Thomson Reuters professional to discuss regulation and compliance at upcoming seminar

NEW YORK, March 31, 2010 /PRNewswire via COMTEX/ --The Tax & Accounting business of Thomson Reuters will hold a complimentary panel discussion to assist corporate and industry professionals navigate through the various complexities and regulations related to unclaimed property. Failure to properly comply with these statutes may subject the company to both state and federal implications. As such, all "holders" of unclaimed property need to understand the requirements and establish effective processes to ensure that they are in compliance.

The seminar, Unclaimed Property Corporate Compliance and Regulatory Responsibilities, will be held at 1881 Pierce Street, Lakewood, Colorado at a choice of two times, April 8 from 1:30 - 4 p.m. MDT or on April 9 from 8:30 - 11 a.m. MDT.

Valerie Jundt, director for Unclaimed Property Services, ONESOURCE Property Tax, Thomson Reuters, along with representatives from the State of Colorado Unclaimed Property Division, will address the following topics:

- Unclaimed property reporting basics
- History and overview of unclaimed property law
- Legislative updates
- State enforcement and voluntary compliance opportunities
- Statutory and reporting obligations unique to Colorado
- Best practices
- Implementing proactive policies and procedures

Jundt has more than 26 years of diverse unclaimed property experience. Her expertise is in state administrative policies and practices, audit resolution, voluntary compliance, enforcement actions, law changes, and policy and procedure best practices. Jundt is a former North Dakota state unclaimed property administrator and the former executive director for the National Association of Unclaimed Property Administrators. She is the current president of the Unclaimed Property Professional's Organization. Jundt is a co-author of the Unclaimed Property Treatise published by the Bureau of National Affairs (BNA) in May, 2006 (re-released in July, 2009) and has been quoted in numerous national publications and television stories focusing on this topic.
