimates.

Foreign Currency

Assets and liabilities of self-sustaining subsidiaries denominated in currencies other than U.S. dollars are translated at the period end rates of exchange, and the results of their operations are translated at average rates of exchange for the period. The resulting translation adjustments are included in accumulated other comprehensive income in shareholders’ equity. Foreign exchange gains and losses related to certain intercompany loans that are permanent in nature are included in accumulated other comprehensive income. Other currency gains or losses are included in earnings.

References to “$” are to U.S. dollars, references to “C$” are to Canadian dollars and references to “£” are to British pounds sterling.

Revenue Recognition

Revenues are recognized, net of estimated returns, when the following four criteria are met:

- persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists;
- delivery has occurred;
- the fee is fixed or determinable; and
- collectability is probable.

Delivery does not occur until products have been shipped or services have been provided to the customer, risk of loss has transferred to the customer, customer acceptance has been obtained or such acceptance provisions have lapsed, or the Company has objective evidence that the criteria specified in the client acceptance provisions have been satisfied. The sales price is not considered to be fixed or determinable until all contingencies related to the sale have been resolved.

Revenue from sales of third party vendor products or services is recorded net of costs when the Company is acting as an agent between the customer and vendor and recorded gross when the Company is a principal to the transaction. Several factors are considered to determine whether the Company is an agent or principal, most notably whether the Company is the primary obligor to the customer, has inventory risk or adds meaningful value to the vendor’s product or service. Consideration is also given to whether the Company was involved in the selection of the vendor’s product or service, has latitude in establishing the sales price, or has credit risk.

In addition to the above general principles, the Company applies the following specific revenue recognition policies:

SUBSCRIPTION-BASED PRODUCTS (EXCLUDING SOFTWARE)

Revenues from sales of subscription-based products are primarily recognized ratably over the term of the subscription. Where applicable, usage fees above a base period fee are recognized as earned. Subscription revenue received or receivable in advance of the delivery of services or publications is included in deferred revenue. Incremental costs that are directly related to the subscription revenue are deferred and amortized over the subscription period.

MULTIPLE ELEMENT ARRANGEMENTS

When a sales arrangement requires the delivery of more than one product or service that have value on a stand-alone basis, the individual deliverables are accounted for separately, if reliable and objective evidence of fair value for each deliverable is available. The amount allocated to each unit is then recognized when each unit is delivered, provided that all other relevant revenue recognition criteria are met with respect to that unit.

If, however, evidence of fair value is only available for undelivered elements, the revenue is allocated first to the undelivered items, with the remainder of the revenue being allocated to the delivered items, utilizing the residual method. Amounts allocated to delivered items are deferred if there are further obligations with respect to the delivered items. If evidence of fair value is only available for the delivered items, but not the undelivered items, the arrangement is considered a single element arrangement and revenue is recognized as the relevant recognition criteria are met.

SOFTWARE-RELATED PRODUCTS AND SERVICES

License fees are generally recognized ratably on a straight-line basis over the license period when the Company has an ongoing obligation over the license period. Alternatively, if there is neither an associated license period nor significant future obligations, revenues are recognized upon delivery.

Certain software arrangements include implementation services. Consulting revenues from these arrangements are accounted for separately from software license revenues if the arrangements qualify as service transactions as defined in Statement of Position 97-2, Software Revenue Recognition. The more significant factors considered in determining whether the revenue should be accounted for separately include the nature of services (i.e., consideration of whether the services are essential to the functionality of the licensed product), degree of risk, availability of services from other vendors, timing of payments and impact of milestones or acceptance criteria on the realizability of the software license fee.

If an arrangement does not qualify for separate accounting of the software license and consulting transactions, then software license revenue is generally recognized together with the consulting services using either the percentage-of-completion or completed-contract method. Contract accounting is applied to any arrangements: (1) that include milestones or customer specific acceptance criteria that may affect collection of the software license fees; (2) where services include significant modification or customization of the software; (3) where significant consulting services are provided for in the software license contract without additional charge or are substantially discounted; or (4) where the software license payment is tied to the performance of consulting services. For certain of these arrangements, a customer’s obligation to pay corresponds to the amount of work performed. In these circumstances, revenue is recognized as a percentage of completed work using the Company’s costs as the measurement factor.

Certain contracts specify separate fees for software and ongoing fees for maintenance and other support. If sufficient vendor specific objective evidence of the fair value of each element of the arrangement exists, the elements of the contract are unbundled and the revenue for each element is recognized as appropriate.

OTHER SERVICE CONTRACTS

For service or consulting arrangements, revenues are recognized as services are performed based on appropriate measures.

Employee Future Benefits

For defined benefit pension plans and other post-retirement benefits, the net periodic pension expense is actuarially determined using the projected benefit method. Determination of benefit expense requires assumptions such as the expected return on assets available to fund pension obligations, the discount rate to measure obligations, the projected age of employees upon retirement, the expected rate of future compensation and the expected healthcare cost trend rate. For the purpose of calculating expected return on plan assets, the assets are valued at fair value. Actual results will differ from results which are estimated based on assumptions. When the cumulative difference between actual and estimated results exceeds 10% of the greater of the benefit obligation or the fair value of the plan assets, such difference is amortized into earnings over the average remaining service period of active employees. Past service costs arising from plan amendments are amortized on a straight-line basis over the average remaining service period of active employees at the date of the amendment. For funded plans, surpluses are recognized only to the extent that the surplus is considered recoverable.

Payments to defined contribution plans are expensed as incurred, which is as the related employee service is rendered.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash on hand, demand deposits and investments with an original maturity at the date of purchase of three months or less.

Long-Lived Assets

Long-lived assets with finite lives are tested for impairment when events or changes in circumstances indicate that their carrying amounts may not be recoverable. When such a situation occurs, the expected future operating cash flows associated with the asset are compared to its carrying value to determine if the asset is recoverable. If the expected future operating cash flows are not sufficient to recover the asset, an estimate of the fair value of the asset is computed. Impairment of the carrying amount of a long-lived asset is recognized in operating profit of continuing or discontinued operations, as appropriate, when the carrying amount is not recoverable and is in excess of its fair value. The impairment loss recognized is equal to the excess of the carrying amount over the fair value.

Computer Hardware and Other Property

Computer hardware and other property are recorded at cost and depreciated on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives as follows:

Computer hardware	3–5 years
Buildings and building improvements	5–40 years
Furniture, fixtures and equipment	3–10 years

CAPITALIZED SOFTWARE FOR INTERNAL USE

Certain costs incurred in connection with the development of software to be used internally are capitalized once a project has progressed beyond a conceptual, preliminary stage to that of application development. Costs which qualify for capitalization include both internal and external costs, but are limited to those that are directly related to the specific project. The capitalized amounts, net of accumulated amortization, are included in “Computer software, net” in the consolidated balance sheet. These costs are amortized over their expected useful lives, which range from three to ten years. The amortization expense is included in “Depreciation” in the consolidated statement of earnings.

CAPITALIZED SOFTWARE TO BE MARKETED

In connection with the development of software that is intended to be marketed to customers, certain costs are capitalized once technological feasibility of the product is established and a market for the product has been identified. The capitalized amounts, net of accumulated amortization, are also included in “Computer software, net” in the consolidated balance sheet. The capitalized amounts are amortized over the expected period of benefit, not to exceed three years, and the related amortization expense is included in “Cost of sales, selling, marketing, general and administrative expenses” in the consolidated statement of earnings.

Identifiable Intangible Assets and Goodwill

Upon acquisition, identifiable intangible assets are recorded at fair value. Goodwill represents the excess of the cost of the acquired businesses over fair values attributed to underlying net tangible assets and identifiable intangible assets. The carrying values of all intangible assets are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that their carrying amounts may not be recoverable. Additionally, the carrying values of identifiable intangible assets with indefinite lives and goodwill are tested annually for impairment because they are not amortized. Impairment is determined by comparing the fair values of such assets with their carrying amounts.

IDENTIFIABLE INTANGIBLE ASSETS

Certain trade names with indefinite lives are not amortized. Identifiable intangible assets with finite lives are amortized over their estimated useful lives as follows:

Trade names	2–27 years
Customer relationships	2–32 years
Databases and content	2–25 years
Publishing rights	30 years
Other	2–27 years

Identifiable intangible assets with finite lives are tested for impairment as described under “Long-Lived Assets” above.

Selected trade names comprise the entire balance of identifiable intangible assets with indefinite lives. For purposes of impairment testing, the fair value of trade names is determined using an income approach, specifically the relief from royalties method.

GOODWILL

Goodwill is tested for impairment on a “reporting unit” level. A reporting unit is a business for which: (a) discrete financial information is available; and (b) segment management regularly reviews the operating results of that business. Two or more businesses shall be aggregated and deemed a single reporting unit if the businesses have similar economic characteristics. Goodwill is tested for impairment using the following two-step approach:

- In the first step, the fair value of each reporting unit is determined. If the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying value, this is an indicator that the goodwill assigned to that reporting unit might be impaired, which requires performance of the second step.
- In the second step, the fair value of the reporting unit is allocated to the assets and liabilities of the reporting unit as if it had just been acquired in a business combination, and as if the purchase price was equivalent to the fair value of the reporting unit. The excess of the fair value of the reporting unit over the amounts assigned to its assets and liabilities is referred to as the implied fair value of goodwill. The implied fair value of the reporting unit’s goodwill is then compared to the actual carrying value of goodwill. If the implied fair value is less than the carrying value, an impairment loss is recognized for that excess.

The fair values of the Company’s reporting units are determined based on a combination of various techniques, including the present value of future cash flows, earnings multiples of competitors and multiples from sales of like businesses. Details of the testing performed in 2008 are included in note 15.

Equity Investments in Associates and Investments in Joint Ventures

Equity investments represent ownership interests over which the Company has significant influence. Equity investments in associates are initially recognized at cost and subsequently accounted for by the equity method of accounting. Joint ventures represent equity ownership interests over which the Company has joint control with one or more unaffiliated entities. Joint ventures are proportionately consolidated based upon the Company’s ownership percentage.

Disposal of Long-Lived Assets and Discontinued Operations

Long-lived assets are classified as held for sale once certain criteria are met. Such criteria include a firm decision by management or the board of directors to dispose of a business or a group of selected assets and the expectation that such disposal will be completed within a twelve month period. Assets held for sale are measured at the lower of their carrying amounts or fair values less costs to sell, and are no longer depreciated. Long-lived assets held for sale are classified as discontinued operations if the operations and cash flows will be eliminated from ongoing operations as a result of the disposal transaction and there will not be any significant continuing involvement in the operation of the disposed asset.

Deferred Income Taxes

Deferred income taxes are determined based on the temporary differences between the financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities using the enacted or substantially enacted rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to reverse. A valuation allowance is recorded against deferred income tax assets if management determines that it is more likely than not that such deferred income tax assets will not be realized. The income tax provision for the period is the tax payable for the period and the change during the period in deferred income tax assets and liabilities.

Financial Instruments

The Company's financial instruments are comprised of the following:

- assets and liabilities accounted for at cost, or amortized cost, which include accounts receivable, notes receivable, short-term indebtedness and accounts payable and accruals; and
- assets and liabilities accounted for at fair value, which include cash and cash equivalents, available-for-sale investments, derivative instruments and associated debt instruments.

DERIVATIVE INSTRUMENTS / HEDGING

In the ordinary course of business, Thomson Reuters enters into the following types of derivative financial instruments to manage foreign currency and interest rate exposures:

- cross-currency swap agreements to hedge foreign currency exposures on non-U.S. dollar-denominated debt;
- foreign currency contracts to hedge forecasted cash flows denominated in currencies other than the functional currency of a particular Thomson Reuters subsidiary;
- interest rate swap agreements to manage the fixed versus floating interest rate mix of debt. Such contracts require periodic exchange of payments without the exchange of the notional principal amount upon which the payments are based; and
- treasury lock agreements to hedge against changes in interest rates for anticipated debt offerings.

The Company identifies a risk management objective for each transaction. All derivatives are linked to specific assets and liabilities or to specific firm commitments or forecasted transactions. For derivatives designated as hedges, periodic assessments of each derivative's effectiveness are performed.

While the derivative financial instruments are subject to the risk of loss from changes in exchange and interest rates, these losses are offset by gains on the exposures being hedged. Gains and losses on cross currency swap agreements designated as hedges of existing assets and liabilities are accrued as exchange rates change, thereby offsetting gains and losses from the underlying assets and liabilities. Gains and losses on foreign currency contracts designated as hedges for firm commitments or forecasted transactions are recorded in earnings when the related transaction is realized. The differential paid or received on interest rate swap agreements is recognized as part of net interest expense. Gains and losses on treasury lock agreements are reported as other comprehensive income until settlement. These gains and losses are then recognized in interest expense over the life of the hedged debt. Certain derivative instruments, while providing effective economic hedges, are not designated as hedges. Changes in the fair value of any derivatives that are not designated as hedges are recognized within "Net other income (expense)" in the Company's consolidated statement of earnings.

PURCHASE AND SALE OF FINANCIAL ASSETS

Purchases and sales of financial assets are recognized on the settlement date, which is the date that the asset is delivered to, or by, the Company.

EMBEDDED DERIVATIVES

The Company has embedded foreign currency derivatives in certain revenue and purchase contracts where the currency of the contract is different from the functional currencies of the parties involved. These derivatives are accounted for as separate instruments from the host contracts when their economic characteristics and risks are not closely related to those of the host contract. These derivatives are measured at fair value at each balance sheet date using forward exchange market rates. Changes in their fair values are recognized in the Company's consolidated statement of earnings.

Stock-Based Compensation Plans

STOCK INCENTIVE PLAN

Under its stock incentive plan, Thomson Reuters may grant stock options, restricted share units ("RSUs"), performance restricted share units ("PRSUs") and other equity-based awards to certain employees for a maximum of up to 50,000,000 Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares or Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares. All grants through December 31, 2008 relate to Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares. There have been no grants related to Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares, though the plan permits such grants.

STOCK OPTIONS

Options vest over a period of four to five years. The maximum term of an option is ten years from the date of grant. Options under the plan have been granted at the closing price of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares on the day prior to the grant date. Compensation expense related to stock options is recognized over the vesting period, based upon the estimated fair value of the options at issuance.

RESTRICTED SHARE UNITS

RSUs vest over a period of up to seven years. Compensation expense related to RSUs is recognized over the vesting period, based upon the closing price of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares on the day prior to the grant date.

PERFORMANCE RESTRICTED SHARE UNITS

The Company issues PRSUs as part of a long-term incentive program for certain senior executives. PRSUs give the holder the right to receive one Thomson Reuters Corporation common share for each unit that vests on the vesting date. PRSUs initially granted may vest depending upon the Company's performance over a three-year performance period against pre-established performance goals. Compensation expense related to each PRSU grant is recognized over the three-year performance period based upon the closing price of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares on the day prior to the grant date and the number of units expected to vest.

PHANTOM STOCK PLAN

Awards under the phantom stock plan are granted in the form of stock appreciation rights ("SARs"). Such awards are payable in cash, and compensation expense is recognized as the SARs change in value based on the fair market value of the Company's common shares at the end of each reporting period.

EMPLOYEE STOCK PURCHASE PLAN

The Company maintains an employee stock purchase plan whereby eligible employees can purchase Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares or Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares at a 15% discount up to a specified limit utilizing after-tax payroll deductions. The discount is expensed as incurred. All plan activity through December 31, 2008 related to Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares.

NOTE 2: CHANGES IN ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Income Taxes

Effective January 1, 2007, the Company voluntarily adopted a new accounting policy for uncertain income tax positions. As a result of this change in accounting policy, the Company recorded a noncash charge of $33 million to its opening retained earnings as of January 1, 2007, with an offsetting increase to non-current liabilities.

Under its policy for accounting for uncertain tax positions, the Company evaluates a tax position using a two-step process:

- First, the Company determines whether it is more likely than not that a tax position will be sustained upon examination, including resolution of any related appeals or litigation processes, based on the technical merits of the position. In evaluating whether a tax position has met the more-likely-than-not recognition threshold, the Company presumes that the position will be examined by the appropriate taxing authority that has full knowledge of all relevant information.
- Second, a tax position that meets the more-likely-than-not recognition threshold is measured to determine the amount of benefit to recognize in the financial statements. The tax position is measured at the largest amount of benefit that is greater than 50% likely of being realized upon ultimate settlement. If the tax position does not meet the more-likely-than-not recognition threshold, no benefit from the tax position is recorded.

The Company believes that this new policy will provide reliable and more relevant information because all tax positions of the Company will be affirmatively evaluated for recognition, derecognition and measurement using a consistent threshold of more-likely-than-not, based on the technical merits of a tax position. In addition, the Company will be providing more information about uncertainty related to income tax assets and liabilities.

The Company was not able to retroactively apply this new policy as the data to determine the amounts and probabilities of the possible outcomes of the various tax positions that could be realized upon ultimate settlement was not collected in prior periods. Further, significant judgments are involved in assessing these tax positions and the Company has concluded that it is not possible to estimate the effects of adopting the policy at an earlier date.

The Company will continue to recognize interest and penalties on underpayment of income taxes as an income tax expense.

Financial Instruments and Comprehensive Income

As of December 31, 2007, the Company adopted Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants ("CICA") Handbook Section 1535, Capital Disclosures, and CICA Handbook Section 3862, Financial Instruments – Disclosures (see notes 16 and 17).

Effective January 1, 2006, the Company adopted CICA Handbook Section 1530, Comprehensive Income, CICA Handbook Section 3855, Financial Instruments – Recognition and Measurement and CICA Handbook Section 3865, Hedges. These new Handbook Sections provide comprehensive requirements for the recognition and measurement of financial instruments, as well as standards on when and how hedge accounting may be applied. Handbook Section 1530 also introduces a new component of equity referred to as accumulated other comprehensive income.

Under these new standards, all financial instruments, including derivatives, are included on the consolidated balance sheet and are measured either at fair market value or, in limited circumstances, at cost or amortized cost. Derivatives that qualify as hedging instruments must be designated as either a "cash flow hedge", when the hedged item is a future cash flow, or a "fair value hedge", when the hedged item is the fair value of a recognized asset or liability. The effective portion of unrealized gains and losses related to a cash flow hedge are included in other comprehensive income. For a fair value hedge, both the derivative and the hedged item are recorded at fair value in the consolidated balance sheet and the unrealized gains and losses from both items are included in earnings. For derivatives that do not qualify as hedging instruments, unrealized gains and losses are reported in earnings.

In accordance with the provisions of these new standards, the Company reflected the following adjustments as of January 1, 2006:

- an increase of $53 million to “Other non-current assets” and “Accumulated other comprehensive income” in the consolidated balance sheet relative to derivative instruments that consisted primarily of interest rate contracts, which convert floating rate debt to fixed rate debt and qualify as cash flow hedges;
- a reclassification of $5 million from “Other current assets” and $3 million from “Other current liabilities” to “Accumulated other comprehensive income” in the consolidated balance sheet related primarily to previously deferred gains and losses on settled cash flow hedges;
- an increase of $16 million to “Other non-current assets” and “Long-term debt” in the consolidated balance sheet related to derivative instruments and their related hedged items. These derivative instruments consist primarily of interest rate contracts to convert fixed rate debt to floating and qualify as fair value hedges; and
- a presentational reclassification of amounts previously recorded in “Cumulative translation adjustment” to “Accumulated other comprehensive income.”

The adoption of these new standards had no material impact on the Company’s consolidated statement of earnings. The unrealized gains and losses included in “Accumulated other comprehensive income” were recorded net of taxes, which were nil.

Discontinued Operations

In April 2006, the Emerging Issues Committee of the CICA (“EIC”) issued Abstract 161, Discontinued Operations (“EIC-161”). The abstract addresses the appropriateness of allocating interest expense to a discontinued operation and disallows allocations of general corporate overhead. EIC-161 was effective upon its issuance and did not have an impact on the Company’s consolidated financial statements.

Stock-Based Compensation

In July 2006, the Company adopted EIC Abstract 162, Stock-Based Compensation for Employees Eligible to Retire Before the Vesting Date (“EIC-162”), retroactively to January 1, 2006. The abstract clarifies the proper accounting for stock-based awards granted to employees who either are eligible for retirement at the grant date or will be eligible before the end of the vesting period and continue vesting after, or vest upon, retirement. In such cases, the compensation expense associated with the stock-based award will be recognized over the period from the grant date to the date the employee becomes eligible to retire. EIC-162 did not have a significant impact on the Company’s financial statements.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

GOODWILL AND INTANGIBLE ASSETS

In February 2008, the CICA issued CICA 3064, Goodwill and Intangible Assets, which replaces CICA 3062 and establishes standards for the recognition, measurement, presentation and disclosure of goodwill and intangible assets. The new standard expands on the criteria of when intangible assets can be recognized to include internally developed intangible assets and is effective for the Company as of January 1, 2009. The Company does not believe the adoption of this standard will have a significant impact on its financial statements.

FINANCIAL ASSETS AND FINANCIAL LIABILITIES

On January 20, 2009, the EIC issued Abstract 173, Credit Risk and the Fair Value of Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities (“EIC-173”), which provides further guidance on the determination of the fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities under Section 3855, Financial Instruments – Recognition and Measurement. EIC-173 concluded that when determining the fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities, the entity should consider its own credit risk as well as the credit risk of the counterparty. This abstract should be applied retrospectively, without restatement of prior periods, to all financial assets and liabilities measured at fair value in interim and annual financial statements for periods ending on or after January 20, 2009. The Company does not believe the adoption of this standard will have a significant impact on its financial statements.

TRANSITION TO INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL REPORTING STANDARDS FROM CANADIAN GAAP

In 2008, the Canadian Accounting Standards Board confirmed that Canadian publicly accountable enterprises will be required to adopt International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) by 2011 to replace Canadian GAAP. The Canadian securities regulatory authorities have approved Thomson Reuters application to early adopt IFRS in 2009.

The Company will initially file its quarterly report for the three months ended March 31, 2009 (“Q1 2009 quarterly report”) under Canadian GAAP and continue to provide a voluntary reconciliation of earnings and equity from Canadian GAAP to IFRS for the respective periods presented. Prior to the issuance of the quarterly report for the period ended June 30, 2009, the Company expects to amend the Q1 2009 quarterly report to present the interim financial statements and footnotes in accordance with International Accounting Standard 34, Interim Financial Reporting (“IAS 34”). In addition, the amended report will include restated 2008 annual and interim financial statement information to be consistent with the new IFRS basis, as well as reconciliations of equity and net earnings for the previously reported Canadian GAAP amounts.

NOTE 3: ACQUISITION OF REUTERS GROUP PLC

Overview

On April 17, 2008, Thomson acquired Reuters by implementing a DLC structure as described in note 1 resulting in two parent companies, Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC, operating the business of Thomson Reuters.

- The two parent companies have identical boards and executive management teams;
- Shareholders of each parent company have comparable rights and benefits as if they held shares in one company carrying on the Thomson Reuters business; and
- The operations of Reuters were combined with the former Thomson Financial segment to create a global leader in electronic information services, trading systems and news.

Required Divestitures

In order to obtain antitrust clearance for the transaction, in 2008 Thomson Reuters sold a copy of the Thomson Fundamentals (Worldscope), Reuters Estimates, Reuters Aftermarket Research and Reuters Economics (EcoWin) databases. These sales included copies of the databases, source data and training materials, as well as certain contracts and selected employees connected to the databases. The required sales did not have any material adverse effect on the Company's revenues or profitability and are not expected to have any material impact on the synergies anticipated to be generated by the transaction.

Consideration

Reuters was indirectly acquired by Thomson Reuters PLC. Under the terms of the acquisition:

- All of the issued and outstanding Reuters ordinary shares were cancelled; and
- Reuters shareholders received, for each Reuters ordinary share held
 - 352.5 pence in cash (a total of $8,450 million paid on May 1, 2008); and
 - 0.16 Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares (a total of 194,107,278 issued on closing, April 17, 2008).

Thomson Reuters funded the cash consideration component of the transaction using proceeds from the sale of its Thomson Learning businesses as well as borrowings under an acquisition credit facility. See note 16 for further discussion on acquisition-related borrowings and repayments.

Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares were valued at approximately $8.2 billion, or $42.38 per share using the average share price two days before and after May 15, 2007, the date of the announcement of the acquisition. The par value of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares was changed from £10 to 25 pence shortly after the acquisition closed.

Subject to certain exceptions, the 33,670,064 options and awards outstanding under Reuters share-based employee compensation plans vested and became fully exercisable prior to the close of the acquisition. Upon exercise, holders were entitled to the same consideration for each share of Reuters that would have been received. The fair value of the outstanding options, determined using the Black-Scholes pricing model, was $195 million and was included in the purchase consideration. Unexercised options expired during the fourth quarter of 2008.

Based on the issued shared capital of Thomson Reuters Corporation and of Thomson Reuters PLC as of April 17, 2008, The Woodbridge Company Limited and other companies affiliated with it ("Woodbridge") had a voting interest in Thomson Reuters of approximately 53%. Woodbridge is the principal and controlling shareholder of Thomson Reuters and had a 55% voting interest in Thomson Reuters as of December 31, 2008.

Purchase Price Allocation

The acquisition has been accounted for using the purchase method and the results of Reuters have been included in the consolidated statement of earnings for the year ended December 31, 2008, beginning on April 17, 2008, the closing date of the acquisition.

The purchase consideration was as follows:

(millions of U.S. dollars)
Cash	8,450
Ordinary shares, Thomson Reuters PLC	8,226
Reuters Group PLC options	195
Transaction costs	138
Total purchase consideration	17,009

For its interim 2008 reporting, the Company preliminarily allocated the total purchase consideration to acquired net tangible and identifiable intangible assets based on their estimated fair values as of April 17, 2008. During the fourth quarter of 2008, the Company adjusted its purchase price allocation to reflect the final valuation of the fair values of net tangible and identifiable assets as of April 17, 2008. The excess of the purchase price over the net tangible and identifiable intangible assets was recorded as goodwill and will not be deductible for tax purposes.

Intangible Assets

The fair values of intangible assets acquired and their respective estimated useful lives as at April 17, 2008 are as set forth below. To estimate fair value, the Company considered, among other factors, the intended future use of acquired assets as well as projected performance:

(millions of U.S. dollars)	Fair value	Useful life
Trade names	2,397	Indefinite
Customer relationships	4,171	14–16 years
Other	15	3 years
Identifiable intangible assets	6,583
Developed technology	532	3–10 years

“Customer relationships” represent the underlying relationships with existing customers. “Other” includes databases and images. “Developed technology” primarily represents acquired software which processes data and provides customers access to databases and subscription services, as well as applications sold directly to customers.

NOTE 4: IMPAIRMENT OF ASSETS

Held for Sale

In conjunction with the Company’s decision to sell its Dialog business, the Company recognized a charge of $72 million for the impairment of Dialog’s intangible assets. This business was not classified as a discontinued operation as the Company will continue to receive revenues associated with Dialog’s operations.

NOTE 5: INTEGRATION AND SYNERGY PROGRAMS

As a consequence of the Reuters acquisition, the Company announced an integration and synergy program directed at integrating the acquired Reuters business and capturing cost synergies. Its primary objective is the integration of Thomson Financial with Reuters, which now comprise the Markets division, but it also includes efforts to integrate shared services and corporate functions across Thomson Reuters. Thomson Reuters also continues to incur expenses for legacy transformational initiatives pursued by Thomson and Reuters separately. Because these are corporate initiatives, incremental expenses which are directed at capturing these cost savings are reported within the Corporate and Other segment. The various initiatives are expected to be completed in 2011. The Company will incur restructuring costs, including severance and losses on lease terminations and other cancellations of contracts. Certain costs will qualify to be recorded as part of goodwill and the remainder will be expensed.

The following table presents the balances and activity of the Company's liabilities for restructuring costs, which were included in accounts payable and accruals and other non-current liabilities, as at and for the year ended December 31, 2008:

Type of Cost	Balance at January 1, 2008	Additions		Utilization	Translation	Balance at December 31, 2008
		Acquisition-related ¹	Charges ²
Severance	12	120	69	(109)	(17)	75
Lease cancellation	-	11	-	-	-	11
Total	12	131	69	(109)	(17)	86

1 Included in goodwill

2 Included in cost of sales, selling, marketing, general and administrative expenses.

In 2008, the Company incurred $362 million of expenses associated with integration and synergy programs. Of this amount, $329 million related to integration programs and primarily consisted of severance and consulting expenses as well as costs associated with certain technology initiatives and branding. The remaining $33 million related to legacy efficiency initiatives and primarily consisted of severance costs as well as consulting fees related to a company-wide enterprise resource planning (ERP) system.

In 2007, the Company incurred $153 million (2006 – $60 million) of expenses associated with THOMSON*plus*. In 2006, the Company announced the THOMSON*plus* program, a series of initiatives, directed at transforming Thomson into a more integrated operating company by leveraging assets and infrastructure across all segments of its business. The program resulted in the elimination of certain positions and the relocation of others to lower cost locations, including those resulting from the establishment of a facility in Hyderabad, India to perform certain finance functions. In each period, these expenses consisted primarily of consulting fees and severance costs. The consulting costs primarily related to the Company's efforts to deploy a company-wide ERP system as well as efforts to improve the customer service infrastructure. The severance costs principally related to the elimination of certain finance positions in conjunction with the establishment of centralized service centers, efforts to streamline the operations of Thomson Financial and the restructuring of Legal's North American sales force. In 2007, the charges included costs associated with the restructuring of Legal's North American sales force. In 2006, the Company incurred $9 million of additional expenses from severance and vacated leased properties associated with businesses classified as discontinued operations.

Restructuring activities represented approximately $91 million of the expense for 2007. The liabilities associated with these restructuring activities were not material as of December 31, 2007.

Net Gains due to Changes in Foreign Currency Exchange Rates

In 2008, the Company realized net gains of $276 million from changes in foreign currency exchange rates on certain intercompany funding arrangements. Foreign currency gains and losses on intercompany arrangements are recognized in the statement of earnings when such arrangements are settled or when they are not considered permanent in nature. In 2008, the Company also incurred losses related to changes in foreign currency exchange rates on the cash consideration for the Reuters acquisition, for which a British pound sterling liability was incurred on the closing date of April 17, 2008, but not paid until the May 1, 2008 settlement date.

Net Losses on Freestanding Derivative Instruments

In 2008 and 2007, net losses on freestanding derivative instruments included the loss on the fair value of British pound sterling call options acquired in the third quarter of 2007 as part of the Company's hedging program to mitigate exposure to the $/£ exchange rate on the cash consideration paid for Reuters. Additionally, results for 2008 reflected gains on swaps designated to cover certain intercompany funding arrangements as well as losses incurred on derivative instruments previously used by Reuters to hedge positions, which were settled shortly after the close of the acquisition.

Net Gains on Disposals of Businesses and Investments

In 2008, the Company recognized a gain from the sale of a copy of the Worldscope database. See the section entitled "Required Divestitures" in note 3. For 2006, net gains on disposals of businesses and investments were comprised primarily of a gain on the sale of an equity investment.

Other Income (Expense), Net

2008 other income, net, primarily comprised a gain on the sale of a building as well as the reversal of a legal reserve associated with a previously-held equity investment. For 2006, other expense, net, primarily related to a legal reserve representing the Company's portion of the cash settlement paid in 2007 related to the Rodriguez v. West Publishing Corp. and Kaplan Inc. lawsuit.

The following details the movements in the valuation allowance for the years ended December 31, 2008 and 2007:

As the deferred tax liability decreased, the requirement for the valuation allowance increased by the same amount

Income tax provision on continuing operations	351	155	116

1 Represents tax on settlement of certain debt instruments for which there is no corresponding pre-tax income statement gain.

The effective income tax rate in each year was lower than the Canadian corporate income tax rate due principally to the lower tax rates and differing tax rules applicable to certain of the Company's operating and financing subsidiaries outside Canada. Specifically, while the Company generates revenues in numerous jurisdictions, the tax provision on earnings is computed after taking account of intercompany interest and other charges among subsidiaries resulting from their capital structure and from the various jurisdictions in which operations, technology and content assets are owned. For these reasons, the effective tax rate differs substantially from the Canadian corporate tax rate. The Company's effective tax rate and its cash tax cost depend on the laws of numerous countries and the provisions of multiple income tax conventions between various countries in which the Company operates.

At December 31, 2008, the Company had Canadian tax losses carried forward of $1,802 million, tax losses carried forward in other jurisdictions of $1,797 million, and U.S. state tax losses carried forward which, at current U.S. state rates, have an estimated value of $23 million. If not utilized, the majority of the Canadian tax losses carried forward will expire between 2009 and 2038, while the U.S. state tax losses carried forward expire between 2009 and 2028. The majority of the tax losses in other jurisdictions may be carried forward indefinitely. The ability to realize the tax benefits of these losses is dependent upon a number of factors, including the future profitability of operations in the jurisdictions in which the tax losses arose. Additionally, the Company has $2,595 million of capital losses carried forward, which may only be used to offset future capital gains, and against which the Company has provided a full valuation allowance.

THOMSON REUTERS CORPORATION
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unless otherwise stated, all amounts are in millions of U.S. dollars)

The total amount of undistributed earnings of non-Canadian subsidiaries for income tax purposes was approximately $11.1 billion at December 31, 2008. The majority of such undistributed earnings can be remitted to Canada tax free. Where tax free remittance of undistributed earnings is not possible, it is generally the Company's intention to reinvest such undistributed earnings and thereby indefinitely postpone their remittance. Accordingly, no provision has been made for income taxes that may become payable if such undistributed earnings from non-Canadian subsidiaries were distributed by those companies, except where there are plans to make distributions in the foreseeable future. The Company has accrued $9 million of taxes for anticipated earnings distributions in 2009. The additional taxes on the remaining undistributed earnings are not practicably determinable.

The Company maintains liabilities for tax contingencies (or uncertain tax positions) associated with known issues under discussion with tax authorities and transactions yet to be settled. The Company regularly assesses the adequacy of these liabilities. Contingencies are reversed to income in the period in which management assesses that they are no longer required, or when they become no longer required by statute, or when they are resolved through the normal tax audit process (see note 19). A reconciliation of the beginning and ending amounts of unrecognized tax benefits is as follows:

Balance at beginning of year	150	205
Additions based upon tax provision related to current year	57	14
Additions for tax positions of prior years	1	6
Reductions for tax positions of prior years	(5)	(16)
Acquisitions	194	-
Settlements	(10)	(11)
Reductions due to translation, disposal of businesses, and other	(21)	(48)
Balance at end of year	366	150

If recognized, $123 million of these unrecognized benefits at December 31, 2008 would favorably affect the Company's income tax expense.

During 2008, the Company recognized expense of $1 million for interest and penalties (2007 – $13 million expense, 2006 – $2 million income) within income tax expense in the consolidated statement of earnings. At December 31, 2008, December 31, 2007, and January 1, 2007, liabilities of $37 million, $29 million and $26 million, respectively, were accrued for interest and penalties associated with uncertain income tax positions.

As a result of audit examinations expected to be completed in 2009, the Company anticipates that it is reasonably possible that the unrecognized tax benefits at December 31, 2008, may be reduced by approximately $17 million within the next twelve months.

As a global company, Thomson Reuters and its subsidiaries are subject to numerous federal, state and provincial income tax jurisdictions. As of December 31, 2008, the tax years subject to examination by major jurisdiction are as follows:

Jurisdiction	Tax years
Canada – Federal and Ontario provincial	1997 to 2008
United States – Federal	2003 to 2008
United Kingdom	2006 to 2008

The Company has multiple years subject to examination in other jurisdictions in which it does business as well.

NOTE 9: DISCONTINUED OPERATIONS

Certain businesses were classified as discontinued operations in the consolidated financial statements for all periods presented. The required divestitures resulting from the acquisition of Reuters, which are described in note 3, did not qualify as discontinued operations as the Company retained ownership of the databases and the ability to market them.

2008 Activity

As of December 31, 2008, discontinued operations reflected the results of PLM, a provider of drug and therapeutic information in Latin America, formerly managed within the Healthcare segment. The Company continues to actively pursue the sale of this business.

2007 Activity

The most significant activity in 2007 related to Thomson Learning, which was sold in three separate transactions as follows:

• Thomson Learning's higher education, careers and library reference businesses for gross proceeds of approximately $7.6 billion and a post-tax gain of $2.7 billion;

• NETg, a leading provider of continuing corporate education and training, for approximately $270 million and a post-tax loss of $10 million; and

• Prometric, a provider of assessment services, for $310 million in cash and a 6% promissory note for approximately $79 million due in 2014. The promissory note was reflected in the financial statements at its estimated fair value of approximately $60 million to account for the difference between the market and stated rates of interest. The Company recognized a post-tax gain of $18 million related to this transaction.

The Company also sold the following businesses in 2007:

• GEE, a regulatory information business in the United Kingdom within the Legal segment;

• Fakta, a regulatory information business in Sweden within the Legal segment;

• New England Institutional Review Board, an ethical review board that monitors clinical research involving human subjects within the Healthcare segment;

• CenterWatch, a provider of clinical research information within the Healthcare segment;

• The business information and news operations within the Legal segment, which included the Company's Market Research and NewsEdge businesses;

• IOB, a Brazilian regulatory business within the Legal segment;

• Thomson Medical Education, a provider of sponsored medical education within the Healthcare segment; and

• The North American operations of Thomson Education Direct, a consumer-based distance learning career school.

2006 Activity

In 2006, the Company sold the following businesses:

• Lawpoint Pty Limited, an Australian provider of print and online regulatory information services; and Law Manager, Inc., a software and services provider, which were both within the Legal segment;

• Peterson's, a college preparatory guide, and K.G. Saur, a German publisher of biographical and bibliographical reference titles serving the library and academic communities; and

• American Health Consultants, a medical newsletter publisher and medical education provider within the Healthcare segment.

For the year ended December 31, 2007, discontinued operations included a gain of $263 million (2006 – $21 million) associated with currency translation adjustments on disposals which were released from "Accumulated other comprehensive income" in the consolidated balance sheet.

As of December 31, 2008 and 2007, the assets and liabilities of discontinued operations were not significant. The revenues and earnings from discontinued operations for the year ended December 31, 2008 were also not significant. The statement of earnings for discontinued operations for 2007 and 2006 are as follows:

Statement of Earnings

	Year ended December 31, 2007				Total
	Legal	Learning	Healthcare	Other

Earnings (loss) from discontinued operations	(3)	156	43	12	208

The Company adjusts liabilities previously established for businesses that have been sold when actual results differ from estimates used in establishing such liabilities. Additionally, adjustments are made in conjunction with the expiration of representations and warranty periods or to reflect the refinement of earlier estimates. These amounts, which principally relate to tax liabilities, are included in "Other" above.

"(Payments for) proceeds from disposals of discontinued operations, net of income taxes paid" within the consolidated statement of cash flow for the year ended December 31, 2008 represented cash paid for certain working capital adjustments and taxes. For the year ended December 31, 2007, such amounts primarily represented cash received from the sale of the Thomson Learning businesses, net of taxes paid on the sale. For the year ended December 31, 2006, such amounts represented cash received from the sale of Lawpoint, Law Manager, Peterson's, K.G. Saur and American Health Consultants.

The carrying values of businesses disposed of during 2007 consisted of current assets of $975 million, non-current assets of $4,873 million, current liabilities of $517 million and noncurrent liabilities of $375 million as of the date of disposal.

NOTE 10: EARNINGS PER SHARE

Basic earnings per share is calculated by dividing earnings attributable to Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares (collectively, “common and ordinary shares”) by the sum of the weighted-average number of common and ordinary shares outstanding during the period plus vested deferred share units. Deferred share units represent the amount of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares certain employees have elected to receive in the future in lieu of cash compensation. The holders of deferred share units have no voting rights, but are entitled to dividends at each dividend payment date, which are reinvested as additional deferred share units based upon the dividend reinvestment plan as described in note 17.

Diluted earnings per share are calculated using the denominator of the basic calculation described above adjusted to include the potentially dilutive effect of outstanding stock options and other securities. The Company uses the treasury stock method to calculate diluted earnings per share.

Earnings used in determining earnings per share from continuing operations are presented below. Earnings used in determining earnings per share from discontinued operations are the earnings from discontinued operations as reported within the consolidated statement of earnings.

Earnings from continuing operations	1,405	1,096	912
Dividends declared on preference shares	(5)	(6)	(5)
Earnings from continuing operations attributable to common and ordinary shares	1,400	1,090	907

The weighted-average number of common and ordinary shares outstanding, as well as a reconciliation of the weighted-average number of common and ordinary shares outstanding used in the basic earnings per share computation to the weighted-average number of common and ordinary shares outstanding used in the diluted earnings per share computation, is presented below:

Weighted-average number of common and ordinary shares outstanding	769,920,781	640,304,221	643,454,420
Vested deferred share units	916,831	853,497	677,104

Diluted	775,179,027	644,430,796	646,026,345

As of December 31, 2008, 13,303,615 outstanding stock options had exercise prices that were above the average market price. The effect of these options was not included in the diluted weighted average share calculation as their impact would have been anti-dilutive.

NOTE 11: ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE

The aging of gross accounts receivable as of December 31, 2008 and 2007 were as follows:

	2008	2007
Current	1,350	1,252
Past due 0–30 days	192	144
Past due 31–60 days	167	93
Past due 61–90 days	60	55
Past due 91–180 days	70	64
Past due >181 days	65	38
Balance at end of year	1,904	1,646

The change in the valuation allowances for returns, billing adjustments and doubtful accounts related to accounts receivable is as follows:

	2008	2007
Balance at beginning of year	81	97
Charges	187	164
Write-offs	(157)	(180)
Other	13	–
Balance at end of year	124	81

“Other” includes additions from acquisitions, including amounts associated with the Reuters acquisition, and the impact of foreign currency translation.

The Company is exposed to normal credit risk with respect to its accounts receivable and maintains provisions for potential credit losses. Potential for such losses is mitigated because the Company has no significant exposure to any single customer and because the Company follows a program of customer credit evaluation.

NOTE 12: COMPUTER HARDWARE AND OTHER PROPERTY

Computer hardware and other property consist of the following:

Amortization expense for identifiable intangible assets in 2008 was $411 million (2007 – $256 million, 2006 – $240 million). As of December 31, 2008, the weighted-average amortization life based upon the gross balance of the identifiable intangible assets with finite useful lives was approximately 17 years.

Publishing rights relate to certain historical acquisitions and are comprised of the cumulative value of trade names, imprints and titles, databases and other intangible assets. These intangible assets are amortized over a weighted-average useful life, which approximates 30 years.

The adjusted purchase price allocations primarily relate to finalized valuations of identifiable intangible assets for certain acquisitions, which decreased goodwill by $13 million (2007 – increase of $3 million) as well as the adjustment of certain acquisition-related assets and liabilities, which increased goodwill by $3 million (2007 – increase of $24 million).

The Company performed its annual test for goodwill impairment in the fourth quarter of 2008 in accordance with its policy described in note 1. The Company has 22 reporting units, of which the carrying values for 21 include goodwill. In the first step of the test, the fair values of its reporting units were determined using the weighted average of two methods: an income approach based on the present value of expected future cash flows and a market approach based on earnings multiples of competitors. The Company weighted these two methods based on its view of the reasonableness of the measures as follows: 60% income approach / 40% market approach. As the fair value of each of the reporting units was greater than its carrying value, the Company did not proceed to the second step of the test.

The Company's largest reporting unit is the Markets division. The Reuters net assets included in this reporting unit were recently acquired and recorded at their fair value as of April 17, 2008. Based on the results of the Company's annual test, the fair value of this reporting unit exceeded its carrying value. Projections of future revenues were a critical estimate in determining fair value. Given the current market environment, the Company will continue to monitor the performance of this reporting unit against what it believes to be conservative revenue projections.

Accounting Change

Effective January 1, 2006, the Company adopted CICA Handbook Section 1530, Comprehensive Income, CICA Handbook Section 3855, Financial Instruments – Recognition and Measurement and CICA Handbook Section 3865, Hedges. Under these new standards, all financial instruments, including derivatives, are included on the consolidated balance sheet and are measured either at fair market value or, in limited circumstances, at cost or amortized cost. Derivatives that qualify as hedging instruments must be designated as either a “cash flow hedge,” when the hedged item is a future cash flow, or a “fair value hedge,” when the hedged item is a recognized asset or liability. The effective portion of unrealized gains and losses related to a cash flow hedge are included in other comprehensive income. For a fair value hedge, both the derivative and the hedged item are recorded at fair value in the consolidated balance sheet and the unrealized gains and losses from both items are included in earnings. For derivatives that do not qualify as hedging instruments, unrealized gains and losses are reported in earnings.

Carrying Amounts

Amounts recorded in the consolidated balance sheet are referred to as “carrying amounts”. The primary debt carrying amounts are reflected in “Long-term debt” and “Current portion of long-term debt” in the consolidated balance sheet. The carrying amounts of derivative instruments are included in “Other current assets”, “Other non-current assets”, and “Other non-current liabilities” in the consolidated balance sheet, as appropriate.

Fair Values

The fair values of cash and cash equivalents, notes receivable, accounts receivable, short-term indebtedness and accounts payable approximate their carrying amounts because of the short-term maturity of these instruments. The fair value of long-term debt, including the current portion, is estimated based on either quoted market prices for similar issues or current rates offered to the Company for debt of the same maturity. The fair values of interest rate swaps and forward contracts are estimated based upon discounted cash flows using applicable current market rates.

Treasury lock agreements, which were in place as at December 31, 2007, were valued based on quoted market prices. Sterling call options, which existed as at December 31, 2007, were valued based on a pricing model that uses various market based assumptions. The treasury lock agreements were settled and the sterling call options expired in 2008. The fair values of the foreign exchange contracts reflect the estimated amounts at which the Company would have to settle all outstanding contracts on December 31.

As of December 31, 2008, the Company held approximately $841 million in cash and cash equivalents. During 2008, the Company earned $164 million on its cash and cash equivalents balances. Gains or losses arising from the change in fair value of cash and cash equivalents are recorded in interest income in the period of change, which generally corresponds to the period in which the interest is earned. As of December 31, 2008, cash and cash equivalents includes the U.S. dollar equivalent of approximately $90 million in British pounds sterling and $30 million in Euros. Such amounts are held by subsidiaries whose functional currency is sterling or the Euro and accordingly changes in the value of the cash and cash equivalents related to currency are reported as a cumulative translation adjustment within shareholders' equity.

Credit Facilities

In August 2007, the Company entered into a $2.5 billion unsecured revolving credit facility that currently expires in August 2012. The Company may request an extension of the maturity date under certain circumstances for up to two additional one year periods, which the applicable lenders may accept or decline in their sole discretion. The Company may also request an increase (subject to approval by applicable lenders) in the amount of the lenders' commitments up to a maximum amount of $3.0 billion.

The facility may be used to provide liquidity in connection with the Company's commercial paper program and for general corporate purposes. Based on the Company's credit rating at December 31, 2008, the cost of borrowing under the agreement is priced at LIBOR plus 19 basis points (or plus 24 basis points on all borrowings when line utilization exceeds 50%). If the Company's long-term debt rating was downgraded by Moody's or Standard & Poor's, the facility fee and borrowing costs may increase, although availability would be unaffected. Conversely, an upgrade in the Company's ratings may reduce credit facility fees and borrowing costs.

The agreement contains certain customary affirmative and negative covenants, each with customary exceptions. Under the syndicated credit facility, the Company must maintain a ratio of net debt as of the last day of each fiscal quarter to adjusted EBITDA (earnings before interest, income taxes, depreciation and amortization and other modifications described in the guarantee) for the last four quarters ended of not more than 4.5:1. Net debt is total debt adjusted to factor in the impact of swaps and other hedge agreements related to the debt, and is reduced to reflect the Company's cash and cash equivalents balance. The Company was in compliance with this covenant in all periods.

In connection with entering into this agreement, the Company terminated its existing unsecured revolving bilateral loan agreements that had previously provided an aggregate commitment of $1.6 billion.

In May 2007, the Company entered into a £4.8 billion acquisition credit facility to satisfy requirements of U.K. regulatory authorities, to confirm its ability to finance its then proposed acquisition of Reuters. In July 2007, the Company reduced the aggregate lending commitment to £2.5 billion after receiving proceeds from the sale of Thomson Learning's higher education, careers and library reference assets. The acquisition credit facility was terminated following the repayment of all borrowings, which the Company financed using proceeds from debt securities issued in June 2008, described below, and other available resources.

At December 31, 2008, undrawn and available bank facilities amounted to $2.5 billion (2007 – $7.5 billion).

Short-term Indebtedness

At December 31, 2008, the Company had no commercial paper outstanding. At December 31, 2007, short-term indebtedness was principally comprised of $165 million of commercial paper with an average interest rate of 4.9%. The rate was also 4.9% after taking into account hedging arrangements.

The Company enters into various derivative instruments to hedge its currency and interest rate risk exposures.

To hedge currency risk exposures, the Company enters into fixed-to-fixed cross-currency swaps, which swap Canadian dollar principal and interest payments into U.S. dollars. These instruments were designated as cash flow hedges and recorded in the consolidated balance sheet at their fair value. The fair value of these instruments reflects the effect of changes in foreign currency exchange rates on the principal amount of the debt from the origination date to the balance sheet date as well as the effect of such changes on interest payments and spot-to-forward rate differences. The portion of the fair value attributable to items other than the effect of changes in exchange rates on the principal amounts was a net gain of $14 million as of December 31, 2008 (2007 – gain of $14 million). The total fair value for these agreements at December 31, 2008 was a net loss of $17 million (2007 – gain of $317 million). As of December 31, 2008, the fixed-to-fixed cross-currency swaps classified as cash flow hedges will mature at various dates between 2009 and 2015. The amount included in Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income will be transferred to earnings in the period in which the underlying hedged item affects earnings.

The Company also held fixed-to-floating cross-currency interest rate swaps, which swap Canadian dollar principal and interest payments into U.S. dollars and change interest payments from a fixed to floating rate. These instruments were designated as fair value hedges. The total fair value for these agreements at December 31, 2008 was a net loss of $25 million (2007 – gain of $105 million).

To hedge its currency and interest rate risk exposures related to long-term debt assumed in the Reuters acquisition, the Company held fixed-to-floating cross-currency interest rate swaps, which swap Euro principal and interest payments into U.S. dollars and change interest payments from a fixed to floating rate. These instruments were designated as fair value hedges. The total fair value for these agreements at December 31, 2008 was a net loss of $26 million.

The following tables provide an analysis of the cross-currency interest rate swaps designated as fair value hedges and cash flow hedges of foreign exchange risk.

Currency Risk Exposures

As of December 31, 2008, the 4.35% Notes, 4.50% Notes, 5.20% Notes, 5.25% Notes (due 2011), 5.70% Notes (due 2015), and Medium-term notes are Canadian dollar-denominated and are fully hedged into U.S. dollars. The 4.625% Notes, assumed in the Reuters acquisition, are Euro-denominated and are fully hedged into U.S. dollars. The 4.25% Notes, 4.75% Notes, 6.20% Notes, 5.25% Notes (due 2013), 5.70% Notes (due 2014), 5.95% Notes, 6.50% Notes, 5.50% Debentures and private placements are U.S. dollar-denominated.

As of December 31, 2007, the 4.35% Notes, 4.50% Notes, 5.20% Notes and Medium-term notes were Canadian dollar-denominated and fully hedged into U.S. dollars. The 5.75% Notes, 4.25% Notes, 4.75% Notes, 6.20% Notes, 5.25% Notes, 5.70% Notes, 5.50% Debentures and private placements were U.S. dollar-denominated.

The carrying amount of long-term debt, all of which is unsecured, was denominated in the following currencies:

Maturities of long-term debt in each of the next five years and thereafter are as follows:

	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	Thereafter	Total
Before currency hedging arrangements	674	1,074	853	700	1,000	3,205	7,506
After currency hedging arrangements ¹	653	1,101	850	700	1,000	3,284	7,588

1 Represents net cash outflow upon maturity and, therefore, excludes fair value adjustment of $14 million and $14 million at December 31, 2008 and 2007, respectively.

Interest Rate Risk Exposures

At December 31, 2008, the Company held nine (2007 – three) cross-currency interest rate swap agreements which swap interest rates from fixed to floating. After taking account of these hedging arrangements, the fixed and floating rate mix of long-term debt is as follows:

	2008	Average interest rate	% share	2007	Average interest rate	% share
Total fixed	5,923	5.8%	78%	3,951	5.5%	93%
Total floating	1,665	4.0%	22%	317	5.2%	7%
	7,588	5.4%	100%	4,268	5.5%	100%

Including the effect of short-term indebtedness, the proportion of fixed to floating rate debt was 78% to 22% at December 31, 2008 (2007 – 89% to 11%). Floating rate long-term debt is London Interbank Offered Rate (“LIBOR”) based and, consequently, interest rates are reset periodically.

In November 2007, the Company entered into two treasury lock agreements with a total notional amount of $800 million, in anticipation of the issuance of debt securities during 2008. The agreements were intended to offset changes in future cash flows attributable to fluctuations in interest rates and were designated as cash flow hedges. Upon the issuance of debt securities in June 2008, as discussed below in “2008 Activity”, the Company settled the agreements for a loss of approximately $5 million, which will be amortized to interest over the 10 year term of the related debt.

2008 ACTIVITY

In June 2008, the Company issued approximately $3 billion of debt securities through separate U.S. and Canadian public offerings, as summarized in the following table.

	Principal amount (millions of dollars)
Notes offered
U.S. offering
5.95% notes due 2013	US$750
6.50% notes due 2018	US$1,000
Total U.S. dollar-denominated notes issued	US$1,750
Canadian offering
5.25% notes due 2011	C$600
5.70% notes due 2015	C$600
Total Canadian dollar-denominated notes issued	C$1,200

Upon completion of the Canadian offering, the Company entered into two cross-currency interest rate swap agreements. The notes due 2011 will pay a floating interest rate on US$593 million and the notes due 2015 will pay an interest rate of 6.25% on US$593 million.

The Company used the net proceeds from these offerings and other resources available to it to fully repay borrowings under an acquisition credit facility drawn to finance a portion of the cash consideration for the Reuters acquisition.

The acquired Reuters assets included $465 million of cash. Additionally, the Company assumed certain financial obligations of Reuters, which included the following:

- a revolving credit facility with £312 million outstanding, which was repaid in April 2008;
- £63 million of commercial paper outstanding, which was repaid in the second quarter of 2008;
- 500 million Euro principal amount of debentures due 2010, for which the Company subsequently entered into cross-currency interest rate swap agreements whereby these debentures will ultimately pay a floating rate based on LIBOR on US$762 million;
- 250 million Euro principal amount of floating rate notes which matured in November 2008. The Company entered into a cross-currency interest rate swap agreement whereby these notes were redeemed for US$398 million on maturity;
- 1 billion Japanese yen principal amount of bonds, which were repaid in June 2008; and
- certain derivative instruments used by Reuters to hedge the above-mentioned debentures and notes, which were settled in April 2008.

In February 2008, the Company repaid $400 million principal amount of notes upon their maturity.

In December 2008, the Company filed a new shelf prospectus to issue up to $3 billion of debt securities from time to time. The shelf prospectus will be valid until January 2011. As of December 31, 2008, no debt securities have been issued under this shelf prospectus.

2007 ACTIVITY

In October 2007, the Company completed an offering of $800 million of 5.70% notes due 2014. The net proceeds from this offering were $794 million.

In July 2007, the Company repaid C$250 million of debentures upon their maturity.

Hedging Program for Reuters Consideration

As the funding of the cash consideration paid to former Reuters shareholders fluctuated based on the $/£ exchange rate, in 2007 the Company commenced a hedging program to mitigate exposure to changes in the $/£ exchange rate. In the third quarter of 2007, the Company paid $76 million for the purchase of several sterling call options with a cumulative notional value of £2.3 billion and various strike prices approximating $2.05/£1.00. These options had an aggregate fair value of $27 million as of December 31, 2007 and expired at various dates in 2008.

Throughout April 2008, the Company entered into multiple short-term forward foreign exchange contracts to mitigate exposures to changes in the $/£ exchange rate. The Company recognized a gain of $9 million in net other income (expense) in its consolidated statement of earnings associated with these agreements.

Additionally, after completion of the sale of Thomson Learning's higher education, careers and library reference businesses in July 2007, the Company invested a portion of the proceeds in sterling-denominated money market funds and in sterling term bank deposits. These funds were utilized to fund a portion of the cash consideration paid to former Reuters shareholders.

Foreign Exchange Contracts

The Company uses foreign exchange contracts to manage foreign exchange risk. Generally, foreign exchange contracts are designated for existing assets and liabilities, firm commitments or forecasted transactions that are expected to occur in less than one year. At December 31, 2008 and 2007 the fair value of such foreign exchange contracts was not material.

Embedded Derivatives

As a result of customer and vendor agreements priced in currencies different from the functional currencies of the parties involved, under applicable accounting rules, the Company is deemed to have forward exchange contracts implicitly embedded in these contracts. They are referred to here as embedded derivatives. These instruments are separated from their host contracts and held on the Company's balance sheet at their fair value. The majority of these embedded derivatives arise as a result of U.S. dollar pricing by foreign subsidiaries. At December 31, 2008, the fair value of the Company's embedded derivatives represented a receivable of $124 million.

Available for Sale Investments

At December 31, 2008 and 2007, available for sale investments were not material and are reported within "Other non-current assets" in the consolidated balance sheet.

Risks Arising from Financial Instruments

Thomson Reuters activities expose it to a variety of financial risks: market risk (including currency risk, interest rate risk, and price risk), credit risk and liquidity risk. The Company's risk management strategy is to minimize potential adverse effects of these risks on its financial performance. The sensitivity analysis for each type of market risk uses changes in rates which are deemed by management to be reasonable and significant in size to demonstrate a material impact.

MARKET RISK

Currency Risk

The Company's consolidated financial statements are expressed in U.S. dollars but a portion of its business is conducted in other currencies. Changes in the exchange rates for such currencies into U.S. dollars can increase or decrease revenues, earnings and the carrying values of assets and liabilities. There was no significant impact on revenues from changes in exchange rates between 2007 and 2008. Changes in exchange rates between 2006 and 2007 increased revenues by approximately 2%. The translation effects of changes in exchange rates in the consolidated balance sheet are recorded within the translation adjustment component of accumulated other comprehensive income in shareholders' equity. In 2008, net translation losses were $2.1 billion (2007 – $89 million net translation gains), reflecting the effect of changes in exchange rates of various currencies compared to the U.S. dollar.

Thomson Reuters only uses derivative instruments to reduce foreign currency and interest rate exposures. In particular, borrowings in currencies other than the U.S. dollar are generally converted to U.S. dollar obligations through the use of currency swap arrangements. All such swap arrangements are entered into only with counterparties that are investment-grade financial institutions. At December 31, 2008 and 2007, substantially all of Thomson Reuters indebtedness was denominated in U.S. dollars or had been swapped into U.S. dollar obligations.

The table below shows the impact that a hypothetical change in foreign currency exchange rates would have on earnings as a result of changes in fair values of financial instruments as of December 31, 2008.

	10% weakening in the US$ v. Other currencies
Increase/(decrease) to earnings	£	€		Total
Impact on earnings from financial assets and liabilities ¹	(3)	(29)	–	(32)
Impact on earnings from non-permanent intercompany loans	11	58	(46)	23
Total impact on earnings	8	29	(46)	(9)

1 Excludes long-term debt which has been swapped into U.S. dollar obligations.

Prior to its acquisition of Reuters, the amounts subject to such sensitivities were not significant to the Company's financial position.

In addition to exposing the Company to changes in foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates, operating in foreign countries subjects the Company to inherent risks in doing business in certain jurisdictions outside North America. These include difficulties in penetrating new markets, exposure to varying legal standards in other jurisdictions and the potential instability of local economies and governments.

Interest Rate Risk

The Company is exposed to fluctuations in interest rates with respect to its cash and cash equivalent balances and its long-term borrowings.

As of December 31, 2008, the majority of $841 million in cash and cash equivalents were comprised of interest-bearing assets (2007 – $7.5 billion). Based on amounts as of December 31, 2008, a 100 basis point change in interest rates would have the effect of increasing or decreasing annual interest income by approximately $6 million (2007 – $75 million).

Substantially all borrowings have been issued at fixed rates and a portion of such borrowings were maintained at fixed rates and other borrowings were converted into variable rate debt through the use of derivative instruments. At December 31, 2008, after taking into account swap agreements, 78% (2007 – 89%) of the total debt was at fixed rates of interest and the remainder was at floating rates of interest. Based upon these levels, a 100 basis point change in interest rates would increase or decrease the full-year interest expense by approximately $17 million (2007 – $5 million). A 100 basis point change in interest rates would increase or decrease the fair value of the debt by approximately $275 million (2007 – $200 million).

Price Risk

The Company has no significant exposure to equity securities price risk or to commodity price risk.

CREDIT RISK

Credit risk arises from cash and cash equivalents and derivative financial instruments, as well as credit exposure to customers including outstanding receivables. The Company attempts to minimize credit exposure to various instruments as follows:

- Cash investments are placed with high-quality financial institutions with limited exposure to any one institution. At December 31, 2008, nearly all cash and cash equivalents were held by institutions that were rated at least AA–;
- Counterparties to derivative contracts are major investment-grade international financial institutions; and
- Credit limits minimize exposure to any one customer.

No allowance for credit losses on financial assets was required as of December 31, 2008, other than the allowance for doubtful accounts (see note 11). Further, no financial or other assets have been pledged.

THOMSON REUTERS CORPORATION
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unless otherwise stated, all amounts are in millions of U.S. dollars)

The Company's maximum exposure with respect to credit, assuming no mitigating factors, would be the aggregate of its cash and cash equivalents $841 million (2007 – $7.5 billion), derivative exposure $170 million (2007 – $424 million) and accounts and notes receivable $1.8 billion (2007 – $1.6 billion).

LIQUIDITY RISK

The Company aims to maintain flexibility in funding by keeping committed credit lines available. Additionally, the Company evaluates its expectations of future cash flow.

Thomson Reuters Corporation Common Shares and Thomson Reuters PLC Ordinary Shares

Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares have no par value and the authorized common share capital is an unlimited number of shares.

Thomson Reuters PLC issued 194,107,278 Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares to Reuters shareholders when the Reuters acquisition closed on April 17, 2008. These shares were valued at $8,226 million. The par value of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares was changed from £10 to 25 pence shortly after the acquisition closed. The authorized ordinary share capital is 399,950,000 shares.

Under the DLC structure, shareholders of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC both have a stake in Thomson Reuters, with cash dividend, capital distribution and voting rights that are comparable to the rights they would have if they were holding shares in one company carrying on the Thomson Reuters business.

Registered holders of common and ordinary shares may participate in the DRIP, under which cash dividends are automatically reinvested in new common shares and ordinary shares. Common shares are valued at the weighted-average price at which the shares traded on the Toronto Stock Exchange during the five trading days immediately preceding the record date for the dividend. Ordinary shares are purchased on the London Stock Exchange.

During 2008, the Company's controlling shareholder, Woodbridge, reinvested the equivalent of 50% of the dividends it received during the first three quarters of 2008. Woodbridge's reinvestment in additional common and ordinary shares of the Company was made in accordance with the terms of the DRIP.

Dividends

Dividends on Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares are declared in U.S. dollars. In 2008, dividends declared per Thomson Reuters Corporation common share were $1.08 (2007 – $0.98, 2006 – $0.88) and dividends declared per Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary share were $0.49, due to the timing of the closing of the Reuters acquisition.

In the consolidated statement of cash flow, dividends paid on common and ordinary shares are shown net of $190 million (2007 – $16 million, 2006 – $14 million) reinvested in shares issued under the DRIP. In 2008, dividends paid also included an assumed dividend payment to former Reuters shareholders for $246 million representing the accrued/pro-rated dividends from January 1, 2008 through April 16, 2008.

Share Repurchase Program

The Company has repurchased shares from time to time. In April 2008, the Company commenced a new $500 million share repurchase program, under which approximately 16.5 million Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares were ultimately repurchased through the program completion in July 2008. The Company subsequently repurchased an additional 0.9 million Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares at a cost of $21 million during the third quarter of 2008. There were no repurchases of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares in 2008.

The Company suspended repurchases between May and November 2007 as a result of the proposed acquisition of Reuters. Share repurchases resumed in late November 2007 and continued through December 2007.

The following table summarizes the Company's repurchases during the last three years.

Shares that are repurchased are cancelled. Thomson Reuters may continue to repurchase shares from time to time as part of its capital management strategy. Decisions regarding any future repurchases will be based on market conditions, share price and other factors including opportunities to invest capital for growth. Thomson Reuters may repurchase shares in open market transactions on the Toronto Stock Exchange, London Stock Exchange or the New York Stock Exchange. Thomson Reuters may elect to suspend or discontinue share repurchases at any time, in accordance with applicable laws. From time to time when Thomson Reuters does not possess material nonpublic information about itself or its securities, Thomson Reuters may enter into a pre-defined plan with its broker to allow for the repurchase of shares at times when Thomson Reuters ordinarily would not be active in the market due to its own internal trading blackout periods, insider trading rules or otherwise. Any such plans entered into with Thomson Reuters broker will be adopted in accordance with the applicable Canadian and English securities laws and the requirements of Rule 10b5-1 under the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

Series II, Cumulative Redeemable Preference Shares

The authorized preference share capital of Thomson Reuters is an unlimited number of preference shares without par value. The directors are authorized to issue preference shares without par value in one or more series, and to determine the number of shares in, and terms attaching to, each such series. As of December 31, 2008, 6,000,000 shares (6,000,000 shares in both 2007 and 2006) of Series II, Cumulative Redeemable Preference shares were outstanding. The Series II preference shares are non-voting and are redeemable at the option of Thomson Reuters for C$25.00 per share, together with accrued dividends. Dividends are payable quarterly at an annual rate of 70% of the Canadian bank prime rate applied to the stated capital of such shares. The total number of authorized Series II preference shares is 6,000,000.

Capital Management

As at December 31, 2008, total capital was comprised of equity with a fair value of approximately $23 billion and debt of $7.5 billion. As at December 31, 2008, cash and cash equivalents were $841 million.

The Company generates sufficient cash flow to meet its current obligations as well as allowing for i) re-investment in the business; ii) debt service; and iii) returns to shareholders in the form of dividends and share buybacks. In addition to cash generation, the Company's investment grade credit provides added financial flexibility and the ability to borrow to support the operations and growth strategies of the business.

As of December 31, 2008, the Company's credit ratings were as follows:

	Moody's	Standard & Poor's	DBRS Limited (DBRS)	Fitch
Long-term debt	Baa1	A-	A (low)	A-
Trend/outlook	Stable	Negative	Stable	Stable

The $2.5 billion credit facility described in note 16 contains one defined financial covenant, which requires the maintenance of a maximum net debt-to-adjusted EBITDA ratio of 4.5:1.0. At December 31, 2008, the Company was in compliance with this covenant.

The Company also measures its “net debt”. As calculated below, net debt is defined as total indebtedness, including the associated fair value hedging instruments (swaps) on the Company’s debt, less cash and cash equivalents. As the Company hedges some of its debt to reduce risk, the hedging instruments are included in the measurement of the total obligation associated with its outstanding debt. However, because the Company generally intends to hold the debt and related hedges to maturity, it does not consider the associated fair market value of cash flow hedges in the measurements. Gross indebtedness is reduced by cash and cash equivalents on the basis that they could be used to pay down debt.

The increase in net debt in 2008 reflected additional borrowings and the use of cash and cash equivalents, from the proceeds of the sale of Thomson Learning in 2007, to fund the Reuters acquisition.

NOTE 18: EMPLOYEE FUTURE BENEFITS

The Company sponsors both defined benefit and defined contribution employee future benefit plans covering substantially all employees. Costs for all future employee benefits are accrued over the periods in which employees earn the benefits.

Defined Benefit Plans

The Company sponsors defined benefit plans providing pension and other post-retirement benefits to covered employees. Net periodic pension expense for employee future benefits is actuarially determined using the projected benefit method. The majority of the plans use a measurement date of either September 30 or December 31. The largest plans are Thomson Reuters Group Pension in the United States and Reuters Pension Fund (RPF) in the United Kingdom.

The following significant weighted-average assumptions were employed to determine the net periodic pension and post-retirement plans' expenses and the accrued benefit obligations:

	Pensions			Other post-retirement plans
	2008	2007	2006	2008	2007	2006

Rate of compensation increase	4.3%	4.6%	4.5%	N/A ²	N/A ²	N/A ²

¹ Amounts differ due to the inclusion of acquired plans in 2008.

² At the end of 2008, 2007 and 2006, these plans consisted of only a few active participants whose life insurance benefit is based on preretirement pay, therefore a change in rate of compensation would have nearly no impact on benefit obligation and benefit expense.

The Company uses multiple techniques to determine its expected long-term rate of return on plan assets. These include the use of statistical models and the examination of historical returns. Net defined benefit plan expense is comprised of the following elements:

An accrued pension benefit asset of $440 million (2007 – $403 million) is included in “Other non-current assets” in the consolidated balance sheet. An accrued pension benefit liability of $272 million (2007 – $190 million) as well as the accrued liability for other post-retirement plans are included in “Other non-current liabilities” in the consolidated balance sheet. The unfunded pension plans referred to above consist primarily of supplemental executive retirement plans (“SERPs”) for eligible employees. The Company partially funds the liabilities of these plans through insurance contracts, which are excluded from plan assets in accordance with CICA Handbook Section 3461. The cash surrender values of insurance contracts used to fund the SERPs are included in “Other non-current assets” in the consolidated balance sheet.

As at December 31, 2008, the benefit obligations of funded plans that exceeded plan assets was $2,231 million and the fair values of plan assets was $2,108 million. As of December 31, 2007 no funded plan had a benefit obligation that exceeded the plan's assets. As at December 31, 2008, cumulative unrecognized actuarial losses were $457 million (2007 – $220 million). Actuarial gains and losses are included in the calculation of annual pension expense subject to the following amortization methodology. Unrecognized actuarial gains or losses are netted with the difference between the market-related value and fair value of plan assets. To the extent this net figure exceeds 10% of the greater of the projected benefit obligation or market-related value of plan assets, it is amortized into pension expense on a straight-line basis over the expected average service life of active participants (approximately eight years at December 31, 2008 for the Thomson Reuters Group Pension Plan and thirteen years for the RPF). Unrecognized actuarial gains and losses below the 10% corridor are deferred.

Actuarial gains and losses also included the difference between the expected and actual returns on plan assets. The expected return on assets represents the projected increase in the fair value of plan assets due to investment returns.

The average healthcare cost trend rate used was 8.5% for 2008, which is reduced ratably to 5% in 2016. A 1% change in the trend rate would result in an increase or decrease in the benefit obligation for post-retirement benefits of approximately $15 million at December 31, 2008.

The allocation of assets within the pension plans as of the plans' measurement dates for 2008 and 2007 is as follows:

Asset category	Percentage of plans' assets
	2008	2007
Equity securities	39%	52%
Debt securities	54%	48%
Other	7%	—
Total	100%	100%

Plan assets are invested to satisfy the fiduciary obligation to adequately secure benefits and to minimize the Company's long-term contributions to the plans. As of December 31, 2008 and 2007 there were no Thomson Reuters securities held in the Company's pension plans' assets.

The balance sheet value at the acquisition date for material defined benefit and defined contribution plans acquired with Reuters was an accrued pension benefit asset of $65 million and an accrued pension benefit liability of $86 million. The largest defined benefit plans are the RPF and the Reuters Supplementary Pension Scheme ("SPS"). During the year, the Company made special contributions of $3 million to the SPS and $67 million to the RPF.

In October 2007, the Company transferred all liabilities and assets associated with the Thomson Regional Newspapers Pension Plan ("TRN plan") to a third party. As a result of the transfer, the Company is no longer responsible for liabilities associated with the TRN plan. A $34 million gain on the settlement of this plan was recognized in the fourth quarter of 2007.

During 2007, the Company contributed $37 million to a defined benefit plan in the United Kingdom. The contributions were required by statute as a result of the disposal of certain businesses in the United Kingdom. Of the total, $25 million related to amounts required in connection with the disposal of Thomson Learning and $12 million related to a contribution made after the measurement date in connection with Jane's Information Group, a company formerly owned by Thomson Reuters.

Based on regulatory requirements, the Company was not obligated to make contributions in 2008 and 2007 to the Thomson Reuters Group Pension plan in the U.S. However, from time to time, the Company may elect to voluntarily contribute to the plan in order to improve its funded status. Because the decision to voluntarily contribute is based on various market-related factors, including asset values and interest rates, which are used to determine the plan's funded status, the Company cannot predict whether, nor the amount, it may elect to voluntarily contribute in 2009.

The benefit payments for the years ended December 31, 2008 and 2007 and the estimated payments thereafter, as assumed in the calculation of the benefit obligation as of December 31, 2008, are as follows:

Benefit Payments

	Funded	Pensions Unfunded	Other post- retirement plans
2007	114	9	10
2008	139	13	13
Estimated future payments:
2009	146	14	11

2011	151	16	12

2013	165	18	13
2014 to 2018	1,001	95	73

Defined Contribution Plans

The Company and its subsidiaries sponsor various defined contribution savings plans that provide for company-matching contributions. Total expense related to defined contribution plans was $104 million in 2008 (2007 – $60 million, 2006 – $69 million), which approximates the cash outlays related to the plans. Of the 2008 amounts, $43 million relates to defined contribution plans acquired in connection with the Reuters acquisition.

NOTE 19: CONTINGENCIES, COMMITMENTS AND GUARANTEES

Lawsuits and Legal Claims

In July 2008, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit ruled in the Company's favor by reversing a decision in a patent infringement case related to a business formerly owned by Thomson Financial. Following the initial court's decision, the Company had posted a $95 million letter of credit in connection with its appeal, which was cancelled following the subsequent ruling in the Company's favor.

In February 2007, the Company entered into a settlement agreement related to a lawsuit involving its BAR/BRI business that alleged violations of antitrust laws (Rodriguez v. West Publishing Corp. and Kaplan Inc.). The Company's part of the settlement was $36 million, which was accrued for in the fourth quarter of 2006 and paid in June 2007. In November 2007, the Company entered into a settlement agreement in a separate lawsuit involving its BAR/BRI business, Park v. The Thomson Corporation and Thomson Legal & Regulatory Inc., which was filed in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of

New York. The Park lawsuit alleged primarily violations of the U.S. federal antitrust laws. In the third quarter of 2007, the Company accrued $13 million in connection with this settlement. In October 2008, the court issued its final approval of this settlement.

THOMSON REUTERS CORPORATION
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unless otherwise stated, all amounts are in millions of U.S. dollars)

In February 2008, another purported class action complaint alleging violations of U.S. federal antitrust laws was filed in the United States District Court for the Central District of California against West Publishing Corporation, d/b/a BAR/BRI and Kaplan Inc. In April 2008, this case was dismissed with prejudice. The plaintiffs have appealed this dismissal.

In addition to the matters described above, the Company is engaged in various legal proceedings and claims that have arisen in the ordinary course of business. The outcome of all of the proceedings and claims against the Company, including those described above, is subject to future resolution, including the uncertainties of litigation. Based on information currently known to the Company and after consultation with outside legal counsel, management believes that the probable ultimate resolution of any such proceedings and claims, individually or in the aggregate, will not have a material adverse effect on the financial condition of the Company, taken as a whole.

Taxes

The Company is subject to taxation in numerous jurisdictions, and significant judgment is required in determining tax liabilities. There are many transactions and calculations for which the ultimate tax determinations are uncertain. The Company maintains contingent liabilities that it believes appropriately reflect its risk with respect to tax positions under discussion, audit, dispute or appeal with tax authorities, or otherwise considered to involve uncertainty (commonly referred to as uncertain tax positions). The Company regularly assesses the adequacy of these liabilities. However, it is possible that at some future date an additional liability could result from audits by the relevant taxing authorities. In April 2008, upon the completion of a routine tax audit for the years 2003 to 2005, the Internal Revenue Service notified the Company that it would challenge certain positions taken on its tax returns. Management does not believe that any material impact will result from this challenge. Contingent tax liabilities are reversed to income in the period in which management assesses that they are no longer required, when they are no longer required by statute, or when they are resolved through the normal tax dispute process. The Company's contingency reserves principally represent liabilities in respect of the years 2002 to 2008. It is anticipated that these reserves will either result in a cash payment or be reversed to income between 2009 and 2012.

Leases

The Company enters into operating leases in the ordinary course of business, primarily for real property and equipment. Payments for these leases are contractual obligations as scheduled per each agreement. Operating lease payments in 2008 were $303 million (2007 – $166 million, 2006 – $147 million). The future minimum operating lease payments are $351 million in 2009, $279 million in 2010, $226 million in 2011, $186 million in 2012, $164 million in 2013, and $612 million thereafter.

With certain leases, the Company guarantees a portion of the residual value loss, if any, incurred by the lessors in disposing of the assets, or in restoring a property to a specified condition after completion of the lease period. The liability associated with these restorations is recorded within "Other non-current liabilities". The Company believes, based upon current facts and circumstances, that the likelihood of a material payment pursuant to such guarantees is remote.

Business Combinations and Investments

The Company has obligations to pay additional consideration for prior acquisitions, typically based upon performance measures contractually agreed at the time of purchase. The Company does not believe that additional payments in connection with these transactions would have a material impact on the consolidated financial statements.

In certain disposition agreements, the Company guarantees to the purchaser the recoverability of certain assets or limits on certain liabilities. The Company believes, based upon current facts and circumstances, that a material payment pursuant to such guarantees is remote.

THOMSON REUTERS

NOTE 21: TRADEWEB

In October 2007, the Company announced that it had agreed to form a partnership with a consortium of nine global securities dealers to seek to further expand Tradeweb, its electronic trading unit that is within the Markets Division. This agreement was executed in January 2008. The partnership utilizes Tradeweb's established market position in creating a global multi-asset class execution venue for clients.

Under the terms of the agreement, the dealers invested $180 million to purchase a 15% stake in an entity that includes Tradeweb's established markets, as well as the Company's Autex and order routing businesses, which were named Tradeweb Markets. Certain of the dealers will receive free services from Tradeweb Markets, which were valued at $26 million. Additionally, Thomson Reuters and the dealers funded additional investment in asset class expansion through a new entity, Tradeweb New Markets. Under the terms of the agreement, the Company's contribution to this new entity was an initial cash investment of $30 million, with a commitment for an additional $10 million, and certain assets valued at approximately $30 million. The consortium contributed $60 million, with a commitment for an additional $40 million, as well as certain contracts valued at approximately $180 million. The Company owns 20% of Tradeweb New Markets and the consortium owns 80%.

The infrastructure, including the existing Tradeweb platform, and management of Tradeweb Markets supports both companies. Tradeweb New Markets will pay a fee for services provided by Tradeweb Markets. Under the terms of the agreement, these two entities will merge upon meeting either certain performance or time-based milestones. The ownership interests of the merged entity will be based upon the fair values of the two entities at the time of merger. Until the merger, the Company will consolidate the results of Tradeweb Markets, reflecting the consortium's share of earnings as a minority interest, and reflect its minority share in Tradeweb New Markets as an equity investment. After the merger, the accounting treatment for the Company's investment will reflect its ultimate ownership stake and degree of control over the entity.

Upon entering into the agreement with the consortium, the Company deferred an initial pre-tax gain of $96 million associated with both the sale of its 15% interest and the commitment to deliver services as well as its contribution of assets to Tradeweb New Markets. The gain will be deferred until fair values of the Company's deliverables under the agreement are fixed or determinable. Additionally, the Company recorded a minority interest of $64 million. As of December 31, 2008, the consolidated balance sheet reflected a minority interest liability of $72 million associated with the consortium's ownership of Tradeweb Markets and an equity investment of $55 million associated with its ownership of Tradeweb New Markets.

For the year ended December 31, 2008, the Company consolidated the results of Tradeweb Markets and recorded minority interest expense. The Company also recognized its share of Tradeweb New Markets earnings. Amounts related to Tradeweb Markets minority interest and Tradeweb New Markets equity earnings are reflected in Tradeweb ownership interests in the accompanying consolidated statement of earnings.

NOTE 22: STOCK-BASED COMPENSATION

Phantom Stock Plan

The Company has a phantom stock plan that provides for the granting of stock appreciation rights ("SARs") to officers and key employees. The SARs provide the holder with the opportunity to earn a cash award equal to the fair market value of the Company's common shares less the price at which the SARs were issued. Compensation expense is measured based on the market price of Thomson Reuters common shares at the end of the reporting period. The SARs outstanding under the plan have been granted at the closing price of the Company's common shares on the day prior to the date of grant, vest over a four to eight year period, and expire five to eleven years after the grant date. The compensation expense is recognized over the applicable period. The Company recognized a benefit of $2 million related to the phantom stock plan for the year ended December 31, 2008 (2007 – $4 million benefit, 2006 – $7 million charge) in the consolidated statement of earnings.

A summary of the status of the Canadian-dollar denominated SARs as of December 31, 2008, 2007, and 2006, and changes during the years ended on those dates, is as follows:

The maximum number of common and ordinary shares currently issuable under the plan is 50,000,000. As of December 31, 2008, there were 25,549,327 awards available for grant (2007 – 20,629,657, 2006 – 22,384,901).

STOCK OPTIONS

Under the plan, the exercise price of an option equals the closing market price of the Company's common stock on the day prior to the date of the grant and the maximum term of an option is 10 years. Grants vest 25% per year from the date of issuance. Under the plan, options may be granted in either Canadian dollars or U.S. dollars.

The Company expenses the fair value of all stock options using the Black-Scholes option pricing model to calculate an estimate of fair value. Under this method, a fair value is determined for each option at the date of grant, and that amount is recognized as expense over the vesting period. For the year ended December 31, 2008, compensation expense recorded in connection with stock options was $16 million (2007 – $23 million, 2006 – $19 million). Of these amounts, $4 million and $3 million were charged to discontinued operations for the years ended December 31, 2007 and 2006, respectively.

Using the Black-Scholes option pricing model, the weighted-average fair value of options granted was estimated to be $9.22, $8.58, and $7.99 for the years ended December 31, 2008, 2007 and 2006, respectively. The Black-Scholes model was developed for use in estimating the fair value of traded options that have no vesting restrictions. In addition, the model requires the use of subjective assumptions, including expected stock price volatility.

The principal assumptions used in applying the Black-Scholes option pricing model for the years ended December 31, 2008, 2007, and 2006 were as follows:

Risk-free interest rate	3.5%	4.6%	4.6%
Dividend yield	3.4%	2.3%	2.3%
Volatility factor	31.5%	17.1%	18.5%
Expected life (in years)	6	6	6

RESTRICTED SHARE UNITS

RSUs give the holder the right to receive a specified number of common shares at the specified vesting date. RSUs vest over a period of up to seven years. The holders of RSUs have no voting rights, but accumulate additional units based on notional dividends paid by the Company on its common shares at each dividend payment date, which are reinvested as additional RSUs. Compensation expense related to RSUs is recognized over the vesting period, based upon the closing price of the Company's common shares on the day prior to the date of grant. For the year ended December 31, 2008, compensation expense recorded in connection with RSUs was $30 million (2007 – $5 million, 2006 – $3 million).

A summary of the status of the time based RSUs granted and vested as of December 31, 2008, 2007, and 2006, and changes during the years ended on those dates, is as follows:

PERFORMANCE RESTRICTED SHARE UNITS

In 2006, the Company introduced a new form of long-term equity-based incentive program ("LTIP") intended to reward certain senior executives. Previously, the Company's LTIP awards were cash based.

Under the LTIP awards, participants are granted PRSUs, which give the holder the right to receive one Thomson Reuters common share for each unit held in their PRSU account that vests on the vesting date, based upon the Company's performance during the three-year performance period against pre-established goals. Between 0% and 200% of the initial amounts may vest for grants made prior to 2008. Between 0% and 150% of the initial amounts may vest for grants made in 2008.

The holders of PRSUs accumulate additional units based upon notional dividends paid by the Company on its common shares on each dividend payment date, which are reinvested as additional PRSUs. Compensation expense related to each PRSU grant is recognized over the three-year performance period based upon the closing price of the Company's common shares on the day prior to the date of grant and the number of units expected to vest.

For the year ended December 31, 2008, compensation expense recorded in connection with PRSUs was $35 million (2007 – $16 million, 2006 – $9 million).

Employee Stock Purchase Plan

The Company has an Employee Stock Purchase Plan ("ESPP") under which eligible employees in the U.S. and globally may purchase a maximum of 14,000,000 Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and/or Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares. The maximum number of shares currently issuable for the U.S. ESPP is 8,000,000 and for the global ESPP is 6,000,000. Each quarter, employees may elect to withhold up to 10% of their eligible compensation, up to a maximum of $21,250 per year (or a comparable amount in foreign currency for the global ESPP). Amounts withheld have been used to purchase Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares at a price equal to 85% of the closing share price as of the last business day of each quarter on the New York Stock Exchange. The Company recognized an expense of $5 million in 2008 relating to the 15% discount of purchased shares (2007 – $5 million, 2006 – $4 million).

Reuters Share-Based Compensation Plans

Reuters operated a number of share incentive plans for the benefit of employees. Due to the acquisition, subject to certain exceptions, Reuters share-based compensation plans vested and became fully exercisable. Upon exercise, holders were entitled to consideration of 352.5 pence in cash and 0.16 Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares for each share of Reuters that would have been received. All Reuters share options and awards expired during the fourth quarter of 2008.

In 2008, the total amount charged to Woodbridge for these services was approximately $330,000 (2007 – $1 million, 2006 – $2 million).

Thomson Reuters purchases property and casualty insurance from third party insurers and retains the first $500,000 of each and every claim under the programs via the Company's captive insurance subsidiary. Woodbridge is included in these programs and pays the Company a premium commensurate with its exposures. These premiums were approximately $80,000 in 2008 ($50,000 in both 2007 and 2006), which would approximate the premium charged by a third party insurer for such coverage.

The Company maintained an agreement with Woodbridge until April 17, 2008 (the closing date of the Reuters acquisition) under which Woodbridge agreed to indemnify up to $100 million of liabilities incurred either by the Company's current and former directors and officers or by the Company in providing indemnification to these individuals on substantially the same terms and conditions as would apply under an arm's length, commercial arrangement. The Company was required to pay Woodbridge an annual fee of $750,000, which was less than the premium that would have paid for commercial insurance. The Company replaced this agreement with a conventional insurance agreement. The Company is entitled to seek indemnification from Woodbridge for any claims arising from events prior to April 17, 2008 and made within a six-year run-off period following that date.

Transactions with Investments in Affiliates and Joint Ventures

The Company enters into transactions with its investments in affiliates and joint ventures. These transactions involve providing or receiving services and are entered into in the normal course of business and on an arm's length basis.

The Company and The Depository Trust & Clearing Corporation each have a 50% interest in Omgeo, a provider of trade management services. Omgeo pays the Company for use of a facility and technology and other services. For 2008, these services were valued at approximately $11 million (2007 – $10 million, 2006 – $10 million).

The Company and Shin Nippon Hoki Shuppan K.K. each own 50% of Westlaw Japan K.K., a provider of legal information and solutions to the Japanese legal market. The Company provides the joint venture with technology and other services, which were valued at approximately $6 million for 2008 (2007 – $5 million, 2006 – $4 million).

The Company's Tradeweb Markets business provides services, including use of its trading platform and various back office functions, to the Tradeweb New Markets business established in 2008, and in which it has a 20% ownership stake. In 2008, the Company recognized revenues of $24 million related to these services.

In connection with the acquisition of Reuters, the Company assumed a lease agreement with 3XSQ Associates, an entity now owned by Thomson Reuters and Rudin Times Square Associates LLC that was formed to build and operate the 3 Times Square property and building in New York, New York that now serves as the Company's corporate headquarters. Thomson Reuters follows the equity method of accounting for its investment in 3XSQ Associates. The lease provides the Company with over 690,000 square feet of office space until 2021 and includes provisions to terminate portions early and various renewal options. The Company's costs related to 3XSQ Associates from April 17, 2008 through December 31, 2008 were approximately $28 million for rent, taxes and other expenses.

Also as a result of the acquisition of Reuters, the Company had an investment in a joint venture with the Chicago Mercantile Exchange that created FXMarketSpace, which was a centrally-cleared, global foreign exchange trading system. Among various other services, the Company provided trading access to and trade notification services for, and distributed market data from, FXMarketSpace. The total cost of these services provided by the Company from April 17, 2008 through December 31, 2008 was approximately $4 million. In October 2008, FXMarketSpace ceased operations.

Other Transactions

In February 2005, the Company entered into a contract with Hewitt Associates Inc. ("Hewitt") to outsource certain human resources administrative functions in order to improve operating and cost efficiencies. Under the current contract terms, the Company expects to pay Hewitt an aggregate of approximately $165 million over a 10-year period that began in 2006. In 2008, the Company paid Hewitt $11 million for its services (2007 – $11 million, 2006 – $16 million). Steven A. Denning, one of the Company's directors and chairman of the board's Human Resources Committee, was a director of Hewitt until February 2009. Mr. Denning has not participated in negotiations related to the contract and has refrained from deliberating and voting on the matter by the Human Resources Committee and the board of directors.

Amounts Due to / Due from Related Parties

Receivable and payable amounts relative to the transactions with Woodbridge and Westlaw Japan were negligible at December 31, 2008 and 2007. Also negligible was the payable amount relative to 3XSQ Associates at December 31, 2008. The accounts receivable balance due to Thomson Reuters Corporation from Tradeweb New Markets was $22 million at December 31, 2008. The amount receivable from Omgeo at December 31, 2008 was $3 million (2007 – $2 million) and the amount payable to Hewitt Associates was $2 million (2007 – $0).

In 2009, the Professional division will be realigned into three segments: Legal, Tax & Accounting and Healthcare and Science. The Tax & Accounting segment will include certain international businesses previously reported in the Legal segment. Further, an Intellectual Property business that combines all of Thomson Reuters capabilities related to patents, trademarks and standards will be managed within the Legal segment. The Healthcare and Science segment will manage the current Healthcare businesses as well as the operations of the Scientific segment which serve the pharmaceutical, academic and government markets. Segment reporting will reflect this new organizational structure beginning with the three month period ended March 31, 2009.

In accordance with CICA Handbook Section 1701, Segment Disclosures, the Company discloses information about its reportable segments based upon the measures used by management in assessing the performance of those reportable segments. The Company uses segment operating profit to measure the operating performance of its segments. Segment operating profit is defined as operating profit before amortization of identifiable intangible assets and asset impairment charges. Management uses this measure because amortization of identifiable intangible assets and asset impairment charges are not considered to be a controllable operating cost for purposes of assessing the current performance of the segments. While in accordance with Canadian GAAP, the Company's definition of segment operating profit may not be comparable to that of other companies.

The following table reconciles segment operating profit per the reportable segment information to operating profit per the consolidated statement of earnings.

Income taxes	364	195	339
Shareholders' equity under U.S. GAAP	19,211	13,012	9,727

Descriptions of the nature of the reconciling differences are provided below:

Business Combinations

Prior to January 1, 2001, various differences existed between Canadian and U.S. GAAP for the accounting for business combinations, including the establishment of acquisition related liabilities. The $17 million increase to income (2007 – $92 million, 2006 – $17 million) primarily relates to (i) costs that are required to be recorded as operating expenses under U.S. GAAP which, prior to January 1, 2001, were capitalized under Canadian GAAP; (ii) overall decreased amortization charges due to basis differences; and (iii) differences in gain or loss calculations on business disposals resulting from the above factors.

The $481 million decrease in shareholders' equity as of December 31, 2008 (2007 – $498 million, 2006 – $590 million) primarily relates to basis differences in identifiable intangible assets and goodwill due to the factors discussed above. On a U.S. GAAP basis, goodwill was $18,964 million at December 31, 2008 (2007 – $6,658 million, 2006 – $6,260 million). On the same basis, identifiable intangible assets, net of accumulated amortization, were $8,398 million at December 31, 2008 (2007 – $3,227 million, 2006 – $3,227 million).

Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities

Under U.S. Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("FAS") No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities as amended by FAS 138, Accounting for Certain Derivative Instruments and Certain Hedging Activities, all derivative instruments are recognized in the balance sheet at their fair values, and changes in fair value are recognized either immediately in earnings or, if the transaction qualifies for hedge accounting, when the transaction being hedged affects earnings. Effective January 1, 2006, the Company adopted the same recognition and measurement principles as allowed under new Canadian GAAP accounting standards as discussed in note 2.

Prior to January 1, 2006, in accordance with Canadian GAAP, the Company disclosed the fair values of derivative instruments in the notes to the annual consolidated financial statements, but did not record such fair values in the consolidated balance sheet, except for derivative instruments that did not qualify as hedges. From January 1, 2004, derivative instruments that did not qualify as hedges were recorded in the balance sheet at fair value, and the change in fair value subsequent to January 1, 2004 was recorded in the income statement. The fair value as of January 1, 2004 was deferred and amortized into earnings in conjunction with the item it previously hedged. Due to the fact that the adoption of the standards occurred at a later date for Canadian GAAP than for U.S. GAAP, there is a reconciling item related to historical balances.

In September 2006, the FASB issued FAS 157, Fair Value Measurements. This statement defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. Portions of this standard went into effect in 2008. As a result, under U.S. GAAP, the Company is required to consider its own credit risk as well as the credit risk of the counterparty in determining the fair value of a derivative instrument. Canadian GAAP does not require this consideration until 2009. This resulted in additional ineffectiveness for certain derivative instruments under U.S. GAAP in 2008.

For 2007, the reconciling differences related to certain swap agreements that qualified for hedge accounting under Canadian GAAP but that, for the first three quarters of 2007, did not qualify for hedge accounting under U.S. GAAP.

Sale Leaseback Accounting

In December 2008, the Company sold one of its office buildings. The sale qualified for sale-leaseback accounting under Canadian GAAP, but not under U.S. GAAP. As a result, the $33 million gain recognized on the sale of the building is reversed and the proceeds received from the sale are treated as a loan under U.S. GAAP.

Recycling of Cumulative Translation Adjustment

In 2008, under Canadian GAAP, the Company recognized in earnings net foreign currency gains that had been deferred within the cumulative translation adjustment (CTA) in shareholders' equity. These net gains related to the repayment of intercompany loans that had previously been considered long-term in nature. Under U.S. GAAP, these net gains would not have been recognized in earnings and would have remained within CTA.

Employee Future Benefits

In September 2006, the FASB issued Statement No. 158, Employers' Accounting for Defined Benefit Pension and Other Postretirement Plans, an amendment of FASB Statements No. 87, 88, 106 and 132(R) ("FAS 158"). FAS 158 requires an employer to recognize a net liability or asset and an offsetting adjustment to accumulated other comprehensive income to report the funded status of defined benefit pension and other postretirement benefit plans effective for the Company's year ended December 31, 2006. Additionally, FAS 158 requires employers to measure plan assets and benefit obligations at their year-end balance sheet date, effective for the Company's year ending December 31, 2008.

Under the provisions of FAS 158 treatment, the Company's reported financial position as of December 31, 2006 under U.S. GAAP reflects an increase in net pension related liabilities of $502 million, a decrease in net deferred tax liabilities of $195 million and a decrease in shareholders' equity, reflected in accumulated other comprehensive income, of $307 million. There was no impact to reported earnings.

The following table summarizes the incremental effect, at adoption, of applying FAS 158 upon individual line items in the consolidated balance sheet under U.S. GAAP.

	FAS 158 adjustments
Other non-current assets	(380)
Accounts payable and accruals	19
Other non-current liabilities	103
Long-term deferred income tax liability	(195)
Accumulated other comprehensive loss	(307)

The following table summarizes the incremental effect, at adoption, of applying the amendment to FAS 158 for measurement date, effective for the year ended December 31, 2008.

	FAS 158 adjustments
Other non-current liabilities	(16)
Retained earnings	16

Income Taxes

The income tax adjustment for each period is comprised of the tax effect of the U.S. GAAP reconciling items. The adjustment to shareholders' equity relates entirely to deferred tax liabilities.

As discussed in note 2, effective January 1, 2007, the Company adopted a new accounting policy under Canadian GAAP for uncertain income tax positions which conforms to the provisions of Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Interpretation No. 48 ("FIN 48"). The adoption of FIN 48 was required for U.S. GAAP purposes as of January 1, 2007. As a result of this adoption, there is no difference in treatment between Canadian and U.S. GAAP for uncertain income tax positions.

Recently Issued Accounting Standards

In April 2008, the FASB issued FASB Staff Position ("FSP") FAS 142-3, Determination of the Useful Life of Intangible Assets ("FSP FAS 142-3"). FSP FAS 142-3 amends the factors that should be considered in developing renewal or extension assumptions used to determine the useful life of a recognized intangible asset under FAS 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets ("FAS 142"). The intent of FSP FAS 142-3 is to improve the consistency between the useful life of a recognized intangible asset under FAS 142 and the period of expected cash flows used to measure the fair value of the asset under FAS 141R, Business Combinations and other applicable accounting literature. FSP FAS 142-3 is required to be applied prospectively to intangible assets acquired on or after January 1, 2009.

In March 2008, the FASB issued FAS 161, Disclosures about Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities ("FAS 161"), an amendment of FAS 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities ("FAS 133"). FAS 161 applies to all derivative instruments and related hedged items accounted for under FAS 133. It requires entities to provide greater transparency about how and why an entity uses derivative instruments, how derivative instruments and related hedged items are accounted for under FAS 133 and its related interpretations, and how derivative instruments and related hedged items affect an entity's financial position, results of operations, and cash flows. FAS 161 is effective for the Company in the first quarter of 2009. The Company does not believe that there will be a material impact on its financial statements upon adoption.

In December 2007, the FASB issued FAS 141 (revised 2007), Business Combinations ("FAS 141R"). FAS 141R will significantly change the accounting for business combinations in a number of areas, including the treatment of contingent consideration, contingencies, acquisition costs, in-process research and development and restructuring costs. In addition, under FAS 141R, changes in deferred tax asset valuation allowances and acquired income tax uncertainties in a business combination after the measurement period will impact income tax expense. FAS 141R is required to be applied prospectively to business combinations for which the acquisition date is on or after January 1, 2009.

In December 2007, the FASB issued FAS 160, Noncontrolling Interests in Consolidated Financial Statements, an amendment of ARB No. 51 ("FAS 160"). FAS 160 will change the accounting and reporting for minority interests, reporting them as equity separate from the parent entity's equity, as well as requiring expanded disclosures. FAS 160 requires retroactive adoption for existing minority interests and otherwise is prospective. It is effective for the Company in the first quarter of 2009. The Company does not believe that there will be a material impact on its financial statements upon adoption.

In February 2008, the adoption date for FAS 157 was deferred until the first quarter of 2009 with respect to the valuation of certain nonfinancial assets and liabilities. The Company does not believe that there will be a material impact on its financial statements upon adoption of the remaining portion of the standard.

The following table summarizes selected financial data prepared in accordance with Canadian GAAP for the five most recent years. Please see the “Results of Operations” section of our “Management’s Discussion and Analysis” included in this annual report for commentary on our results, significant trends and items affecting comparability over the three-year period ended December 31, 2008. Our 2008 results prepared in accordance with Canadian GAAP are not directly comparable to 2007 due to the Reuters acquisition and certain special items. Therefore, we have also provided pro forma information in our “Management’s Discussion and Analysis” to further explain and compare our 2008 and 2007 operating performance.

Audit Committee

The Audit Committee comprises Vance K. Opperman (Chair), Lawton Fitt, Roger L. Martin, Ken Olisa and John M. Thompson. All members of the Audit Committee are financially literate in accordance with applicable Canadian, U.S. and U.K. securities rules. We have not sought to determine that any member of the Audit Committee qualifies as an "audit committee financial expert" (within the meaning of applicable SEC rules) or meets applicable tests for accounting or related financial management expertise within the meaning of NYSE, Nasdaq and U.K. Combined Code provisions. However, we consider that, collectively, the members of the Audit Committee have the requisite skills and experience to properly discharge their responsibilities. The board plans to consider these qualifications in future nominations to the board and appointments to the Audit Committee.

Biographies for the members of the Audit Committee are provided above.

Principal Accountant Fees and Services

The following table sets forth fees payable to PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP (Canada) and PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP (UK) and their respective affiliates in 2008 and 2007:

(in millions of US dollars)	2008		2007
Audit fees	$	23.0	$	13.7
Audit-related fees		3.8		19.0
Tax fees		11.2		10.9
All other fees		0.7		0.2
Total	$	38.7	$	43.8

The following are descriptions of fees payable to PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP in 2008 and 2007.

Audit Fees

These audit fees were for professional services rendered for the audits of consolidated financial statements, reviews of interim financial statements included in periodic reports, audits related to internal control over financial reporting, and services that generally only the independent auditors can reasonably provide, such as comfort letters, statutory audits, consents, and assistance and review of documents filed with securities regulatory authorities.

Audit-related Fees

These audit-related fees were for assurance and related services that are reasonably related to the performance of the audit or review of the financial statements and are not reported under the “audit fees” category above. These services included advisory services related to internal control over financial reporting, audits of various employee benefit plans, transaction due diligence, subsidiary audits and other services related to acquisitions and dispositions.

Tax Fees

Tax fees were for tax compliance, tax advice and tax planning. These services included the preparation and review of corporate and expatriate tax returns, assistance with tax audits and transfer pricing matters, advisory services relating to federal, state, provincial and international tax compliance, customs and duties, and restructurings, mergers and acquisitions.

All Other Fees

Fees disclosed in the tables above under the item “all other fees” were for services other than the audit fees, audit-related fees and tax fees described above. These services included:

- authoring content for inclusion in certain products and services; and
- French translations of our financial statements, MD&A and financial information included in our prospectuses and other offering documents.

Pre-Approval Policies and Procedures

The Audit Committee is responsible for overseeing the work of the independent auditors and considers whether the provision of services other than audit services is compatible with maintaining the auditors’ independence. The Audit Committee has adopted a policy regarding its pre-approval of all audit and permissible non-audit services provided by the independent auditors. The policy gives detailed guidance to management as to the specific types of services that have been pre-approved by the Audit Committee. The policy requires the Audit Committee’s specific pre-approval of all other permitted types of services that have not already been pre-approved. Senior management periodically provides the Audit Committee with a summary of services provided by the independent auditors in accordance with the pre-approval policy. The Audit Committee’s charter delegates to its Chair the authority to evaluate and approve engagements in the event that the need arises for approval between Audit Committee meetings. If the Chair approves any such engagements, he must report his approval decisions to the full Audit Committee at its next meeting. For the year ended December 31, 2008, none of the audit-related, tax or all other fees of Thomson Reuters described above made use of the de minimis exception to pre-approval provisions contained in Rule 2-01(c)(7)(i)(C) of SEC Regulation S-X and Section 2.4 of the Canadian Securities Administrators’ Multilateral Instrument 52-110 (Audit Committees).

Controlled Company

The NYSE and Nasdaq corporate governance listing standards require a listed company to have, among other things, solely independent directors on its compensation committee and nominating/corporate governance committee. A “controlled company” (a company of which more than 50% of the voting power is held by an individual, group or another company) is exempt from these requirements. The board believes it is appropriate for directors affiliated with Woodbridge to serve on the Corporate Governance Committee and the HR Committee and has approved our reliance on the controlled company exemption to do so.

Independent Directors

Under the corporate governance guidelines adopted by the board, a director is not considered independent unless the board affirmatively determines that the director has no “material relationship” with Thomson Reuters. In determining the independence of directors, the board considers all relevant facts and circumstances. In March 2009, the board conducted its annual assessment of the independence of each of its members and determined that 10 of the 15 directors (66 2/3%) serving on the board are independent. In determining independence, we examined and relied on the applicable definitions of “independent” in the NYSE listing standards, Nasdaq listing standards, Canadian Securities Administrators’ National Instrument 58-101 and the U.K. Combined Code on Corporate Governance. The board also reviewed the results of questionnaires completed by each director.

- One of the directors (Thomas H. Glocer) is not independent because he is the CEO of Thomson Reuters.
- Four of the directors (David Thomson, W. Geoffrey Beattie, Peter J. Thomson and John A. Tory) are considered to not be independent pursuant to applicable rules because they are directors and current or former executive officers of Woodbridge, the controlling shareholder of Thomson Reuters. None of these individuals is a member of Thomson Reuters executive management team. With its substantial equity investment in Thomson Reuters, Woodbridge considers that its interests as a shareholder are aligned with those of all other shareholders.
- The remaining 10 directors are independent.

In determining the independence of directors, the board also considers that in the normal course of business, we provide services to, and receive services from, companies with which some of the independent directors are affiliated. For example, various in-house legal departments of a number of these companies subscribe to our Westlaw service. Based on the specific facts and circumstances, the board determined in March 2009 that these types of relationships were immaterial.

In particular, the board acknowledged that Messrs. Denning and Thompson also have been directors of companies that Thomson Reuters has a relationship with, but determined that these relationships were not material and did not preclude a finding of independence.

- Until February 2009, Mr. Denning was a director of Hewitt Associates Inc. In February 2005, we entered into an agreement with Hewitt Associates Inc. to outsource certain human resources administrative functions in order to improve operating and cost efficiencies. When we initially entered into the agreement, we expected to pay Hewitt an aggregate of $115 million over a five-year period. This agreement was subsequently renegotiated and extended in September 2006. Under the new terms, we expect to pay Hewitt an aggregate of $165 million over a 10-year period. In 2008, we paid Hewitt $11 million for its services. Mr. Denning did not participate in negotiations related to the agreement and has refrained from deliberating and voting on any matters relating to Hewitt Associates Inc. by the HR Committee and the board.
- Mr. Thompson is the non-executive independent Chairman of the board of The Toronto-Dominion Bank. In the normal course of business, we have a banking relationship with The Toronto-Dominion Bank and one of the bank's affiliates has served as a dealer for our recent offerings of debt securities in the United States and Canada.

Presiding Directors at Meetings of Non-Management and Independent Directors

At the conclusion of every board meeting, the board meets without the CEO present. The CEO is informed of the substance of these meetings to the extent that action is appropriate or required.

In addition, at least once each year, the board meets without the CEO and the directors affiliated with Woodbridge present. These meetings, which follow a regularly scheduled board meeting, are chaired by the Chair of the Corporate Governance Committee. The Chair of the Corporate Governance Committee develops the agenda for these meetings, although discussion is not limited to it. The agenda generally addresses any issues that might be specific to a public corporation with a controlling shareholder. The Chair of the Corporate Governance Committee reports to the Chairman on the substance of these meetings to the extent that action is appropriate or required and is available for consultation with the independent directors as required. One such meeting of the independent directors took place in January 2009 and was presided over by Niall FitzGerald.

Code of Business Conduct and Ethics

In 2008, we adopted a new Code of Business Conduct and Ethics that applies to all employees, directors and officers, including our CEO, CFO and Controller. All employees, directors and officers are required to submit an acknowledgement that they have received and read a copy of the Code and understand their obligations to comply with the principles and policies outlined in it. In an effort to promote further a culture of ethical business conduct throughout Thomson Reuters, a mandatory online training course related to the Code is expected to be launched in 2009 (based on similar courses used by each of Thomson and Reuters prior to the formation of Thomson Reuters). The Corporate Governance Committee receives an annual report regarding the Code from the General Counsel.

In 2008, no material violations by our directors or executive officers were reported for the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics. Also, no waivers under the Code were sought by or granted to any of our directors or executive officers in 2008.

Additional information regarding the members of our board of directors, including our corporate governance and compensation practices, is provided in our management information circular dated March 26, 2009, which has been prepared in connection with our upcoming annual general meeting of shareholders to be held on May 13, 2009. This information forms a part of this annual report for purposes of U.K. legal and regulatory reporting requirements. Each board committee has a written charter which is publicly available at www.thomsonreuters.com. The audit committee's charter has been filed on SEDAR and EDGAR and is incorporated by reference in, and forms a part of, this annual report.

As of March 26, 2009, our executive officers and directors as a group beneficially owned, directly or indirectly, or exercised control or direction over, less than 1% of our outstanding voting interests, based on the issued and outstanding shares of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC as of that date. David Thomson and Peter J. Thomson are the Chairmen, and W. Geoffrey Beattie is the President, of Woodbridge, our controlling shareholder. John A. Tory is a director of Woodbridge. As of March 26, 2009, Woodbridge had a voting interest in Thomson Reuters of approximately 55% based on the issued share capital of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC.

The following table sets forth the total interests in Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and deferred share units (DSUs) and Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares (including underlying ADSs) beneficially owned by each of our directors as of the dates indicated. Information regarding interests in Thomson Reuters shares through stock options and RSUs is provided in our management information circular dated March 26, 2009.

DUAL LISTED COMPANY STRUCTURE

OVERVIEW

We operate under a dual listed company (DLC) structure and have two parent companies, both of which are publicly listed – Thomson Reuters Corporation, an Ontario, Canada corporation, and Thomson Reuters PLC, a public limited company registered in England and Wales. These companies operate as a unified group pursuant to contractual arrangements as well as provisions in their organizational documents. Under the DLC structure, shareholders of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC both have a stake in Thomson Reuters, with cash dividend, capital distribution and voting rights that are comparable to the rights they would have if they were holding shares in one company carrying on Thomson Reuters business.

Key features of the DLC structure include the following:

- Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC are separate publicly listed companies;
- the boards of directors of the two companies are comprised of the same individuals, as are the companies' executive management;
- shareholders of the two companies ordinarily vote together as a single decision-making body, including in the election of directors;
- shareholders of the two companies receive equivalent cash dividends and capital distributions;
- each company has guaranteed all contractual obligations of the other company and will guarantee other obligations as agreed; and
- a take-over bid or similar transaction is required to be made for shares of both companies on an equivalent basis.

Thomson Reuters Corporation was incorporated under the Business Corporations Act (Ontario) by articles of incorporation dated December 28, 1977. Its Ontario corporation number is 373074. Thomson Reuters Corporation amended and restated its articles effective April 17, 2008. Its registered office is located at Suite 2706, Toronto Dominion Bank Tower, P.O. Box 24, Toronto-Dominion Centre, Toronto, Ontario M5K 1A1, Canada. Prior to April 17, 2008, Thomson Reuters Corporation was known as The Thomson Corporation.

Thomson Reuters PLC is a public company limited by shares incorporated on March 6, 2007 under the UK Companies Act 1985 with registered number 06141013. Thomson Reuters PLC amended and restated its articles effective October 1, 2008. Its registered office is located at The Thomson Reuters Building, South Colonnade, Canary Wharf, London E14 5EP, United Kingdom.

The following simplified diagram illustrates the current structure of Thomson Reuters.

THOMSON REUTERS

ANNUAL REPORT 2008

Unified Board and Management

The boards of directors of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC are comprised of the same individuals, as are the companies' executive management. The two companies pursue business objectives established by our board of directors and management, who evaluate these strategies and other operational decisions from the perspective of Thomson Reuters as a whole.

We deploy and manage our capital and assets in a way which our board considers most beneficial to Thomson Reuters. Our assets are owned, directly or indirectly, by Thomson Reuters Corporation or Thomson Reuters PLC, depending on what we believe is most efficient and appropriate under the then prevailing circumstances. Under the DLC structure, we may transfer assets between the two companies from time to time. These transfers are considered to be in the ordinary course of business and may be made without shareholder approval.

Equalization of Economic and Voting Interests

Equalization Principles

The Equalization and Governance Agreement requires that Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC observe certain principles to ensure that the economic and voting rights of holders of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares are equivalent. These principles are briefly described below.

An "Equalization Ratio" determines the economic and voting interests represented by a Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary share relative to a Thomson Reuters Corporation common share. The Equalization Ratio is currently 1:1. As a result, one Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary share has equivalent rights to distributions of income and capital and voting rights as one Thomson Reuters Corporation common share.

Dividends and Distributions

If Thomson Reuters Corporation declares or pays a cash dividend to holders of its common shares, then Thomson Reuters PLC must declare or pay to holders of its ordinary shares a cash dividend in an equivalent amount per share. The equivalent cash dividend is calculated before deduction of any withholding taxes or tax payable by or on behalf of, and disregarding any tax benefit available to, a shareholder of Thomson Reuters.

Thomson Reuters PLC may not declare or pay a cash dividend unless Thomson Reuters Corporation first declares or pays a cash dividend. If Thomson Reuters PLC is prohibited by applicable laws from declaring or paying or is otherwise unable to declare or pay the equivalent cash dividend, Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC must, to the extent practicable, enter into such transactions as are necessary to enable Thomson Reuters PLC to pay the dividend.

Thomson Reuters Corporation has issued an equalization share to Thomson Reuters PLC. If Thomson Reuters Corporation is required to make an equalization payment to Thomson Reuters PLC (or is required to take action and elects to do so by means of a payment to Thomson Reuters PLC), then Thomson Reuters Corporation will make this payment as a dividend on the equalization share, unless the board of directors of Thomson Reuters Corporation decides to make such payment by another means.

Matching Actions

If Thomson Reuters Corporation takes any action, other than paying a cash dividend, that would provide a holder of its common shares with an economic benefit or an adjustment to its voting rights (in relation to "Joint Electorate Actions", which are discussed below) or which would otherwise disadvantage a holder of a Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary share relative to a holder of a Thomson Reuters Corporation common share, then Thomson Reuters PLC must undertake a "Matching Action" to ensure that the economic benefits and voting rights of shareholders of each company are maintained in proportion to the then prevailing Equalization Ratio. Alternatively, an appropriate adjustment to the Equalization Ratio must be made to ensure that there is equitable treatment (with regard to the then prevailing Equalization Ratio) for a holder of one Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary share relative to a holder of one Thomson Reuters Corporation common share.

Thomson Reuters PLC may not make any distribution of capital or income or take any other action that would provide a holder of a Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary share with an economic benefit or an adjustment to its voting rights (in relation to Joint Electorate Actions) or which would otherwise disadvantage a holder of a Thomson Reuters Corporation common share relative to a holder of a Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary share other than as a Matching Action.

Cross Guarantees

Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC have each guaranteed all contractual obligations of the other company, and those of other parties to the extent they are guaranteed by the other company, and will guarantee other obligations as agreed. We refer to these as "cross guarantees". Thomson Reuters PLC has also guaranteed all contractual obligations of Reuters Group PLC existing as of April 17, 2008 and, as a result, those obligations are covered by Thomson Reuters Corporation's guarantee of Thomson Reuters PLC's obligations.

Creditors of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC entitled to the benefit of the cross guarantees have been, to the extent possible, placed in the same position as if the obligations were owed by Thomson Reuters. In light of these cross guarantees, each of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC is exposed to the credit risk of the other. Accordingly, both companies share the same credit rating.

Insolvency

In the event that Thomson Reuters PLC is, or is likely to become, insolvent, Thomson Reuters Corporation must ensure that the economic returns made or otherwise available to holders of its common shares and Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares are proportional in relation to the Equalization Ratio. This is referred to as "Economic Equivalence".

In that event, Thomson Reuters Corporation has the right either to offer Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares to holders of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares in exchange for their Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares or to make a payment to holders of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares, in either case, in such amount and in such proportion to ensure that Economic Equivalence is achieved. If Thomson Reuters Corporation does not exercise this right, then Thomson Reuters Corporation must make payments to the creditors of Thomson Reuters PLC and then to Thomson Reuters PLC so that Economic Equivalence is achieved.

If both Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC are insolvent, and if Thomson Reuters Corporation has surplus assets available for distribution to Thomson Reuters Corporation shareholders after the payment of all debts, then Thomson Reuters Corporation will pay a liquidation distribution to the holders of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares which is equivalent on a per share basis in accordance with the Equalization Ratio.

As the cross guarantees expose each company to the credit risk of the other, we believe that any insolvency would affect Thomson Reuters as a whole rather than either Thomson Reuters Corporation or Thomson Reuters PLC alone.

Support Arrangements

Although Thomson Reuters Corporation is obligated to support Thomson Reuters PLC regarding dividends and other cash distributions and in the event of the insolvency of Thomson Reuters PLC, Thomson Reuters PLC does not have any reciprocal obligations in favor of Thomson Reuters Corporation. These arrangements have been structured to avoid adverse Canadian income tax treatment of dividends paid and received on Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares. We do not consider these arrangements to be material to holders of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares or Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares.

As we declare dividends from the perspective of Thomson Reuters taken as a whole, we do not believe that Thomson Reuters Corporation's support obligation affects in any way the dividends or other cash distributions available to holders of either Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares or Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares.

Voting Arrangements

Under the DLC structure, holders of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares ordinarily vote together as a single decision-making body. Matters put to shareholders are classified as one of the following:

• Joint Electorate Actions. Thomson Reuters Corporation shareholders and Thomson Reuters PLC shareholders vote together as a single decision-making body on all matters other than those which constitute "Class Rights Actions" or "Procedural Resolutions". These matters are called "Joint Electorate Actions" and include the election of directors, the appointment of auditors and the approval and receipt of financial statements and reports.

• Class Rights Actions. On specified matters where the interests of Thomson Reuters Corporation shareholders and Thomson Reuters PLC shareholders may diverge, the shareholders of each company vote separately. These matters are called "Class Rights Actions" and include: (i) the voluntary liquidation of either company; (ii) any adjustment to the Equalization Ratio other than in accordance with the Equalization and Governance Agreement; (iii) any amendment to, or termination of, the contractual arrangements giving effect to the DLC structure; and (iv) any amendment to the provisions of our organizational documents giving effect to the DLC structure. Matters that are Class Rights Actions may not be implemented unless they have been approved by the requisite majority of the votes cast by the Thomson Reuters Corporation shareholders and Thomson Reuters PLC shareholders voting separately.

• Procedural Resolutions. Procedural or technical resolutions do not constitute either Joint Electorate Actions or Class Rights Actions and will be voted on separately by the relevant Thomson Reuters Corporation shareholders or Thomson Reuters PLC shareholders.

Special Voting Shares

To effect the voting arrangements described above, Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC have each issued a special voting share to a special voting trust so that shareholders of the two companies can ordinarily vote together as a single decision-making body. The special voting trust exercises voting rights at one company's shareholder meeting so as to give effect to the voting results recorded at the other company's parallel shareholder meeting.

• For Joint Electorate Actions, the Thomson Reuters Corporation special voting share carries the number of votes cast at the parallel meeting of Thomson Reuters PLC shareholders (as adjusted by the Equalization Ratio and rounded up to the nearest whole number) and the Thomson Reuters PLC special voting share carries the number of votes cast at the parallel meeting of Thomson Reuters Corporation shareholders (as adjusted by the Equalization Ratio and rounded up to the nearest whole number).

• For Class Rights Actions, the special voting shares carry voting rights only if the proposed action has not been approved at the parallel meeting of the Thomson Reuters PLC shareholders or Thomson Reuters Corporation shareholders, as the case may be. In that event, the special voting shares carry such number of votes in respect of the proposed action as would be sufficient to defeat it. These voting rights reflect the requirement that Class Rights Actions be approved by the shareholders of each of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC voting separately.

Neither special voting share carries any voting rights on Procedural Resolutions. Procedural Resolutions are voted on separately by the relevant company's shareholders.

Equivalent Treatment in Relation to Take-Over

We believe it is essential to the operation of the DLC structure that holders of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares are treated on an equivalent basis in the event of any take-over bid or similar transaction. Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC may only accept, approve or recommend a "Qualified Take-Over Bid".

A Qualified Take-Over Bid means an offer or offers, made at or about the same time, to all holders of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares to acquire all of the outstanding common shares and ordinary shares, which are equivalent in all material respects to the holders, including with respect to the consideration offered, the information provided to the holders, the time available to consider the offers and the conditions to which the offers are subject.

If any person acquires 20% or more Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares, 30% or more Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares, or 30% or more of the total voting interests in Thomson Reuters in respect of a Joint Electorate Action, that acquisition would be considered a "Triggering Event". Upon the occurrence of a Triggering Event, we must take all actions that our board of directors believes are necessary or appropriate to procure that the person makes a Qualified Take-Over Bid, unless the acquisition is exempt from the take-over bid provisions of applicable laws and the value of the consideration paid for any shares is not in excess of the market value thereof at the date of the acquisition.

DIVIDENDS

Holders of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares receive dividends in an equivalent per share amount (for so long as our equalization ratio is 1:1), disregarding any amounts that may be required to be withheld or deducted for taxes and any other tax consequences. We declare and pay dividends to holders of common shares and ordinary shares at the same time and with the same record date, or, in each case, as close in time as practicable under the circumstances.

Any dividends that we declare on our shares take into account all factors that our board considers relevant, including our available cash flow, financial condition and capital requirements. Our target dividend payout ratio is approximately 40% of annual free cash flow.

Our board reviews our dividend policy in the first quarter of each fiscal year. In February 2009, our board approved an increase in our quarterly dividend rate to $0.28 per share (or $1.12 per share on an annualized basis), effective with our dividend paid on March 26, 2009 to holders of record as of March 6, 2009. The declaration of dividends by our board and the amount of those dividends may be adjusted or eliminated at the discretion of the board and is not subject to approval by shareholders. While we declare dividends in US dollars, shareholders may receive their dividends in other currencies.

• Holders of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares receive their dividends in US dollars, unless they elect to receive their dividends in Canadian dollars or British pounds sterling;

• Holders of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares receive their dividends in British pounds sterling, unless they elect to receive their dividends in US dollars, Canadian dollars or certain other local currencies; and

• Holders of Thomson Reuters PLC ADSs receive their dividends in US dollars.

We also have dividend reinvestment plans which allow eligible holders of our common shares and ordinary shares to elect to have their cash dividends reinvested in additional shares.

Additional information regarding currency elections for our dividends as well as our dividend reinvestment plans is provided in the Investor Relations section of our website under “Dividend Timetable”.

In the first quarter of 2008, our board set a quarterly dividend rate of $0.27 per share. We paid a larger interim dividend in the second quarter of 2008 in connection with the closing of the Reuters acquisition. We then paid a smaller dividend in the third quarter of 2008 which was based on our 2008 quarterly dividend rate, as adjusted for the interim dividend. We then returned to a normal quarterly dividend payment of $0.27 per share in the fourth quarter of 2008.

We pay dividends on our Series II preference shares quarterly at an annual rate of 70% of the Canadian bank prime rate applied to the stated capital of these shares.

The table below sets forth the dividends declared on our shares in the last three years and the first quarter of 2009.

THOMSON REUTERS

ANNUAL REPORT 2008

SHAREHOLDERS

WOODBIDGE

Based on the issued share capital of Thomson Reuters Corporation and of Thomson Reuters PLC as of March 26, 2009, Woodbridge had a voting interest in Thomson Reuters of approximately 55% and is the principal and controlling shareholder of Thomson Reuters. On March 26, 2009, Woodbridge beneficially owned 438,418,486 Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and 16,725,287 Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares (including ADSs underlying ordinary shares).

Woodbridge, a private company, is the primary investment vehicle for members of the family of the late Roy H. Thomson, the first Lord Thomson of Fleet. Woodbridge is a professionally managed company that, in addition to its controlling interest in Thomson Reuters, has other substantial investments.

Prior to his passing in June 2006, Kenneth R. Thomson controlled Thomson through Woodbridge. He did so by holding shares of a holding company of Woodbridge, Thomson Investments Limited. Under his estate arrangements, the 2003 TIL Settlement, a trust of which the trust company subsidiary of a Canadian chartered bank is trustee and members of the family of the late first Lord Thomson of Fleet are beneficiaries, holds those holding company shares. Kenneth R. Thomson established these arrangements to provide for long-term stability of the business of Woodbridge. The equity of Woodbridge continues to be owned by members of successive generations of the family of the first Lord Thomson of Fleet.

Under the estate arrangements of Kenneth R. Thomson, the directors and officers of Woodbridge are responsible for its business and operations. In certain limited circumstances, including very substantial dispositions of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares by Woodbridge, the estate arrangements provide for approval of the trustee to be obtained. Woodbridge's primary investment is its holding of our shares. It actively monitors our company as a controlling shareholder. In its involvement with our company, Woodbridge focuses on these matters:

- corporate governance, including the effectiveness of our board;
- appointment of the Chief Executive Officer and other members of senior management and related succession planning;
- development of the long-term business strategy of Thomson Reuters and assessment of its implementation; and

CREDIT RATINGS

Our long-term unsecured debt securities are rated Baa1 (stable) by Moody's, A- (negative) by S&P, A (low) (stable) by DBRS and A- (stable) by Fitch.

Credit ratings are intended to provide investors with an independent measure of the credit quality of an issue of securities and are indicators of the likelihood of payment and of the capacity and willingness of a company to meet its financial commitment on an obligation in accordance with the terms of the obligation. A description of the rating categories of each of the rating agencies is set out below.

These credit ratings are not recommendations to purchase, hold or sell securities and do not address the market price or suitability of a specific security for a particular investor. Credit ratings may not reflect the potential impact of all risks on the value of securities. In addition, real or anticipated changes in the rating assigned to a security will generally affect the market value of that security. Shareholders cannot be assured that a rating will remain in effect for any given period of time or that a rating will not be revised or withdrawn entirely by a rating agency in the future.

Moody's Investor Services (Moody's)

Moody's long-term credit ratings are on a rating scale that ranges from Aaa to C, which represents the range from highest to lowest quality of such securities rated. Moody's "Baa" rating assigned to our long-term debt instruments is the fourth highest rating of nine rating categories. Obligations rated "Baa" are subject to moderate credit risk. They are considered medium-grade and as such may possess certain speculative characteristics. Moody's appends numerical modifiers from 1 to 3 to its long-term debt ratings, which indicate where the obligation ranks in its ranking category, with 1 being the highest.

Standard & Poor's (S&P)

S&P's long-term credit ratings are on a rating scale that ranges from AAA to D, which represents the range from highest to lowest quality of such securities rated. S&P's "A" rating assigned to our long-term debt instruments is the third highest rating of 10 major rating categories. An "A" rating indicates that the obligor's capacity to meet its financial commitment is strong, but that the obligation is somewhat more susceptible to adverse effects of changes in circumstances and economic conditions than obligations in higher rated categories. S&P uses "+" or "-" designations to indicate the relative standing of securities within a particular rating category.

DBRS Limited (DBRS)

DBRS' credit ratings are on a long-term debt rating scale that ranges from AAA to D, which represents the range from highest to lowest quality of such securities rated. DBRS' "A" rating assigned to our long-term debt is the third highest of the 10 rating categories for long-term debt. Debt securities rated "A" are of satisfactory credit quality and protection of interest and principal is considered substantial. A reference to "high" or "low" reflects the relative strength within the rating category.

Fitch Ratings (Fitch)

Fitch's long-term credit ratings are on a rating scale that ranges from AAA to D, which represents the range from highest to lowest quality of such securities rated. Fitch's "A" rating assigned to our long-term debt instruments is the third highest rating of ten rating categories. An "A" rating indicates a low expectation of ceased or interrupted payments and strong capacity to meet obligations on a timely basis. Fitch uses "+" or "-" designations to indicate the relative standing of securities within a particular rating category.

MATERIAL CONTRACTS

CREDIT AGREEMENT

In 2007, we entered into a $2.5 billion unsecured revolving credit facility that currently expires in August 2012. We may request an extension of the maturity date under certain circumstances for up to two additional one-year periods, which the applicable lenders may accept or decline in their sole discretion. We may also request an increase (subject to approval by applicable lenders) in the amount of the lenders' commitments up to a maximum amount of $3.0 billion. We can utilize the facility to provide liquidity in connection with our commercial paper program and for general corporate purposes. Based on our current credit rating, the cost of borrowing under the agreement is priced at LIBOR plus 19 basis points (or plus 24 basis points on all borrowings when line utilization exceeds 50%). If our long-term debt rating was downgraded by Moody's or S&P, our facility fee and borrowing costs may increase, although availability would be unaffected. Conversely, an upgrade in our ratings may reduce our credit facility fees and borrowing costs.

The credit agreement contains certain customary affirmative and negative covenants, each with customary exceptions. In particular, the credit agreement requires us to maintain a leverage ratio of net debt as of the last day of each fiscal quarter to adjusted EBITDA (earnings before interest, income taxes, depreciation and amortization and other modifications) for the last four fiscal quarters ended of not more than 4.5:1. A change in control of Thomson Reuters would be an event of default under the credit agreement, following which the lenders could decide to terminate the agreement. If a person or group (other than Woodbridge) became the beneficial owner of more than 50% of our total voting interests, a change in control would occur.

- That no effort shall be spared to expand, develop and adapt the news and other services and products of Thomson Reuters so as to maintain its leading position in the international news and information business.

Reuters Founders Share Company was established in 1984 when Reuters Group PLC became a public company. The directors of Reuters Founders Share Company have a duty to ensure, to the extent possible, that the Reuters Trust Principles are complied with.

The directors of Reuters Founders Share Company are experienced and eminent people from the world of politics, diplomacy, journalism, public service and business. They generally have all held high offices in their respective sectors and one has even been imprisoned as a proponent of democracy. The directors are selected by a nomination committee and proposed to the board of Reuters Founders Share Company for appointment. The nomination committee also has unique features. Two of its members are judges from the European Court of Human Rights and assist in scrutinizing candidates’ suitability. Our board has two representatives and Reuters Founders Share Company’s board has five representatives, including its chairman. Other members are representatives of the press associations from the UK, Australia and New Zealand.

The number of directors has to be at least 14 and not more than 18. Directors have a minimum of two meetings per year. Amended Deed of Mutual Covenant

Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC are parties to an Amended Deed of Mutual Covenant, under which each company and Reuters Founders Share Company has covenanted with English, Australian and New Zealand press associations to use its best endeavors to ensure that the Reuters Trust Principles are complied with in relation to Thomson Reuters.

Reuters Founders Shares

Each of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC has issued to Reuters Founders Share Company a Reuters Founders Share, which enables Reuters Founders Share Company to exercise extraordinary voting power to safeguard the Reuters Trust Principles and to thwart those whose holdings of Thomson Reuters voting shares threaten the Reuters Trust Principles. The Reuters Founders Share entitles Reuters Founders Share Company to vote in circumstances where an acquiring person, other than an approved person or an entity within Thomson Reuters, has become or becomes “interested” in, or the beneficial owner of, 15% or more of the outstanding voting shares of either Thomson Reuters Corporation or Thomson Reuters PLC or has obtained or is attempting to obtain the ability to control the exercise of, or beneficial ownership of, 30% or more of the outstanding voting shares of Thomson Reuters Corporation or Thomson Reuters PLC. In general, votes cast by Reuters Founders Share Company, alone or in combination with votes cast by approved persons, will be sufficient either to negate the voting power of the acquiring person or to constitute the requisite majority voting power. The rights attaching to the Reuters Founders Shares may not be varied or abrogated in any respect without the prior written consent of Reuters Founders Share Company. In addition, without the prior written consent of Reuters Founders Share Company, we may not take certain fundamental corporate actions, including certain changes to our share capital, or remove or amend provisions in our organizational documents relating to Reuters Founders Share Company and the Reuters Founders Shares.

Reuters Trust Principles Support Agreement

Under a Reuters Trust Principles Support Agreement Woodbridge has agreed to support the Reuters Trust Principles and to exercise its voting rights to give effect to this support and Reuters Founders Share Company has irrevocably designated Woodbridge as an approved person for so long as Woodbridge is controlled by members of the Thomson family, companies controlled by them and trusts for their benefit.

ORGANIZATIONAL DOCUMENTS

The following is a summary of certain provisions of our organizational documents as required under applicable securities laws and related provisions of applicable corporate and securities laws. Copies of our organizational documents are available on our website and have also been filed with the SEC and the Canadian securities regulatory authorities.

Thomson Reuters Corporation, an Ontario, Canada corporation, is governed under the Business Corporations Act (Ontario), or OBCA. Thomson Reuters PLC, a public limited company registered in England and Wales, is governed under the UK Companies Acts 1985 and 2006.

Objects and Purposes

As a company incorporated under the OBCA, Thomson Reuters Corporation is not required to include specific objects or purposes in its articles of incorporation or by-laws. Thomson Reuters Corporation’s articles of incorporation do not place any restrictions on the business it may carry on or the powers it may exercise. Thomson Reuters PLC’s principal objects are to:

- enter into, operate and carry into effect various agreements related to the DLC structure; and
- carry on business as a general commercial company and to carry on any trade or business whatsoever.

The objects of Thomson Reuters PLC are set out in full in paragraph 4 of the Thomson Reuters PLC memorandum of association.

Certain Powers of Directors

The OBCA requires that a director of a corporation who is a party to a material contract or transaction or a proposed material contract or transaction with the corporation, or who is a director or officer of, or has a material interest in, any person who is a party to a material contract or transaction or a proposed material contract or transaction with the corporation, must disclose in writing to the corporation or request to have entered in the minutes of the meetings of directors the nature and extent of his or her interest, and shall refrain from voting in respect of the contract or transaction unless the contract or transaction is one:

- relating primarily to his or her remuneration as a director of the corporation or an affiliate;
- for indemnity of or insurance for the directors as contemplated under the OBCA; or
- with an affiliate.

Under the articles of association of Thomson Reuters PLC, a director of Thomson Reuters PLC may not vote in respect of any transaction or arrangement with Thomson Reuters PLC in which he or she has an interest which may reasonably be regarded as likely to give rise to a conflict of interest other than in respect of any resolution concerning any of the following matters:

- any transaction or arrangement in which he or she is interested by virtue of an interest in shares, debentures or other securities of Thomson Reuters PLC or otherwise in or through Thomson Reuters PLC;
- the giving of any guarantee, security or indemnity in respect of: (a) money lent or obligations incurred by him or her or by any other person at the request of, or for the benefit of, Thomson Reuters PLC or any of its subsidiary undertakings; or (b) a debt or obligation of Thomson Reuters PLC or any of its subsidiary undertakings for which he or she has assumed responsibility in whole or in part (either alone or jointly with others) under a guarantee or indemnity or by the giving of security;
- indemnification (including loans made in connection with it) by Thomson Reuters PLC in relation to the performance of his or her duties on behalf of Thomson Reuters PLC or any of its subsidiary undertakings;
- any issue or offer of shares, debentures or other securities of Thomson Reuters PLC or any of its subsidiary undertakings in respect of which he or she is or may be entitled to participate in his or her capacity as a holder of any such securities or as an underwriter or sub-underwriter;
- any transaction or arrangement concerning any other company in which he or she does not hold, directly or indirectly as shareholder, or through his or her direct or indirect holdings of financial instruments voting rights representing 1% or more of any class of shares in the capital of that company;
- any arrangement for the benefit of employees of Thomson Reuters PLC or any of its subsidiary undertakings which does not accord to him or her any privilege or benefit not generally accorded to the employees to whom the arrangement relates; and
- the purchase or maintenance of insurance for the benefit of directors of Thomson Reuters PLC or for the benefit of persons including directors of Thomson Reuters PLC.

Our organizational documents provide that our directors shall be paid such remuneration for their services as our board of directors may from time to time determine, with no requirement for a quorum of independent directors. Our corporate governance committee, comprised entirely of non-management directors, a majority of whom are independent directors, annually reviews the adequacy and form of our directors' compensation and recommends to our board of directors a compensation model that is competitive and appropriately compensates our directors for the responsibilities and risks involved in being an effective director. Subject to applicable laws, our directors may exercise all the powers of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC to borrow money. This authority may be restricted through our organizational documents, although no such restrictions are in place.

Our directors are elected or appointed to hold office until the next annual meeting of shareholders or until they resign or their successor is elected or appointed. Our directors are not required to retire after reaching a particular age. Our board of directors does not believe it should establish term limits or mandatory retirement ages for its members as such limits may deprive Thomson Reuters and our shareholders of the contributions of members who have been able to develop, over time, valuable insights into Thomson Reuters, our strategy and business operations.

Our directors are not required to hold shares of Thomson Reuters Corporation or Thomson Reuters PLC pursuant to our organizational documents. However, directors are encouraged to hold Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares, Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares and/or deferred share units of Thomson Reuters Corporation having a value equal to five times their annual retainer within five years from the date of their initial appointment or election to our board.

Authorized Share Capital

For information about the authorized share capital of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC and the rights, privileges, restriction and conditions attaching to those shares, please see the "Description of Capital Structure" section of this annual report.

Capital Calls on Shares

If a shareholder of Thomson Reuters PLC fails to pay in full any call or installment of a call, our board of directors may serve a notice on such shareholder requiring payment of that unpaid amount, together with any interest which may have accrued thereon and any expenses incurred by Thomson Reuters PLC by reason of such non-payment. If such request is not complied with, any share in respect of which such notice has been given may be forfeited upon the approval of our board. Unless our board determines otherwise, no such shareholder is entitled to vote at any meeting of shareholders or to exercise any other rights in respect of any shares on which any call or other sum presently payable by such shareholder to Thomson Reuters PLC remains unpaid.

Under the OBCA, a corporation may not issue a share until the consideration for the share is fully paid and all shares issued by a corporation must be non-assessable. Accordingly, shareholders of Thomson Reuters Corporation have no liability to further capital calls.

Variation of Rights

The rights, privileges, restrictions or conditions attaching to any class of shares of Thomson Reuters Corporation or Thomson Reuters PLC may be amended with the approval of both:

- a special resolution of shareholders approved as a Class Rights Action or Joint Electorate Action, as applicable; and
- a special resolution of the holders of the class of shares that is being affected.

Without the prior written consent of Reuters Founders Share Company we may not take certain fundamental corporate actions, including certain changes to our share capital or remove or amend provisions in our organizational documents relating to Reuters Founders Share Company and the Reuters Founders Shares.

Annual and Special Meetings of Shareholders

The OBCA requires Thomson Reuters Corporation to call an annual meeting of shareholders not later than 15 months after holding the last preceding annual meeting and permits Thomson Reuters Corporation to call special meetings of shareholders at any time. Thomson Reuters Corporation is required to mail a notice of meeting and management information circular to holders of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares and the Reuters Founders Shares not less than 21 days and not more than 50 days prior to the date of any annual or special meeting of shareholders.

An annual general meeting of Thomson Reuters PLC may be called by not less than 21 days' notice in writing and all other general meetings may be called by not less than 14 days' notice in writing. Pursuant to the Thomson Reuters PLC articles of association, notwithstanding that a general meeting has been called by a shorter notice than that specified above, such general meeting shall be deemed to have been duly called if it is so agreed:

- in the case of an annual general meeting, by all the shareholders entitled to attend and vote thereat, including the holder of the Reuters Founders Share; and
- in the case of any other general meeting, by a majority in number of the shareholders having a right to attend and vote thereat, being a majority together holding not less than 95% in nominal value of the shares giving that right, and by the holder of the Reuters Founders Share.

A quorum for the transaction of business at any meeting of shareholders of Thomson Reuters Corporation or Thomson Reuters PLC is either two persons present and each entitled to vote at the meeting or the holder of the Reuters Founders Shares. The holder of the special voting shares and the holder of the Reuters Founders Shares must also be present or represented by proxy at any meeting at which they are entitled to vote.

The only persons who are entitled to attend any annual or special meeting of shareholders of Thomson Reuters are those entitled to vote at the meeting, our auditors and directors as well as others who are required by law to be present or those persons present at the invitation of the chairperson of the meeting or present with the consent of the meeting.

Limitations on the Rights to Own Securities

For information about limitations on the rights to own shares of Thomson Reuters Corporation or Thomson Reuters PLC, please see the "Exchange Controls" section of this annual report.

Change of Control Provisions

There are no provisions in our organizational documents which are designed to delay or prevent a change of control of Thomson Reuters Corporation or Thomson Reuters PLC.

Our organizational documents include provisions that are designed to ensure that holders of our common shares and ordinary shares are treated on an equivalent basis in the event of any take-over bid or similar transaction. For further information, please see the "Dual Listed Company Structure" section of this annual report.

In addition, the holder of the Reuters Founders Shares may exercise extraordinary voting powers to safeguard the Reuters Trust Principles. For further information, please see the "Reuters Trust Principles" and "Reuters Founders Share Company" section of this annual report.

Disclosure of Share Ownership

Canadian securities laws provide that if a person acquires beneficial ownership of voting or equity securities of a class of a reporting issuer that, together with previously held securities brings the total holdings of such holder to 10% or more of the outstanding securities of that class, such person must issue a press release and, within two business days, file an early warning report containing certain prescribed information. The person must also issue a press release and file a report each time an additional 2% or more of the outstanding securities of the same class is acquired or there is a material change to the contents of the press release and report previously issued and filed.

Under the UK Disclosure and Transparency Rules of the Financial Services Authority, a shareholder must notify Thomson Reuters PLC of the percentage of the Thomson Reuters PLC voting rights it holds as a shareholder (or through its direct or indirect holding of applicable financial instruments) if the percentage of those voting rights reaches, exceeds or falls below 3% and every 1% threshold above 3% up to 100% as a result of the acquisition or disposal of shares (or applicable financial instruments) of Thomson Reuters PLC. The notification to Thomson Reuters PLC must be made as soon as possible, but not later than two trading days after the acquisition or disposal occurred. Thomson Reuters PLC must on receipt of the notification as soon as possible and in any event by not later than the end of the trading day following receipt of the notification make public all of the information contained in the notification.

The US Securities Exchange Act imposes reporting requirements on persons who acquire beneficial ownership of more than 5% of a class of an equity security registered under Section 12 of the US Securities Exchange Act. In general, these persons must file, within 10 days after such an acquisition, a report of beneficial ownership with the SEC containing the prescribed information. This information is also required to be sent to the issuer of the securities and to each exchange where the securities are traded.

Our directors, officers and other insiders are subject to insider reporting obligations under Canadian, UK and US securities laws.

TAXATION

The purpose of this summary is to provide Thomson Reuters shareholders with general information related to Canadian, UK and US taxation considerations. This summary is not exhaustive of all possible Canadian, UK and US tax considerations applicable to an investment in Thomson Reuters shares. Accordingly, the following summary is of a general nature only and is not intended to constitute legal or income tax advice to shareholders. Shareholders should consult their own tax advisors regarding their own particular circumstances.

Certain Canadian Income Tax Considerations for Shareholders of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC

The following is a summary of the principal Canadian federal income tax considerations under the Income Tax Act (Canada), referred to as the Tax Act (Canada), generally applicable as of the date hereof to a holder of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares or Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares who, at all relevant times, deals at arm's length and is not affiliated with Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC and holds the Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares or Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares, as the case may be, as capital property (each referred to as a Holder) all within the meaning of the Tax Act (Canada). Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares or Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares will generally be considered to be capital property to a Holder unless they are held in the course of carrying on a business or acquired in a transaction or transactions considered to be an adventure in the nature of trade.

This summary is not applicable to a Holder that is a "financial institution" for purposes of the "mark-to-market property" rules. This summary is also not applicable to a Holder of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares in respect of which Thomson Reuters PLC is a "foreign affiliate" within the meaning of the Tax Act (Canada). Such Holders should consult their own tax advisors having regard to their particular circumstances.

This summary is based upon the current provisions of the Tax Act (Canada) and the regulations thereunder, specific proposals to amend the Tax Act (Canada) (the "Proposed Amendments") which have been announced by or on behalf the Minister of Finance (Canada) prior to the date hereof, and the administrative policies and assessing practices of the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) published in writing prior to the date hereof. This summary does not take into account or anticipate any future changes in law, whether by way of judicial, legislative or governmental decision or action, including future changes that may be applied retroactively, nor does it take into account provincial, territorial or non-Canadian income tax legislation or considerations, which may differ from the Canadian federal income tax considerations discussed herein.

This part of the summary is applicable only to Holders who, for purposes of the Tax Act (Canada) and at all relevant times, are resident in Canada.

Thomson Reuters Corporation Common Shares

DIVIDENDS

Dividends received on the Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares by a Holder that is an individual will be included in the individual's income and will be subject to the gross-up and dividend tax credit rules normally applicable to taxable dividends received from taxable Canadian corporations, including the enhanced gross-up and dividend tax credit rules applicable to any dividends designated by Thomson Reuters Corporation as eligible dividends in accordance with the provisions of the Tax Act (Canada). Dividends on the Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares received by a Holder that is a corporation will be included in computing the corporation's income and will generally be deductible in computing the taxable income of the corporation. A "private corporation" (as defined in the Tax Act (Canada)), or any other corporation controlled by or for the benefit of an individual or a related group of individuals, will generally be liable to pay a 31/3% refundable tax under Part IV of the Tax Act (Canada) on dividends received on the Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares to the extent such dividends are deductible in computing its taxable income.

CAPITAL GAINS ON DISPOSITIONS

In general, the disposition or deemed disposition of a Thomson Reuters Corporation common share will give rise to a capital gain (or capital loss) to the extent that the proceeds of disposition, net of any reasonable costs of disposition, exceed (or are less than) the adjusted cost base of such share to the Holder immediately before the disposition. The general rules with respect to the taxation of capital gains and capital losses are described below. In addition, if the Holder is a corporation, any capital loss realized on a disposition or deemed disposition of a Thomson Reuters Corporation common share may in certain circumstances be reduced by the amount of any dividends which have been received on such share to the extent and under the circumstances prescribed by the Tax Act (Canada). Analogous rules apply to a partnership or trust of which a corporation, trust or partnership is a member or beneficiary.

Thomson Reuters PLC Ordinary Shares

DIVIDENDS

Dividends received on Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares by a Holder that is an individual will be included in computing the individual's income for tax purposes and will not be subject to the gross-up and dividend tax credit rules which are applicable to dividends received from taxable Canadian corporations. A Holder that is a corporation will include dividends received on the Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares in computing its income for tax purposes and will not be entitled to deduct the amount of such dividends in computing its taxable income. A Holder that is a "Canadian-controlled private corporation" (as defined in the Tax Act (Canada)) may be liable to pay an additional refundable tax of 62/3% in respect of its "aggregate investment income" for the year, including such dividends.

CAPITAL GAINS ON DISPOSITIONS

In general, the disposition or deemed disposition of a Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary share will give rise to a capital gain (or capital loss) to the extent that the proceeds of disposition, net of any reasonable costs of disposition, exceed (or are less than) the adjusted cost base of such share to the Holder immediately before the disposition. The general rules with respect to the taxation of capital gains and capital losses are described below. The Holder may be entitled to claim a foreign tax credit or deduction in respect of any UK tax payable by the Holder on any gain realized on such disposition or deemed disposition under the Tax Act (Canada). Holders are advised to consult their own tax advisors with respect to the availability of a credit or deduction to them having regard to their particular circumstances.

CURRENCY

For purposes of the Tax Act (Canada), all amounts, including dividends, adjusted cost base and proceeds of disposition, must be expressed in Canadian dollars. The amount of capital gains and losses may be affected by virtue of changes in foreign currency exchange rates. For purposes of the Tax Act (Canada), amounts denominated in GBP generally must be converted into Canadian dollars using the rate of exchange quoted by the Bank of Canada at noon on the date such amounts first arose, or such other rate of exchange as is acceptable to the CRA.

PROPOSALS REGARDING FOREIGN INVESTMENT ENTITIES

The Minister of Finance (Canada) has introduced Proposed Amendments relating to the tax treatment of investments by Canadian residents in non-resident entities that are “foreign investment entities” (FIEs). These measures (FIE Proposals) were to be applicable to taxation years commencing after 2006. However, the January 27, 2009 Federal Budget announced that the Government of Canada will review the existing FIE Proposals in light of submissions that it has received before proceeding with measures in the area. Accordingly, no assurances can be given that the FIE Proposals will be enacted as currently proposed.

Under the existing FIE Proposals, a holder of an interest in a FIE, other than an “exempt interest”, will generally be required to include in computing income annually an imputed return calculated as a prescribed percentage of the holder’s “designated cost” of such interest, unless such holder can qualify for certain alternative methods of taxation. A corporation will not be a FIE at the end of a taxation year provided that either: (i) at such time, the “carrying value” of all of its “investment property” will not be greater than one-half of the “carrying value” of all its property; or (ii) throughout the relevant taxation year, its principal undertaking will have been the carrying on of a business that is not an “investment business”. In any event, in general, the existing FIE Proposals will not apply to the Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares so long as such shares qualify as an “arm’s length interest” under the existing FIE Proposals, are listed on a prescribed stock exchange (which currently includes the London Stock Exchange) and it is reasonable to conclude that the Holder has no tax avoidance motive in respect of the shares. Generally, the Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares would be an “arm’s length interest” of a Holder for purposes of the existing FIE Proposals at a particular time provided that: (i) it was reasonable to conclude that there were at least 150 persons each of whom held Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares having a total value of at least C$500; (ii) the aggregate fair market value of the Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares held by the Holder, together with persons with whom the Holder does not deal at arm’s length for purposes of the Tax Act (Canada), did not exceed 10% of the fair market value of all of the Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares held by any individual or entity at that time; and (iii) it was reasonable to conclude that the Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares could normally be acquired and sold by members of the public in the open market. Holders should consult their own tax advisors regarding the existing FIE Proposals generally in respect of the Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares, including the determination of whether or not they have a tax avoidance motive for the purposes of such proposals.

FOREIGN PROPERTY INFORMATION REPORTING

A Holder that is a “specified Canadian entity” for a taxation year and whose total cost amount of “specified foreign property” at any time in the year exceeds C$100,000 (as such terms are defined in the Tax Act (Canada)) will be required to file an information return for the year to disclose certain prescribed information. Subject to certain exceptions, a taxpayer resident in Canada will generally be a specified Canadian entity. Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares come within the definition of “specified foreign property”. Holders should consult their own tax advisors as to whether they must comply with these reporting requirements.

Treatment of Capital Gains and Capital Losses

One-half of the amount of any capital gain (referred to as a taxable capital gain) realized by a Holder in a taxation year must be included in computing the Holder’s income in that year, and one-half of the amount of any capital loss (referred to as an allowable capital loss) realized by a Holder in a taxation year generally may be deducted from taxable capital gains realized by the Holder in that year. Allowable capital losses in excess of taxable capital gains may be carried back and deducted in any of the three preceding taxation years or carried forward and deducted in any following taxation year against taxable capital gains realized in such years to the extent and under the circumstances described in the Tax Act (Canada).

Capital gains realized by an individual and certain trusts may result in the individual or trust paying alternative minimum tax under the Tax Act (Canada). Taxable capital gains of a “Canadian controlled private corporation” (as defined in the Tax Act (Canada)) may be subject to an additional refundable tax at a rate of 62/3%.

Thomson Reuters Corporation Common Shares – Non-Resident Holders

This part of the summary is applicable only to Holders who, for purposes of the Tax Act (Canada) and at all relevant times, are not resident in Canada, do not use or hold (and will not use or hold), and are not deemed to use or hold, the common shares in or in the course of carrying on a business in Canada and do not carry on an insurance business in Canada and elsewhere (Non-resident Holder).

Dividends

Dividends paid or credited by Thomson Reuters Corporation to a Non-resident Holder generally will be subject to Canadian withholding at the rate of 25%, subject to the application of the relevant income tax convention with Canada. If the Non-resident Holder is entitled to benefits under the Treaty, dividends on the common shares generally will be subject to Canadian withholding tax at the rate of 15%.

Capital Gains on Dispositions

A Non-resident Holder will not be subject to tax under the Tax Act (Canada) in respect of any capital gain realized on the disposition of common shares provided that the common shares do not constitute “taxable Canadian property” for purposes of the Tax Act (Canada). Provided that the common shares are listed on a designated stock exchange (which includes the Toronto Stock Exchange and the New York Stock Exchange) immediately before the time of disposition, the common shares will generally not constitute taxable Canadian property to a Non-resident Holder at that time unless, at any time during the five-year period immediately preceding that time, 25% or more of the issued shares of any class or series of a class of the capital stock of Thomson Reuters Corporation was owned by the Non-resident Holder, by persons with whom the Non-resident Holder did not deal at arm’s length, or by the Non-resident Holder and any such persons. Common shares can be deemed to be taxable Canadian property in certain circumstances set out in the Tax Act (Canada). In the event the common shares constitute “taxable Canadian property” to a particular Non-resident Holder, a capital gain realized on the disposition of such common shares will generally be exempt from tax under the Tax Act (Canada) if the Non-resident Holder is entitled to benefits under the Treaty.

Certain UK Tax Considerations for Shareholders of Thomson Reuters PLC

The following is a summary of certain limited aspects of the UK taxation treatment of certain holders of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares. This summary is based on current UK tax law and the current published practice of HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC).

This summary applies only to Thomson Reuters PLC shareholders who hold their Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares as an investment and who are the absolute beneficial owners of those shares. This summary is a general guide only and does not deal with certain types of shareholders, such as intermediaries, brokers, persons holding or acquiring shares in the course of trade, persons who have or could be treated as having acquired their shares by reason of their employment, persons who hold their shares under an individual savings account, collective investment schemes and insurance companies.

Thomson Reuters PLC shareholders who are in any doubt about their taxation position, or who are resident or otherwise subject to taxation in a jurisdiction outside the UK, should consult their own tax advisors having regard to their particular circumstances.

DIVIDENDS

Under current UK tax law, Thomson Reuters PLC is not required to withhold tax at source from dividend payments it makes.

UK Resident Individuals

An individual shareholder who is resident in the UK for tax purposes and who receives a dividend from Thomson Reuters PLC will be entitled to a tax credit which may be set off against the individual’s total income tax liability on the dividend. Such an individual shareholder’s liability to income tax is calculated on the aggregate of the dividend and the tax credit (the “gross dividend”) which will be regarded as the top slice of the individual’s income. The tax credit will be equal to 10% of the “gross dividend” (i.e. the tax credit will be one-ninth of the amount of the dividend).

A UK resident individual shareholder who is not liable to income tax in respect of the gross dividend will not be entitled to reclaim any part of the tax credit. A UK resident shareholder who is liable to income tax at the basic rate will be subject to income tax on the dividend at the rate of 10% of the gross dividend so that the tax credit will satisfy in full such shareholder’s liability to income tax on the dividend. A UK resident individual shareholder liable to income tax at the higher rate will be subject to income tax on the gross dividend at 32.5% but will be able to set the tax credit off against part of this liability. The effect of that set off of the tax credit is that such a shareholder will have to account for additional tax equal to one quarter of the net cash dividend received.

UK Resident Companies

A corporate shareholder resident in the UK for tax purposes will not normally be subject to corporation tax on any dividend received from Thomson Reuters PLC. Such corporate shareholders will not be able to claim repayment of the tax credit attaching to any dividend.

On December 9, 2008, HMRC and HM Treasury issued draft legislation for consultation in relation to the taxation of dividends (including those paid by a UK resident company) with a view to implementing these reforms in Finance Bill 2009. If implemented, dividends received by a UK company from another UK resident company would be taxable subject to a number of exemptions. It has been indicated that the draft legislation has been released at an earlier stage than is normal and that the clauses that ultimately appear in the Finance Bill are likely to differ from the draft clauses that have been published. In the current published draft of the legislation there are a number of exemptions. It is expected that generally one of these exemptions may apply to exempt a UK resident corporate shareholder from tax on the receipt of any dividend received from Thomson Reuters PLC in respect of the ordinary shares.

Non-Residents

Subject to certain exceptions for individuals who are Commonwealth citizens, residents of the Isle of Man or the Channel Islands, nationals of States which are part of the European Economic Area and certain others, the right of a shareholder who is not resident in the United Kingdom (for tax purposes) to a tax credit on dividends received from Thomson Reuters PLC will depend upon the existence and terms of any double tax treaty between the UK and the country in which that person is resident. Such shareholders should note, however, that in practice most shareholders will not be able to claim repayment in respect of tax credits or will be entitled to only a minimal repayment.

Persons who are not solely resident in the United Kingdom should consult their own tax advisers concerning their tax liabilities (in the United Kingdom and any other country) on dividends received, whether they are entitled to claim any part of the tax credit and, if so, the procedure for doing so, and whether any double taxation relief is due in any country in which they are subject to tax.

CAPITAL GAINS ON DISPOSITIONS

UK Residents (Including Persons Ordinarily Resident in the UK)

A disposal of ordinary shares by a shareholder who is either resident or ordinarily resident in the UK for tax purposes may, depending on the shareholder's circumstances and subject to any available exemptions and relief, give rise to a chargeable gain or an allowable loss for the purposes of the taxation of capital gains.

Non-Residents

Subject as follows, a disposal of ordinary shares by a shareholder who is not UK resident or ordinarily resident in the UK for tax purposes should not give rise to a chargeable gain or an allowable loss for the purposes of the taxation of capital gains.

A disposal of ordinary shares by a shareholder who is not UK resident or ordinarily resident in the UK but who carries on a trade, profession or vocation in the UK through a permanent establishment, branch or agency and has used, held or acquired the ordinary shares for the purposes of such trade, profession or vocation or such permanent establishment, branch or agency, may, depending on the shareholder's circumstances and subject to any available exemptions and relief, give rise to a chargeable gain or an allowable loss for the purposes of the taxation of capital gains.

A shareholder who is an individual and who has ceased to be resident or ordinarily resident in the UK for tax purposes for a period of less than five complete tax years and who disposes of ordinary shares during that period may also be liable on the individual's return to the UK to tax on any capital gain realised (subject to any available exemption or relief). This rule also applies to individuals who have not ceased to be resident or ordinarily resident in the UK but who, on or after March 16, 2005, have become non-UK resident pursuant to the application of a double taxation treaty.

Persons who are not solely resident in the United Kingdom should consult their own tax advisers concerning their tax liabilities (in the United Kingdom and any other country) on any disposal of ordinary shares, and whether any double taxation relief is due in any country in which they are subject to tax.

STAMP DUTY AND STAMP DUTY RESERVE TAX

An instrument of transfer of an ADS is not subject to UK stamp duty, provided that it is executed and retained outside the UK and does not relate to any matter or thing done, or to be done, in the UK. An agreement to transfer ADSs in the form of depositary receipts will not give rise to a liability to stamp duty reserve tax (SDRT).

Subject to an exemption for certain low value transactions, the conveyance or transfer on sale of ordinary shares (as opposed to ADSs) outside the CREST system will generally be subject to ad valorem stamp duty on the instrument of transfer at the rate of 0.5% of the amount or value of the consideration given (rounded up to the nearest £5). Stamp duty is normally the liability of the purchaser or transferee of the ordinary shares. An unconditional agreement to transfer ordinary shares will normally give rise to a charge to SDRT at the rate of 0.5% of the amount or value of the consideration for the ordinary shares. However, where within six years of the date of the agreement, an instrument of transfer is executed and duly stamped, the SDRT liability will be cancelled and any SDRT which has been paid will be repaid. SDRT is normally the liability of the purchaser or transferee of the ordinary shares.

Where ordinary shares are transferred (i) to, or to a nominee for, a person whose business is or includes the provision of clearance services or (ii) to, or to a nominee or agent for, a person whose business is or includes issuing depositary receipts, stamp duty or SDRT may be payable at a rate of 1.5% of the amount or value of the consideration payable or, in certain circumstances, the value of the ordinary shares. Clearance service providers may opt, under certain circumstances, for the normal rates of stamp duty and SDRT to apply to a transfer of ordinary shares into, and to transactions within, the service instead of the higher rate applying to an issue or transfer of the ordinary shares into the clearance system and the exemption for dealings in the ordinary shares while in the system.

Under the CREST system for paperless share transfers, deposits of ordinary shares into CREST will generally not be subject to stamp duty or SDRT unless such a transfer is made for a consideration in money or money's worth, in which case a liability to SDRT will arise usually at the rate of 0.5% of the amount or value of the consideration. Paperless transfers of ordinary shares within CREST are generally liable to SDRT, rather than stamp duty, at the rate of 0.5% of the amount or value of the consideration. CREST is obliged to collect SDRT from the purchaser of the ordinary shares on relevant transactions settled within the system.

A conveyance or transfer otherwise than on sale of the underlying ordinary shares represented by ADSs from the custodian of the depositary or the depositary to an ADS holder upon cancellation of the ADS will not be subject to ad valorem stamp duty or SDRT.

Certain US Income Tax Considerations for US Shareholders of Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC

The following discussion is a summary of the material US federal income tax consequences of the ownership and disposition of Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares or Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares or ADSs by a US holder (as defined below). The summary only applies to a US holder who holds such shares as capital assets and does not take into account the specific circumstances of any particular US holder, some of which may be subject to special rules, such as dealers in securities, US holders who hold directly or indirectly 10% or more of the voting stock or US holders who elected to apply the provisions of the former income tax convention between the United States and the United Kingdom. The summary is based on the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, its legislative history, existing and proposed regulations, published rulings and court decisions, as appropriate, all of which are subject to change at any time, possibly with retrospective effect.

For the purposes of this discussion, a "US holder" is any beneficial owner of common shares, ordinary shares or ADSs that is (i) a citizen or resident for tax purposes of the US, (ii) a corporation organized under the laws of the US or any US State, (iii) an estate the income of which is subject to US federal income tax without regard to its source, or (iv) a trust if a court within the US is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of the trust and one or more US persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust.

There is little or no guidance as to the proper characterization for US federal income tax purposes of the DLC structure. In the absence of any such guidance, Thomson Reuters intends to treat the DLC structure for US federal income tax purposes in accordance with its form and does not intend to re-characterize the DLC structure as a joint venture between Thomson Reuters PLC shareholders and Thomson Reuters Corporation shareholders, or as between Thomson Reuters PLC and Thomson Reuters Corporation themselves, or otherwise.

DIVIDENDS

The gross amount of any dividend paid by Thomson Reuters PLC or Thomson Reuters Corporation to a US holder generally will be subject to US federal income taxation. Such a dividend will not be eligible for the dividends-received deduction generally allowed to US corporations with respect to dividends from other US corporations. If a US holder elects to receive dividends in pound sterling or Canadian dollars, the amount of the dividend to be included in income will be the US dollar value of the pound sterling or Canadian dollar payments made, as applicable, determined at the spot pound sterling/US dollar rate or the spot Canadian dollar/US dollar rate, as applicable, on the date of the dividend distribution, regardless of whether the payment is in fact converted into US dollars. Upon any subsequent exchange of such Canadian dollars or pounds sterling for U.S. dollars, a US holder will recognize foreign currency gain or loss, which is treated as ordinary income or loss, equal to the difference, if any, between the US holder's tax basis for the Canadian dollars or pounds sterling, as applicable, and the amount of U.S. dollars received.

Qualified Dividend Income

An individual US holder's "qualified dividend income" is subject to tax at a reduced rate of 15% provided that the common shares, ordinary shares or ADSs, as applicable, are held for at least 61 days of the 121 day period beginning on the date which is 60 days before the ex-dividend date and the holder meets other holding period requirements. It is not entirely clear whether US holders of Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares would be able to qualify for the reduced rate. A dividend distribution to a US holder of Thomson Reuters PLC's ADSs or Thomson Reuters Corporation's common shares should qualify for the reduced rate, assuming Thomson Reuters PLC or Thomson Reuters Corporation, as applicable, is not a "passive foreign investment company" (PFIC).

In any case, dividend distributions with respect to Thomson Reuters PLC or Thomson Reuters Corporation will not qualify for the reduced rate if Thomson Reuters PLC or Thomson Reuters Corporation, as applicable, is treated for the tax year in which dividends are paid (or for the prior year), as a PFIC for US federal income tax purposes. As discussed below, neither Thomson Reuters PLC nor Thomson Reuters Corporation believes it is or has been a PFIC. Accordingly, Thomson Reuters PLC and Thomson Reuters Corporation believe that dividends paid with respect to the common shares, ADSs, and possibly with respect to the ordinary shares, will be "qualified dividend income" and, subject to the US holder's satisfaction of the holding period requirements described above, should be eligible for the reduced 15% US federal income tax rate. Dividends paid by Thomson Reuters PLC or Thomson Reuters Corporation generally will be foreign source passive income for US foreign tax credit purposes.

CAPITAL GAINS ON DISPOSITIONS

Subject to the PFIC rules discussed below, for US federal income tax purposes a US holder will recognize capital gain or loss upon the sale or other disposition of common shares, ordinary shares or ADSs equal to the difference between the amount realized and such holder's tax basis in the common shares, ordinary shares or ADSs. Under current law, capital gain of a non-corporate US holder that is recognized in taxable years beginning before January 1, 2011 generally is taxed at a maximum rate of 15% where the holder has a holding period greater than one year. The gain or loss generally will be income or loss from sources within the US for US foreign tax credit purposes.

US PFIC Status

If a foreign company is a PFIC, based on either an income test or an asset test, then certain distributions and gains can be allocated ratably over a US shareholder's holding period, with the effect that the amount allocated to the current taxable year and any taxable year before the company became a PFIC would be taxable as ordinary income in the current year and the amount allocated to other taxable years would be taxed at the highest rate in effect for that year on ordinary income. The tax is also subject to an interest charge to recover the deemed benefit from the deferred payment of the tax attributable to each such year. Each of Thomson Reuters PLC and Thomson Reuters Corporation reasonably believes that it is not and has not been a PFIC, and neither Thomson Reuters PLC nor Thomson Reuters Corporation reasonably anticipates that it will become a PFIC. However, the tests for determining PFIC status are applied annually and it is difficult to make accurate predictions of future income and assets, which are relevant to this determination. In addition, the application of the PFIC rules to the DLC structure is uncertain and involves some risk that the IRS will consider Thomson Reuters PLC to be a PFIC.

Accordingly, neither Thomson Reuters PLC nor Thomson Reuters Corporation can assure US holders that the IRS would agree that each of Thomson Reuters PLC and Thomson Reuters Corporation is not and has not been a PFIC. Nor can either of Thomson Reuters PLC and Thomson Reuters Corporation assure US holders that it will not become a PFIC. A US holder is urged to consult its own tax advisor about the PFIC rules, including the consequences to such holder of making a mark-to-market election with respect to Thomson Reuters PLC ordinary shares and ADSs, or with respect to Thomson Reuters Corporation common shares, in the event that Thomson Reuters PLC or Thomson Reuters Corporation, as applicable, qualifies as a PFIC.

US Information Reporting and Backup Withholding

A US holder is generally subject to information reporting requirements with respect to dividends paid in the US on common shares, ordinary shares or ADSs and disposal proceeds realized from the sale, exchange, redemption or other disposal of common shares, ordinary shares or ADSs. In addition, a US holder is subject to backup withholding (currently at a rate of 28%) on dividends paid in the US on common shares, ordinary shares or ADSs and disposal proceeds realized from the sale, exchange, redemption or other disposal of common shares, ordinary shares or ADSs unless the US holder is a corporation, provides an IRS Form W-9 or otherwise establishes a basis for exemption. Backup withholding is not an additional tax. The amount of any backup withholding will be allowed as a credit against a US holder's US federal income tax liability and may be refunded, provided that certain information is furnished to the IRS.

- (c) one Reuters founders share of £1 (the "Reuters Founders Share").

4. VARIATION OF RIGHTS

4.1 Consents required for variation

Whenever the share capital of the Company is divided into different classes of shares, the special rights attached to any class may, subject to the provisions of the Applicable Laws, be varied or abrogated either with the consent in writing of the holders of three-quarters in nominal value of the issued shares of the class (excluding any shares of that class held as treasury shares) or with the sanction of a Special Resolution passed at a separate general meeting of the holders of the shares of the class (but not otherwise) and may be so varied or abrogated either while the Company is a going concern or during or in contemplation of a winding-up but so that the rights attached to the Reuters Founders Share shall not be capable of being varied or abrogated in any respect whatsoever without the prior written consent of the holder of the Reuters Founders Share. To every such separate general meeting all the provisions of these Articles relating to general meetings of the Company and to the proceedings thereat shall apply, except that the necessary quorum shall be two persons at least holding or representing by proxy at least one-third in nominal value of the issued shares of the class (excluding any shares of that class held as treasury shares) (but that at any adjourned meeting any holder of shares of the class present in person or by proxy shall be a quorum) and that any holder of shares of the class present in person or by proxy may demand a poll and that every such holder shall, subject as otherwise provided by these Articles, on a poll have one vote for every share of the class held by him. The foregoing provisions of this Article shall, subject to paragraph 4.2 below, apply to the variation or abrogation of the special rights attached to some only of the shares of any class as if each group of shares of the class differently treated formed a separate class the special rights whereof are to be varied.

4.2 When shares not a separate class

Shares of a class shall not be treated as forming a separate class from other shares of that class merely because any of the following apply to them:

- 4.2.1 the restrictions set out in section 454 of the CA 1985;
- 4.2.2 suspension of voting rights or rights to receive dividends or other distributions pursuant to these Articles;

- 4.2.3 any requirement pursuant to these Articles that a person dispose of such shares or any Interest in them;
- 4.2.4 any provisions of these Articles enabling the Directors to dispose of such shares or requiring the Directors not to register transfers of such shares;
- 4.2.5 they are enabled or permitted in accordance with the Uncertificated Securities Regulations to become a Participating Security, or cease to be a Participating Security; or
- 4.2.6 any shares of that class are from time to time held in uncertificated form.

4.3 Rights not varied by issue of further shares or permission to hold or transfer Uncertificated Shares; exception for Reuters Founders Share

The special rights attached to any class of shares having preferential rights shall not unless otherwise expressly provided by the terms of issue thereof be deemed to be varied by the creation or issue of further shares ranking as regards participation in the profits or assets of the Company in some or all respects pari passu therewith but in no respect in priority thereto, or by the Company permitting, in accordance with the Uncertificated Securities Regulations, the holding and transfer of shares of any class in uncertificated form by means of a Relevant System. The special rights attached to the Reuters Founders Share shall be deemed to be varied by the creation or issue of any further Reuters Founders Share.

5. ALTERATION OF SHARE CAPITAL

5.1 Company may increase capital; consent of the holder of the Reuters Founders Share required for creation of shares with voting rights not identical to those of Ordinary Shares

The Company may from time to time by Ordinary Resolution increase its capital by such sum to be divided into shares of such amounts as the resolution shall prescribe. All new shares created on any such increase of capital shall be subject to the provisions of the Applicable Laws and of these Articles with reference to allotment, payment of calls, lien, transfer, transmission, forfeiture and otherwise. No such new share shall, without the prior written consent of the holder of the Reuters Founders Share, have attached thereto (either at the time of the creation thereof or at any subsequent time) any rights in respect of voting which are not identical in all respects with those attached to the Ordinary Shares.

5.2 Company may consolidate, cancel and subdivide shares (other than the Reuters Founders Share)

The Company may by Ordinary Resolution:

- 5.2.1 consolidate and divide all or any of its capital (other than the Reuters Founders Share) into shares of larger amounts than its existing shares;
- 5.2.2 cancel any shares (other than the Reuters Founders Share) which, at the date of the passing of the resolution, have not been taken, or agreed to be taken, by any person and diminish the amount of its capital by the amount of the shares so cancelled;
- 5.2.3 sub-divide its shares, or any of them (other than the Reuters Founders Share), into shares of smaller amount than is fixed by the Memorandum of Association (subject nevertheless to the provisions of the Applicable Laws), and so that the resolution whereby any share is sub-divided may determine that, as between the holders of the shares resulting from such sub-division, one or more of the shares may, as compared with the others, have any such preferred, deferred or other special rights, or be subject to any such restrictions, as the Company has power to attach to unissued or new shares.

5.3 Fractional entitlements to shares

If, as the result of consolidation and division or sub-division of shares, shareholders become entitled to fractions of a share, the Directors may on behalf of the shareholders deal with the fractions as they think fit. In particular, the Directors (treating holdings of the same shareholder or shareholders of Certificated Shares and Uncertificated Shares of the same class as if they were separate holdings, unless the Directors otherwise determine) may:

- 5.3.1 sell fractions of a share to a person (including, subject to the Applicable Laws, to the Company) for the best price reasonably obtainable and distribute the net proceeds of sale in due proportion amongst the persons entitled (except that if the amount due to a person is less than £3, or such other sum as the Board of Directors may decide, the sum may be retained for the benefit of the Company). To give effect to a sale the Directors may authorise a person to execute an instrument of transfer of Certificated Shares or, in respect of Uncertificated Shares, the Directors may exercise any of the powers conferred on the Company by Article 9 to effect transfer of the shares to the purchaser or his nominee to be entered in the Register as the holder of the shares. The purchaser is not bound to see to the application of the purchase money and the title of the transferee to the shares is not affected by an irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings connected with the sale; or
- 5.3.2 subject to the Applicable Laws, issue to a shareholder credited as fully paid by way of capitalisation the minimum number of shares required to round up his holding of shares to a number which, following consolidation and division or sub-division, leaves a whole number of shares (such issue being deemed to have been effected immediately before consolidation or sub-division, as the case may be). The amount required to pay up those shares may be capitalised as the Directors think fit out of amounts standing to the credit of reserves (including a share premium account, capital redemption reserve and profit and loss account), whether or not available for distribution, and applied in paying up in full the appropriate number of shares. A resolution of the Directors capitalising part of the reserves has the same effect as if the capitalisation had been declared by Ordinary Resolution of the Company pursuant to Article 43. In relation to the capitalisation the Board of Directors may exercise all the powers conferred on it by Article 43 without an Ordinary Resolution of the Company.

5.4 Company may purchase its own shares (other than the Reuters Founders Share)

Subject to the provisions of the Applicable Laws, the Company may purchase, or enter into a contract under which it may become entitled or obliged to purchase, any of its own shares (including any redeemable shares) other than the Reuters Founders Share. Every contract for the purchase by the Company of, or under which it may become entitled or obliged to purchase, its own shares shall, in addition to such authorisation as may be required by the Applicable Laws, be sanctioned by a Special Resolution passed at a separate general meeting of the holders of each class of shares in issue convertible into equity share capital of the Company.

5.5 Company may reduce its capital – exception regarding the Reuters Founders Share

The Company may reduce its share capital or any capital redemption reserve, share premium account or other undistributable reserve in any manner and with and subject to any incident authorised and consent required by law but this Article shall not apply in any way whatsoever to the Reuters Founders Share.

Provided always that, without the prior written consent of the holder of the Reuters Founders Share, no share shall be capable of being issued having attached thereto any rights which are not identical in all respects with those attached to the Ordinary Shares.

Provided always that, without the prior written consent of the holder of the Reuters Founders Share, the Directors shall not allot, grant any option over or otherwise dispose of any share having attached thereto any rights in respect of voting which are not identical in all respects with those attached to the Ordinary Shares.

- (a) in connection with a rights issue; and
- (b) otherwise than in connection with a rights issue, up to an aggregate nominal amount equal to the section 89 amount;

as if section 89(1) of the CA 1985 does not apply to any such allotment or sale.

6.4.2 By the authority and power conferred by paragraph 6.3 and subparagraph 6.4.1 above, the Board of Directors may during a prescribed period make an offer or agreement which would or might require equity securities or other relevant securities to be allotted after the prescribed period and may allot securities in pursuance of that offer or agreement.

- (d) "section 80 amount" means, for any prescribed period, the amount stated in the relevant Ordinary or Special Resolution or, in either case, another amount fixed by resolution of the Company;

- (f) the nominal amount of securities is, in the case of rights to subscribe for or convert any securities into shares of the Company, the nominal amount of shares which may be allotted pursuant to those rights.

6.5 Company may pay commissions and brokerages

The Company may exercise the powers of paying commissions conferred by the Applicable Laws to the full extent thereby permitted. The Company may also on any issue of shares or sale of shares in the Company (if, immediately before the sale, the shares were held by the Company as treasury shares) pay such brokerage as may be lawful.

6.6 Company may recognise renunciations of allotments

The Directors may at any time after the allotment of any share but before any person has been entered in the Register as the holder recognise a renunciation thereof by the allottee in favour of some other person and may accord to any allottee of a share a right to effect such renunciation upon and subject to such terms and conditions as the Directors may think fit to impose.

6.7 Company not bound to recognise trusts of shares

Except as required by Applicable Laws, or pursuant to any of the provisions of these Articles, no person shall be recognised by the Company as holding any share upon any trust, and the Company shall not be bound by or compelled in any way to recognise any equitable, contingent, future or partial Interest in any shares, or any Interest in any fractional part of a share, or (except only as by these Articles or by Applicable Laws otherwise provided) any other right in respect of any share, except an absolute right to the entirety thereof in the registered holder.

- 11.3.4 The Special Voting Share shall not entitle the holder to any further rights of participation in the profits of the Company.

- 11.5.4 On the redemption date the Company shall redeem the Special Voting Share and pay to the holder the Redemption Price.
- 11.5.5 As from the relevant redemption date of the Special Voting Share the Special Voting Share dividend shall cease to accrue on the Special Voting Share.

The provisions of paragraphs 13.1 to 13.9 (inclusive) shall not apply so as to require the Company to issue to any person a certificate in respect of any share where such person holds such share in uncertificated form.

14. CALLS ON SHARES

14.1 Directors may make calls for amounts unpaid on shares

The Directors may from time to time make calls upon the shareholders in respect of any moneys unpaid on their shares (whether on account of the nominal value of the shares or, when permitted, by way of premium) but subject always to the terms of issue of such shares. A call shall be deemed to have been made at the time when the resolution of the Directors authorising the call was passed and may be made payable by instalments.

14.2 Obligation to pay calls

Each shareholder shall (subject to receiving at least 14 clear days' notice specifying the time or times and place of payment) pay to the Company at the time or times and place so specified the amount called on his shares. The joint holders of a share shall be jointly and severally liable to pay all calls in respect thereof. A call may be revoked or postponed as the Directors may determine.

14.3 Interest on unpaid calls

If a sum called in respect of a share is not paid before or on the day appointed for payment thereof, the person from whom the sum is due shall pay interest on the sum from the day appointed for payment thereof to the time of actual payment at such rate (not exceeding 15% per annum) as the Directors determine but the Directors shall be at liberty in any case or cases to waive payment of such interest wholly or in part.

14.4 Calls deemed to be made when so provided by terms of issue of shares

Any sum (whether on account of the nominal value of the share or by way of premium) which by the terms of issue of a share becomes payable upon allotment or at any fixed date shall for all the purposes of these Articles be deemed to be a call duly made and payable on the date on which by the terms of issue the same becomes payable. In case of non-payment all the relevant provisions of these Articles as to payment of interest and expenses, forfeiture or otherwise shall apply as if such sum had become payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

14.5 Directors' discretion as to amounts and times of calls on issue of shares

The Directors may on the issue of shares differentiate between the holders as to the amount of calls to be paid and the times of payment.

14.6 Directors may accept and pay interest on moneys in advance of calls

The Directors may if they think fit receive from any shareholder willing to advance the same all or any part of the moneys (whether on account of the nominal value of the share or by way of premium) uncalled and unpaid upon the shares held by him and such payment in advance of calls shall extinguish to the extent of the payment the liability upon the shares in respect of which it is made and upon the money so received (until and to the extent that the same would but for such advance become payable) the Company may pay interest at such rate (not exceeding 15% per annum) as the shareholder paying such sum and the Directors may agree.

15. FORFEITURE AND LIEN

15.1 Directors may serve payment notice in respect of unpaid calls

If a shareholder fails to pay in full any call or instalment of a call on the due date for payment thereof, the Directors may at any time thereafter serve a notice on him requiring payment of so much of the call or instalment as is unpaid together with any interest which may have accrued thereon and any expenses incurred by the Company by reason of such non-payment.

15.2 Notice to provide for forfeiture of shares

The notice shall name a further day (not being less than seven days from the date of service of the notice) on or before which and the place where the payment required by the notice is to be made, and shall state that in the event of non-payment in accordance therewith the shares on which the call has been made will be liable to be forfeited.

15.3 Forfeiture of shares

If the requirements of any such notice as aforesaid are not complied with, any share in respect of which such notice has been given may at any time thereafter, before payment of all calls and interest and expenses due in respect thereof has been made, be forfeited by a resolution of the Directors to that effect. Such forfeiture shall include all dividends declared in respect of the forfeited share and not actually paid before forfeiture. The Directors may accept a surrender of any share liable to be forfeited hereunder.

15.4 Forfeited or surrendered share the property of the Company

A share so forfeited or surrendered shall become the property of the Company and may be sold, re-allotted or otherwise disposed of either to the person who was before such forfeiture or surrender the holder thereof or entitled thereto or to any other person upon such terms and in such manner as the Directors shall think fit, and at any time before a sale, re-allotment or disposition the forfeiture or surrender may be cancelled on such terms as the Directors think fit. The Directors may, if necessary, authorise some person to transfer a forfeited or surrendered share to any such other person as aforesaid.

15.5 Ex-shareholder to remain liable for moneys unpaid on forfeited shares

A shareholder whose shares have been forfeited or surrendered shall cease to be a shareholder in respect of the shares but shall notwithstanding the forfeiture or surrender remain liable to pay the Company all moneys which at the date of forfeiture or surrender were presently payable by him to the Company in respect of the shares with interest thereon at 15% per annum (or such lower rate as the Directors may determine) from the date of forfeiture or surrender until such payment and the Directors may at their absolute discretion enforce payment without allowance for the value of the shares at the time of forfeiture or surrender or waive payment in whole or in part.

15.6 Company to have lien on shares not fully paid

The Company shall have a first and paramount lien on every share (not being a fully paid share) for all moneys (whether presently payable or not) called or payable at a fixed time in respect of such share. The Directors may waive any lien which has arisen and may resolve that any shares for some limited period be exempt wholly or partially from the provisions of this Article.

15.7 Company's power of sale under lien

The Company may sell in such manner as the Directors think fit any share on which the Company has a lien, but no sale shall be made unless some sum in respect of which the lien exists is presently payable nor until the expiration of 14 clear days after a notice stating and demanding payment of the sum presently payable and giving notice of intention to sell in default shall have been given to the holder for the time being of the share or the person entitled thereto by reason of his death or bankruptcy.

15.8 Application of sale proceeds

The net proceeds of such sale after payment of the costs of such sale shall be applied in or towards payment or satisfaction of the debts or liabilities in respect whereof the lien exists so far as the same are then payable and any residue shall, upon surrender to the Company for cancellation of the certificate for the share sold or the provision of any indemnity (with or without security) required by the Directors as to any lost or destroyed certificate and subject to a like lien for debts or liabilities not presently payable as existed upon the share prior to the sale, be paid to the person entitled to the share at the time of the sale. For the purpose of giving effect to any such sale the Directors may authorise some person to transfer the share sold to, or in accordance with the directions of, the purchaser.

15.9 Title to shares sold under lien or after forfeiture

A statutory declaration in writing that the declarant is a Director or the Secretary of the Company and that a share has been duly forfeited or surrendered or sold to satisfy a lien of the Company on a date stated in the declaration shall be conclusive evidence of the facts therein stated as against all persons claiming to be entitled to the share. Such declaration and the receipt of the Company for the consideration (if any) given for the share on the sale, re-allotment or disposal thereof together with the share certificate delivered to a purchaser or allottee thereof shall (subject to the execution of a transfer if the same be required) constitute a good title to the share and the person to whom the share is sold, re-allotted or disposed of shall be registered as the holder of the share and shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase money (if any) nor shall his title to the share be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings relating to the forfeiture, surrender, sale, re-allotment or disposal of the share.

If the Directors refuse to register a renounceable letter of allotment or a transfer of a Certificated Share they shall within two months after the date on which the letter of allotment or transfer was lodged with the Company send to the allottee or transferee notice of the refusal.

16.6 Directors may refuse to register transfers of Certificated Shares of more than one class of share, unstamped transfers or transfers unaccompanied by proof of transferor's title

The Directors may also decline to recognise any instrument of transfer in respect of Certificated Shares (which for the purposes of these Articles shall include a renunciation of a renounceable letter of allotment) unless the instrument of transfer is in respect of only one class of share, is duly stamped (if required) and is lodged at the Transfer Office accompanied by the relevant share certificate(s) (except in the case of a renunciation and as described below) and such other evidence as the Directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer (and, if the instrument of transfer is executed by some other person on his behalf, the authority of that person so to do). In the case of a transfer by a recognised clearing house or a nominee of a recognised clearing house or of a recognised investment exchange the lodgment of share certificates will only be necessary if and to the extent that certificates have been issued in respect of the shares in question.

16.7 Registration of transfers of Uncertificated Shares

The Company shall register a transfer of title to any Uncertificated Share or any renounceable right of allotment of a share which is a Participating Security held in uncertificated form, but so that the Directors may refuse to register such a transfer in favour of more than four persons jointly or in any other circumstance permitted by the Uncertificated Securities Regulations.

The net proceeds of sale shall belong to the Company which shall be obliged to account to the former shareholder or other person previously entitled as aforesaid for an amount equal to such proceeds and shall enter the name of such former shareholder or other person in the books of the Company as a creditor for such amount which shall be a permanent debt of the Company. For the purposes of serving notices of meetings, whether under section 308 of the CA 2006 or any other enactment or under these Articles, the Directors may determine that persons entitled to receive such notices are those persons entered on the Register at the close of business on a day determined by the Directors, provided that, if the Company is a Participating Issuer, the day determined by the Directors may not be more than 21 days before the day that the relevant notice of meeting is sent.

- 21.3 Accidental non-delivery of notice to or non-receipt of notice by any person (except to the holder of the Reuters Founders Share) not to invalidate proceedings at meeting
- 21.3.1 Accidental omission to give any notice to any shareholder, Director, auditor or member of a committee of the Board of Directors, non receipt of any notice or any error in a notice not affecting the substance thereof shall not invalidate any action taken at any meeting held pursuant to such notice.

Changes to entries on the Register after the time so specified in the notice shall be disregarded in determining the rights of any person to so attend or vote.

22. PROCEEDINGS AT GENERAL MEETINGS

22.1 Directors may attend and speak at general meetings

A Director is entitled to attend and speak at a general meeting and at a separate general meeting of the holders of a class of shares or debentures whether or not he is a shareholder.

22.2 Directors may make provision for persons (other than the holder of the Reuters Founders Share) to attend general meetings at satellite venues

The Directors may resolve to enable persons entitled to attend a general meeting (other than the representative or proxy of the holder of the Reuters Founders Share) to do so by attending at a satellite meeting place anywhere in the world and the shareholders present in person or by proxy at satellite meeting places shall be counted in the quorum for and entitled to vote at the meeting, and the meeting shall be duly constituted and its proceedings valid provided that (a) in the case of any general meeting falling within subparagraph 25.7.2, the holder of the Reuters Founders Share has given its prior written consent, and (b) the Chairman of the general meeting is satisfied that adequate facilities are available throughout the general meeting to ensure that shareholders attending at all the meeting places are able to (i) participate in the business for which the meeting has been convened, (ii) hear and see all persons present at and who speak (whether by the use of microphones, loudspeakers, audio-visual communications equipment or otherwise) in the principal meeting place, any satellite meeting place or elsewhere in accordance with paragraph 22.5 below, and (iii) be heard and seen by all other persons so present in the same way. The Chairman of the general meeting shall be present at, and the meeting shall be deemed to take place at, the principal meeting place.

22.3 Discretion of Chairman to interrupt or adjourn general meetings

If it appears to the Chairman of the general meeting that the facilities at the principal meeting place or any satellite meeting place have become inadequate for the purposes referred to in paragraph 22.2 above, then the Chairman may, without the consent of the meeting, interrupt or adjourn the general meeting for such time and/or to such other place as the Chairman of the general meeting may in his absolute discretion determine. All business conducted at that general meeting up to the time of such adjournment shall be valid.

22.4 Directors may arrange for persons to hear, see and speak at general meetings by audio-visual means

The Directors may make arrangements for persons entitled to attend a general meeting to be able to view and/or hear the proceedings of any general meeting and/or to speak at the meeting (whether by the use of microphones, loudspeakers, audio-visual communications equipment or otherwise), by attending a venue anywhere in the world not being a satellite meeting place and those attending any such venue shall not be regarded as present and shall not be entitled to vote at the meeting at or from that venue and the inability for any reason of any shareholder present in person or by proxy at such a venue to view and/or hear all or any of the proceedings of the meeting and/or to speak at the meeting shall not in any way affect the validity of such proceedings.

22.5 Validity of meetings if accommodation inadequate

If it appears to the Chairman of the general meeting that any principal meeting place or satellite meeting place specified in the notice convening the meeting is inadequate to accommodate all shareholders entitled and wishing to attend, the meeting shall be duly constituted and its proceedings valid if (a) in the case of any general meeting falling within subparagraph 25.7.2, any representative or proxy of the holder of the Reuters Founders Share is allowed to be present at the principal meeting place, and (b) the Chairman is satisfied that adequate facilities are available to ensure that any other shareholder who is unable to be accommodated is able to (i) participate in the business for which the meeting has been convened, (ii) hear and see all persons present at and who speak (whether by the use of microphones, loudspeakers, audio-visual communications equipment or otherwise), in the principal meeting place, any satellite meeting place or elsewhere in accordance with this paragraph 22.5, and (iii) be heard and seen by all other persons so present in the same way.

22.6 Rights of shareholders to take part in general meetings

For the purposes of this Article, the right for a shareholder to participate in the business of any general meeting shall include, without limitation, the right to speak, vote on any show of hands, vote on any poll, be represented by a proxy, and the right to have access to all documents which are required by the Applicable Laws and these Articles to be made available at the meeting.

22.7 Chairman's power to adjourn in certain circumstances

Without prejudice to any other power which he may have under the provisions of these Articles or at common law, the Chairman of any general meeting may (without the consent of the meeting but, in the case of any general meeting falling within subparagraph 25.7.2, subject to the consent of any representative or proxy of the holder of the Reuters Founders Share) interrupt or adjourn a meeting if he is of the opinion that it has become necessary to do so in order to (i) secure the proper and orderly conduct of the meeting, or (ii) give all persons entitled to do so a reasonable opportunity of speaking and voting at the meeting, or (iii) ensure the proper disposal of the business of the meeting. Any such adjournment may be for such time as the Chairman of the meeting may in his absolute discretion determine, and the Chairman of the meeting shall have power to specify some other place for holding the meeting, notwithstanding that by reason of such adjournment some shareholders may be unable to be present at the adjourned meeting. Any such person may nevertheless execute a form of proxy for the adjourned meeting and if he shall do so and shall deliver the same to the Chairman of the adjourned meeting or to the Secretary of the Company, such proxy shall be valid notwithstanding that it is given at less notice than would otherwise be required under these Articles. In this Article references to notice include the use of electronic form and electronic means and publication on a website in accordance with the CA 2006 and the Applicable Laws.

22.8 Notice of adjournment not required

Save as hereinbefore expressly provided, it shall not be necessary to give any notice of an adjournment or of the business to be transacted at any adjourned meeting.

22.9 Amendments to resolutions

If an amendment shall be proposed to any resolution under consideration but shall in good faith be ruled out of order by the Chairman of the meeting the proceedings on the substantive resolution shall not be invalidated by any error in such ruling. In the case of a resolution duly proposed as a Special Resolution no amendment thereto (other than a mere clerical amendment to correct a patent error) may in any event be considered or voted upon.

22.10 Arrangements for security of general meetings

The Directors and, at any general meeting, the Chairman may make any arrangement and impose any restriction they consider appropriate to ensure the security and orderly conduct of a general meeting including, without limitation, the searching of the personal property of persons attending the meeting and the restriction of items that may be taken into the meeting place. The Directors and, at any general meeting, the Chairman is entitled to refuse entry to a meeting to a person (other than any representative or proxy of the holder of the Reuters Founders Share) who refuses to comply with these arrangements or restrictions.

23.1.2 on any poll every holder of Ordinary Shares who is present in person or by proxy shall have one vote for every Ordinary Share of which he is the holder.

23.2 Votes of joint holders

In the case of joint holders of a share the vote of the senior who tenders a vote, whether in person or by proxy, shall be accepted to the exclusion of the votes of the other joint holders and for this purpose seniority shall be determined by the order in which the names stand in the Register in respect of the share.

23.3 Votes by receivers and others on behalf of shareholders suffering from mental disorder

Where in England or elsewhere a receiver or other person (by whatever name called) has been appointed by any court claiming jurisdiction in that behalf to exercise powers with respect to the property or affairs of any shareholder on the ground (however formulated) of mental disorder, the Directors may in their absolute discretion, upon or subject to production of such evidence of the appointment as the Directors may require, permit such receiver or other person on behalf of such shareholder to vote in person or by proxy at any general meeting or to exercise any other right conferred by shareholdership in relation to meetings of the Company.

23.4 No shareholders to vote if sums unpaid on shares

No shareholder shall, unless the Directors otherwise determine, be entitled in respect of shares held by him to vote at a general meeting or meeting of the holders of any class of shares of the Company either personally or by proxy or to exercise any other right conferred by shareholdership in relation to meetings of the Company or of the holders of any class of shares of the Company if any call or other sum presently payable by him to the Company in respect of such shares remains unpaid.

23.5 Direction Notices to shareholders and others not entitled to vote because in default under section 793

If any shareholder, or any other person appearing to be Interested in shares held by such shareholder, has been duly served with a notice under section 793 of the CA 2006 and is in default for the prescribed period in supplying to the Company the information thereby required, then the Directors may in their absolute discretion at any time thereafter by notice (a "Direction Notice") to such shareholder direct that:

- 23.5.1 in respect of the shares in relation to which the default occurred (the "Default Shares") the shareholder shall not be entitled to attend or vote (either in person or by proxy) at a general meeting or at a separate general meeting of the holders of a class of shares or on a poll;
- 23.5.2 where the Default Shares represent at least 0.25% of the class of shares concerned (excluding any shares of that class held as treasury shares), then the Direction Notice may additionally direct that any of the following shall be effected:

- (a) in respect of the Default Shares any dividend or other money which would otherwise be payable on such shares shall be retained by the Company without any liability to pay interest thereon when such money is finally paid to the shareholder and any shares issued in lieu of dividend be withheld by the Company;
- (b) no transfer of any Default Shares which are held in certificated form shall be registered unless the transfer is an approved transfer or:
 - (i) the shareholder is not himself in default as regards supplying the information requested; and
 - (ii) the transfer is of part only of the shareholder's holding and when presented for registration is accompanied by a certificate from the shareholder in a form satisfactory to the Directors to the effect that after due and careful enquiry the shareholder is satisfied that no person in default as regards supplying such information is Interested in any of the shares the subject of the transfer; and
- (c) if the Directors so determine, the Company shall be entitled to require the holder of any such Default Shares which are held in uncertificated form, by notice in writing to the holder concerned, to change his holding of uncertificated Default Shares to certificated form within such period as may be specified in the notice and require such holder to continue to hold such Default Shares in certificated form for so long as the default subsists. The Directors may also appoint any person to take such other steps, by instruction by means of a Relevant System or otherwise, in the name of the holder of such Default Shares, to effect conversion of such shares to certificated form and such steps shall be as effective as if they had been taken by the registered holder of the uncertificated Default Shares.

The Company shall send to each other person appearing to be Interested in the shares the subject of any Direction Notice a copy of the notice, but the failure or omission by the Company to do so shall not invalidate such notice.

23.6 Cesser of effect of Direction Notices

Any Direction Notice shall cease to have effect seven days after the earlier of:

- 23.6.1 receipt by the Company of notice of an approved transfer, but only in relation to the shares transferred; and

23.7 Direction Notices and depositaries

Where any person appearing to be Interested in any shares has been served with a notice under section 793 of the CA 2006 and such shares are held by a recognised depositary, the provisions of this Article shall be deemed to apply only to those shares held by the recognised depositary in which such person appears to be Interested and references to default shares shall be construed accordingly.

23.8 Obligations of depositary under Direction Notice

Where the shareholder on whom a notice under section 793 of the CA 2006 has been served is a recognised depositary, the obligations of the recognised depositary acting in its capacity as such shall be limited to disclosing to the Company such information relating to any person appearing to be Interested in the shares held by it as has been recorded by the recognised depositary pursuant to the arrangements entered into by the Company or approved by the Directors pursuant to which it was appointed as a recognised depositary.

For the purposes of paragraphs 23.4 to 23.8:

- 23.9.1 a person shall be treated as appearing to be Interested in any shares if the shareholder holding such shares has given to the Company a notification under the said section 793 which either (a) names such person as being so Interested or (b) fails to establish the identities of those Interested in the shares and (after taking into account the said notification and any other relevant section 793 notification) the Company knows or has reasonable cause to believe that the person in question is or may be Interested in the shares;
- 23.9.2 the prescribed period in respect of any particular shareholder is 14 days from the date of service of the said notice under the said section 793;
- 23.9.3 a transfer of shares is an approved transfer if but only if:
- (a) it is a transfer of shares to an offeror by way or in pursuance of acceptance of a takeover offer (as defined in section 974 of the CA 2006); or
 - (b) the Directors are satisfied that the transfer is made pursuant to a sale of the whole of the beneficial ownership of the shares to a party unconnected with the shareholder and with other persons appearing to be Interested in such shares; or

- (c) the transfer results from a sale made through an investment exchange recognised by the Financial Services Authority under Part XVIII of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 or any other stock exchange outside the United Kingdom on which the Company's shares are normally traded;

23.9.4 a recognised depositary is an ADR Custodian or a trustee (acting in his capacity as such) of any employees' share scheme established by the Company where such scheme has been approved by the Directors for the purposes of this Article.

23.10 Saving for Directors' powers under section 794(1)

Nothing contained in this Article shall limit the power of the Directors under section 794(1) of the CA 2006.

23.11 Holder of the Reuters Founders Share may require Directors to serve notice under section 793 of the CA 2006 or a Direction Notice or to apply to Court under section 794(1) of the CA 2006

The holder of the Reuters Founders Share shall be entitled in its absolute discretion at any time and from time to time to serve or cause to be served upon the Company at the Office a requisition in writing requiring the Directors:

23.11.1 to serve in accordance with section 793 of the CA 2006 such notice or notices upon such person or respective persons as shall be specified in such requisition; and/or

23.11.2 to serve in accordance with paragraph 23.5 a Direction Notice or Notices upon such person or respective persons and applying such of the provisions of paragraph 23.5 as shall be specified in such requisition; and/or

23.11.3 to apply to the Court under section 794(1) of the CA 2006 for such order against such person or respective persons as shall be specified in such requisition, and the Directors shall be bound to comply with any such requisition as soon as practicable after service thereof as aforesaid.

23.12 Objections to admissibility of votes to be raised only at the relevant meeting – saving for votes of Reuters Founders Share

No objection shall be raised as to the admissibility of any vote except at the meeting or adjourned meeting at which the vote objected to is or may be given or tendered and every vote not disallowed at such meeting shall be valid for all purposes. Any such objection shall be referred to the Chairman of the meeting whose decision shall be final and conclusive save that no such decision shall be capable of prejudicing the effect of any valid exercise of any of the voting rights attached by these Articles to the Reuters Founders Share.

23.13 Votes on a poll may be given personally or by proxy

On a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy and a person entitled to more than one vote need not use all his votes or cast all the votes he uses in the same way.

23.14 Proxy need not be a shareholder

A proxy need not be a shareholder of the Company.

23.15 Requirements as to form of appointment of proxy

The appointment of a proxy shall be in writing in any usual or common form or in any other form which the Directors may approve:

23.15.1 in the case of an individual shall be signed by the appointor or his attorney; and

23.15.2 in the case of a corporation shall be either executed under its common seal or signed on its behalf by an attorney or a duly authorised officer of the corporation, or in the case of the holder of the Reuters Founders Share may be signed by any one of the Reuters Trustees.

The signature on such appointment need not be witnessed. Where an appointment of a proxy is signed on behalf of the appointor by an attorney, the letter or power of attorney or a duly certified copy thereof must (failing previous registration with the Company) be lodged with the appointment of the proxy pursuant to the next following Article, failing which the Chairman of the meeting may treat the instrument as invalid. In this Article references to in writing include the use of electronic means subject to any terms and conditions decided on by the Directors.

23.16 Proxy may exercise a shareholder's rights to attend, speak and vote

The appointment of a proxy shall be deemed to include the right to exercise all or any of the shareholder's rights to attend and to speak and vote at a meeting of the Company. This includes the right to demand or join in demanding a poll.

23.17 Validity of votes by proxies

A vote cast by proxy shall not be invalidated by the previous death or insanity of the principal or by the revocation of the appointment of the proxy or of the authority under which the appointment was made provided that no intimation in writing of such death, insanity or revocation shall have been received by the Company at the Transfer Office at least one hour before the commencement of the meeting or (in the case of a poll taken other than at or on the same day as the meeting or adjourned meeting) the time appointed for the taking of a poll at which the vote is cast. In this Article references to in writing include the use of electronic form and electronic means subject to any terms and conditions decided on by the Directors.

23A PROCEDURE FOR APPOINTMENT OF PROXY

23A.1 Lodgement of instruments of proxy other than by electronic communication

Save as otherwise provided in Article 25.5, an appointment of a proxy which is not contained in an electronic communication must be left at such place or one of such places (if any) as may be specified for that purpose in or by way of note to or in any document accompanying the notice convening the meeting (or, if no place is so specified, at the Transfer Office) not less than forty eight hours before the time appointed for the holding of the meeting or adjourned meeting or (in the case of a poll taken otherwise than at or on the same day as the meeting or adjourned meeting) for the taking of the poll at which it is to be used, and in default shall not be treated as valid.

23A.2 Lodgement of instruments of proxy by electronic communication

Save as otherwise provided in Article 25.5, an instrument of proxy which is contained in an electronic communication must be received at an address specified for the purpose of receiving electronic communications in the notice of the meeting or in the appointment of a proxy itself not less than forty eight hours before the time appointed for the holding of the meeting or adjourned meeting (in the case of a poll taken otherwise than at or on the same day as the meeting or adjourned meeting) for the taking of the poll at which it is to be used, and in default shall not be treated as valid.

23A.3 Validity of proxy appointments for multiple meetings

Any appointment of proxy made pursuant to Article 23.15 and lodged in accordance with Article 23A.1 or Article 23A.2 (as applicable) shall, unless the contrary is stated thereon, be valid as well for any adjournment of the meeting to which it relates. Provided that an appointment of a proxy relating to more than one meeting (including any adjournment thereof) having once been so delivered or, in the case of an electronic communication, when it is received for the purposes of any subsequent meeting to which it relates. When two or more valid but differing instruments of proxy are delivered or received for the same share for use at the same meeting, the one which is last validly delivered or received (regardless of its date or the date of its execution) shall be treated as replacing or revoking the other or others as regards that share. The appointment of a proxy does not prevent a member attending and voting in person at the meeting or an adjournment of the meeting or on a poll in which case no proxy shall be entitled to attend and vote in place of that member.

24. CORPORATION ACTING BY REPRESENTATIVES

24.1 Requirements for appointment of representative by corporation

Any corporation which is a shareholder of the Company may, by resolution of its directors or other governing body authorise any person or persons as it thinks fit to act as its representative or representatives at any meeting of the Company or of any class of shareholders of the Company. A Director, the Secretary or other person authorised for the purpose by the Secretary may require the representative to produce a certified copy of the resolution of authorisation before permitting him to exercise his powers.

24.2 Representatives of Reuters Founders Share Company

A person who in accordance with the Articles of Association of Reuters Founders Share Company from time to time in force is deemed to be such a representative as aforesaid shall be treated as such for the purposes of these Articles.

25. MEETINGS OF SHAREHOLDERS

25.1 Notice with respect to Joint Electorate Action or Class Rights Action

If the Company proposes to undertake a Joint Electorate Action or a Class Rights Action, the Company shall immediately give notice to TR Corporation and the holder of the TR Corporation Special Voting Share of the nature of the Joint Electorate Action or the Class Rights Action it proposes to take. Unless such action is proposed to be taken at an annual meeting of shareholders, the Board of Directors shall convene a special meeting of shareholders for the purpose of considering a resolution to approve such Joint Electorate Action or Class Rights Action. Such meeting shall be held as close in time as practicable to the Parallel Shareholder Meeting.

25.2 Manner of voting

Any resolution to be considered at a meeting of shareholders in relation to which the holder of the Special Voting Share or the holder of the Reuters Founders Share is entitled to vote shall be decided by ballot. Voting at any meeting of shareholders shall otherwise be by show of hands except where a ballot is required by the Chairman of the meeting, a shareholder or proxyholder entitled to vote at the meeting or the holder of the Reuters Founders Share, or by the CA 1985 or CA 2006. In the case of a ballot on a resolution on which the holder of the Special Voting Share and/or the holder of the Reuters Founders Share is entitled to vote, the ballot shall be kept open for such time as is necessary to allow the Parallel Shareholder Meeting to be held and for the voting rights attaching to the Special Voting Share and/or the Reuters Founders Share, respectively, to be determined and exercised on such ballot, although such ballot may be declared closed earlier by the Chairman of the meeting in respect of shares of other classes. The Chairman of the meeting shall direct the procedures for voting by ballot.

25.3 Withdrawal of demand for poll

A demand for a poll may be withdrawn only with the approval of the general meeting. Unless a poll is duly demanded, or is required to be taken, a declaration by the Chairman of the meeting that a resolution has been carried, or carried unanimously, or by a particular majority, or lost, and an entry to that effect in the minute book, shall be conclusive evidence of that fact without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded for or against such resolution. If a poll is duly demanded, or is required to be taken, it shall be taken in such manner (including the use of ballot or other voting papers or tickets) as the Chairman of the meeting may direct, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was so demanded or required to be taken. The Chairman of the meeting may (and if so directed by the meeting shall) appoint scrutineers and may adjourn the meeting to a place and time fixed by him for the purpose of declaring the result of the poll.

25.4 Procedure for polls

A poll which is duly demanded (or which is required to be taken) on the choice of a Chairman or on a question of adjournment shall be taken forthwith. A poll which is duly demanded (or which is required to be taken) on any other question shall be taken either immediately or at such subsequent time (not being more than 30 days from the date of the meeting) and place as the Chairman may direct. No notice need be given of a poll not taken immediately. The fact that a poll shall have been duly demanded (or shall be required to be taken) on any question (other than on the choice of a Chairman or an adjournment) shall not prevent the continuance of the meeting for the transaction of any business other than that question.

25.5 Voting by proxy

A proxy deposited by the holder of the Special Voting Share or the holder of the Reuters Founders Share will be valid if it is received by or delivered to the Chairman of the meeting before the close of the ballot to which it relates.

25.6 Objections to validity of votes

No objection shall be raised as to the validity of any vote at any meeting of shareholders except at the meeting or adjourned meeting at which the vote objected to is or may be given or tendered and every vote not disallowed at such meeting shall be valid for all purposes. Any such objection shall be referred to the Chairman of the meeting whose decision shall be final and conclusive save that no such decision shall be capable of prejudicing the effect of any valid exercise of any of the voting rights attaching to the Reuters Founders Share.

25.7 Quorum

A quorum for the transaction of business at a meeting of shareholders shall be either two qualifying persons entitled to vote (unless (i) each is a qualifying person only because he is authorised to act as the representative of a corporation in relation to the meeting, and they are representatives of the same corporation; or (ii) each is a qualifying person only because he is appointed as proxy of a shareholder in relation to the meeting, and they are proxies of the same shareholder) or the holder of the Reuters Founders Share provided that:

- 25.7.1 at any meeting the business of which includes the consideration of any resolution on which the holder of the Special Voting Share is entitled to vote, a quorum shall not be present for any purpose unless the holder of the Special Voting Share is present in person or by proxy or is represented by a duly authorised representative; and
- 25.7.2 at any meeting the business of which includes the consideration of any resolution on which the holder of the Reuters Founders Share is entitled to vote, a quorum shall not be present for any purpose unless the holder of the Reuters Founders Share is present in person or by proxy or is represented by a duly authorised representative.

For the purposes of the above a "qualifying person" means (i) an individual who is a shareholder of the Company; (ii) a person authorised to act as the representative of a corporation in relation to the meeting; or (iii) a person appointed as proxy of a shareholder in relation to the meeting.

25.8 Meetings where no quorum present

If within five minutes from the time appointed for a general meeting (or such longer interval as the Chairman of the meeting may think fit to allow) a quorum is not present, the general meeting, if convened pursuant to any of the provisions of section 303 of the CA 2006 or of paragraphs 12.10 to 12.13, shall be dissolved. 40. RESERVES

The Directors may from time to time set aside out of the profits of the Company and carry to reserve such sums as they think proper which, at the discretion of the Directors, shall be applicable for any purpose to which the profits of the Company may properly be applied and pending such application may either be employed in the business of the Company or be invested. The Directors may divide the reserve into such special funds as they think fit and may consolidate into one fund any special funds or any parts of any special fund into which the reserve may have been divided. The Directors may also without placing the same to reserve carry forward any profits. In carrying sums to reserve and in applying the same the Directors shall comply with Applicable Laws.

41. CASH DISTRIBUTIONS

41.1 Equivalent Distributions

- 41.1.1 Subject to subparagraphs 41.1.2 and 41.1.3, and paragraphs 41.2 and 41.3, if TR Corporation declares or otherwise becomes obligated or proposes to pay or pays a cash Distribution to holders of TR Corporation Common Shares, then the Company shall declare or otherwise become obligated or propose to pay or pay a cash Distribution to holders of Ordinary Shares that is a Matching Action (an "Equivalent Distribution"). For the avoidance of doubt, where the Equalization Ratio is 1:1, if TR Corporation declares a cash dividend in an amount per TR Corporation Common Share, the Company shall, in accordance with the Equalization and Governance Agreement, declare a cash dividend in an equivalent amount per Ordinary Share.
- 41.1.2 The Company shall not declare or otherwise become obligated or propose to pay or pay any cash Distribution in respect of Ordinary Shares, other than an Equivalent Distribution in accordance with subparagraph 41.1.1.
- 41.1.3 The DLC Equalization Principle shall not restrict the Company's ability to offer holders of Ordinary Shares the ability to receive further Ordinary Shares at market value in lieu of receiving the whole or any part of a cash Distribution.

41.2 Equalisation Payment

If the Company is prohibited by Applicable Laws from declaring or otherwise becoming obligated or proposing to pay, or paying, or is otherwise unable to declare or otherwise become obligated or propose to pay or pay all or any portion of an Equivalent Distribution, the Company shall, insofar it is practicable to do so, enter into such transactions with TR Corporation as the TR Board agrees to be necessary or desirable so as to enable the Company to pay such Equivalent Distribution to holders of Ordinary Shares in accordance with the other provisions of this Article 41.

41.3 Timing of Cash Distribution

The Board of Directors shall insofar as is practicable:

- 41.3.1 co-ordinate with the TR Corporation Board to agree to the amount of any Equivalent Distributions;
- 41.3.2 co-ordinate with the TR Corporation Board to agree the basis of exchange rates on which the amounts of any Equivalent Distributions shall be calculated;

41.3.3 co-ordinate with the TR Corporation Board to ensure that the record dates for receipt of Equivalent Distributions are as close in time as is practicable to the record dates for cash Distributions to the holders of Ordinary Shares; and 41.3.4 generally co-ordinate with the TR Corporation Board regarding the timing of all other aspects of the payment or making of any Equivalent Distributions.

42. DIVIDEND PAYMENTS

42.1 Directors may declare and pay fixed and interim dividends

If and so far as the Directors determine that the profits of the Company justify such payments, the Directors may declare and pay fixed dividends on any class of shares carrying a fixed dividend expressed to be payable on fixed dates half yearly or on the dates prescribed for the payment thereof and may also from time to time declare and pay interim dividends on shares of any class of such amounts and on such dates and in respect of such periods as they think fit.

42.2 Dividends to be paid pro rata to amounts paid on shares

Unless and to the extent that the rights attached to any shares or the terms of issue thereof otherwise provide, all dividends shall (as regards any shares not fully paid throughout the period in respect of which the dividend is paid) be apportioned and paid pro rata according to the amounts paid on the shares during any portion or portions of the period in respect of which the dividend is paid. For the purposes of this Article no amount paid on a share in advance of calls shall be treated as paid on the share.

42.3 Directors may pay dividends to ADR Custodians and shareholders in currencies other than sterling

The Directors may at their discretion make provision to enable such ADR Custodian and/or shareholder as they shall from time to time determine to receive dividends duly declared in a currency or currencies other than sterling.

42.4 Distributable reserves

No dividend shall be paid otherwise than out of profits available for distributions under the provisions of the Applicable Laws.

42.5 Pre-acquisition profits distributable

Subject to the provisions of the Applicable Laws, where any asset, business or property is bought by the Company as from a past date the profits and losses thereof as from such date may at the discretion of the Directors in whole or in part be carried to revenue account and treated for all purposes as profits or losses of the Company. Subject as aforesaid, if any shares or securities are purchased cum dividend or interest, such dividend or interest may at the discretion of the Directors be treated as revenue and it shall not be obligatory to capitalise the same or any part thereof.

42.6 No dividends to bear interest against the Company

No dividend or other moneys payable on or in respect of a share shall bear interest as against the Company.

42.7 Directors may make deductions from dividends

The Directors may deduct from any dividend or other moneys payable on or in respect of a share all sums of money (if any) presently due and payable by the holder thereof to the Company on account of calls or otherwise.

42.8 Directors may retain dividends on shares of persons entitled by operation of law pending registration

The Directors may retain the dividends payable upon shares in respect of which any person is under the provisions as to the transmission of shares hereinbefore contained entitled to become a shareholder, or which any person is under those provisions entitled to transfer, until such person shall become a shareholder in respect of such shares or shall transfer the same.

42.9 Waivers of dividends

The waiver in whole or in part of any dividend on any share by any document (whether or not under seal) shall be effective only if such document is signed by the shareholder (or the person entitled to the share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of the holder) and delivered to the Company and if or to the extent that the same is accepted as such or acted upon by the Company.

42.10 Directors may pay dividends in kind

The Company may with the prior written consent of the holder of the Reuters Founders Share and upon the recommendation of the Directors by Ordinary Resolution direct payment of a dividend in whole or in part by the distribution of specific assets (and in particular of paid-up shares or debentures of any other company) and the Directors shall give effect to such resolution. Where any difficulty arises in regard to such distribution, the Directors may settle the same as they think expedient and in particular may issue fractional certificates, may fix the value for distribution of such specific assets or any part thereof, may determine that cash payments shall be made to any shareholders upon the footing of the value so fixed in order to adjust the rights of all parties and may vest any such specific assets in trustees as may seem expedient to the Directors.

42.11 Payment of foreign currency dividends to ADR Custodians

Where an ADR Custodian approved by the Directors for the purposes of this Article has elected or agreed pursuant to provision made under these Articles to receive dividends in a foreign currency, the Directors may in their discretion approve the entering into of arrangements with such ADR Custodian to enable payment of the dividend to be made to such ADR Custodian in such foreign currency for value on the date on which the relevant dividend is paid, or such later date as the Directors may determine.

42.12 Receipts for dividends to joint holders

If two or more persons are registered as joint holders of any share, or are entitled jointly to a share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of the holder, any one of them may give effectual receipts for any dividend or other moneys payable or property distributable on or in respect of the share.

42.13 Dividend resolution may specify record date at any time

Any resolution declaring a dividend on shares of any class, whether a resolution of the Company in general meeting or a resolution of the Directors, may specify that the same shall be payable to the persons registered as the holders of such shares at the close of business on a particular date, notwithstanding that it may be a date prior to that on which the resolution is passed, and thereupon the dividend shall be payable to them in accordance with their respective holdings so registered, but without prejudice to the respective rights of transferors and transferees of any such shares in respect of such dividend.

42.14 Method of cash dividend payments

Any dividends payable in money may be paid by (i) cheque to the order of each registered holder of shares of the class or series in respect of which it has been declared and mailed by prepaid ordinary mail to such registered holder at the address of such holder in the Register, unless such holder otherwise directs a different person or address; (ii) by a bank or other funds transfer system to an account designated in writing by the person entitled to the payment; or (iii) such other method as the Directors may in their absolute discretion think fit including but not limited to payments in respect of Uncertificated Shares being made through the Relevant System (subject always to the facilities and requirements of the Relevant System, these Articles and any other legal requirements). In the case of payment by cheque to joint holders of a share, the cheque shall, unless such joint holders otherwise direct, be made payable to the order of the person whose name first appears in the Register in respect of such shares. The mailing of such cheque as aforesaid, unless the same is not paid on due presentation, shall satisfy and discharge the liability for the dividend to the extent of the sum represented thereby plus the amount of any tax which the Company is required to and does withhold. If the payment is made by bank or other funds transfer, or by another method at the direction of the person entitled to payment, the Company is not responsible for amounts lost or delayed in the course of transfer or in carrying out those directions.

42.15 Non-receipt of cheques

In the event of non-receipt of any dividend cheque by the person to whom it is sent as aforesaid, the Company shall issue to such person a replacement cheque for a like amount on such terms as to indemnity, reimbursement of expenses and evidence of non-receipt and of title as the Board of Directors may from time to time prescribe, whether generally or in any particular case.

42.16 Unclaimed dividends

Any dividend unclaimed after a period of six years from the date on which the same has been declared to be payable shall be forfeited and shall revert to the Company.

43. CAPITALISATION OF PROFITS AND RESERVES

Subject to Applicable Laws, the Directors may, with the sanction of an Ordinary Resolution of the Company, capitalise any sum standing to the credit of any of the Company's reserve accounts (including any share premium account, capital redemption reserve, revaluation reserve pursuant to Schedule 4 to the CA 1985 or other undistributable reserve) or any sum standing to the credit of any profit and loss account by appropriating such sum to the holders of each class of shares on the Register at the close of business on the date of the Resolution (or such other date as may be specified therein or determined as therein provided) in proportion to their then holdings of shares of that class and applying such sum on their behalf in paying up in full, subject to any special rights previously conferred on any shares or class of share for the time being issued and subject to the other provisions of these Articles, unissued shares of that class for allotment and distribution credited as fully paid up to and amongst them as bonus shares in the proportion aforesaid but so that such provisions shall not apply in respect of the Reuters Founders Share. Any Ordinary Resolution proposed pursuant to this Article may stipulate that an allotment of bonus shares shall not be made to the Company in respect of shares held by the Company as treasury shares and, in that event, no bonus shares shall be allotted to the Company in respect of those shares and those shares shall be disregarded for the purposes of calculating proportions of holdings of shares under this Article. The Directors may do all acts and things considered necessary or expedient to give effect to any such capitalisation, with full power to the Directors to make such provisions as they think fit for any fractional entitlements which would arise on the basis aforesaid (including provisions whereby fractional entitlements are disregarded or the benefit thereof accrues to the Company rather than to the shareholders concerned). The Directors may authorise any person to enter on behalf of the shareholders interested into an agreement with the Company providing for any such capitalisation and matters incidental thereto and any agreement made under such authority shall be effective and binding on all concerned.

44. SCRIP DIVIDENDS

44.1 Directors may offer shares in lieu of dividends with authority of Ordinary Resolution

The Directors may, with the prior sanction of an Ordinary Resolution of the Company, offer the holders of Ordinary Shares the right to elect to receive in respect of all or part of their holding of Ordinary Shares, additional Ordinary Shares credited as fully paid ("additional Ordinary Shares") instead of cash in respect of all or part of such dividend or dividends and (subject as hereinafter provided) upon such terms and conditions and in such manner as may be specified in such Ordinary Resolution.

44.2 Period and other terms of authority for scrip dividends

The said Ordinary Resolution may specify that such right to elect shall apply in respect of all or part of a particular dividend or in respect of all or any dividends (or any part of such dividends) declared or paid within a specified period but such period may not end later than the date of the fifth annual general meeting next following the date of the general meeting at which such Ordinary Resolution is passed, subject nevertheless to the provisions of the Applicable Laws and provided nevertheless that the Directors may, if they determine that it shall be expedient, suspend or terminate (whether temporarily or otherwise) such right to elect and may do such acts and things considered necessary or expedient with regard to, or in order to effect, any such suspension or termination.

44.3 Offer to be communicated to shareholders

When such right to elect is to be offered to holders of Ordinary Shares pursuant to this Article, the Directors shall notify such holders of the said right and shall make available or provide to such holders forms or other method of election (in such form as the Directors may approve) whereby such holders may exercise such right.

44.4 Number of shares to which shareholders entitled

Each holder of Ordinary Shares who elects to receive additional Ordinary Shares shall be entitled to receive such number of additional Ordinary Shares, calculated at the Relevant Price for each such share, as is nearly as possible equal to (but not in excess of) the cash amount of the relevant dividend which such holder would otherwise have received. For the purposes of this Article, the "Relevant Price" of an additional Ordinary Share shall be such price as is equal to the weighted-average price of the Ordinary Shares of the Company, ascertained by reference to the Daily Official List of the London Stock Exchange during the five trading days immediately preceding the record date for each dividend payment.

44.5 No fractional entitlements

The basis of allotment shall be such that no shareholder may receive a fraction of an Ordinary Share. The Directors may make such provisions as they may think fit for any fractional entitlements which may or would arise (including provisions whereby fractional entitlements are disregarded or the benefit thereof accrues to the Company rather than to the shareholders concerned).

44.6 Directors may capitalise profits and reserves for issue of scrip dividends

Subject to any right of the Directors to retain any dividend or other moneys payable on or in respect of shares pursuant to these Articles, the cash amount of a dividend on or in respect of an Ordinary Share in respect whereof the holder thereof has made an election pursuant to this Article shall not be payable and in lieu thereof additional Ordinary Shares shall be allotted to such holders on the basis of allotment hereinbefore specified. For such purpose, the Directors may (without prejudice to their powers under Article 43) capitalise out of such of the sums standing to the credit of any of the Company's reserve accounts (including any share premium account, capital redemption reserve or any other undistributable reserve) or any of the profits available for distribution under the provisions of the Applicable Laws which would otherwise have been applied in paying dividends in cash as the Directors may determine a sum equal to the aggregate nominal amount of the additional Ordinary Shares to be so allotted and shall apply the same in paying up in full the appropriate number of unissued Ordinary Shares for allotment and distribution credited as fully paid to and amongst the relevant holders of Ordinary Shares. The Directors may do all acts and things considered necessary or expedient to give effect to any such capitalisation with full power to the Directors to make such provisions as they think fit for any fractional entitlements which would or might arise (including provisions whereby fractional entitlements are disregarded or the benefit thereof accrues to the Company rather than to the shareholders concerned). The Directors may authorise any person to enter on behalf of all the shareholders interested into an agreement with the Company providing for any such capitalisation and matters incidental thereto and any agreement made under such authority shall be effective and binding on all concerned.

44.7 Scrip dividend shares to rank pari passu with existing shares

The additional Ordinary Shares so allotted shall rank pari passu in all respects with the fully paid Ordinary Shares then in issue save only as regards participation in the relevant dividend (or share election in lieu).

44.8 Directors may determine terms and conditions of offers of scrip dividends

Without prejudice to (but notwithstanding) the foregoing provisions of this Article, the Directors may on any occasion determine that such rights of election shall be subject to such exclusions or other arrangements as the Directors may deem necessary or expedient in relation to any legal or practical problems under the laws of, or the requirements of any recognised regulatory body or any stock exchange in, any territory.

45. ACCOUNTS

45.1 Accounting records to be kept at Office; shareholders' right of inspection

Accounting records sufficient to show and explain the Company's transactions and otherwise complying with the Applicable Laws shall be kept at the Office, or at such other place as the Directors think fit, and shall always be open to inspection by the officers of the Company. Subject as aforesaid no shareholder of the Company or other person shall have any right of inspecting any account or book or document of the Company except as conferred by Applicable Laws or ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction or authorised by the Directors.

45.2 Balance sheets and profit and loss accounts to be sent to shareholders and others

A copy of every balance sheet and profit and loss account which is to be laid before a general meeting of the Company (including every document required by law to be comprised therein or attached or annexed thereto) shall not less than 21 days before the date of the meeting be sent to every shareholder of, and every holder of debentures of, the Company and to every other person who is entitled to receive notices of meetings from the Company under the provisions of the Applicable Laws or of these Articles provided that this Article shall not require a copy of these documents to be sent to more than one of joint holders or to any person of whose address the Company is not aware, but any shareholder or holder of debentures to whom a copy of these documents has not been sent shall be entitled to receive a copy free of charge on application at the Office and provided further that if the Applicable Laws so permit the Company need not send copies of such documents to shareholders who do not wish to receive them but may send them such summary financial statement or other documents as may be authorised by the Applicable Laws. If all or any of the shares or debentures of the Company shall for the time being be listed or dealt in on the London Stock Exchange there shall be forwarded to the appropriate officer of the London Stock Exchange such number of copies of such documents as may from time to time be required under its articles or practice. For the purposes of this Article references to a document being sent include using electronic form and electronic means and publication on a website in accordance with the CA 2006 and the Applicable Laws.

46. AUDITORS

46.1 Validity of acts of auditors

Subject to the provisions of the Applicable Laws, all acts done by any person acting as an auditor shall, as regards all persons dealing in good faith with the Company, be valid, notwithstanding that there was some defect in his appointment or that he was at the time of his appointment not qualified for appointment or subsequently disqualified.

46.2 Auditors entitled to notice of and to attend and be heard at general meetings

An auditor shall be entitled to attend any general meeting and to receive all notices of and other communications relating to any general meeting which any shareholder is entitled to receive and to be heard at any general meeting on any part of the business of the meeting which concerns him as auditor.

47. COMMUNICATIONS

47.1 Mode of delivery of communications, when communications deemed delivered

Any notice or document (including a share certificate) may be served on or delivered to any shareholder by the Company either personally or by sending it through the post in a prepaid cover addressed to such shareholder at his registered address, if any, within the United Kingdom supplied by him to the Company as his address for service of notices, or by delivering it to such address addressed as aforesaid. In the case of a shareholder holding Certificated Shares registered on a branch Register any such notice or document may be posted either in the United Kingdom or in the territory in which such branch Register is maintained. Where a notice or other document is served or sent by post, service or delivery shall be deemed to be effected at the expiration of 24 hours (or, where second class mail is employed, 48 hours) after the time when the cover containing the same is posted and in proving such service or delivery it shall be sufficient to prove that such cover was properly addressed, stamped and posted. Provided always that every notice or other document which is required to be served or delivered, or capable of being delivered to the holder of the Reuters Founders Share shall, so long as the holder of the Reuters Founders Share has a registered address within 15 miles of Charing Cross, be personally delivered to the holder of the Reuters Founders Share at that address. The accidental failure to send, or the non receipt by any person entitled to any notice of or other document relating to any meeting or other proceeding shall not invalidate the relevant meeting or other proceeding, unless the person so entitled is the holder of the Reuters Founders Share. A notice or document (other than a notice or document to be served on or delivered to the holder of the Reuters Founders Share) not sent by post but left at a registered address or address for service in the United Kingdom is deemed to be given on the day it is left. Subject to the CA 2006, Applicable Laws and the provisions of this paragraph 47.1, a notice, document or other information may be given in electronic form by the Company to any shareholder to such address as may from time to time be authorised by the shareholder concerned or by making it available on a website and notifying the shareholder concerned, in such manner as he may from time to time authorise, that it has been so made available. The Company may rely on the provisions of paragraph 10, schedule 5 of the CA 2006 in relation to deemed agreement by shareholders of the Company to documents or information being sent or supplied by means of a website, where the conditions set out in paragraph 10(3) of such schedule are satisfied. If a notice or document is sent by the Company using a form of electronic means it is treated as being received 24 hours after the time it was sent. Proof that a notice contained in an electronic communication was sent in accordance with guidance issued by the Institute of Chartered Secretaries and Administrators shall be conclusive evidence that the notice was given. Any notice given electronically or otherwise in accordance with the CA 2006 or the Applicable Laws to or by the holder of the Reuters Founders Share pursuant to these Articles must also be given in writing and be delivered personally and will only be deemed delivered to the holder of the Reuters Founders Share for the purposes of this paragraph 47.1 when written notice would be deemed to be delivered in accordance with this Article.

47.2 Transferees and persons entitled by operation of law bound by notices in respect of shares pending registration

A person who becomes entitled to a share by transmission, transfer or otherwise is bound by a notice in respect of that share (other than a notice served by the Company under section 793 of the CA 2006) which, before his name is entered in the Register, has been properly served on a person from whom he derives his title. A person who is entitled by transmission to a share, upon supplying the Company with an address for the purposes of communications by electronic means for the service of notices may, at the absolute discretion of the Board of Directors, have sent to him at such address any notice or document to which he would have been entitled if he were the holder of that share.

47.3 Notices to joint holders

Any notice given to that one of the joint holders of a share whose name stands first in the Register in respect of the share shall be sufficient notice to all the joint holders in their capacity as such.

47.4 Persons entitled following death or bankruptcy entitled to delivery of notices pending registration

A person entitled to a share in consequence of the death or bankruptcy of a shareholder upon supplying to the Company such evidence as the Directors may reasonably require to show his title to the share, and upon supplying also an address within the United Kingdom for the service of notices, shall be entitled to have served upon or delivered to him at such address any notice or document to which the shareholder but for his death or bankruptcy would have been entitled, and such service or delivery shall for all purposes be deemed a sufficient service or delivery of such notice or document on all persons Interested (whether jointly with or as claiming through or under him) in the share. Alternatively, a person who is entitled to that shareholder's shares by law and who proves this to the reasonable satisfaction of the Directors, can give the Company an address for the purposes of electronic communication. If this is done, notices or documents may be sent to him at that address, but, this will be at the absolute discretion of the Directors. Save as aforesaid any notice or document delivered or sent by post to or left at the address of any shareholder in pursuance of these Articles, shall, notwithstanding that such shareholder be then dead or bankrupt or in liquidation, and whether or not the Company has notice of his death or bankruptcy or liquidation, be deemed to have been duly served or delivered in respect of any share registered in the name of such shareholder as sole or first named joint holder.

47.5 Entitlement to receipt of notices

A shareholder who has supplied to the Company an address (whether within or outside the United Kingdom) for the service of notices shall be entitled to receive notices from the Company; provided that the Directors may make such exclusions or other arrangements in relation to shareholders who have no registered address within the United Kingdom as they consider expedient in relation to legal or practical problems under the laws in any territory or the requirements of any relevant regulatory body or stock exchange.

47.6 Notices of general meetings by advertisement

If at any time by reason of the suspension or curtailment of postal services within the United Kingdom the Company is unable effectively to convene a general meeting by notices sent through the post and/or by electronic means, a general meeting may be convened by a notice advertised on the same date in at least one national daily newspaper and such notice shall be deemed to have been duly served on all shareholders entitled thereto at noon on the day when the advertisement appears. In any such case the Company shall send confirmatory copies of the notice by post to those shareholders to whom notice cannot be given by electronic means if at least seven days prior to the meeting the posting of notices to addresses throughout the United Kingdom again becomes practicable.

47.7 Serving for statutory requirements

Nothing in any of the preceding six Articles shall affect any requirement of the Applicable Laws or of any other provision of these Articles that any particular offer, notice or other document be served in any particular manner.

48. LIQUIDATION

If the Board of Directors determines that the Company is, or is likely to become, insolvent (whether or not a receiver, receiver and manager, provisional liquidator or liquidator, trustee in bankruptcy, monitor or other similar person has been appointed or a mortgagee or other secured creditor has taken possession of the property of the Company), the Board of Directors shall immediately give notice to TR Corporation of such fact.

49. WINDING UP

49.1 Directors may petition court for winding up with consent of holder of the Reuters Founders Share

The Directors shall have power, with the prior consent in writing of the holder of the Reuters Founders Share (but not otherwise), to present to the Court a petition, in the name of and on behalf of the Company, for the Company to be wound up.

49.2 Directors may distribute assets in kind on a winding up

If the Company shall be wound up (whether the liquidation is voluntary, under supervision, or by the court) the Liquidator may, with the authority of a Special Resolution, divide among the shareholders in specie or in kind the whole or any part of the assets of the Company and whether or not the assets shall consist of property of one kind or shall consist of properties of different kinds, and may for such purpose set such value as he deems fair upon any one or more class or classes of property and may determine how such division shall be carried out as between the shareholders or different classes of shareholders. The Liquidator may, with the like authority, vest any part of the assets in trustees upon such trusts for the benefit of shareholders as the Liquidator with the like authority shall think fit, and the liquidation of the Company may be closed and the Company dissolved. No contributory shall be compelled to accept any shares or other property in respect of which there is a liability.

50. THOMSON REUTERS NEWS SERVICES

[THOMSON REUTERS LETTERHEAD]

November 26, 2008

Mr. Thomas H. Glocer
President and Chief Executive Officer
Thomson Reuters
3 Times Square
New York, NY 10036

Dear Tom,

I am very pleased that you have accepted the position of Chief Executive Officer of Thomson Reuters (the "Company") effective April 17, 2008.

As approved by the Board of Directors, your annual base salary, effective retroactively to April 1, 2008, is $1,550,000.00, less applicable withholdings. Effective April 1, 2008, you are a participant in the Thomson Reuters Management Incentive plan ("MIP") with a target of 200% of earned salary and you will participate in the Long-term incentive program ("LTI") at the target of 250% of earned salary.

In addition to the direct compensation indicated above, you will also be eligible for an executive physical examination each year at the Mayo Clinic of your choice or the Hackensack University Executive Health Center. Thomson Reuters also will continue to pay the costs for tax services related to your service in the United Kingdom. You will be eligible for all other general employee benefits including group medical and dental coverage for yourself and your family, life insurance, short and long term disability coverage, 401(k) participation, and participation in the Deferred Compensation Plan (DCP). Your entitlement to paid vacation remains unchanged. Stephen Dando will work with you regarding company support for your relocation from London to New York and we will develop a separate agreement for those terms.

While it is my expectation that you will enjoy a long, successful career at Thomson Reuters, I also want to confirm the payments and benefits to which you will be entitled in the event your employment is terminated prior to your attainment of age 62 ("Normal Retirement Age") by Thomson Reuters without "Cause" or by you for "Good Reason", both of which as defined below. For purposes of this letter, the effective date of termination is referred to as the "Effective Date". The payments and benefits are described below.

1. Commencing on the Effective Date, you will be paid twenty-four (24) months' base salary in effect as of the Effective Date, payable over such 24-month period in accordance with the payroll practices of Thomson Reuters. The period with respect to which you are paid base salary under this paragraph 1 shall be referred to as the "Payment Period".
 2. So long as you remain unemployed during the Payment Period, you will continue to receive group medical and dental insurance benefits on the same basis as those available to you immediately prior to the Effective Date. Your active participation in all other employee benefits including, without limitation, participation in the Company's 401(k) plan, Deferred Compensation Plan, life insurance, short- and long-term disability, management incentive, and vacation and sick pay shall terminate as of the Effective Date, except that you will receive benefits in accordance with the terms of applicable plan documents. Upon your obtaining full-time employment or on the expiration of the Payment Period, whichever comes first, you will not be entitled to receive any employee benefits, except for group health coverage continuation in accordance with COBRA, and benefits in accordance with the terms of applicable plan documents (including, without limitation, vested 401(k) and DCP benefits, if any).

3. Any options granted under the Thomson Reuters Stock Incentive Plan will be calculated as though one hundred (100%) percent of the options granted but unvested as of the Effective Date were vested, and you shall have the opportunity to exercise all exercisable options within twelve (12) months after the Effective Date.
4. You will receive all Performance Restricted Stock Units ("PRSU") granted under any long term incentive plans in which you participate in accordance with the terms of those plans as though you had been employed through the payment date. Any such PRSU shall be distributed to you when PRSU are issued to Thomson employees, but in no event later than March 15 of the year following the end of the applicable plan period. In addition, all other equity awards not referred to in paragraph 3 or this paragraph 4 shall fully vest, and you shall receive payment pursuant to the terms of the applicable award.
5. Your Management Incentive Plan (MIP) bonus will be paid as follows: upon the expiration of the statutory revocation period in the release of claims in favor of Thomson Reuters referred to in subsection (c) below, you will be paid in a lump sum in an amount equal to the greater of (a) 50% of your target MIP bonus for the then-current year or (b) the amount determined by multiplying your target MIP bonus for the then-current year by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of days you are employed by the Company in such year and the denominator of which is 365.
6. Payments under numbered paragraphs 1-5 above shall be in lieu of any other severance payments to which you would otherwise be eligible. All amounts payable hereunder are subject to all applicable tax withholdings.
7. To the extent that any "additional tax" under Section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code on any amount payable under this Agreement or any other Company plan, program or arrangement would be avoided by delaying payment for six (6) months after the termination of Executive's employment with the Company, such payment shall be so delayed.

None of the aforesaid paragraphs shall apply if (a) you shall voluntarily terminate your employment other than for "Good Reason", or (b) your employment shall be terminated by reason of termination for "Cause", or (c) you do not sign a release in favor of Thomson Reuters effective as of the Effective Date including provisions regarding non-competition, non-solicitation, non-disparagement, confidentiality, return of Company property, etc. that includes the provisions set forth in Attachment A (but no other provisions that materially limit your rights or entitlements).

For purposes of this letter, "Cause" shall mean your conviction of, or entry of a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to a crime that constitutes a felony in the United States or a crime in another jurisdiction that would fall within the definition of a felony in the United States; theft, misappropriation or embezzlement of Thomson Reuters funds; willfully engaging in any competitive activity with Thomson Reuters as set forth in subsection (A) under "Non-Compete Language" on Attachment A; or failure to follow the reasonable written instructions of the Thomson Reuters Board of Directors, which if curable in each case, is not cured by you within 30 days after written notice to you of same.

For purposes of this letter, “Good Reason” shall mean your resignation within ninety (90) days after the occurrence of one or more of the following actions taken by Thomson Reuters without your written consent: (i) a demotion or material diminution of your responsibilities (except during any periods when you are unable to perform all or substantially all of your duties or responsibilities as a result of your physical or mental incapacity) including, for the avoidance of doubt, your removal from the Company's board of directors; (ii) a material decrease in your base salary or a reduction in your target award under the MIP or the LTI; (iii) a change in your principal place of employment to a location more than 50 miles from its current location; or (iv) the Company's failure to timely pay any material amount or provide any material benefit due under the Agreement or otherwise. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no resignation for Good Reason shall be effective unless and until you give Thomson Reuters written notice of the reasons for a Good Reason resignation, and Thomson Reuters fails to remedy the same within thirty (30) days thereafter.

In the event that any payment or benefit made or provided to or for your benefit in connection with this Agreement or your employment with the Company or the termination thereof (a “Payment”) is determined to be subject to any excise tax (“Excise Tax”) imposed by Section 4999 of the Internal Revenue Code (or any successor to such Section), the Company shall pay you, prior to the time any Excise Tax is payable with respect to such Payment (through withholding or otherwise), an additional amount which, after the imposition of all income, employment, excise and other taxes, penalties and interest thereon, is equal to the sum of (i) the Excise Tax on such Payment plus (ii) any penalty and interest assessments associated with such Excise Tax. The amount and timing of any payment required by this paragraph shall be determined in the first instance by a nationally-recognized independent auditor (the “Auditor”) selected and paid by the Company (who may be the Company's usual auditor). In all events, any payment pursuant to this paragraph shall be made no later than December 31 of the year next-following the year in which the related taxes are remitted to the applicable taxing authority.

This letter and Attachment A represent the entire agreement of the parties. All prior understandings relating to the subject matter of this letter (including, without limitation, your employment agreement with Reuters Group plc dated March 9, 2007, whether oral or written, are hereby superseded by this document.

If the aforesaid accurately reflects our understanding, please sign the enclosed copy of this letter. The original is for your files.

Yours sincerely,

/s/ W. Geoffrey Beattie

COMPUTATION OF RATIO OF EARNINGS TO FIXED CHARGES

The following table sets forth the ratio of earnings to fixed charges for Thomson Reuters Corporation for the period presented. For purposes of reporting with the US Securities and Exchange Commission, Thomson Reuters PLC is a successor issuer to Reuters Group PLC (Reuters).

Thomson Reuters has two parent companies — Thomson Reuters Corporation and Thomson Reuters PLC — and their respective subsidiaries operate as a unified group under a dual listed company structure. Accordingly, standalone Thomson Reuters PLC information, which excludes the results of Thomson Reuters Corporation, is not indicative of the financial position, results of operations or cash flows of Thomson Reuters as a whole and does not provide meaningful information for investors. Thomson Reuters primary financial statements are the consolidated financial statements of Thomson Reuters Corporation, which account for Thomson Reuters PLC as a subsidiary.

Accordingly, the computation below is based on Thomson Reuters Corporation consolidated financial statements as at and for the year ended December 31, 2008, which include the results of Reuters from April 17, 2008, the date Reuters was acquired by The Thomson Corporation (renamed Thomson Reuters Corporation as of that date).

We have not made any pro forma adjustments to reflect Reuters results from the beginning of the period presented as Thomson Reuters Corporation was not required to prepare consolidated pro forma financial statements as at and for the year ended December 31, 2008. We computed the ratio of earnings to fixed charges by dividing the amount of total earnings by the amount of total fixed charges.
